SEYMOUR YOUTH ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Police Hold Three Men In Slaying

Girl Badly Beaten, Room Left Shambles But Find No Weapon

BLIND RIVER, July 24.—(CP).—Police questioned three middle-aged men and sought a fourth man today in connection with the bludgeon death of 21-year-old Ojibway girl, Mrs. Leonard Rivers.

The almost-nude body of the girl, her face battered and a belt knotted about her throat, was found Friday sprawled across a blood-smeared bed in a hotel room in this Northern Ontario lumbering town.

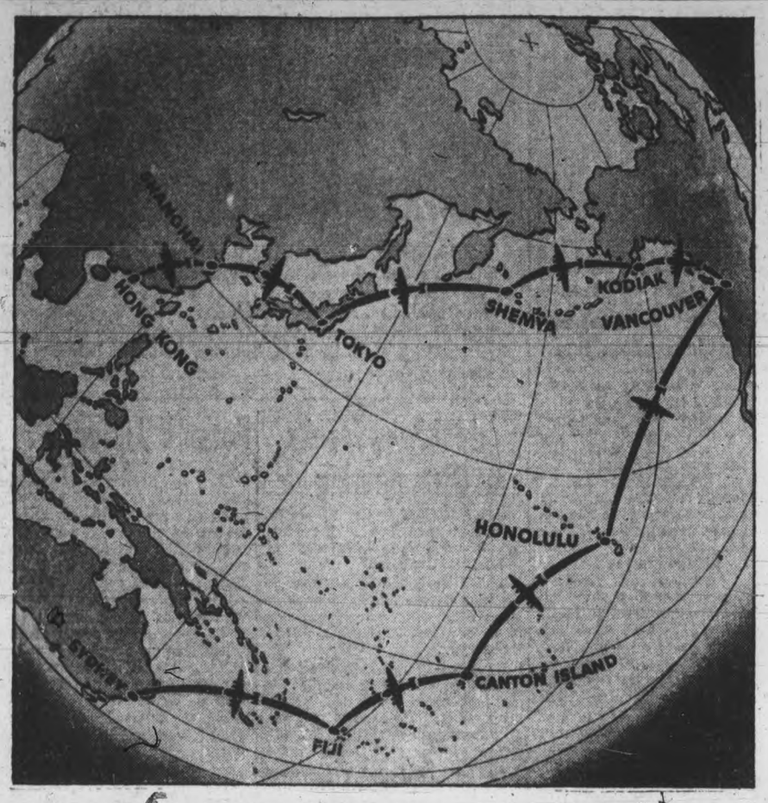
A chambermaid, Mrs. Jean Dupont, 29, found the body when she went in to clean the room No. 7. Furniture was disarranged and clothing lay scattered about the room.

The body was identified by the girl's step-father, Ed Pine, a resident of the Mississagi Indian reservation 16 miles northwest of here.

Pine covered his face with his hands and said, half-sobbing: "Oh, my God; that's my girl all right."

The girl was married about a year ago. Residents of this Algoma district town of 2,800 population midway between Sault Ste Marie and Sudbury said they had not seen her husband for three or four months.

Can't Find Weapon



The slaying shocked this booming lumber town at the mouth of the Mississagi River. In recent years, life here has lost most of the violence which characterized the old days.

Police said their initial investigation revealed no weapon which might have been used to kill Mrs. Rivers.

Inspector W. Wilkinson of the Sudbury detachment of the Provincial Police released some of the few details given out by police.

"Apparently none of the occupants of nearby rooms heard a thing during the night," he said. "The room was a shambles and the girl was terribly beaten."

Dr. E. S. Pentland, pathologist, set out from Sault Ste. Marie to conduct an autopsy to establish the cause of death. Inspector Leonard Neil of the Provincial Police left Toronto late Friday to assist in the investigation.

Atomic Energy High On Agenda

LAKE SUCCESS, July 24 (CP)—Atomic energy control bids fair to be the top item of debate at the fall session of the United Nations General Assembly.

That controversial topic was listed today among 48 items on the provisional agenda for the third regular session of the 58-member general assembly which opens in Paris Sept. 21. It is expected to last about three months.

Palestine, the Berlin question and that of the disposal of the former Italian colonies, may vie for high billing at the world agency's annual meeting.

Informed sources saw the possibility that the problem of the German capital might be tossed into the assembly's lap if Russia and the western powers are not able to settle the present dispute before that time.

Detectives Raiding Communist Hdqts.

SINGAPORE, July 24—(AP)—Detectives raided headquarters of Singapore's Communist Party today in a quick follow-up of Friday's official ban of the party by British authorities.

They found the building empty. Apparently it had been abadoned when the party went underground several weeks ago.

Police said quantities of subversive literature were confiscated and three persons were picked up on suspicion.

In Soeth, in the state of Johore, the strongest force of police and troops yet to go into action began sweeping the jungle areas at dawn.

Battle Of Rats Baffles Russ Captain

JERSEY CITY, N.J., July 24—(AP).—A Russian freighter was alongside a pier here today after an argument about rats delayed its docking for more than nine hours. The argument between U.S. public health inspectors and the ship's captain, Nikolay Pokholok reached a climax when a customs officer shouted to a United States coast guard cutter.

"Shoot to sink if she moves fore or aft."

It all began when health inspectors boarded the ship, the 9,000-ton Pobeda, outside New York harbor Friday, and found evidence of rats. They said the ship would have to be fumigated.

Capt. Pokholok insisted his ship didn't carry rats.

With interpreters relaying the arguments, the two sides went into a long discussion in the captain's office. A little vodka and caviar didn't produce harmony.

Capt. Pokholok said if New York harbor would not receive his ship, he would set out to sea, and try another American port. He was reminded he needed permission of the collector of the port to depart.

After representatives of Amtorg, Russian trading Corporation, and the Soviet vice-consul came aboard and conferred with United States officials, the fumigation papers were signed, and the ship allowed to proceed.

Russian Staff Believed Slipping Home To Moscow

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, July 24—(CP).—Persistent reports of an impending movement of staff from the Russian Embassy back to Moscow continued to circulate here today although no firm basis for them could be found. The Embassy has denied the reports. It was confirmed by authoritative sources that Lt.-Col. Nikolai Serof, the military attache, is checking out of his apartment in a week, but there was no confirmation of a return to Russia.

It was only this week that his name was omitted from a list of foreign military attaches invited to visit the army base at Valcartier, Que. The omission was deliberate affirmation of a Canadian policy of refusing the Russians admission to military establishments while the Canadian attache is refused that privilege in Russia.

The second secretary, V. G. Skokov, left the same apartment—near the Embassy in the Sandy Hill district—three weeks ago and has returned to Russia. An External Affairs source said he had gone "on leave" and was expected to return.

Both Col. Serof and Mikhail Loukianov, an attache, are slated to leave the apartment Aug. 1.

Meanwhile, Canadians living around the big Embassy headquarters overlooking the Rideau River were puzzled by an absence of lights there for the last two nights and a general disappearance of people from the grounds.

New Proposals Ready For Arabs

BEYREUTH, Lebanon, July 24 (Reuters).— Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, arived to-day for talks with Arab leaders on the Palestine truce and possible peace proposals. He is expected to stay for two days.

His visit was made on the invitation of President Becnary El Khoury of Lebanon and Azzam Pasha, Secretary-General of the Arab League.

Quell Riots

CAIRO, July 24 (Reuters). — Strict orders have been given to the Cairo police to maintain order and public security, the Interior Ministry announced today after arrests Friday night of more than 300 persons believed responsible for unrest and rioting during the last few days.

The situation appeared to be returning to normal to-day after the riots in which an American was killed and several foreigners injured.

The new orders to the police include instructions to "act severely" towards the population to safeguard public security.

Negroes Form Party To 'Shoot It Out'

HAZLEHURST, Miss., July 24—(AP)—The sheriff's office said early today Negroes in this southern community were "forming a party" to "shoot it out" with officers hunting for four Negroes following the wounding of Sheriff Julius Harper Friday night.

At nearby Dentville it was reported that 75 armed Negroes were on one side of a creek and a posse of about 200 white men on the other.

F. Bishop, chief deputy sheriff here, said Harper was shot as he attempted to arrest Thurman Fulgham, Negro war veteran about 20 years old. He said the sheriff tried to make the arrest on complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Templeton that Fulgham drew a knife on Templeton and slapped Mrs. Templeton earlier in the evening.

Bishop said the sheriff was shot in the thigh and added that Fulgham escaped in a truck with three others.

Bombs, Men For Palestine Said Loaded At Halifax

HALIFAX, July 24 — (CP) — A theory that Halifax was the loading point for bombs and nine extra men that turned up mysteriously aboard a Flying Fortress when it landed in the Azores last Saturday has been advanced by a reliable source here.

When the plane and men, reportedly in the service of Israel's fighting forces, took off from nearby eastern passage airport, it was thought to have carried only nine men, no weapons other than small arms and just enough fuel to get it to New York's Westchester County airport.

Yet when it landed 11 hours later at Santa Maria, officials there said 18 men were taken from the plane and a load of bombs was confiscated.

The source here said he thought both bombs, "if there were any," and men, had been taken aboard here when the plane was about to take off.

He said the pilot had taxied onto the wrong runway and had halted in the darkness several minutes before proceeding to the proper strip.

Though he had no explanation on how the bombs or men could have been brought to the airport, the source said he believed it must have been during those few minutes that they were loaded.

'No other airport on this continent or Newfoundland reported seeing the plane. Besides, it's 10 years old and could hardly cross the Atlantic in 11 hours unless it went directly," he said.

He added that, in his opinion, Pilot Irwin R. Schindler of Miami, Fla., would not have mistaken the proper runway. "He went over there for a reason, just as he stalled his departure for a reason," he said.

Dies On Way To Hospital In Belleville

Believe Stray Bullet Fired From Rifle Of Groundhog Hunter

A stray bullet believed to have been from a groundhog hunter's rifle, struck Joseph Thos. Dutton, 16, of Allan's Mills, six miles south of Marmora Friday night, and the boy died before reaching the hospital at Belleville.

According to Provincial Constable G. E. Colling, Brighton who investigated, the alarm was given by Ross Holden, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Holden, R.R. 1 Bonarlaw, who told his father of the accident. The father found Dutton lying on the county road with his bicycle on top of him. He had apparently been returning from a fishing trip on the Crowe river.

Taken To Campbellford

The boy was rushed to Campbellford where he was treated by Dr. W. W. Baker, and then taken to the general hospital at Belleville. He died before the hospital could be reached. The actual shooting is believed to have taken place at about 9:15 and the boy died at 10:50.

It is known that a juvenile is suspected of having fired the shot that killed Dutton, but the police would not comment on this angle until the investigation is completed.

Allan's Mills is a hamlet straddling the Crowe River about midway between Marmora and Healey Falls. The Dutton home is on the west bank of the river near the bridge, and the boy's body was found on the county road leading to the bridge.

First reports of the tragedy were confusing, and it was reported that a tourist had discharged a firearm accidentally causing the death. However, this story is now officially denied.

The bullet entered Dutton's right temple, and a post mortem is being made at the morgue in Belleville.

Takes 3 Hours To Halt Brawl

OTTAWA, July 24 — CP). — Quebec Provincial and nearby Gatineau Point police had to join forces early today to suppress a free-for-all brawl involving about 100 men.

The fight started at 12:30 a.m when a gang of Gatineau Point youths attacked eight Montreal workmen who are employed on repairs to the Gatineau Point church. Residents said the attack apparently grew out of jealousy because the Montreal men had escorted local girls.

The Gatineau Point police, unable to cope with the brawl, had to call for assistance from th provincial force. Together the police succeeded several times in stopping the fight only to have fresh arguments break out. Peace was finally restored at 3 a.m.

Several of the participants received cuts and bruises and the most seriously injured was Roger Pairs of Gatineau Point, who was struck over the head by a bottle but did not require hospital treatment.

The Montreal men took refuge in the police station after the brawl started.

There were no arrests and none were considered likely.

Worker Electrocuted After Pipe Bursts

MONTREAL, July 24.—(CP).—Rosarie Lepage, 30, was electrocuted Friday at nearby Cap St. Martin and a fellow worker, Antnoio Faucher, 30, almost lost his life in an attempt to save him.

Lepage was operating a granite-polishing machine when a pipe burst. With his clothes drenched he reached for a switch to shut off the machine but the high voltage current coursed through his body.

Bengough Calls Union Meeting On Lake Dispute

OTTAWA, July 24—(CP)—Labor leaders from many parts of Canada will meet here Aug. 5-6 in an attempt to end the Great Lakes jurisdictional dispute, described by the Trades and Labor Congress as a national emergency.

Calling the meeting Friday T.L.C. President Percy R. Bengough sharply condemned both the shipping companies and the government for the stands they have taken.

"A state of lawlessness exists in Canada that is without historical parallel," he said in a statement.

"This is a national emergency. The government is cloaked with plenty of powers to deal with emergencies. It must fact this issue forthwith and deal with the companies in the only way now open."

A Labor department official intimated there might be a statement today on Mr. Bengough's remarks.

The meeting called by Mr. Bengough coincides with the Liberal party's national convention, to be held here Aug. 5, 6 and 7.

Mr. Bengough said the meeting will be asked to urge immediate proclamation of the National Labor Code passed at the last session of parliament. The government, he said, claims it has no power to take a strong hand in the dispute. He contends it could have that power by proclaiming the code.

He quoted at length from conciliation-board reports condemning the attitude of the companies. In the case of Sarnia Steamships and Colonial Steamships, the report by L. W. Brockington and J. D. McNish had declared:

"We are unanimous in our belief that the defiance of the existing law, the breach of the existing agreement and the failure to fulfil the promise made by these companies to the government are a serious threat to the recognized practice of labor conciliation."

Hold Teen-Age Boy On Bigamy Charges

ATLANTA, Ga., July 24.—(AP).—A teen-age boy was under arrest on bigamy charges Friday, accused of deserting his 34-year-old wife and two children for a pretty, blonde bride of 13.

Alfred E. Leonard, 19, of Rome, Ga., was arrested after the father of wife No. 2 reported to Atlanta police that his daughter had married a man "who already had a wife and two children."

Say Confederation Leader Likely Ask Canada To Become 10th Province

Confederates Likely Win 18 Of 25 Districts Polling 51.7 Per Cent Of Votes; King Won't Talk Till Cabinet Has Met

By DAVE McINTOSH

ST. JOHN'S, Nfd., July 24—(CP).—Newfoundland today awaited word on its acceptance or rejection by Canada. Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald was expected to issue a statement today outlining the constitutional procedure following Confederation's victory in Thursday's national referendum. A Government source said the commission government, running the country until its new form of administration takes shape, probably would recommend that Canada take Newfoundland into Confederation.

(At Ottawa, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the Government was watching the referendum returns with deep interest. He added that he would have to refrain from further comment until the final result was authoritatively known and had been considered by the Canadian Cabinet.)

Confederate leader Joseph Smallwood said Friday night that there was no other course open to Canada than to take Newfoundland into Confederation.

Majority Want It

He said in an interview that the Canadian Government could not ignore the facts that a majority of Newfoundlanders had voted for Confederation.

Confederation had polled 51.7 per cent of the 150,000 votes cast Areas not yet heard from were those which had voted heavily for Confederation in the stalemated June 3 plebiscite.

The Confederates would undoubtedly win 18 of the 25 districts, taking all except those in the Avalon Peninsula, the southeast section of the island centred by St. John's.

Some observers said Canada would not accept Newfoundland because the popular vote majority was so slight. They pointed to a statement made by Mr. King several months ago when he said

Section Hand Killed When Hit By Bottles

MONTREAL, July 24. (CP) — A carton of empty bottles, thrown from a speeding train, was given by police Friday as the cause of death July 13 of Adelard Coulombe, 56-year-old Canadian National Railways section hand.

Coulombe was working in a section gang on the CNR main line near Levis, Que., across the St Lawrence River from Quebec City when he was struck by the carton as a trainload of immigrants from Halifax went past.

Det. Sgt. Paul Provost of the provincial police said he had boarded the train at near-by St Lambert with a CNR investigator and had quizzed the 125 passengers and train crew for more than two hours without discovering who threw the bottles or who was drinking aboard the train.

Admits Helping Murder Six Ohio Youth Unrepentant

CELINA, O., July 24—(AP)—An unrepentant youth sat unconcernedly in a heavily-guarded jail cell here today, glibly admitting participation in six cold-blooded murders in 14 days.

Good-looking, nattily-dressed Robt. (Murli) Daniels, 22, said he had only two regrets. He was sorry his chain-murder partner, John C. West, 22, was dead, slain by police. And he was sorry he hadn't had a chance to shoot it out with authorities.

Sheriff F. Ray Shaffer captured Daniels without a struggle Friday near Van Wert, O., as he slept in a new car atop the automobile-hauling truck the gunmen stole in an attempt to elude a gigantic road block.

West, the bespectacled trigger man, received a bullet between the eyes in a wild gun battle in which two officers were wounded one critically.

Daniels Friday night signed a confession admitting the cornfield slayings of John E. Niebel, 50, Mansfield, reformatory farm superintendent; his wife, Nolanda, 52; and their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

He said West shot and killed Earl C. Ambrose, Columbus, O. tavern owner; James Smith, a young Tiffin, O., farmer; and Orville Taylor of Niles, Mich., who was driving the automobile-hauling truck.

Michigan state police said they were convinced the pair did not murder Frank Krech, Flat Rock, Mich., tourist camp operator. West and Daniels also had been sought for the holdup-slaying of Krech.

Authorities apparently were agreed that Daniels will be tried in Richland county, site of the Mansfield reformatory, for the Niebel slayings. Prosecutor Theodore Lutz of Richland county

Two Men Burned In Explosion Aboard Freighter

DOUGLASTOWN, Que., July 24.—(CP).— Two men were in hospital at nearby Gaspe today, suffering from serious burns and shock received in an explosion and fire aboard the 5,200-ton Greek freighter Diamantis in Gaspe Bay earlier today.

The ship, anchored a short distance off shore near here, still was burning and crews of the RCMP cutter French and a Nova Scotian ship, the Josephine, were attempting to put out the flames, a 'Lloyds' representative here said.

Four oher members of the Diamantis' six-man crew were taken off the ship safely and landed here, the representative added.

The explosion, preceding the fire, was believed to have originated in the ship's bunkers.

The Diamantis' crew brought their burning ship several miles through the bay before dropping anchor of this fishing village on the eastern tip of Gaspe Peninsula.

Local fishing craft were carrying men to the side of the 5,200-ton freighter to battle flames spreading from the number four and five holds.

Pontypool Boy Hurt In Crash

Extensive damage to two cars, possibly totalling nearly $1,000 and injury to one of the drivers, resulted from a collision about 11.45 Friday night on 7A Highway about a mile east of Cavan. Seventeen-year-old Alvin Brown of R.R. 3, Pontypool, was taken to a Millbrook doctor for treatment for a severe nosebleed. Other passengers with him were Kenneth Venford, 16, and sister Beverley Venford, 14, also both of R.R. 3, Pontypool.

The other car was that of Robert J. McGuire, Newmarket. Four passengers, all from Newmarket, were with him. There were no other injuries.

Damage to the Brown car is estimated at $500 and at $400 for the McGuire vehicle.

Provincial Constable George Stevens investigated.

Bad Time For France Marie Pleads For Aid

PARIS, July 24 — (AP). — Premier-designate Andre Marie to-day called "all Republicans to the defence of the Fatherland in a crucial hour of the world, for Europe and for the nation."

Pleading with the National Assembly to permit him to form a new Cabinet, Marie said:

"Everything must be subordinated to the single imperative of the moral and material reconstruction of France. It is on this that the nation will judge us."

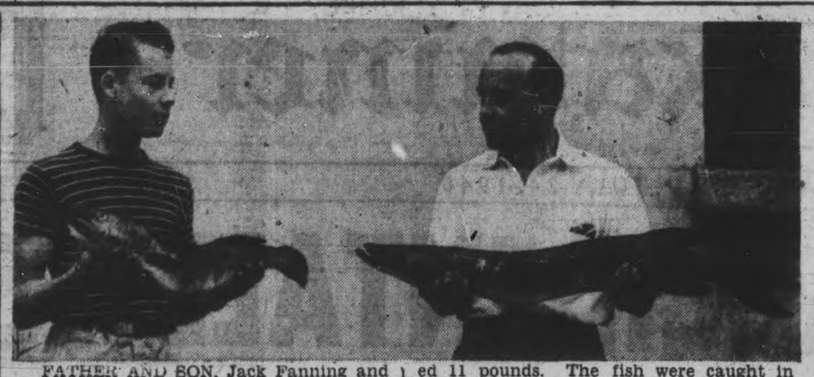
Marie said his government would respect the six-power agreement to set up a West German Government.

Tumult broke out in the Assembly when Communist Deputy Francois Billoux accused Paul Reynaud, who is scheduled to be Marie's Finance Minister, of bringing into power the wartime Vichy regime.

Flier Surrenders To Newspaper After Bombing

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 24—(AP)—The former United States Army flier who dropped a missile near United Nations headquarters surrendered Friday and said he is anxious to return to Lake Success to "finish my fight for world peace."

With the same dramatic suddenness with which he appeared over Lake Success yesterday, the 36-year-old Ashford, Conn., flier, Stephen J. Supina, walked into the newsroom of the New Haven Register, identified himself and suggested that he be turned over to the police.



Supina produced his pilot's license to identify himself. Later, Detective Raymond Eagan said there is no question that the Register's visitor was the flier who dived at the United Nations headquarters and loosed the missile which exploded harmlessly.

Supina, relatives reported, had been worried about a new war.

To members of the Register staff, City Editor Charles McQueeney said, Supina asserted he had dropped the missile to "make them here and abroad look to the United Nations for lasting peace."

Two New Haven detectives, summoned by McQueeney at Supina's suggestion, picked up the flier and took him to headquarters.

In New York, Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, chief of Nassau County detectives, said the flier would be taken to New York to face a charge of illegally possessing explosives likely to cause injuries.

FATHER AND SON, Jack Fanning and his boy Paul seem to be comparing catches here. The boy is holding a seven-pound walleye and the Dad says the muskie weighed 11 pounds. The fish were caught in Stony lake, part of a holiday catch. They report the fishing was topnotch last week.

22 Vet's Homes Now Being Built

CAMPBELLFORD, July 24 — (ENS)—Arrangements have now been completed for an interviewing official of the Department of Veterans' Affairs to be present in the DVA office, Barrie Building, Peterborough, each Tuesday, for the benefit of those veterans who wish to obtain information on matters concerning the Veterans' Land Act.

The interviewer will attend to both smallholders under the Act and professional farmers on a full-time basis, and VLA officials said today that should the number of applicants for interviews warrant the extension, the interviewer would also be available on Wednesday's.

Officials said today that the matter of an interviewer for Saturday mornings, for the convenience of those who are unable to attend during the week, is also under consideration, with a decision expected shortly.

A large number of veterans have already been placed on small holdings throughout Peterborough and district by means of the Veterans' Land Act, as well as a number who have engaged in full-time farming.

There are presently 22 homes under construction for veteran small-holders, and more are contemplated as the demand increases in this area, officials stated.

Abitibi Increases Paper Price $4 Ton

TORONTO, July 24. (CP) — Some customers of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company received word today of a $4.00 a ton increase in the price of newsprint, bringing the price to $96 plus tax.

President D. W. Ambridge of Abitibi could not be reached for comment and other Abitibi officials declined to make any announcement in his absence.

However, it was learned that the Abitibi Sales Company had notified at least some customers of the increase, effective Aug. 1, saying in a telegram that "our constantly rising costs make this increase necessary."

It could not be learned immediately whether other companies planned to follow Abitibi's move.

Hum Horning In Car Mishap

HASTINGS, July 23 (ENS). — Hum Horning of Codrington lost control of his car Friday afternoon as he rounded a curve going north on Brickley Hill, 3½ miles out of Hastings on the Hastings and Warkworth highway. The car travelled 250 feet down the road, coming to rest on its right side.

Mr. Michell of Warkworth notified Constable E. Rotten of Hastings, who called the Provincial Police at Cobourg, with OPP Constable W. Balute answering the call.

The car was taken to Sullivan's garage in Hastings, where it was estimated that $350 worth of damage was done to the car. Mr. Horning was uninjured.

Oats followed the some trend as barley, with prices firm and shipper demand noted. Some sales were in evidence in the rye futures market for American accounts.

Price of Class 2 wheat, for export to countries other than the United Kingdom, remained unchanged for the second straight day. Three hundred thousand bushels of wheat were allocated to the United Kingdom under the Anglo-Canadian agreement.

LumbermenPlan Cloyne Picnic

After drawing a crowd of 12,000 last year to the annual lumbermen's picnic, Cloyne is going all out again this year. The picnic, to be held on July 31, will feature Margaret Marshall, Miss Canada 1947, and runner-up to Miss America at Atlantic City.

Not to be outdone, a beauty contest will be held to determine the best-looking girl on the grounds. Chosen from 350 other models as Miss C.N.E., Tony Robbins will attend as one of the official guest greeters.

The emphasis isn't all on beautiful girls, for contests in log sawing, by hand and power, log loading, and chopping, tug-of-war and long-sending with cant-hooks will be held for the lumbermen.

Contests for the step dancing championship and horse drawing championship of Ontario will be run off, and the crowd will also be entertained by a softball game between two girls' teams from a Toronto senior league.

Preceding the opening ceremonies, a parade, led by the St. Andrew's Girls' Pipe Band of Toronto will start off the show. The Cloyne picnic is reputed to be the largest one-day picnic in Ontario.

Planned For 3 Months

"Johnny (West) and I planned this for three or four months," he said. "We wanted to beat hell out of him (Niebel), and if they'd given me a little more time, we'd have wiped 'em all out, those—— at the reformatory.

"We really went to the reformatory the other day to get Red Phillips (a guard) but we couldn't find him. We killed the Niebels about 1:30 a.m. I went to the door, which Niebel answered, and told him our car was broken down and asked if I could use the phone. He let me in, and I covered him with my gun.

"Then Johnny came in and covered him while I went upstairs and got the women. They were all fully clothed, and we drove right through Mansfield with them. We made them undress in the car, and throw their clothes out along the road.

"We finally got to the corn field, and told them to walk in. There was no criminal attack on the women, and we didn't slug anybody. He (Niebel) told the others not to offer any resistance, and they didn't.

"I told them to line up. Then I shot him, then the girl and then the woman."

Ambrose was the first victim of the pair. He was shot July 9 during a hold-up in which a woman customer in his tavern was wounded seriously. A few hours before, West and Daniels menaced 100 customers and escaped with a reported $8,000 in another Columbus tavern hold-up.

Wanted Car

Smith, a 25-year-old Seneca farmer, was driving home with his young wife after a visit to an ice cream parlor when the pair forced his car to the curb. They had decided to take the Smith car and abandon their own.

"I just got the right hand door open (on the car belonging to Smith) when I heard a shot," Daniels said. "I didn't know whether Johnny got it or this guy got it. I pushed the woman in the back seat and Johnny drove up alongside. She got out the right door and I got out the left and Johnny drove me off."

The killers then went to a park and found the automobile-carrying truck parked there.

"I walked to the door," Daniels said, "and told him (Taylor) to get out. He was sleeping. He got out and Johnny said, 'I'll take care of him.' He marched him into the bushes and shot him. There were two shots."

800 Shriners Visit Cobourg

COBOURG, July 24—(ENS).—Shriners of Damascus, Rochester; Rameses, Toronto; Tigris, Syracuse; Kalurah, Binghampton, and Aleppo of Boston, over 800 strong, held their annual excursion yesterday to Cobourg. The Toronto Shriners came by car and were on hand to welcome their American brethren when they arrived on the car ferry from Rochester. It was the biggest excursion to Cobourg in the Shriners' history.

Headed by a color party bearing the United States flag and the Union Jack and followed by the Shrine Band of Damacus with the Shriners marching behind, the parade came up from the ferry dock and proceeded along the main street to Victoria Park, where Mayor Joe Smith of Cobourg greeted Vice-Mayor Frank van Lare of Rochester and presented him with the key of the city.

"You can have anything you want in Cobourg except the houses, we are a little short of them," declared Mayor Joe Smith in handing the big gilt key of the city to Frank van Lare.

"It speaks well for our international goodwill to see this sight before our eyes today," stated the Vice-Mayor of Rochester. "It is a same of international goodwill that might well serve as a pattern for other nations in the world to secure peace. For 41 years we have had close contact with you people in Cobourg through the thousands who have visited Cobourg via the car ferries and the return visits via the same way. These contacts have done much to cement good feelings between our two nations."

Dr. E. Montgomery of Toronto, Chief Potentate of Rameses, brought greetings to the visiting Shriners from the States on behalf of the Toronto Shrine. Greetings also were brought from Bob Warner, Chief Potentate of Damascus, Rochester, and Harold Rodderick of Tigris, Syracuse. Also with the party were Patrick Joseph Flynn, Past Grand Knight of Rochester Knights of Columbus, and John Kinney, Grand Knight of the K of C, Rochester.

The Shriners always bring with them a couple of clowns to entertain the children, and also a huge amount of peanuts and suckers for the youngsters. With Chief of Police Bill Carey showing them the way, they first called on the children at St. Joseph's Orphanage and then the youngsters at Illahee Lodge. From there they proceeded to the park where they were mobbed by the children there. By six o'clock the last Shriner straggler had been rounded up and the happy fez-topped army were aboard the ferry for the return trip to Rochester.

Find Midway Freaks Fast Disappearing

SASKATOON, July 24—(CP). —Take a good look at the nearest bearded lady—she may be the last of her kind.

That's the opinion, anyway, of the man in charge of the midway freak show which accompanies an exhibition just finishing a week's stand here.

Their complaint is that science is cutting down the number of physical originals in the human race and it may be the supply will be exhausted completely in a few years.

For one thing, medical science corrects many of nature's mistakes at birth and endangers the existence of the show some persons consider the backbone of any midway.

No Storm Damage

CAMPBELLFORD, July 24 — (ENS). — Friday featured intermittent showers here for the better part of the forenoon and afternoon, with a heavy downpour drenching the shoppers between three and four o'clock.

The rain danced five or six inches from the pavement for about 15 minutes accompanied by a few peals of distant thunder, and some weak flashes of lightning, but there was no storm damage reported.

The pavements were dry in a few minutes, and the remainder of the day was cool enough for the shirt-sleevers to take to jackets in the evening.

Wallace will be battling President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York on a platform which his keynote speaker Friday night told cheering, singing and booing delegates is what "the people demand, and what the people shall have."

Keynoter Charles P. Howard, Iowa (negro) editor, struck hard at both Republicans and Democrats, high prices, foreign policy, Congress and "Jim Crowism."

Urging American "plain people" to join the fight against the old-line political parties, Howard said the choice was "Wallace or war."

When Wallace accepts the Progressive party banner tonight in Shibe Park, by his side will be Senator Glen Taylor, Idaho Democra who left the ranks headed by President Truman to become the new party's number two man. He will accept the Progressive's vice-presidential nomination.

Vaudeville Gets Shot In Arm In New York

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, July 24 (CP). — Vaudeville, whose imminent death has been solemnly predicted by gloomy pundits for years, seems due for another revival.

Theatre owners, feeling the pinch of productions costs, are thinnking seriousl about turning to it as a means of cutting down steadily-mounting overhead.

Their idea is that stagehands and musicians could be cut to a minimum and that variety bills, presented 14 times weekly, could be shown at bargain prices. The immediate problem is to line up a circuit of theatres.

Just to show that the ol dart is still alive and healthy, a vaudeville show called "Blacouts" has been running in Los Angeles since June, 1942.

The need for a couple of talking horses is the pressing problem confronting Producer Dwight Dere Wiman. He needs them for the forthcoming presentation of Marc Connelly's play, "A Story for Strangers." The script calls for two horses and stipulates that they must have "noble voices, without particular identifiable accents." Wiman is pondering whether to use (1) real horses; (2) prop horses, or (3) no horses at all, leaving everything to the imagination of the audience.

Massey Producing Plans

Raymond Massey is back from a trip to Britain with plans to produce a second play. The Toronto born actor went overseas in search of an adaptor for "Hanging Judge," a novel by Bruce Hamilton which he plans to stage. He has two possible candidates for the job. He returned with hopes also of putting on "People Like Us," a play by the late Frank Vosper which has just been produced in London by Henry Sherek. Massey says he hopes to present the Vosper play, which is based on a famous murder trial, here next season with Sherek. They teamed up some years in London to produce Robert E. Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight."

Plays and Players

Louis J. Singers plans to bring Bessie Breuer's play, "Sundown Beach," to New York for a Sept. 7 opening. Louisa Horton and Joan Chandler are both mentioned as probable condidates for one of the feminine leads . . . Jean Dalrymple, recently back from Paris, hopes to stage Jean-Paul Sartre's drama, "Les Mains Sails," in New York this season . . . "Edward, My Son," which has had a successful run in London, is scheduled to open in New York Sept. 27. Robert Morley will star in it.

Britain Develops Colonies To Produce World's Needs

LONDON, July 24—(CP)—To colonial londs beneath palm and pine, the crisis cry has gone out:

More rice from North Borneo, Sarawak, Nigeria; coal from North Borneo; phosphates from Uganda; peanuts for fat from Africa; more sugar from Mauritus; more hides for leather from East and West Africa.

For, in the words of a government blue paper on the colonies in 1947-48, "the world's needs became the Colonial Empire's opportunity."

Economic pressures moulded the year. British money, in tens of millions of pounds, was available to develop food resources, explore sources of raw materials. British advice was sought to reduce the drain on the sterling area's dollar resources.

But with the blue paper went the spoken warning of Lord Treegarne, who is able to influence British investments as chairman of the Colonial Development Corporation:

"I should hesitate to recommend to the board that the corporation should invest large sums in the colonies with a political obsession against the good faith of the United Kingdom.

"Out of the 30 or 40 colonies in which we might operate, there are just two or three where there is an unfounded talk of exploitation by Britain. I am sure for example, that the Goal Coast is disturbed. If so is it not possible that the Goal Coast is the victim of stimulated disturbance?"

Peanut Development

Largest single development is the £25,000,000 ($100,000,000) peanut development in East Africa, started in 1947. When its crops have been harvested, Lord Treegarne said the Empire "will find it has gained something greater even than crops of much-needed food. It will have gained a spiritual victory, a stimulus and triumph for the British people which will speed them along their uphill road."

These other arrangements were to speed colonial development:

Reconstitution of the Colonial Economic and Development Council and reorganization and strengthening of the Colonial Office economic division.

Progress under the Colonial development and welfare acts which already authorize expenditures of £180,000,000 in 17 administrations, £59,000,000 of the total being provided by the United Kingdom.

The Colonial Development Corporation was granted borrowing powers up to £110,000,000 and the Overseas Food Corporation may borrow £55,000,000. This means money will not be lacking for suitable projects.

Missions have gone overseas to check specific proposals for increased colonial production. Co-operation on development is being forwarded with France, Belgium and other colonial powers.

The developments will benefit the colonies and their people. But the other aspect was stated by Lord Milverton, Governor of Nigeria, when he said Britain did not ask for pity but did ask that the senior Empire partner "should be helped in her convalescence by the adoption of a guided economy throughout the Empire until normal health and strength came back to the world of trade and commerce."

DORIS DUKE RUBIROSA, left, world's wealthiest woman, attired in smart dress and turban headgear, is met in New York by Mrs. R. F. Somers, a friend, as she arrived from Los Angeles, Calif. She said she came to prepare for a trip to Paris to meet her husband, Porfirio Rubirosa, Dominican Republic diplomat.

AMONG THE THOUSANDS of New York's 18-year-olds who rushed to enlist in a last-minute effort to beat the draft, the group shown here takes advantage of what may be a last chance to get fresh with a sergeant. Reason for their zeal is one-year enlistment period. They will be exempt from the 21-month draft when they reach 19. President Truman ordered peacetime registration of young men agd 18 through 25 to be conducted in the U.S. during period from Aug. 30 through Sept. 18.

Olivier's Hamlet Powerful Dramatic Epic

TORONTO, July 24.—(CP).—Lawrence Olivier's production of Hamlet—"the story of a man who couldn't make up his mind"—is a powerful a film as any screened on either side of the Atlantic.

At its first Canadian preview here Friday, the 2½ hour film left an impact which could be credited almost as much ito its excellent production as to Shakespeare. Olivier used the utmost drama to be found in the original play and combined the best tricks of film art.

But much of the meat in Skakespeare was removed to justify the theory that "the play's the thing." These compromises—necessary but regrettable — will be a disappointment to a Shakesperean student but makes the production a good deal more digestible to the public.

Cutting and editing were done cleverly to produce a tightly-knit tragedy, thus avoiding the common complaint against Shakespeare that his plays lack form.

The soliloquys that were tackled were forceful and done with a finesse seldom seen in a Shakesperean play. But they were drastically cut and some important ones eliminated enttirely.

A times the audience felt cheated as the anticipated depth fell to the mercy of the editing scissors.

Alhough there are as many interpretations of Hamlet as productions, few will quibble with Olivier's sympathetitc handling of the tragic Dane. He was portrayed as a strong individual who carried 'the stamp of one defect.'

The Skeleton In The Socialist Cupboard

After three years it is now plain that one of the greatest difficulties with which Britain's Labour government has to cope is that of getting increased production from British workers. Even in industries which have been nationalised production lags behind what it could be, and in these nationalised industries a very knotty socialist point has arisen; the workers want more to say in the management of the industries, and the government do not want them to have it. Mr. Herbert Morrison, Mr. Attlee's deputy, has put the government attitude in these words: "The greatest obstacle to the participation by the workers in the direction of industry is their own habit of behaving as if there were some sinister boss in the background whom it was necessary to defeat by achieving as little as possible". The London Economist writes also of the disillusionment of socialist workers who had hoped for a voice in the mining industry, and who find that the new government is "only the old boss, writ large".

* * *

One of the basic weaknesses of socialism is its promise that the control of industry can lie in the hands of the industrial workers. Marx apparently thought that this would be so, for Marx possessed the astoundingly naive idea that if the workers controlled the means of production they would make all industries work together harmoniously. How they were to do so he did not explain, but it is plain enough in the twentieth century, when there are several socialist states to be observed, that central government planning is needed to make nationalised industries mesh properly, and that central government planning boards are even harder to get at, complain to, and influence, than were private owners of industry. This is the skeleton in the socialist cupboard.

* * *

Academic socialists say that central planning has little to do with socialism; they have laid the blame for central government planning upon the German state during the first world war. But the plain fact is that no socialist government has yet been able to rule without a great deal of planning, and whatever socialism may have been when it was a theory, it now dwells very heavily upon planning and planners. Industries, merely because they are owned by the state, do not cease to be in competition and conflict; if the free market does not rule them, the state must do so. And, to take an example, it is sheer nonsense to talk of giving coal miners control of coal production, even when mines are nationalised, for the coal industry does not exist to benefit its workers only; it must also benefit the state as a whole, and the interests of the miners must be subordinated to that.

* * *

What is more, the day may come when the economic tide will turn, and the government planning boards will have to lay off men, and reduce wages. They will, in fact, have to behave exactly as private bosses have done in like situations. That will be the day when the socialist skeleton will really rattle.

The Olympic Games

Sixty-two nations have accepted invitations to take part in the Olympic Games being held in and near London from July 29th to August 14th. There are 115 separate events, not including the Art exhibition and the entries in music and literature. There will be more than 6,000 competitors and officials, who will be accommodated not in a special Olympic Village (owing to the economic situation) but at Aldershot, Bisley, Richmond Park, Torquay, West Drayton and at various schools in the London area. Extraordinary arrangements have been made to accommodate the tens of thousands of visitors. A special telephone exchange ("Corinthian" is its apt name), with a capacity of 2,760 lines, is being provided at Wembley.

Truly, a big affair. Its commercial potential is likewise big. It is this and the importance attached to winning Olympic titles for the sake of national prestige which have tended to vitiate the purpose of the Games expressed by Baron Pierre de Coubertin who revived them in 1896. He saw in them an educational purpose and the fostering of international cordiality through good sportsmanship.

There is little relation between the classic Olympic Games (776 B.C. to 394 A.D.) and the modern revivals excepting in the name of the Games, the Marathon race and the devitalized Decathlon. There is even a confusion of terms, for "Olympiad" is frequently used as a synonym for "Olympic Games" when in reality it means a period of four years dating from one celebration of the Olympian games to the next.

There is a standardized program for fourteen sports, and the single events include the modern Pentathlon, the Marathon (a race over a distance of 42,263 kilometers or 26 miles, 385 yards—the distance Pheidippides ran in 490 B.C. to take news of the victory of Marathon from the battlefield to Athens), field hockey, cycling, road races, canoeing (Canadian single and double, Kayak single and double), epee individual, free pistol shooting. The winter events have already taken place as admirers of Miss Barbara Ann Scott will recollect.

The first of the revived games was held in Athens in 1896 on the site of the ancient festivals. Subsequent celebrations took place at Paris (1900), St. Louis, U.S.A. (1904), London (1908), Stockholm (1912), Antwerp (1920), Paris (1924), Amsterdam (1928), Los Angeles (1932) and Berlin (1936). Wars have interfered with their sequence. The 1916 Games were scheduled to be held in Berlin but the Kaiser upset these plans. Finland was making elaborate preparations for the Games in 1940, and had an impressive new stadium half built and some towering pylons constructed near Helsinki when the Finnish-Russian war interfered. Mussolini had ordered the erection of a grandiose sports centre in the suburbs of Rome in preparation for the Olympic Games expected to take place in Rome in 1944. Fountains, buildings, parks, avenues and statues glorifying masculine (and Roman) virility were half completed and desolate when our troops arrived in Rome in June of 1944.

With the exception of the Amsterdam Games, nationalism and international incidents have marred the procedings of the modern Olympic Games. The Winter Games in Germany in 1936 opened in a blizzard with Herr Hitler appropriately officiating. In the summer events in Berlin later in the year, the Germans were arrogantly gleeful under their Fuhrer's eye, when they achieved the highest honours though not the finest sportsmanship. However, goodwill among men will not be secured merely in council rooms. Fraternizing among sportsmen of many nations and friendly rivalry in Olympic games extends the possibilities of international concord. Perhaps the spirit of the classic games can triumph over commercialism, specialization in sports and the ruthless determination to win. The Olympic Torch will arrive in one of H.M. ships at Dover from Calais on July 28th, will be carried in relays of two miles by a team of some seventy runners, and will be received by the King on July 29th. It is at least a symbol of good intent.

Democratic Drollery

A parade marked the opening of the recent Democratic Convention at Philadelphia, and a description of one float in particular will be of interest to Canadians: it bore the title "England's Royal Wedding—Elizabeth and Philip", and the central figures were two clowns, dressed as a bride and groom; the bride carried a rolling pin, with which she mercilessly lambasted her spouse; the float was surrounded by a guard of burlesque Beefeaters.

This is a type of waggery which crops up from time to time in the U.S.A., and which reveals, no doubt, a sturdy democratic spirit. What can it mean to our republican friends that Princess Elizabeth will one day be the anointed queen of many peoples, the titular head of a great church, bearing in her hands the sceptre of an empire, and the staff of King Edward the Confessor?

No such duties and honours will devolve upon that charming young lady, Miss Margaret Truman, yet we venture to say that if a procession in an English city represented Miss Truman in some similar tasteful and witty exhibit, there would be outraged squawks from the great republic.

Prime Minister Attlee, as a child, had as governess a lady who had earlier been governess to the small Winston Churchill. Apparently she didn't teach him the same things.

Diary Of A Cocktail Lounger

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Was chatting with a man today who is very knowledgeable about dogs, and he informs me that styles in dogs are changing at a giddy pace. The fashionable dogs used to be terriers, spaniels, Airedales, Scotties and occasional setters; now larger dogs, such as Boxers and mastiffs, are the rage, and he says that the Russian wolfhound will make a big comeback soon. Personally I could not care less, for I have never been an enthusiastic admirer of Man's Dumb Chum, but nothing which concerns humanity is alien to me, and I pondered briefly on the problem of the Russian wolfhound: why should that loping, round-shouldered, sheep-headed, neurotic dog return to popularity? I have known two people who owned wolfhounds, and the creatures needed the attention of a Viennese psychiatrist at least once a month. Furthermore, they never could recognize their owners, and were consequently unable to provide that companionship which is all a dog offers in return for food, lodging and the payment of its taxes by a bemused human.

MONDAY: While going downtown this evening, paused at a crossing in order that an excursion train might go by. It was the end of the excursion, and the travellers were filled to the brim with pleasure and bonhomie; indeed, one of them was so full of something that it was spilling out of him as a friend held his head out of the window. It is a strange sensation to observe the end of somebody else's perfect day in this fleeting manner.... Went on to the movies where a newsreel showed me some American pigs being taken by plane to Italy. Recalled the old song:

When pigs begin to fly
Oh my! won't pork be high!

Then watched a film about South America, in which the commentator addressed me somewhat too often as 'Amigo'. I understand that this word means 'friend', but I was not the friend of the commentator, and I resented both his familiarity and his showing off by using a Spanish word so many times, when his choice of English words was so poor.

TUESDAY: I have a little book in which I write down appointments, things I have to do, and occasional random thoughts which I feel may be of interest to me in the future. I discover today that I wrote yesterday: "foolishness of mere probability". Now what on earth did I mean by that? I cannot remember writing it at all, and I have no clue to its possible association with what I did in the course of an uneventful day. Instead of being the spark which explodes rockets of thought in my mind, this is a damp squib, which will not even light.... Entertained, as I am every year, by the quaint costumes worn by tourists. Why, I wonder, do so many people put on what amounts to fancy dress when they travel abroad. Saw a father and son, both with their shirt-tails out of their trousers, and pondered on the probable place in the home, and the degree of family authority, commanded by a man who did not tuck in his shirt. About the equivalent, I presume, of that of a woman who encases her posterior in slacks which fully reveal, but do not constrain, its baroque amplititudes and, when she walks, its fantastic undulations.

WEDNESDAY: To see my doctor today, and while I lay upon his little table, waiting for him to finish off another patient, I passed the time by picking him out in the graduation photographs which hung about the walls. It is always instructive to survey the progress of one's doctor through the years in this manner. There he was as a young man ...a lad, really—when he took his degree in Arts. Here we have him, a few years later, when he became an M.D. Smaller photographs show him with the eminent specialists with whom he did post-graduate work. And in each picture he looks older until the door flies open and the man himself, now gray-haired and with fingers a foot long and made of tempered steel, dashes upon one and begins to probe, pinch and squeeze. I think doctors must get their wonderful finger-development by tearing telephone directories apart.... Tonight as I lay naked and panting with the heat upon my bed a flight of moths invaded my chamber and swept my cringing flesh with their furry wings. After a very little of this I arose and wrought great havoc among them with a handy towel. I don't see why I should stand any nonsense from moths.

THURSDAY: Found myself today, by some mysterious chain of circumstances, in the Cocktail Lounge of a large Toronto hotel. Although it was full of people, an awesome hush hung over the place, and there were three superior waiters at the door, to make sure that no undesirable guest (the kind of person, for instance, who shouts, "Well, here's looking up your address!" to his female companion whenever he takes a drink) gained admission. I saw three low fellows in their shirtsleeves come to the door, and the waiters closed into a solid barrier of indignant flesh, and would not let them pass. After some palaver a sub-waiter was sent away, and soon he re-appeared with three seersucker jackets; the lowlifers, now thoroughly cowed, put these on, and were shepherded to a table.... I approve of this sort of thing. It is very refined, and if there is one thing about which Ontario is particular, it is refinement. Fastidiousness was apparent everywhere in the Cocktail Lounge; all the men wore their coats, all the women wore gloves, and the only really loud sound was the silvery chinking of the waiters, as they ran to and fro with their pockets full of tips. My drink was not as good as I could have made at home, but it was worth the money to sip it in surroundings of such mortuary restraint.

FRIDAY: Painters are at work on the building across the street from my office; they hang from the roof on a sort of bridge, their legs dangle over the street, and their paint-pots slither about in a manner reminiscent of the old Keystone comedies. Would this be fun, I wonder? I am often bored by the dullness of my job, in which I am never called upon to hang on the side of a building, grope in the intestines of a plumbing system, or catch redhot rivets in a bucket. Some fellows have all the fun.

SATURDAY: I see that the U.S.A. is going to issue a stamp with the head of William Allen White of Emporia on it. I think that Canada is wise never to have created a stamp with the head of an editor on it; editors at best are disagreeable fellows, professional contradicters and sassers-back. An editor of any degree of experience becomes incapable of complete agreement with anyone, and he reads the dictionary so much that he always knows more nasty names for any particular offence than the man who has committed it. Whatever an editor may be in his private life, he is professionally ferocious, and he can turn on his tap of belligerence at a moment's notice. There was a time when the horsewhipping of editors was a common sport, and shooting their hats off in the street was regarded as mere pleasantry. Now the law forbids both these manly pastimes... But glorifying an editor by putting him on a stamp is as inexplicable to other nations as is our Canadian custom of worshipping the beaver, that other unattractive, gnawing, surly mammal. To be obliged to lick even the back of an editor's picture would be intolerable to a free man, though, an instant later, he could punch the picture in the face with his thumb.

Canadianism is a state betweer
Being terribly, terribly British And being American,
If you know what I mean.

In England, someone is sure to say,
Why you're an American
I can tell by the way you speak;
Which will leave you weak
With rage and helpless anonymity
And somewhat shake your affinity
For the old land.....

On the other hand,
When travelling south.....
All you have to do is open your mouth
And after the first word
You will be held responsible
For George the third,
And consoled for every cent
You surely contribute to Buckingham Palace
For King George the Sixth's rent.

This has been known to cause
Those who are able
To try to drink all other nationals
Under the table
To prove that they are Canadian
And superior
At least on the interior.
This seems a little rough
Even for stern stuff.

Apparently the best path to pursuc
Is the Middle Way. It is best
To fix your gaze modestly upon your chest;
If asked what you think of affairs
You don't know
Because well-bred Canadian opinions
Never show.

In public it is advisable not to laugh
Nor indulge in unseemly chaff
About anyone's sacred cow
In that direction, bow
Decorously.

By following this plan
Others will readily know
That you are a nice, moderate
Middle-of-the-way
Canadian.

Should They All Pass?

(THE FINANCIAL POST)

SOME people have curious ideas about scholastic examinations. The current row over examinations is at Ontario's Law School where 87 out of 323 trying first year exams were flunked. Now, there is much wailing in some quarters that the exams were too tough, the marking too hard. Apparently some Law Society "Benchers" are going into a huddle to see what can be done for the dear, sweet boys and some unnamed lawyers are being quoted in the daily newspapers as being worried about the situation.

Why should there be any fuss about flunking 87 out of 323 first-termers? That's a normal-to-low per cent. flunking in any self-respecting institution dedicated to "higher learning," and we understand this class had fair warning that Law School standards were on for some tightening.

What do the complainers want—a pass for everybody?

What Osgoode Hall people might better be asking is the question: Did too many get a pass mark?

Educational people certainly do their students, the parents of the students and the whole community no good service when they have weak and pliable examination standards.

The legal profession, like most others, has lots and lots of examples of poor and unhappy lawyers who would have been well-to-do and happy plumbers. Why should educationists or law society officials go on year after year pretending that Joe Zuch is going to make himself a good career in law? In the first place that's not fair to Joe.

To which some will say that examinations are not a fair test of a man's ability. "A lot of theoretical bunk nobody needs in actual living."

That view completely misses what is perhaps the most important point about examinations and about the business of living. Whatever other value they have, examinations do three things which are vital lessons for life.

They impose discipline of mind and of body, something of which humanity is notoriously short, as today's newspaper makes abundantly clear.

They teach wise—or profitable—apportionment of time.

They train young people in meeting crises. From birth to death, man's personal and business life is a series of crises, a series of major events calling for his maximum in energy, perception, judgment and wisdom. The business of learning how to pass examinations of any kind is mighty useful training for the business of living and making a living.

So we find the attitude of the complaining benchers completely incomprehensible.

Do they want a lower reputation for Osgoode Hall as "a seat of learning"? Do they want to let youths without the "stuff" or without the willingness to apply themselves continue in the delusion that the law is for them?

The public has in its own interests taken over the education of its doctors, engineers and most professional men. In Ontario, the training of lawyers has so far been left in the hands of the legal "trade union."

Complaints that Osgoode Hall standards aren't low enough justifies the public in wondering how well the responsibility of training our lawyers and judges is being carried out.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

THAT which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ....

This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all. (1 John 1: 3, 5.)

The Short Word in English

APROPOS of "the short word in English", the Journal on Saturday happened to recall some of the most famous words of our English speech—namely:

"Kipling once spoke of 'words by which men have been content to live, and for which sometimes they were content to die". However much such a dictum may be challenged, it nevertheless is true that it is by their words, more than by their acts, that most men in history are remembered. Pitt's 'England has saved Europe by her exertions....'; Canning's 'I have called in the New World to redress the balance of the Old'; Gladstone's 'the resources of civilization are not exhausted'; Parnell's 'No man may set a boundary to the march of a nation'; Patrick Henry's 'Give me liberty or give me death'; Churchill's 'toil, sweat, blood and tears'; Macdonald's 'A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die'; Laurier's 'The 20th century belongs to Canada'—all are lines that live on and may well continue to live on long after the men who spoke them have faded into the haze."

We just remember to count the short words, the words of a single syllable.

There are 86 words in the sayings quoted above.

Sixty-six are words of one syllable, 13 of two syllables (including two proper names, England and Europe, and nine words of three syllables (including the proper name Canada). Proper names may be considered as merely informative, rather than expressive of thought.

So, evidently, anyone who aims to voice great thought doesn't need to look for big words.—Ottawa Journal.

Grand Larceny

THE grand piano and spiral staircase which are among the property stolen from the liner Aorangi while under reconversion in Sydney add picturesque items to the tale of grand larcenies. The complete tale includes such large-scale thefts as 125 baths from Chicago houses under construction; four tanks smuggled into Rio de Janeiro by a German spy; a railway engine at Lille; a complete railway (which disappeared from the valley of the Puissieux, near Albert, in France, during one night); a number of Adam fireplaces from various London residences; a Manchester Corporation motor-bus (the thief said he intended to "flog" it on the black market); a lorry containing four tons of soot; two Paris street lamp-posts; and a statue from a Cardiff public park. But the crowning grand larceny in the history of civilization was alleged by Flamstead, the Astronomer Royal, who accused Halley, of comet fame, of stealing 110 stars from him; to which accusation one Dr. Hare answered "that if it was true he knew of no law whereby to punish him for it."—Manchester Guardian.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

A CONVICTION has been registered against a fisherman being in possession of black bass shorter than ten inches in length. That law is pretty well known, but I noticed in the account of the story from Chatham that the game warden testified the measurement must be made from the tip of the snout to the centre posterior of the tail, whereas the defendant was claiming he measured to the end of the tail. Outdoor Writers of America and most people who have had anything to do with fishing contests or derbies take the measurement from the tip of the snout to the fork of the tail, but here is the catch: where in the fish and game regulations of Ontario does it tell where the measurement is to be taken? I have read the blue book thoroughly, and also the summary of the regulations, but I didn't find anything about how to measure a fish to determine if it is legal size. It looks to me as if this is a point that requires clarifying.

HERE'S ANOTHER ONE. Recently a non-resident angler was convicted for drift fishing for pickerel at Rice Lake. The offence took place June 29, but was not heard in court until July 8. A Toronto newspaper carrying the story did not give the date of the offence, consequently many Americans got the idea that drift fishing is illegal throughout the year. That is wrong. Drift fishing is illegal between May 15 and July 1 in the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham, but after July 1, drift fishing is quite O.K. In fact, I might add, it is one of the best ways to get pickerel in Rice Lake, particularly around dark. The American who was convicted told the court he had spent $20,000 in Canada in the last five years. I wonder if he figured that gave him the right to break the law? I am afraid that fellow is likely to get the cold treatment from his friends, because in this part of Ontario we look to Americans as models of sportsmanship, but that belief took a bit of a beating.

GEORGE CHRISTIANSEN, Camp Cleveland, moved into the lead in the muskie parade again this year. He battled a 28-lb., 12-ounce muskie for more than 20 minutes in Pigeon Lake before it came close enough to be slugged. Christiansen was using a 20-pound test line and played the big bruiser carefully. It measured 47 inches. Roy Gammon, 2060 East 21st St., Cleveland, was handling the motor, and got just as big a thrill out of the battle as Christiansen. The latter comes from Willoughby. Last year a 32-pound muskie caught in the same lake and by a Cleveland guest from this same lodge won The Examiner Lucky Strike fishing contest top prize. Christiansen and his partner, Frank Laurie, are keeping their fingers crossed hoping they can take the honors two years in a row. The fish is being mounted and will hang on the wall of the camp dining-room alongside the head of the 1947 specimen. BLACK BASS ARE BITING in top style throughout the Kawartha Lakes. In fact, I cannot recall when I heard of as many fine catches. They are running big too, with several between 4½ and 5-pounders reported. Gordon Freeburn and Wilbert Barcroft caught six in Pigeon Lake and four were over 4 pounds. J. G. Maconnachie, Toronto, hauled one out of Lake Chemong weighing 4¾ pounds. For the most part the bass are showing a preference for green frogs, live minnows, gallanippers and worms. A few are being taken on plugs. The same story of success in the realm of black bass fishing comes from Trent River, Crowe Lake, Kosh Lake, Buckhorn Lake and Mississauga Creek.

REGATTA DATES have been announced. On Civic Holiday, August 2, regattas are scheduled at Belmont Lake, Trent River village and at Juniper Island on Stony Lake. Kawartha Park regatta, also on Stony Lake, will be held Saturday, July 24, and next Saturday the paddlers, sailors and swimmers will compete at Crowe's Landing. Power boat races will be held at Mount Julian, July 31, starting at two o'clock, and the children's regatta at Juniper Island is Saturday, Aug. 7. A junior regatta will be held off Chemong Park on Aug. 7. No data has reached me regarding sailing races at Stony, Chemong and Sturgeon, and I think the sailors are missing a bet not giving some publicity to this grand sport. Rosedale, up at the top of Cameron Lake, will be the scene of a regatta on July 31. Why can't all these dates be stabilized so that a calendar of events could be compiled no later than February? Then the regattas could all be listed by the Dept. of Travel and Publicity and people all over Ontario and the States would know about them.

I GET A BIT ANNOYED when I hear people talking about using DDT mixed to their own specifications for control of insect life. This insecticide is fine when purchased at certain strengths for specific purposes, but it can do a great deal of harm when improperly used. I would like to see a bit more emphasis put on protection for songbirds and frogs. These two are important in nature's scheme of insect pest control, but instead of getting the maximum protection from man, both are being slaughtered. Now we find that improper use of certain insecticides is taking a heavy toll of the songbirds and frogs. Of course, the insects are getting the chop, too, but I feel we are being a penny wise and a pound foolish. If you are going to use any artificial means for eliminating the insects, read the instructions carefully.

SUMMER IS MOVING into its fullness, and nature's bounty in ripening grain and fruits is everywhere. Fall wheat is nut brown, headed up well, ready for the clacking knives of the binder. In the warm afternoons, western winds sweep the countryside and motorists watch the shadows chase each other across the swaying stalks of grain. Raspberries are hanging full-ripe in the cut-over woodlots, and a few shrivelled strawberries mark the end of that luscious fruit for another year. Heat waves are shimmering over the roads, and cicadas are singing in the tall elms. In the cool swamps, the elderberry bushes are flaunting patches of bloom, like white hydrangea, promise of a rich crop in early September. At night the "peert-peert baroom" of the nighthawks is heard and the young ones too have left their barren nests on the flat tar-and-gravel city roofs to explore the skies. Pasture fields are showing the first slight touches of brown, heralds of approaching autumn.

Dishwashers Beware Of Inspector

By JIM ENGLISH

Drink hearty! And when you drink, do you ever consider whether that restaurant glass or beverage room glass is clean? Certainly you do. Who is the man who makes sure they are kept clean and sterile? Meet Ronald M. MacPherson, sanitary inspector for the city of Peterborough.

"From my angle, Peterborough restaurants are some of the best I've seen." said Mr. MacPherson, sanitary inspector for the city. Eleven years ago, when Mr. MacPherson first took over the job, Peterborough was pretty wild and woolly as far as restaurants went, he said.

But in those 11 years, the sanitary inspector has worked hard and raised the standard of the city's restaurants and other eating places far above old time levels. Just to show how well he has done, out of 648 complaints received in his office last year, only four were concerned with food or water in cafes.

There is no specified time for checkups of beverage rooms or restaurants, Mr. MacPherson said. "It depends on the owner. If he keeps things sanitary, we don't have to check on him so often. Naturally, the ones who give us trouble must be looked into several times a week."

"Our procedure is fairly simple. We take swabs which we rub over the parts of utensils which contact the person—fork ties, knife blades, spoon bowls, cup and glass rims. Those swabs are taken to the provincial Department of Health laboratory in the city buildings here, where they are tested for bacteria."

In the lab, the washings from the swabs are placed on plates with some culture medium. If the plate count of bacteria exceeds 100, we warn the owner of the restaurant or beverage room where the samples were taken."

Mr. MacPherson says there are violations of the sanitation bylaw, in force in every city in the province, under the Ontario Public Health Act. 'Most violations are due to the human element, and lack of knowledge of procedure." he added.

The department of health sends out pamphlets regularly to the restaurants and beverage rooms in the city, in an effort to cut down what few violations there are, Some are made up in Chinese, for those oriental cafe owners and workers who cannot read English.

Cockroaches are on the wane in Peterborough, Mr. MacPherson said. A new insecticide, placed on the market two years ago for tests, has proved extra-efficient in removing these pests. Known as chlorinated hydrocarbon, or C10H6C18, if you prefer the formula, it is sprayed onto walls and leaves a coat of cockroach poison there.

Former methods of killing these bugs were not as effective, Mr. MacPherson said, because they didn't take care of the eggs, which hatch out within ten days. Using chlorinated hydrocarbon, the newly hatched cockroache crawls over the coating and is killed on contact. An idea of the toxic effect of this substance may be gained from the fact that only a 2% solution in deodorized kerosene is used.

"We have found the answer to cockroaches now." said the inspector." "We tested one building a year and a half ago and since then, we have spotted no more of the insects."

Lipstick is one of the problems of the dishwasher, the inspector said, since actual friction is needed to remove it. The sterilizing solution cannot remove it, and it is hard to get off with soap.

In 1947, two city restaurants were closed down, but re-opened shortly after they had complied with the requirements of the department of health. Mr. MacPherson said they had let things slip badly, and that he gave them a time limit within which they were to bring their premises up to standard.

One city cafe owner had a close call this year, "He let his staff get away with slipshod work, but when we warned him that he could be closed up, he cleaned up. He knew what to do, too. I guess he thought I was only putting in time when I warned him before." said Mr. MacPherson.

"Education of food handlers is the important part of sanitary inspection. If we could teach them what we want them to know, department work would be lessened a great deal." concluded Mr. MacPherson.

SAFEGUARDING YOUR HEALTH is Ronald M. MacPherson, city sanitary inspector, who inspects all restaurants and beverage rooms in the city. In the Top picture, Mr. MacPherson is seen taking a swab from a restaurant glass. This swab will be taken to the Ontario Department of Health laboratory here, where it will be checked for bacteria. Below, the sanitary inspector is checking meat in the modern freezing vault of a city restaurant.

Emigrants To Canada Reported In 1845 By Kingston Editor To Be More Refined

By RALPH GREENHILL

"The emigrants to Canada this year appear to be more respectable than in former years," wrote a Kingston editor, quoted in Chambers's Edinburgh Journal for December, 1845. "Many of them have, apparently, considerable means, and it is to be deeply regretted that proper steps have not been taken, in many cases, for the proper application of their little capital."

Chambers' Journal states that although it was at one time favorable to emigration schemes to Australia, Van Diemen's Land (Tasmania) and New Zealand, "it is, however, fair to confess, that were we to emigrate, we should, for reasons of nationality, etc., wend our way to Canada; or, to speak more precisely, that part of western Canada bounded by Lake Huron on the north, and Lakes Erie and Ontario on the south — a district fertile, and perhaps more agreeable in point of climate than others open for settlement."

It then gives a picture of the difficulties facing emigrants in the middle of the last century. "A number of individuals, who are known or unknown to each other, as the case may be, take a passage on board a vessel for Montreal. Having escaped from the fangs of the skipper and his associates — almost every one of whom aims at preying on passengers — the emigrants fall for the most part into the hands of land jobbers and false advisers, who waylay them on landing. Many are stripped of the principal part of their money while inquiring and bargaining for land, and either sink into poverty in the large towns, or return home dispirited. Others, more acute, and impressed with the necessity for pushing off into the country, proceed westward, and drop away in different directions; till finally, after a world of trouble, they respectively clear lots of uncleared ground, on which they propose to settle."

The paper points out that the hardships of early settlers in the backwoods were often appalling and discouraged hundreds before they had made a fair trial of the country. "Frequently, the settler has to purchase every mouthful of food for his family for twelve or fourteen months after his arrival. This of course robs him of his means, or what is worse, he gets into debt, and then he is fairly done for."

It supports a planned emigration scheme suggested by the Canadian editor, for "here we have a country overflowing with people and with capital; there lies a fertile country, wanting only people and capital to render it productive and valuable. Why are not the three things—the land, the people, and the capital—brought together?"

One man is to come out to Canada a year in advance of a main body of emigrants "and purchase a block of land, says 150 acres for each family; employ hands to clear and sow five acres on each lot with fall wheat, which cost about £15; during the winter clear up five acres more, and erect a good shanty on each lot; the land to be planted with potatoes and sown with oats in the spring, which would probably cost £20, making in all, for the ten acres under crop, and the shanty, £35." The emigrants were to arrive in midsummer and be met at Quebec by their deputy. When they arrived at their new homes, they would be able to start work immediately, have no more than two months' food to purchase and would possess "all the elements of a thriving settlement, improve their own condition by emigrating to the province, and at the same time contribute to its wealth, intelligence, and consequent prosperity."

There seems to be no evidence that this plan, a forerunner of today's emigration schemes, was put into practice in this country except in a few scattered areas. It was used with coniderable success by settlers in the middle western States of America, but the emigrants to Canada continued to settle in a "haphazard and disheartening" way.

Church Activity Slows Down During Summer Season

In the summer season city churches close or unite with other churches, while country churches open after months of being closed completely or opening only occasionally when a minister is available.

In the summer the student missionaries get out in the country and occupy their fields. Some of these students supply their fields through the winter, if the communities are not too far away from the college towns.

There are fields in Ontario and there are fields in Western Canada. Often the only services ever held in some of the prairie communities is during the few summer months when a student takes over. There is no regular minister on the job during the winter. Frequently the roads are blocked and there is no way to get around to the more outlying points.

One of the problems confronting the different churches these days is to maintain interest. Some of the congregations are alive and expanding, while others are dying of dry rot. Attendance has been dwindling and considerable thought is being given the question of how best to put greater vitality into all church life.

Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, MA, PhD, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada, suggests that some of the preaching has been uncertain, lacking in burning conviction.

There will be clergymen of more than the United Church who will be willing to argue this point with Dr. Mutchmor, but there will also be many others who will think the evangelism secretary has something when he urges that more fire be put into the pulpit messages.

In Great Britain church attendance dwindled to 12 per cent of the population of the United Kingdom. Dr. Mutchmor thinks this condition is largely due to the church being neglected in too many parishes.

Religion can become too comfortable. If the preachers do not awaken a challenge in their congregations, the people can be lulled into a doze about their church life. They can assume a complacent attitude and in time they will find it convenient to forget all about their parish or congregation. They will suddenly discover that in missing church they have found that they have missed nothing.

That many be harsh criticism, but men like Dr. Mutchmor have been around and they are in a position to be critical from experience. They have been through the mill and know most of the answers.

In a report on efforts to strengthen the churches, it is suggested that regeneration will never be built on a foundation of weakness.

It often happens that sermons skirt the great moral truths and the congregations are not quite sure just where the preachers stand on some of these questions.

Some of the hard and tough subjects like gambling, temperance, social impurity and promiscuity are given the go-by and either never mentioned or glossed over in such fashion that the people find the message goes in one ear and out the other without even arresting attention for a passing thought.

After every war there is always a general trend toward what is sometimes called worldliness. There is something with which any living church has to cope. It is not a matter of just battering away against this or that, but it involves constructive ideas and helps to increase the general better living of all.

In a general discussion recently Dr. Mutchmor declared encouragement because many pastors were getting back into their pulpits. Instead of being joiners and trying to belong to every group and organization going, they were devoting more time to their preaching and pastoral work.

The prestige of individual churches declines or rises according to their leadership. There are some churches and some pastors who stand out in Canada as leaders in their congregations and leaders of thought in their communities. These men hold the respect and admiration of the citizens.

It is always easy to be critical, but those who find fault should keep in mind that the churches have been going concerns for centuries and they expect to be doing business for centuries to come.

British Workers Earning More Than They Did In 1939

The average British workman, cinched by high taxation and austerity, still has the satisfaction of earning more for fewer hours of work than before the war.

A detailed Labor Ministry survey of earning in industries in 16 main groups employing 6,000,000 wage-earners showed these results:

The weekly pay packet averages 128s 1d ($25.62) for 46 hours, 36 minutes, compared with 69s for 37 hours, 42 minutes in 1938.

The average man over 21 had an increase of 86 per cent in wages compared with 1938; the average woman, over 18 years, 114 per cent; boys, under 21, 118 per cent, and girls under 18, 136 per cent.

The workers in the 16 industrial groups worked an average of 45 hours, 12 minutes, in the last pay week of October. In the same week in 1938 the average was 46 hours, 30 minutes.

Their average earnings as ascertained by the ministry includes bonus, piecework earnings and overtime, pay before payment of income tax and contributions to state insurance.

The coal miner, the farm worker, railwayman and workers in distributive trades, catering, entertaining, commerce, banking and domestic service were left out of the survey.

Average wage of the working woman—69s 7d. compared with 32s, 6d in 1938 — rose more in proportion than that of men because may women have switched to what had previously been men's work. They have also gained from new wage agreements negotiated on a nationwide basis.

Hours of work in October, 1947, showed an average reduction of prewar figures of one hour for men, two for boys, two for women and two and one-half for girls.

The number paid by results has increased compared with 1938 — 28 per cent being thus employed in October.

Petes Beat Huntsville, 16-8 In Speedy Lacrosse Fixture

The Petes' lacrossers defeated Huntsville 16-8 before a good crowd at Miller Bowl last evening to keep intact their undefeated record. They racked up a 5-0 lead in the first frame, but were outscored 5-2 next heat and just had a 3-2 margin in the third. They finished strong as usual for a 6-1 edge. It was a fast, clean contest and pretty close most of the route as both sides kept hustling and passed the ball around in snappy style.

All the homesters turned in a tidy effort from Goalie Bun Hill out. The defence checked well and the scoring was well spread around. Lou Vitarelli led with five points, while Smith was in on four, and JV Breakspear, Foote, Gordon and D. Vitarelli three each. Chute and Horton also showed up well. Watt, White, V. Higgs and Ralph Gordon were the pick of the losers, all of them putting up a fight all the way.

The teams:

Huntsville: Goal, Tunney; defence, R. Gordon and Millest; centre, Snowden; wings, Bond and White; rover, Scriver; alternates, Arbour, V. Higgs, C. Higgs, Jennings, Cropic, Watt and Payne.

Referees, J. Mullis and T. Hewitt.

Babe Ruth showed he still could hit home runs 10 years ago today when he drove out a 430-foot clout to win $50 in a long-distance slugging duel at St. Louis. Joe Medwick, a St. Louis Cardinal fielder, won the $25 second prize with a 425-foot drive.

Woollens Take Close One From Westclox

Dominion Woollens pulled an upset at the Bowl last night in the Girls' Softball League when they nosed out a 5-3 win over the league-leading Westclox team. They deserved the win as they hustled and fielded well behind good pitching by S. Harris, but it was a big surprise to the fans. E. Humphries and B. Hall shone in the field for the winners in the snappy scrap, while V. Dorsett and J. Vass were best for the Clockers. The latter were minus A. Anderson and N. Whetung, but they were outplayed by the Woollens in this number. H. Waite fanned five and gave but seven hits in a losing cause.

B. Hall led the winners at bat with three hits in four tries and J. McIlwain hit a double. They cashed in on several walks to tally, too. J. Vass of Westclox hit a homer and single, while M. Hawthorne and V. Dorsett each had two singles, and M. Downer a triple. The winners outhit Woollens 10-7 and had but error against two in this tussle.

The teams:

Mueller Leads Batting Race

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP) — Don Mueller, Rookie Jersey City Giant outfielder, enjoyed a 10-point lead last week in the race for the International League's individual batting championship. Mueller jacked his average up from .338 to .346 during the week while Toronto's Johnny Welaj moved from third to second. Welaj batted .336.

Mueller also continued to lead the field in base hits, having collected 125. Johnny Groth of Buffalo scored the most runs, 80, and whacked the most triples, 11. Chuck Diering of Rochester topped the loop in two-bagger production with 23 while Buffalo's Chet Laabs continued to set the pace in homers and runs batted in with 29 and 81, respectively. Bob Wilson of Balitmore led the pack in stolen bases with 12.

Newark's Bob Porterfield regained the pitching leadership. Porterfield has won 13 and lost five for a .722 percentage. The rookie right-hander also has pitched the most shutouts, six. Jack Banta of Montreal has struck out the most batters, 121.

Fifteen stars of the three southern clubs, Watertown, Auburn, N.Y., and Geneva, N.Y., will meet the picket players of the northern half of the circuit, Ottawa, Kingston and Ogdensburg.

Legion Gets Win

Caravaggie scored three for the winners, with Fontaine getting a brace, and Mike Crowley and Levasseur one apiece. For Queens B. Robinson clicked for four, Whitnall two, and Shearer one. The teams:

Legion — Hickson, Mullen, Fontaine, Foster, Crowley, Wakeford, Caravaggie, and Levasseur.

Queen's — B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Searle, Foster, Crowder, Shearer, O'Donnell, Donoghue, Beavis, Lasenby, Whitnall, Batley, and Bigford.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Two baseball games here today, weather permitting, in Riverside Park. Batawa Shoemen clash with the Petes in a COBL fixture at three this aft, and it should be a dandy as they battle it out for top spot in the league. And at 6.30 tonight, Bowmanville juniors tangle with our Kiwanis, the southend squad, to wind up their Lakeshore League schedule. Ought to be interesting, too. The playoff setup should be announced shortly. Likewise the City Baseball League playoff arrangements. Only one more minor loop tussle slated, and that's between the northend juveniles and East City at Riverside on Monday evening. After today, the Petes are idle in the Central League till Oshawa comes here next Saturday, same clubs meeting in the Motor City on Civic Holiday.

Ald. Dodds was telling us yesterday that the civic arena project down by the CGE is very much alive. The cement work has been completed and the carpenters and their crew will be back here about the middle of August. To finish it up, walls, roofing and interior. It will be ready by Nov. 1, if not a little sooner, and the crew will then move to Lakefield for a rink job there. Good stuff. A further drive for funds in the fall, as more money is required to pay it off. We mention the rink at this time because the Civic Softball League plans an all-star double-header at the Bowl next Thursday evening, proceeds going to the rink fund. Good stuff, and more loops and clubs could help a lot along similar lines.

A List of Names

The first game at seven has the All-Stars No. 1 in against Grafton's. First club has such players as: Killingbeck, Stillman, Johnson, Pierce, Crowe, Pagett, W. Ferguson, S. Ferguson, Burns, Kiff, Dummitt, Harrison, Greatrix and Cournyea. Grafton's include: Riches, Livingston, Godfrey, Sheehy, Jamieson, Conroy, Hall, McGillis, Taylor, Byers, Price, Lake and Lewis. Managers of the four clubs are: S. Ferguson, P. Scully, G. Bowen and T. Drumm. The umps are G. Trennum and C. Castle.

* * * * * * *

Oh, yes, the second tilt. Better mention these guys, too. The All Stars No. 2 play Babe's. Place, latter players being: Davis, Loyst, Wilford, Mortimer, Conway, Carnegie, Fontaine, S. Anderson and J. Anderson. And the All-Stars are: Strickland, Lebarr, Rowe, Parnell, Brown, Ackford, Grey, Simmons, Fife, Maher, Wallwork, Moore, Nyosol, James, Gillespie, Scott and Tushingham. Incidentally, the Civic Softball Leaguers are hot into their playoffs now and some good ball is being served up in this large and lively loop. This is its first year.

It's Dog Eat Dog

Men's Softball holds sway in the Bowl tonight—again if the weather is right—with an important twin bill. They are all important now and will continue so for the next several weeks. With a one-week layoff coming up, B-A plays Comstock's at seven, followed by Legion against the Knights. Three teams are tied with 11 and 10 each, while Knights have nine and 12. A loss by Knights won't quite eliminate them but will put them back on the spot where they've got to win two remaining games while some other club drops two. Right now there are three more double-headers, counting tonight, to finish up the schedule completely. It's a dogfight for sure, and every club is really playing for keeps.

* * * * * * *

Quite a surprise at the Bowl last e'en in girls' softball when Woollens beat Westclox 5-3. True, the Clockers—perennial senior champs—were minus two good players and the score was close, yet it was a big upset. Woollens are strictly of junior calibre, but they played fine ball behind good pitching by S. Harris to kick the dope bucket seven ways for Sunday. That's what makes sports interesting—nothing is sure. And Lock Co. went well in their game to defeat Lakefield 10-4, though the losers pitched, hit and fielded almost as well. Two tidy tussles, and we understand there are two games slated for Monday.

Another for Petes

Down at Doug Miller's Bowl yester gloaming, the Petes' lacrossers took Huntsville 16-8 to stay undefeated so far this semester. No walkaway, as the visitors drove hard in the second and third quarters. But the Petes had a 5-0 margin in the first and a 6-1 edge with their usual fourth-quarter rally. Clean and fast throughout, it was no romp for the Creighton crew at all, though they deserved to win by several goals. Lou Vitarelli led the snipers, with Don Smith next, and the whole squad—from the goalie out—looked okay in an interesting struggle. Another good crowd on deck, despite threatening skies.

Lock Co. Wins A 10-4 Tilt Over Lakefield

Lock Co. defeated Lakefield 10-4 at the Bowl last night before a fair-sized gathering in a Girls Softball League fixture. It was a tidy tilt with some good fielding seen and the winners having but two more hits than the losers. However, the improved Lock Co. crew played heads-up ball all the way, having but one slip defensively and cashing in on walks and errors, with the odd timely blow, to roll up the count. P. Williams threw seven-hit ball for them and fanned five, walking four. R. Boyce allowed but nine hits as she whiffed eight, but walked four, also.

Betty McMahon and P. Williams were the fielding stars for the Lock Co. squad, while R. Maloney and N. Clements were best in the field for Lakefield. N. Stewart led the hitters with three for four, one a double, while J. McIntyre had a homer and single in three. R. Maloney topped Lakefield at bat with a triple and double in four, and M. Boyce had two singles.

The teams:

Lock Co.—R. Roberts, 2b; D. Westlake, c; B. Ayotte, ss; J. McIntyre, 1b; C. Michard, rf; B. McMahon, 3b; M. Johnston, lf; P. Williams, p; N. Stewart, cf.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tonight is the night. There should be a good crowd out this evening for the "Family Hour" mixed rink tournament. We believe that these week-end tourneys are just about as popular as any other—7.30 o'clock is the hour.

The "no bowling" sign was hung out last night. Those afternoon showers were responsible.

Next Thursday, July 29, we hold the last stage of the men's club singles. All players who are still in this event are asked to be on hand by 7.00 o'clock. C. Grant and K. Shadgett are the conveners.

Lacrosse Schedule

Jack Foote has drawn up the daytime minor lacrosse schedule for next week. Starting at two p.m. Monday, there is a Buffalos' peewee practise, then a Spitfires' tadpole workout and a juvenile session. Two peewee games Monday morning, starting at 10: Petes vs. Tigers, and Lions vs. Buffalos. Rockets have a tadpole drill at one, juveniles go at two, Tudhope bantams workout at three, and Cavanagh midgets at four.

One game Wednesday morning, starting at 10: Rocket tadpoles vs. Spitfires, and it is followed by a Lions' peewee practise. At one, Tiger peewees drill, the juveniles an hour later, Clapper bantams at three and McGillis midgets at four. Two peewee games next morning, opening at 10: Tigers vs. Lions and Buffalos vs. Petes. Kiwanis bantams drill at one, juveniles at two, St. Paul's bantams at three and Comstock's midgets at four.

Two more games Friday morning, starting at 10; Rockets vs. tadpole Spitfires and peewee Tigers vs. Buffalos. Juveniles go at two and Montreal bantams practise at three. Petes' peewees workout at 10 Saturday morning and American midgets at 11. Player should clip this weekly schedule, which is apart from night contest.

Juvenile Lacrosse

Walt Murphy announces there will be no juvenile lacrosse games Monday or Tuesday. However, the juvenile players who will be going to Huntsville will have a practise game with the intermediates at eight Tuesday in Miller Bowl.

Red Wings Crush Buffalo 5-4; Maple Leafs Win

By The Associated Press

Max Surkont, spearheading Rochester Red Wings' drive for a first-division berth, has an excellent chance to become the first Red Wing pitcher to win 20 games since 1940.

The 26-year-old right-hander, now in his 10th season of organized ball, last night pitched the Red Wings to with a game of fourth place in the International League race when he downed Buffalo Bisons 5-4 in 10 innings.

It was Surkont's 11th victory of the season as against only five losses.

In the only other game, Toronto Maple Leafs trounced the leading Montreal Royals 10-5. The Leafs tallied four times in the first inning and sewed it up with another four-run rally in the fourth.

Lou Possehl, although clipped for 12 hits including homers by Bob Morgan and Al Gionfriddo, went the distance for the Leafs.

Other contests were rained out.

Red Sox Pound Chicago 13-1 Detroit Blasts Senators

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Joe McCarthy has found some pitching, Boston Red Sox look like the roughest club in the American League.

It used to be an occasion for a 24-gun salute when a Sox hurler went the route. But in the club's current nine-game winning streak the starting pitcher has been there at the finish seven times.

Ted Williams, who missed 15 games due to a torn rib cartilage, returned to the lineup yesterday and immediately made known his presence. He collected two hits, including a double with the bases full, to help beat Chicago White Sox 13-1.

This cleared the stage for the most important series of the year at Fenway Park as the league-leading Cleveland Indians come in for a doubleheader today and a single tomorrow.

The Indians were rained out yesterday. Consequently they go to Boston with a half-game lead on Philadelphia Athletics and 1½ over the Sox.

Rain helped the Athletics last night. They were trailing St. Louis Browns 6-0 in the third inning when the game had to be postponed.

A Big Inning

Detroit had a big inning at Washington, scoring seven in the fourth, to blast the Senators 11-5. Reliefer Virgil Trucks, working 3 2/3 hitless innings, gained his ninth victory and his fifth straight.

The National League battle tightened a bit as Brooklyn knocked off Pittsburgh 4-3 while Boston Braves were losing to St. Louis Cardinals, 7-5. As a result, the Braves' lead was clipped to 5½ games.

Erv Palica, relieved by Hank Behrman in the eighth, assured the Brooks of their eight victory in 10 starts since Burt Shotton replaced Leo Durocher as manager. Homers by Pee Wee Reese and Tommy Brown ruined Mel Queen's first start since July 6.

Larry Jansen notched victory No. 12, a fine five-hit shutout for New York Giants over Chicago Cubs 5-0. Johnny Mize's 23rd homer in the first started Jansen on his way. It was Mize's 280th homer in the majors.

Philadelphia Phils made a triple play in the fourth inning of their 6-1 victory over Cincinnati. With men on first and second, Virgil Stallcup lined to third baseman Ralph Caballero to start the triple play, second in the league this season.

Fans Nostalgic Since Reissue Of Old Movies

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 24 (CP)—What great movie scenes stick in your mind?

Average movie fans are suffering waves of nostalgia these days, since reissues of old pictures are glutting the film market. Having become a fan as early as I could lift a grubby hand up the boy office, I have a warehouse full of movie memories from years past. Listen to them: box office, I have a warehouse of movie memories from years past.

Listen to them:

Irene Dunne posing as a burlesque queen in the "The Awful Truth". . .Barbara Stanwyck tripping Henry Fonda in "The Lady Eve". . .The earthquake in "San Francisco". . .Margo growing old as she leaves Shangrila in "Lost Horizon."

James Cagney flopping dead through a door in "Public Enemy". . .Paul Muni disappearing into the darkness at the end of "I Am A Fugitive". . .The Locust Plague in "Good Earth". . .Humphrey Bogart listening to "As Time Goes By" in "Casablanca."

Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald having a nip together in "Going My Way". . .Larry singing "April Showers" to Evelyn Keyes in "The Jolson Story". . .Gary Cooper walking down the dugout as Lou Gehrig in "The Pride Of The Yankees". . .The fight between Paulette Goddard and Rosalind Russell in "The Women."

Robert Taylor and Vivien Leigh dancing by candlelight in "Waterloo Bridge." . . .

Clark Gable telling off Vivient Leigh in "Gone With The Wind" . . .Claudette Colbert hitch-hiking in "It Happened one Night" . . .Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers dancing to "Night and Day" in "The Gay Divorcee". . .did I hear someone say "they don't make pictures likes they used to"?

No Slacking In Demand For Goods As Canadians Ring Cash Register

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canadians continue to ring the cash registers with their dollars, and if there's any sign of lessening in their over-all demand for goods it's hard to detect.

There are shifts in the kinds of goods bought and important shifts in the places to which the dollars go, but still they are beig earned and spent.

One of the most notable trends is the amount that is going to chain stores — and department stores — as compared with the smaller increases going to the individual conducting his own business.

In May, for instance, the Bureau of Statistics shows dollar sales of chain food stores up 25 per cent over May last year, but those of independent stores up only 1 per cent. Earlier months showed the same picture. In January, chains gained 60 per cent over the preceding January, and independents eight; in February, 43 per cent against three; March, 33 against two; April, 30 against eight. Chain stores absorb 24 per cent of all food sales in the country.

Affect Other Lines

Rising food prices affect other lines, taking away money which otherwise might be spent on them. Nevertheless, most lines still show increases.

Exception are radios and musical instruments, which have been declining since January. This may be partly due to the special excise tax imposed last November and some waiting to see whether the tax will come off. Jewelry has been dropping for more than a year.

Bureau of Statistics figures do show a drop in May dollars sales of the wholesale trade, which are three per cent below May last year, but there are too many conflicting factors to draw a trend from this. Purchases of the chain food stores, for instance, don't show in this sampling of wholesales business; and neither do a number of other lines, including much clothing, carried by chain and department stores.

Classifications showing increases in the sampled wholesale sales in May, include automotive equipment, drugs, groceries, hardware, and tobacco and confectionery. Substantial decreases showed in clothing, eight per cent; footwear, 19 per cent; dry goods, eight per cent, and fruits and vegetables, 26 per cent, the latter largely due to import restrictions.

Lower Gains

All May gains in wholesale sales except automotive equipment, were less than for the rest of the year to date. At the same time, among the losers, clothing and footwear showed a decline in inventories.

Plenty of Activities

If the May wholesale figures have significance, it will show in retail sales in later months. But in the meantime retail figures indicate plenty of activity.

Every group of stores except jewelry, radio and electrical, had increases in May. Women's clothing stores had the greatest jump, 16 per cent; country general stores were up 4.41, variety stores 13.2, show stores 8.8. In the retail figures, department stores are listed separately but chain stores are included in the general classifications.

Department-store sales now are available for June and show a much greater jump over June last year, than did May over May, according to the reporting companies, total June department-store sales were up 22 per cent, with only radios, musical instruments and supplies showing a decline.

In all, the general pictures seems to be one of spending, with an increasing proportion of money going for food and some turning away from lines that can wait. There seems to be money for high-priced goods which are really wanted, such as automobiles, but some tendency to compare prices and do selective buying in general lines. The total of savings is being maintained, but a greater proportion of current income is being spent than in former years.

Jonathan, Loyal Friend

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—I Samuel 18-20; 16-18; II Samuel 1:1-27; 21:7

By Alfred J. Buescher

King Saul had David, who had slain Goliath, brought before him and asked him his name. David told him he was the son of Jesse, and Jonathan, Saul's son, seeing David, loved him.

Saul grew jealous of David because of his popularity and wanted to have him killed, but Jonathan, his friend, told David to hide until he found out how his father, aSul, felt toward David.

For a time Saul's anger at David was quieted, but again he tried to kill him, and David was forced to flee. Jonathan found him and David asked, "What have I done? What is mine iniquity?"

Not seeing David at meat, Saul asked Jonathan where he was, and when Jonathan made excuses for him, Saul threw his javelin at Jonathan.

MEMORY VERSE—Proverbs 17:17

Baruch, the Scribe, a Man On Whom God Could Depend

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jacob Said Unto His Household: Put Away The Strange Gods That Are Among You: And Purify Yourselves And Change Your Garments. Gen. 35; 2.

With Palestine in our thoughts it is good for us to remember that the Jew of those ancient days was a specialist in religion. He had a genius for making contact with God. In a word the Jew had a spiritual sense. Jacob had many faults. He had deceived his brother Esau. Yet below all his faults there lay latent in his character the faculty of realising God's Presence.

He had let his father's house as a fugitive. That night he had a dream and made the great and the all important discovery that the God of his fathers had not left him. It is an Old Testament truth that Jacob's idea of God was that of his age. Jehovah was the God of his father Abraham and Isaac; a family household God. At Bethel he made a vow to give a tenth of his wealth to Jehovah. More than twenty years later he is preparing to fulfill that vow. Do you ever think of your vow to God when you were ill and in time of distress. You made that vow to the God of your father and mother. Have you paid it. "I have paid my vow in the midst of the congregation".

In passing let us not forget God reveals Himself to His ancient people gradually and progressively according as they are able to bear it. Our Lord Himself had to say sadly to His Apostles:— "I have many things to say unto you but ye cannot bear them now". In this ancient Scripture Jacob speaks to us laying down a rule of spiritual culture.

"Put away the strange gods that are among you". His family had brought many ideals of worship from their old home; strange gods and idols. Rachael had stolen the gods from her father's house to bring her good luck. Very primitive and yet very modern. Have you never heard of the mascot; of tea cup reading and crystal gazing. Above all of astrology, which claims that the stars have an influence over your future. Can you afford to throw stones at Jacob's household? Have you any idols, not necessarily carved, but graven into your mind; your pleasures which must come first. Jacob teaches us that before you can develop the culture of your soul you must put away these idols. What steps are you taking to advance your spiritual life. "The Lord hath opened mine ear and I was not rebellious" Then only can you advance towards God and His revelation to you.

"Purify yourselves". In those far off days religious people practised certain outward forms of purification. It was instinctive. We are apt to look down upon them but the idea is natural, primitive and true. Do you desire to realise the Presence of God. If so you must make the effort to purify yourself, confess your sins and promise amendment. Pray for His Holy Spirit to open your eyes to see your own sins then you will cry:—"Woe is me for I am a man of unclean lips". The Lord Himself said: "The pure in heart shall see God".

"Change your garments". There must be the outward and visible sign that you are preparing to enter into the Presence of God. It is not enough to put away the strange gods and purify yourselves. God sees this. But your neighbours must see by the putward change of your garments that you are preparing to enter the Presence of God to worship Him. "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God" is the Divine command.

Put On Thy Beautiful Garments

O Worship The Lord In The Beauty Of Holiness.

Jews of Ancient Days Specialist In Religion

Scripture—I Samuel 18-20; 23; 16-18; II Samuel I, 1-27; 21:7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Friendship is interpreted by thedictionary as "united with affection or esteem; mutual attachment."

To have a real friend—loyal and true—is one of the finer experiences human beings enjoy on earth. There is a mutual attraction when two people meet, perhaps; or possibly the friendship flowers only after a period of time when the two grow to know each other well.

Nations as well as individuals form friendships — usually for self-interest.

On the other hand, antagonisms between nations often lead to war—clashing ideologies result in recrimminations, then subversive acts, then open warfare, as was proved in World War II. The ordinary people of the world are friendly; they meet one another from other lands with pleasure and profit to both. Educators, labor groups, scientists meet and collaborate, but all are led into combat through the unfriendliness of the few to pmen of a rival nation. What to do about it? That is what the world must learn.

Jonathan, son of King Saul of Israel, was a true friend.. loyal through everything, willing to give his life, if need be, for one whom he loved.

The story is familiar one, David, a mere stripling, had, with a simple sling shot such as boys use, felled the Philistine giant, Goliath, and cut off his head when the Philistines attacked the Israelites. Even Abner, captain of the Hebrew host, did not know who David was when the king asked him. Saul told Abner to find out, and the captain brought David before Saul.

At David's modest answer to Saul's question, 'Whose son art thou?" "I am the son of thy servant Jesse the Bethlehemite," Jonathan, who was near by, felt that "his soul was knit with the soul of David, and onathan loved him as his own soul."

At first all went smoothly with the friendship of the two youths.

MEMORY VERSE

"A friend loveth at all times, And a brother is born for adversity"—Proverbs 17:17.

David behaved wisely, put on no airs in his new-found fame. Saul set him over his men-of-war and he was accepted by all. But when women of the cities came out to meet the king and rejoice in the victory, they seemed to minimize Saul's achievements and exalt those of David, "Saul hath slain his thousands. and David his tens of thousands," and Saul, who knew he had offended the Lord, immediately became jealous and determined to get rid of him.

Saul might have succeeded in putting David out of the way if it had not been for his own son, Jonathan. The king had told Jonathan and all his servants to kill David, and David had to go into hiding, but Jonathan talked to his father, asking why he was so angry with the youth who had done nothing but good to the house of Saul and his countrymen.

Saul's evil spirit was quieted for the time, but not for long, and it soon flared again when David was playing the harp to soothe him. A hurled javelin missed David by inches and again he fled into hiding.

Jonathan found David and David asked him. "What have I done what is mine iniquity? and what is my sin before thy father that he seeketh my life?"

Jonathan comforted him saying that he would do whatever David wanted him to, and would let him know how Saul felt toward him David, hidden in a field, was again warned by Jonathan to flee for his life, and all through David's exile, he knew he had one loyal and loving friend at court. Jonathan even risked his own life whe his father's anger was kindled against him because of his championship of David.

Jonathan saw then that Saul's anger against David would never be appeased except David were dead, so he told David to "Go in peace, forasmuch as we have sworn both of us in the name of the Lord, saying, The Lord be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed forever," and the two embraced and parted, never to see each other again.

It was when David was in exile that he Philistines again attacked the Israelites and both Saul and Jonathan were killed in battle, leaving David to mourn his true friend.

Relic Of Bridge Across Ayr Given Library

A relic of the Brig of Ayr, storied structure which spanned the turbulent River Ayr in Scotland, back in the days of Robert Burns will shortly be presented to the public Library.

The relic is a small piece of oak, which at one time was part of the crib work of the bridge built about 1252. It is being presented by Hon. G. N. Gordon. With this bridge relic, Mr. Gordon has a piece of an oak rafter from the birthplace of Robert Burns. Both are properly identified by silver discs, suitably engraved.

The Brig of Ayr was immortalized in one of Burns' poems, and this place has a warm spot in the hearts of Scotts. Burns often crossed this bridge, he mused upon it, and judging from the poem it was one of his favorite places, where he stood and watched and admired the beauty of the river looking toward the sea or westward looked toward the harbor mouth across the Firth to the distant peaks of Arran with its long low-lying island hills.

The "brig" has an unusual history in that the rushing stream and the action of the tides almost demolished it at times, and once it threatened to topple into the river. The "brig" is now restored, a stone structure.

The Brig of Ayr was originally built in 1236 under a charter granted by Alexander II in 1236 to the Royal Burgh of Ayr, and later was known as "Burns' Bridge" by reason of the poem "The Brig of Ayr."

20 Boys Form Patrol At Two Beaches

Helping to protect city children in the swimming pools at Riverside and Inverlea playgrounds are 20 members of the beach patrol, organized by the recreation commission. These boys are provided with red jerseys on the front of which are printed the words Beach Patrol, and on the back of the shirt is a white cross.

To qualify for the beach patrol, boys must be between the ages of 15 and 17 for senior patrol and 12 and 14 for the junior patrol. Each member must be able to pass a Grade A Red Cross intermediate swimming test, and must have a knowledge of water safety. In addition, a knowledge of first aid and artificial respiration is useful, though not essential as these are taught by lifeguards and swimming instructors.

Have Waiting List

Ten senior and 10 junior patrol members are used on each beach, and there is at present a waiting list for both playgrounds, recreation commission Jack Dane said.

As incentives to work, points are awarded for every hour of voluntary work, and a trophy is awarded each week to the member of the patrol judged most efficient. Special awards are to be presented at the end of the season.

Two or three mornings a week, a course in the work that members are expected to do and may have to do is given by members of the St. John Ambulance Corps, the police force, or by professional men.

For August, the recreation commission has planned a regatta restricted to members of the patrol, in which prizes and awards will be given for the various events.

Exhibition Buildings Given Face Lifting For Big Fair

Groups of workmen are busy giving Exhibition Park a complete face-lifting, and two large buildings will soon be moved to new locations. The old poultry building has been shifted east of the main road and will be converted into a hog barn. It is now on a concrete foundation. Directly in line with the poultry building will be the old horse barn which is now west of the roadway. A foundation will soon be ready and this barn will be remodelled to accommodate saddle, roadster and carriage horses.

The ground where the two buildings were formerly located will be utilized for implement exhibits, and also for people who want room to eat their lunches. The grass will be cut and the ground levelled.

Build New Toilets

The wash rooms to the left of the main gate are being torn down, and new toilets and washrooms are being installed in the concrete rifle range building alongside the drill hall.

Repairs are being made to the secretary's office for this year, out directors are planning a new building next year, and the plans include a press room, where newspaper reporters, radio broadcasters and farm journal newsmen can write their stories, and have telephone and telegraph outlets.

Extensive work is being carried out in the interior of the Manoufacturers' Building to the left of the main roadway.

The new wire fence will be completed by the end of the first week in August. Barn roofs have been painted red, and the two buildings which have been moved will also get coats of paint.

Eliminate Old Buildings

It is the plan of the Exhibition Board to eliminate all of the old wooden buildings which show the ravages of time and wear, but all of this work will not be completed this summer.

Hugh Stewart, president, says the Exhibition opens in five weeks and all committees are working diligently to complete the heavy agenda. An emergency meeting is called for next Monday when progress will be reviewed.

Judges Report Fall Wheat Real Fine Crop

Sixteen farmers from the district have had their stands of wheat checked in the 50 bushel per acre winter wheat competition, and eagerly await the decision of the judge.

Alex Davidson, Agincourt, past president of York County Crop Improvement Association is the judge, and he was assited by Frank Paterson, Department of Agriculture representative, and Alex Huston. They worked four days slipping samples in four places from all the stands, and these will be judges for score and for yield. The three highest scorers in this competition will be permitted to compete at the Royal Winter Fair. All the wheat is grown from registered seed.

The competition is sponsored by the local Crop Improvement Association.

The competitors are Stewart Dawson, Asphodel; Harold Tate, Robert Armstrong and Carmen Seymour, Cavan; Chas. Whittington, South Monaghan; W. W. Dawson, Alex Huston, Stewart Whittington, Earl Petrie, J. E. Manley, Walter Thorn, all of Otonabee; Graham Eastwood, Ross Harrison, George McIlmoyle and Morris Telford all of Smith, and Clarence Coons of Douro.

Mr. Paterson said the sixteen plots will probably yield better than the average in the district, any may produce 50 bushels to the acre. "There is not a poor field in the county, it's really a grand crop."

Very Long Stand

He related that in George McIlmoyle's wheat field, the grain is so high that only the hats of the men working could be seen from the road.

"There is more wheat in the district this year than usual," he said.

Farmers started the harvest this week.

Mr. Paterson passed along the observation that the farmers who are watching soil fertility levels and applying fertilizer according to the needs of the fields are gettings the greatest yield.

Estimate $5,000 Damage Caused SouthendGarden

Damage, which has been estimated by experts at $5,000, has been done to the market garden crop of Carmen and Patarno Fisico on Park St. South. Partially grown crops of carrots, tomatoes, cantaloupe and other fruits and vegetables have been ripped from the earth by construction work now underway in the Central Mortgage and Finance Corporation's housing project between Park St. South and Monaghan Rd., between Rose and O'Connell Aves.

The estimate has been made by experts under instruction from Mr. Fisico's counsel. Their figure is based on labor and material expended to date and the potential value of the crop. A total of about ten acres is under cultivation there by Fisico, who has used that land for 15 years.

Expropriated By City

The land is the property of T. J. O'Connell. It was recently expropriated by the city for a housing development, when negotiations to reach mutually satisfactory terms proved unsuccessful. The city expropriated the land and is now placing it before the courts for evaluation.

Mr. Fisico told The Examiner that he had received no notice that the land was to be taken over for construction and that the contractors' machinery had done the damage before he was aware of it. He said that, as a tenant there, he paid $225 a year for the land.

Peterborough City Clerk E. A. Outram said that the city had received no notice that Fisico was a tenant on the land, and had given instructions for work to proceed on the housing development. He added that expensive construction equipment had been brought in and work started as soon as the land was legally expropriated to the city.

85 Boys, Girls Attend Reading Club

One of the most highly successful ventures of the boys' and girls' department of the Public Library has been the Vacation Reading Club, which opened on June 26, three days before the schools closed. It now has more than 85 members.

Through this club, boys and girls have been encouraged to continue their reading throughout the school holidays. Until this year, the circulation of the boys' and girls' department had always decreased during the summer. This year there has been no decrease, but on some days a considerable increase over the average daily circulation.

About two-thirds of the members are boys, who are more enthusiastic readers as a whole than girls. Of the four members who have been awarded certificates for reading a total of 20 books since the club started, only one is a girl—Leone Smedmore of 306 Rubidge St.

Animal Stories Popular

A survey of books read shows that animal stories are the most popular among the younger children. As well as modern books of this kind, old classics such as Kipling's "Jungle Book" and "Black Beauty" of Anna Sewell are still firm favorites.

Among both boys and girls the stories of Mrs. E. Nesbitt, such as "Five Children and It," Shephard's "Paul Bunyan" and the classics of Dickens are extremely popular, as are the more modern books by writers for children, such as Arthur Ransome and Alden Stevens.

The boys still read the old favorites of Robert Louis Stevenson and Jules Verne. Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" are as popular as ever, and Dumas remains a perennial favorite. All adventure stories find many readers, and cowboy stories are particularly popular.

Reading for Girls

The younger girls read doll stories, the most popular of which is "Floating Island" by A. Parrish. The department has 20 copies of this book and at the moment there are only five copies on the shelves. Older girls read the many books written today especially for them, and also two or three of the old classics, such as Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" and Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice."

The department has a total of 5,886 books. It possesses four or five and even more copies of the most popular books. All books are very carefully chosen to ensure a high standard of literature in the library, and the fact that children are growing up with this high standard should make for better readers in the future.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

DIED AT FENELON FALLS

Brig. Robert Foster, 56, for the last 13 years Salvation Army public relations officer in Toronto, died Thursday while on holidays at Fenelon Falls.

PAINTING BRIDGE

The steel bridge across the Otonabee river at the lower lock on No. 7 highway is getting a new coat of paint. The contract has been let to the Blyth Construction Company.

BOY LANDS BASS

Huck Finn had nothing on 13-year-old Jack Nurse, 1 Lansdowne St. Freckle-faced Jack landed a 5-pound large-mouth green bass off the rock pile near Bensfort Bridge on Thursday, using a frog as bait. He has entered the fish in The Examiner contest.

MANY TRAVELLERS

Restaurants were jammed from seven until after 9.30 this morning by tourists on the move to and from summer holiday spots. The Churchill Restaurant and Ritz Grill both did a rushing business during that period. There seems to be no slackening in the volume of trade from the summer holiday crowd.

FACTORIES CLOSE

The hum of machinery in one city factory will be quieted for two weeks, and in another for one week, as the Outboard Marine and the CGE closed down for holidays. Normal operations at the CGE will resume following Civic Holiday, and at the Outboard Marine on August 9. Only maintenance crews will remain on the job.

HOLD FIELD DAY

Fifteen boys and girls participated in a field day held at King Edward Park playground. Events run off included ball throw, basketball shot, volleyball serve, running broad and high jumps. In first place was Vic Cuff, who had the highest number of points. Joe O'Brien and Gerald Bennett tied for second place.

SWEET PEAS GALORE

On a vacant lot just south of the Rogers street home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gamble, colonial sweet peas are growing in profusion. The lot is now owned by Mr. Gamble, but a previous owner planted the peas and they have not been cultivated. The blooms were given to many people this year, and they were present at weddings, funerals and at many hospital bedsides. The flowers are past their peak of blooming now, but still make a pretty picture.

Check Drivers Of Motor Boats On Trent River

A rude awakening is due several owners of outboard motor-powered boats along the lower Trent River who have been driving at breakneck speed along the river endangering the lives of other people in other boats.

Several complaints have reached the RCMP at Cobourg over this dangerous practice, and Provincial Police at Peterborough have also received complaints.

It appears that some boat owners race their craft sweeping into bays and close to shore where people are either casting or still-fishing from boats. The heavy swell from the speeding craft almost swamps the smaller anchored boats, and considerable alarm has been felt by many, including Americans.

Several Americans at Trent Bridge reported they intended to pay complaints before the Ontario Government because of the dangerous driving on the water.

It is a federal offence and any man who drives a boat in manner dangerous to others, or who endangers the lives of any people by the operation of a boat on any navigable stream is liable to a heavy heavy fine and confiscation of his boat and motor.

Mounted Police are said to be making a check along the Trent River now to learn the names of the offenders and were at Campbellford Friday.

WHARF AREA BUSY

People that had an idle hour or two on Thursday afternoon found something to occupy their attention at the George St. wharf. Two large cabin cruisers were moored there, one of which later pulled out after an over-night stay. Also were two smaller cruisers and a piper cub aircraft moored at the south end of the wharf. The crowd increased when the fire department arrived and tested the working of the mobile pumping unit.

Put New Boiler In Court House

Few people are thinking of heating systems during these warm days but the court house is taking no chances on being caught short next winter. Work on the installation of the new boiler is almost completed.

To pull out the old boiler it was necessary for workmen of the firm of F. R. J. MacPherson to strip off half of the boiler house roof. The old boiler weighing nearly four and a half tons had to be lifted out of the building by a crane, and the new one weighing a ton more in a similar way.

The old one was installed 45 years ago by Mr. MacPherson's father and since that time it has been supplying the huge, grey-stone court house, the jail, and the Children's Aid Society, with heat.

According to Mr. MacPherson the 45-year-old boiler was burnt out and consequently had to be replaced. The new one is said to throw 900 extra feet of radiation which should help to satisfy those persons who have complained of the court house being chilly.

Cost of the installation is approximately $4,000.

When the roof is finally replaced the heating problem should be settled for a good many years to come.

City Band Concerts Replaced By Films

Replacing band concerts for the next few weeks will be moving pictures put on the National Film Board and the local Film Council. Due to plant shutdowns throughout the city, most members of the band are away on holidays, and their regular weekly concerts will be replaced by film shows.

The concert for Sunday night will consist of a half-hour musical interlude by the Citizens' Band, in its last appearance for several weeks; two movies, Rocky Mountain trout (fly fishing in Jasper) and You Take the Highroad, a travelogue of Banff and Jasper. These will be followed by a sing-song and a short feature

Bandsman 40 Years Frank Wells Dies

A veteran of 28 years' continuous service here with the Canadian General Electric, Frank Arthur John Wells, 413 Edison Ave., died in hospital on Friday in his 52nd year, after a four-year illness. Born and educated in Reading, Berks, England, he was the son of the late Arthur Wells and Eva Smith.

He came to Canada in 1909, when he first worked in the CGE brass foundry, returning to England two years later. In 1913, he was back in Canada, and made another start with the company, in the switchboard department. The war intervened and Mr. Wells joined the 93rd Battalion, later joining the 4th Infantry Battalion and serving overseas with both.

On his return in 1919 he began his continuous service in the brass foundry of which he became foreman in 1935. A member of the Salvation Army, he was a bandsman for more than 40 years. He was also a member of the Quarter Century Club at the CGE.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary E. Christoe; one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Turner (Francis) of Peterborough; two grandchildren, Gail and David; and three sisters, Mrs. W. Woodward (Flossie), of Reading, England; Mrs. J. Smith (Edith), and Mrs. F. Tuggey (Lilly), both of Peterborough.

Resting at the Kaye Funeral Home until 11 a.m. Monday, the body will be taken to the Salvation Army Temple for funeral service at 3 p.m. Colonel Wallace Bunton of Toronto, will officitae Burial will be in St. John's cemetery, Ida.

IT'S MIGHTY ROUGH

Perhaps the sidewalk in front of the Odeon theatre took a beating when the building was going up, but at any rate it is the worst in the downtown area right now. The smooth top layer has been smashed and theatre patrons regard the rough sections as a hazard, particularly to the older people.

20 MM Shell Found In City's Garbage

City authorities at the incinerator averted what might have been a serious accident when an employee spotted a live shell from one of the trucks of collected garbage. It was a 20 mm. shell.

This recalled the fact that last summer a box of 50 shells of that type were also grabbed from the fire — just before the fireworks might have started.

BUSIER THAN TORONTO

Charles Meyette, Board of Works employee who is painting the pedestrian cross marks at the downtown intersections says there was more traffic on George street Thursday than on the main traffic arteries in Toronto. "I have watched traffic in Toronto, and you can take it from me, more cars went over the Hunter-George intersection Thursday while I was painting, than cross any of the busy Toronto streets in a morning.

Pipe Band Receives Many Engagements

The Peterborough Pipe Band is in for a heavy schedule during the next few weeks. Some of the many invitations asking the local kilties to play had to be turned down, so heavy has been the demand.

They will be playing for the annual carnival of the Canadian Legion at Apsley today (Saturday) and again at Cobourg on Sports' Day, July 31. On Sunday, August 1, they will participate in a Canadian Legion drumhead service for branches in his zone which is also being held in Cobourg.

The band will then come back to Peterborough to play for the local branch of the Canadian Legion on the Civic Holiday, and on August 7 they will entertain employees and friends at the anuual Quaker Oats picnic.

Because of the previous engagement in Apsley, the band was unable to accept an invitation from the Gordon Highlanders of Buffalo, N.Y., to play at the Highland Games being staged there today.

Transport Blocks Road For 6 Hours

Traffic on No. 36 Highway was blocked for about six hours today as a heavy transport truck straddled the entire roadpath about six miles east of Bobcaygeon. A big trailer-transport, loaded with lumber, its driver lost control on a hill when the airbrakes failed to respond. The vehicle skidded sideways, completely blocking traffic from passing.

Provincial police were on duty beside the disabled transport from the time of the accident—about one a.m.—until a wrecker could be obtained, at nearly 6:30 this morning.

Hunger Shocking Across Europe

TORONTO, July 24 — (CP) — Shirley Washer, 24, reported killed by a Russian sentry in Vienna, two years ago, but later found safe, returned home Friday from Europea where she worked as a representative of the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

A former reporter for the St. Catharines Standard, she said she was shocked by the hunger and illness she found on the continent. She said that she saw one Viennese family who lived in a horse stall for 11 months and that she talked to six-year-old children who looked and acted like three-year-olds.

The report that Miss Washer had been shot came when Arne Carlsson, chief of staff of the Swedish Save the Children Fund, was reported shot near the Czechoslovakian border of Austria. Miss Washer earlier had written her parents that she planned to go on the trip with Carlsson and other fund officials.

Poor Roof Drainage Held Real Foundation Menace

Do your basement walls show signs of dampness at certain points immediately after a downpour? If the basement walls were waterproofed, and weeping tile laid around the footings, it is possible that the drain from the bottom of your downspouts to the storm sewer is clogged, causing gallons of water to be left around your foundation walls. Check this point during a storm. Water may be seen gushing out between bottom of leaders and the top of tile drain pipe.

Perhaps your roof water is not carried to a storm sewer at all, but just carried a few feet away from the house, in which case you will want this condition remedied. If there is no storm sewer in your district the most satisfactory method may be to connect a specially shaped tile to the end of your downspouts which will join underground drain tiles leading to a dry well.

A dry well is merely a hole in the ground more or less, filled with very coarse stones and covered over so fine soil can't get in and fill up the air spaces. Water is led to a dry well and it then gradually seeps away into the ground. In some instances a drain leads away from the dry well if there is a suitable outlet for it. Always locate a dry well so the drainage from it is away from the house.

Using a Barrel

A barrel put into the ground about a foot below the surface, its top and bottom having been removed, and the barrel filled with coarse gravel, will do nicely for drainage from downspouts. The top of the barrel is covered with wire mesh to hold soil and sod from sifting down into gravel. Closed tile drains lead from the downspouts to the top of the barrel.

Another type of dry well is made of cement blocks laid in a circular hole. Joints are left without mortar. The top is covered over with boards and then wire mesh or metal lath. A layer of concrete is then applied which make a re-enforced top for the dry well. The location will need to be such that its top is lower than the drain around your foundation walls. The drain tiles are led into such a dry well just below the top. The water seeps away into the ground. The diameter of the cement block dry well can vary from four feet to six feet or more, the depth averaging between four and six feet, all inside dimensions.

Shellac For Floors

Shellac produces a very effective finish for practically every type of floor. It is very easily applied and dries very quickly. However, to obtain the best results, experts point out, the shellac should be applied in very thin coats. The shellac should be diluted with a good grade of denatured alcohol — generally about one part of denatured alcohol to two parts of shellac is about the right proportion. Two or three coats should be applied, but ample time to dry should be allowed between coats.

MANTARIO, Sask. (CP)—Mrs Vera MacMillan had a large audience to watch her pay off an election wager. She bet that the C. C. F. would win 40 seats in the recent election. Russ General Denies Making Statement

BERLIN, June 24.— (AP). — Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky said Friday night through the official Russian news agency that "political declarations" attributed to him by the United Press did not "correspond to the facts."

The Russian military governor's denial referred to a UP story Friday in which the agency quoted the Marshal as saying the Russians would lift the blockade of Berlin if the Americans would open up their zone to Soviet Russia.

The UP story said the information was obtained in an exclusive interview with Sokolovsky.

The UP office in New York had no comment to make on the Soviet news agency statement.

Beaver Melts In Mouth Cooked In Canadian Way

THE PAS, Man., July 24—(CP) —It boils down more or less to a matter of taste.

But you could hardly blame Eddie Hong, Chinese chef at this far North Manitoba town, for becoming piqued at the attitude of certain British MP's.

Eddie is the man who first whipped up a tantalizing dish called Beavertail Soup.

The dish appeared unexpectedly on the House of Commons menu last week.

The lawmakers don't go for it. Friday a British legsilator wanted to know why foods like beaver meat are tried out on members of parliament. He figured it may have been all right for Canadian fur traders, but he wanted to know why the government tried to make MP's eat it.

Says Eddie of his specialty: "Very good."

Of course, he's prejudiced—he invented it. But then, it was a howling success at last year's Trappers' Festival here when it was first introduced.

It's considered a big delicacy in the north. Trappers say it's tasty, nourishing, and has a flavor similar to pork and goose, mixed. The meat is rich and dark.

Here's the recipe: One beaver tail, salt, lemon juice and cinnamon. Hold the beaver tail in the flame until the skin blisters. Remove the tail from the flames, and cover it with well-salted water. Cook below boiling point for one hour. Strain the broth and flavor to taste with lemon juice and cinnamon.

It may be thickened with potatoes or any of the usual thickenings.

Mmm, good!

Postman Braves Fumes Rescues Stricken Woman

WINS DOW AWARD

WILLIAM CAIRNS
OF TORONTO, ONTARIO, carries young housewife from gas-filled house, then applies artificial respiration

Postman William Cairns was anxious to finish his rounds. Ordinarily he would have been through around noon but the heavy Easter mail made his task more difficult. When he came to the Sparks home on Westmoreland Avenue he opened the front door slightly, threw a parcel in and then started to rush on. But something stopped him. Opening the door again, he staggered back from the heavy smell of illuminating gas.

FINDS UNCONSCIOUS WOMAN

Taking a big gulp of air he entered the house. Heading for the kitchen he found 19-year-old Mrs. Sparks on the floor — unconscious! He tried to pick her up but the gas began to make him feel sick . . . and he had to rush to the veranda for air. Entering the house again he managed to carry Mrs. Sparks almost to the door . . . but again he felt dizzy and had to go out to refill his lungs.

The third time he was successful in getting the woman outside. He placed her on the veranda floor, ran to tell the neighbours to phone for help . . . and then returned to the victim and applied artificial respiration until firemen arrived to relieve him. 50 minutes later the young woman regained consciousness.

For his unselfish and gallant actions we are proud to pay tribute to William Cairns of Toronto through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

The gas fumes were too much for the brave 27-year-old postman. Twice he staggered to the door, sick and dizzy, and filled his lungs with fresh air.

Finally he got the unconscious young woman out to the veranda. There he applied artificial respiration until firemen arrived to take over the task

Words Fly Fast In Que. Campaign

MONTREAL, July 24 (CP) — With the provincial elections only four days away, Quebec political leaders concentrated their fire Friday night on two men who are not running for seats in the legislature.

One was Montreal's colorful Mayor Camillien Houde, who recently spoke from the same platform with Premier Duplessis. In a speech Friday night at Joliette, Liberal Leader Godbout said the "alliance" between the two was "disgusting."

The other was External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, who has made several speeches in support of Mr. Godbout. Mr. Duplessis told a Union Nationale rally at Hull that the minister had no business to be in the campaign.

"This is not a convention to select a new Liberal leader," said the Premier, referring to the possibility that Mr. St. Laurent might succeed Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"This is a provincial election Mr. St. Laurent and the other Federal meddlers will find out that Quebec wants her rights protected."

Need 400 Pickers

TORONTO, July 24.—(CP). — Alex McLaren, director of the Ontario farm service force, Friday made an appeal for 400 pickers to harvest bumped crops of raspberries and cherries on farms immediately west of Toronto.

Living Costs Skyrocket In US

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, July 24—(CP) —United States living costs are heading for the stratosphere and it will be a matter of political fortunes whether the brakes are applied by Republicans or Democrats.

Congressmen reluctantly come back to their legislative tasks Monday, recalled by President Truman in his speech to the recent Democratic convention.

First thing to hit them will be the latest living costs indices showed a record-breaking increase over 1939.

Tuesday, the president will present his program for the special legislative session, calling for enactment of some of the promises, common to both party platforms.

It is a question whether he will make a forthright demand for power to control prices and wages or merely instruct Congress to do something to stop inflation and let the legislators decide the method.

Politically it may be assumed Truman will prefer to place the onus entirely upon the Republican-controlled Congress.

For similar reason, some Republicans probably prefer not to do anything about it until after the elections. Price and wage controls will not be popular.

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP). — Indicating a substantial increase in the number of tourists coming to Calada, 24 per cent more American cars and trucks crossed the Canadian border in May than in the same months of 1947. The number was 574,200.

Lord Tweedsmuir To Wed Another Conservative MP

BP JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, July 24 (CP)—Lord Tweedsmuir of Elsfield, 27, and Lady Grant of Monymusk, 33, both Conservatives who have brightened political life as individuals, will be married in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, July 27.

The former Canadian Army Infantry Officer, once o Hudson's Bay company apprentice at Cape Dorset, Baffin Land, is the bridgeroom of a war widow welcomed to the commons in 1946 by a Labor Member's shout: "Yon's a bonny lassie in bad company."

Marriage will not interrupt their political activities—they even chose a political rally to announce their engagement—and Lady Grant has invited all Scottish Conservative members to her wedding.

Their honeymoon will be in Scotland, probably on deeside, where in the history-laden aberdeenshire Glen they will make their home in an old castle keep, an overnight journey from London.

"We would have liked to go to Canada, but we just can't afford it at the moment," Lord Tweedsmuir told the Canadian press in an interview.

Lord Tweedsmuir, son of the former Governor-General, recently was promoted to the Conservative front bench in the house of Lords and became known as "registrar of talent" for the whole party organization. He interviews speakers and others who wish to give the party their services.

He holds offices in about 30 organizations, including the Canada branch of the British Legion. He also was commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Eastern Ontario.

Lady Grant is the widow of Sir Arthur Guards of Monymusk, who was killed in action with the Grenadier Guards in 1944. She has two daughters, aged 13 and 11, who will attend her wedding. She will be given away by her father, Brig. Alan Thomson.

Tall, fair-haired, she is considered the most photogenic member of the commons, and has proved her skill as a debater with a special interest in workers' welfare.

The bride was given in marriage by her father wearing a white satin gown with scrolls of net caught with pearls outlining the inset of net at the neckline. The tight waisted bodice had long pointed sleeves and the full skirt was caught up with satin bows at the front to show frills of lace held out by a hoop. Her long embroidered veil was caught to a headdress of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade of gardenias with pink roses and baby's breath.

Attendants were Mrs. Irene Partridge of Toronto, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, Miss June Gowling and Miss Velma Bray, also a sister, as bridesmaids, and Miss Ruby Bray, the bride's youngest sister, as flower girl. Mrs. Partridge was frocked in pale blue net with embroidered flowers and the bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow and pink satin. The flower girl was in mauve net made similarly to the bride's gown, with finger tip veil of the same caught to a headdress of mauve and yellow flowers. On her wrist she wore a bracelet of flowers and she carried the bride's veil.

Following a reception at the bride's home, the couple left on a wedding trip to Northern Ontario and Peterborough. The bride travelled in a coral tropical suit with fish tail back and gold button trim with which she wore white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will reside in Hagersville.

Bashful Suitor Requests Pointers on How to Propose

A youth writes me that he is very much in love with a girl whom he wishes to marry, and he thinks that she is willing, but he has never been able to summon up enough courage to ask her flat out if she will be his. He says that whenever he works himself up to the proposing point he gets cold feet and drops the subject.

Dorothy Dix

Well, son you know the old proverb that says faint heart ne'er won fair lady, so if you have found the girl who is your heart's desire, all you have to do is brace up and mumble something in her ear, and if she wants you she will cast herself on your neck and say: "Oh, John, this is so sudden!" and there you are Married before you know it.

This is a favorite formula for popping the question and is much used by bachelors who are tired of and want wives of their own. Of course, there are many different ways in which a man can get his proposal across to a girl, no matter how dumb and tongue-tied he may be The most efficient one is to let Georgina do it. After she has watched a good catch flounder around in a sea of romance until he is about to drown, she can pull off a wedding by just assuming that she and Romeo are engaged and telling him the kind of ring she wants.

Generosity Helps

But in courtship there are many small nuances that should be observed if a man wants his sweetie to say "yes," instead of telling him that she will be a sister to him. One is in the matter of gifts. Don't be a tightwad. She will size you up by the price tags on them. Don't give practical presents. No girl wants a cooking stove as a token of affection. She wants to be fed on ambrosia instead of hot dogs, so give her a bite of sentiment.

If you are not glib love-maker, don't try to say it. Write it. You can be as eloquent and romantic and poetic and make as many passionate vows on paper as you please, whereas you would choke on your Adam's apple if you even attempted to say them. Many a wife's most precious possession is a bundle of love letters, tied with blue ribbon, that her husband wrote her when he was courting her. But I never have known a woman who would tell just what her husband said to her when he proposed.

But there are times in a man's love life when he should watch his step and be careful of what he says before he pops the question. One is when he meets a woman who is a free weeper. Practically any woman's tear ducts are in good working order, can float any man she wants to the altar. Somehow there is a chemical in a woman's tears that dissolves the backbone in even the strongest male. Nor is this all. Any woman who can do the cry-baby act without her nose getting red can hold her husband up for everything he can't afford.

And finally, son, when you have made up your mind to ask a girl to marry you and have nerved yourself up to do it, use some sentiment and tact in selecting the time and place. Don't pop the vital question while you are crossing a busy street, or when you are eating in a restaurant and a waiter is breathing down your back. Men never understand why a girl bursts into tears when a man proposes to her, but it is because all of her life she has looked forward to her great moment and the boob has wrecked it by making it a commonplace.

But, anyway, it doesn't matter, son, how you pop the question. If Angelina wants you, she will say "yes."

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, July 25

Sunday's horoscope encourages a day of relaxation and quiet diversion rather than lively or ambitious attempts at gayety, social or sentimental celebrations or functions. There might be mutual disappointment, lack of cordiality or hospitality. Possibly such might be owing to lowered vitality, stagnant energies or inertia, with little return or enjoyment for forcing social activities. Diet and other consideration for health might be a good investment

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are likely to find their aspirations and ambitions badly in need of stimulus, since physical inertia or depletion may have a tendency to nullify specific effort. A general lack of interest, lowered in domestic, social, or sentimental associations may find kindred reaction, in mpediments or frustration in all other matters. Be alert to economy of funds also.

A child born on this day may not be especially interested in social, romantic or domestic activities, nor may it be predisposed to seek place or prestige in public success.

For Monday, July 26

Monday's astrological forecast shows a sudden upset which may strike forcefully at the very root of objectives and plans of more than passing significance. It is probable that a healthy and well-organized state of affairs, in which high ambitions seem well on a constructive way to cooperation with superiors or emylopers, may be undermined by rash, wild or erratic act or words. A rush of belligerent impulses or an eccentric attempt to "kick over the traces" by emotional impact or reckless words, could shatter and devastate cherished objectives. In personal affairs, calm behaviour may avert trouble and estrangements.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in the midst of havoc and devastation in which their own eccentric conduct, rash actions or intemperate speech, are responsible. This may squelch all hope of coöperation of those in influential places, who may be disposed to support original, ingenious or unusual propositions. Major issues could be uprooted by wrong techniques or rash gestures—offensive and exasperating. A similar want of reason, composure and stability may bring grief and estrangement. A pause for control and consideration could avert disaster.

A child born on this day, while having excellent prospects for success and constructive endeavors, may upset all such promises by erratic, tempestuous or singular words and deeds.

Australia Gets 204 Runs In First Innings

LEEDS, Yorkshire, England, July 24.—(Reuters)— Australia had scored 204 runs for four wickets in the first innings at lunch time today in the fourth test cricket match against England That left the Aussies 292 runs behind England's first-innings total of 496.

Dick Pollard, Lancashire fast bowler, struck a great blow for the home eleven when the Australians resumed with the score of 63 for one wicket. He had both Captain Don Bradman and Lindsay Hassett back in the pavilion in his first over for the addition of only five runs.

However, an impressive fourth-wicket partnership of 121 by 19-year-old Neil Harvey, making his first appearance against England, an Keith Miller, helped to improve Australia's position.

Pollard, aided by the pitch and heavy atmosphere, sometimes made the ball lift, and at other times sent it through fast and low. Jack Crapp caught Hassett when he played to a lifting ball. Bradman was bowled by one of the fast and low deliveries.

Hassett failed to add to his overnight score of 13. Bradman added two for 33.

Harvey played with the assurance of a seasoned campaigner and both he and Miller sent the score up rapidly.

The 100 went up in five minutes short of two hours. When the Harvey-Miller partnership had yielded 121, Norman Yardley, England's captain, had Miller caught by Bill Edrich at forward short leg, for 58.

Sam Loxton joined Harvey and the pair were still undefeated at lunch. Harvey then had scored 70 and Loxton six.

PAT SEEREY, CHICAGO White Sox outfielder, hit four home runs in a recent game with the athletics at Philadelphia, Pa., tieing a mark made by four other players in baseball history. Lou Gehrig hit four in one game in 1932 and Chuck Klein hit four in a 10 inning game in 1936. Other instances were Bobby Lowe in 1894 and Ed Delahanty in 1896. The picture shows Seerey crossing plate after third homer. Tony Lupien (3) reaches out to shake his hand and beside him is Luke Appling (4). The catcher is Mike Guerra and umpire is Hurley. The little fellow is the batboy. The Sox won 12-11 in 11 frames, the deciding blow being Seerey's fourth homer.

Say Lorne Main May Sweep Singles Crown

OTTAWA, July 24. (CP)—Vancouver's Lorne Main, on a barnstorming tennis tour of the east, is an even bet today to sweep the Ontario Senior men's singles crown. He already has the junior title in his pocket and a good chance to share the junior men's doubles wreath.

Playing heady, accurate tennis, the 18-year-old beat Don McDiarmid, former Dominion champion, in a decisive 5-7, 6-0, 6-3 set Friday.

A foreboding of the upset came Thursday night when McDiarmid was extended 10-8, 3-6, 6-3 in an endurance-testing match with Don Hawley, of Newark, NJ, seeded fifth.

Main, whose two-fisted style of handling both backhand and forehand shots has brought him considerable attention in tennis circles, will meet the hard-smashing Gaten (Gates) Valois of Ottawa in the final. Valois moved into the spot by defeating Yves Sarra-Bournet, also of Ottawa, in the quarter-final.

The cagey Vancouverite earlier won the junior crown without difficulty from Raymond Page of Montreal, 6-3, 6-4. As Junior champion of Canada last year, he had not been expected to find serious difficulty.

Playoff details were also worked out. Teams one and three play the best of five series; two and four, the best of three, and five and six the best of three. Winners of the last two playoffs series will play each other for the right to enter the finals against the winner of the first series.

VIRGINIA WITHINGTON, 30, of New Haven, Conn., in New York "shooting the sun" during training while in the WAVES, claimed after landing at Shannon Airport, Eire, recently, that she was the first woman ever to navigate a transatlantic commercial plane. She made the flight aboard a Dutch airlines' freight plane enroute to Amsterdam.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A TIME NOT TO DOUBLE

THERE IS ONE TIME when it is unwise to make an informative or takeout double on a hand containing enough strength for it. That is when you hold a two-suited hand. Then it is better to show one of your two suits at once, by a bid of one more than necessary as a virtual one-time force upon your partner, if the hand is rich enough in total playing tricks. When the bidding comes around to you again, you can complete your two-suit story by bidding the other suit, if that is then advisable.

(Dealer: East. North - South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1. 1 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♦	4 ♥	5 ♦	5 ♥
2. 1 ♦	Dbl	4 ♦	Pass
5 ♦	Dbl

South at Table 1 knew his stuff. With two good biddable major suits and a generally fine hand, he realized the importance of enabling himself to show both of his suits. The defenders did their best to shut him out from completing his story, but it didn't work. When the 4-Diamonds came to him, he was willing to come in with his hearts. West tried once more to impede with his 5-Diamonds sacrifice, but it was unavailing. By now North knew about his partner's two suits, so that he could safely try the 5-Hearts which he fitted so well. That contract was easy to make. In fact an extra was scored.

Now see how badly the North-South pair came out at Table 2 of the same tournament. The trouble was caused entirely by the fact that South doubled instead of showing one of his suits. There West went the limit to keep North from replying, in view of his fine diamond fit and his weakness in defensive strength. East got the cue and made it still tougher for South by going to 5-Diamonds. That left South no alternative but to double, giving his opponents a fine sacrifice result, as it was set only three.

When South at Table 2 had not yet shown either of his suits, he didn't dare try one of them at the level of five. If he had it might have been left in. Had he tried spades, he would have been lambasted. Trying hearts would have taken the same chance, as that might well have been the non-fitting suit. In brief, he could not afford either guess.

Your Week-end Question

If your partner had overcalled an opponent's opening with a suit bid of "one more than necessary" and later rebids that same suit instead of showing a new one, what should be your estimate of his strength?

Jobs Hard To Get

OTTAWA, July 24 — (CP). — Despite organized efforts to help him, the man older than 45 is having more and more trouble finding work. The authority for that statement is Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, who has statistics to back it up. Too many employers, he said, are "discriminating against the older man on the score of age alone."

Prince Gets Job

BRISTOL, Eng., July 24—(AP) —Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia cousin of King Peter and nephew of Duchess of Kent, was discovered selling washing machines for a living.

SET UPON BY an Egyptian mob while visiting Cairo as an American tourist, Stephen Haas (above) Philadelphia real estate man, was stoned to death. His wife narrowly escaped serious injury. The U.S. state department has made a vigorous protest.

TRY NEW STRAIN OF WHEAT

A few farmers in the district have planted a new kind of wheat, called Cornell 595. It is a soft winter wheat and Frank Paterson, Dept. of Agriculture, says this wheat is showing bigger head than the Dawson Golden Chaff, the most popular-variety grown in this area. The new grain has also greater resistance to smut and has a very strong straw.

The 'Breath-Taker' Slashed to Waist.

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP) — Adele Simpson, a designer always to be counted on for laughs, supplied a fitting climax to a week of fall fashions previews by unveiling for the visiting fashion press her "Madrigal suits" with matching "Gainsborough pants".

These are knee-breeches, draped in the Gainsborough blue-boy manner, in wool jersey to match the suit blouse. In zero weather they should be most comforting.

She introduced a new fashion in the form of chiffon-weight, wool broadcloth "Trotteur" dress.

These also come in dark, rich es, planned for wear with furs. Victorian colors.

The irrepressible Adele brought gasps from the spectators with her "breath-taker" neckline, which is slashed to the waist, and may be worn open ar far down as the wearer wishes, or completely closed.

"Double action" suits consisted of dress and jacket. With jacket on, the suit can be worn discreetly for business or shopping. With jacket off, the one-piece dress beneath can go proudly to dinner or the theatre.

Princeton Choir Is Heard In Sacred Program

The Princeton Theological Seminary Choir was heard in George Street United Church on Friday night in a most outstanding service of praise. Completing 10,000 miles of a tour through the United States to the west coast and thence north to Canada and return through the Canadia West these 23 young men, who are either studying for the ministry or will be soon entering their first charges, represented the Presbyterian, the Anglican, the Congregational and the United Church of Canada in the United States, England, Canada, New Zealand, Brazil, Hawaii and Korea.

For nearly 150 years young men and women from all parts of the world have been going to the historic campus of Princeton Seminary to prepare themselves for the Christian Ministry. The seminary in its turn has sent out many hundreds of its graduates into practically every mission field of the globe to make Jesus Christ known loved and obeyed. This year the choir conducted this tour of singing, evangelism and Christian witness. The members of the choir conducted the entire service and were directed in their song by Dr. David Hugh Jones, director of music at the Seminary, and a charter member of the faculty of the Westminster Choir College at Princeton.

The selections were chosen from the finest of choral music and their singing was "a capella" with the exception of two numbers which were accompanied by Dr. Jones at the organ. The choir was at its best in its pianissimo singing and the pitch was notably good throughout all the numbers. At the conclusion of the service the choir sang as encores numbers requested by the audience from their other two printed programs. These were "I Wonder as I Wander," an Appalachian carol; "Lord Speak to Me" by Schumann; "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord," "Go Tell It On The Mountain" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" negro spirituals.

In their program they sang "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" by Luther; "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn; "Lord Thou Hast Been Our Dwelling Place" by Jones; "Spirit of God" by Atkinson-Jones; "Jesus Gentle Babe" by Gevaert; "Adoramus Te" by Palestrina; "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach; "O Sons and Daughters, Let Us Sing" by Vulpius; "King Jesus is A-Listening" arranged by Dawson and "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded" by Hassler.

Dr. Jones introduced each member of the choir and gave a brief biographical sketch of each man. Many had seen service with the armed forces of Allied Nations during the war and for the most part had started on some other career before they entered the ministry. Earl Christman from New Jersey, a former chemist, told why he entered the ministry and a brief message as to the need of the Christian Church for ministers and the responsibility of the laymen of the church in seeing that more men entered the ministry was given by Philip Daunton of England. Mr. Daunton will in a few weeks be returning to England to become a priest of the Anglican church.

The attendance was not large, partialy due no doubt to the small amount of publicity which had been given the choir. The ladies of George Street Church furnished supper, members of the congregation billeted them for the evening. Rev. Dr. James Semple welcomed the choir to the city.

Two Torontonians who were with him at the time postponed their trip to the lake when they saw him make the catch.

Two-Year-Ban Urged On Salmon Netting

MONTREAL, July 24 (CP)—A Newfoundland fishing boat netting salmon off Port-aux-Basques may spoil the sport of an angler in a Quebec river 1,000 miles away.

That conclusion has been reached by Prof. Percy E. Hobbs whose survey of salmon conditions has been published in a booklet issued by the Province of Quebec Association for the Protection of Fish and Game.

The biologist and conservation expert says all the rivers of Quebec province are related in that salmon entering them first pass through the narrow opening between Nova Scotia and the southwest tip of Newfoundland. Thus fishing off Newfoundland takes its toll of salmon that might reach Quebec rivers.

Prof. Hobbs advocates formation of a salmon commission in which the eastern provinces and Newfoundland would be associated. Such a commission would be able to take joint action to protect the salmon fishery.

Fished Out In 10 Years

"In 10 years," he says, "if present policies continue, there will be very few salmon rivers worth fishing and very few netting stations worth operating in the province of Quebec.

"With a take on the rods of 9.1 per cent of that in the nets it is clear that the nets are killing the goose hat lays the golden eggs. The ratio between rods and nets should be about 2 to 1, not 10 to 1, any as many fish should reach the spawning grounds as are taken by the toll of rods and net combined. Only thus can salmon be abundant.

"Rod fishing should continue as an economical expedient to provide protection, but at least two years prohibition of all netting seems necessary, with 50 per cent fewer nets thereafter if we are to get the unfortunate netsmen back to prosperity and increase the present supply to the market five or ten-fold."

A comparative table shows the Quebec salmon catch on rods has declined from 110,000 pounds in 1930 to 75,000 pounds in 1946. In the same period salmon taken in nets dropped from 1,688,000 to 558,000 pounds. The number of netting stations increased from 563 in 1934 to 775 in 1946.

Court Dismisses Assault Charge

Because the unsworn evidence of two children was uncorroborated by corroborative sworn testimony, a charge of assault against Philias Cloutier, 377 George St. South, was dismissed in Police Court by Magistrate Baxter Friday. Evidence had been heard July 9. Chief witnesses were six-year-old Marguerite Pound and her brother, Gordon, eight. Their evidence was that the accused had taken the little girl on his knee "and hugged and kissed her."

The Magistrate added that he "believed the evidence of both the children," however, and suggested to Cloutier that he so conduct himself as not to create a bad reputation for himself. He recommended that Cloutier restrain his desire to be kind to little children in the area, "as it is evident the neighborhood is a bit suspicious as to your intentions."

ALLIES AGAIN IN the turmoil of Quebec election campaign, which ends July 28, are Premier Maurice Duplessis (right) and Montreal Mayor Camillien Houde, who share joke on platform at mass rally where both attacked Foreign Affairs Minister Louis St. Laurent. Houde is ace in the hole for the National Union Party in its effors to win over Montreal, where Duplessis holds no seats. In background are two of the 18 new Quebec flags which hung in the hall.

No One-Sided Rules Imposed On Russians

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. George P. Hays, Deputy United States Military Governor, said today the American military government has 'placed no one-sided restrictions on Russian travel in the American zone of Germany.

Hays was discussing a report quoting Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky as saying the Russian blockade of Berlin would be lifted if the Western Powers stopped insisting that Russians must have special passes for travel in the western zones. The Russians always have required special Soviet passes for foreign travel into the Soviet zone.

"It has always been the US desire to provide for maximum freedom of movement interzonally throughout Germany," Hays said.

'Down On The Farm' Atmosphere To Surround Liberal Caucus

BY GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, July 24 (CP) —The Ontario caucus will meet in Bates Barn, the press will pound typewiters in the hitching room just off the horse stables and the radio men will broadcast from from the poultry roost. As for the Delegates, they'll deliberate on seat-ringed basketball courts.

That's a cross-section of the layout for the National Liberal Convention here Aug. 5,6 and 7. It will find itself housed amid a curious mixture of barnyard fixture and high school athletics, with a touch of the circus arena thrown in for good measure.

The site is city-owned Lansdowne Park in Ottawa's Glebe district, a big cluster of buildings where the two main shows of the year are the Central Canada Exhibition and the Ottawa Winter Fair. Between-times, it has been used for carnivals and mammoth religious gatherings.

Barnyard Flavors

The Convention proper will be held in the spacious lowroofed Coliseum, where district farmers gather twice yearly for the big livestock shows. The 4,000 Liberal Delegates and party supporters will find a distinctive rural touch.

Convention organizers have provided separte cuacus rooms for each of the nine provincial Delegations and all of them have a farmy flavor. The Ontario Delegation will have Bates Barn, which apparently was named after a noteworthy district farmer and features livestock stalls and hitching rings among its conveniences.

Quebec and British Columbia share this big and now subdivided stable; most other provinces have been allotted similar walled-off space in the second-floor roost where the poultry exhibitions normally are housed. Accomodation for broadcasters also is being provided in the roost.

Press facilities for the 200 reporters expected to cover the conventiion are being prepared in the hitching room just down a corridor labelled "sheep and swine" an office door bears the impressive sign "Superintendent of Horses."

Main Activitly

The 1,299 delegates and their alternatives will be seated during the convention proceedings on the floor of the Coliseum, marked with the huge circles and rings of a basketball court. Flags and bunting will hang from the ceiling and blown-up pictures of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and retiring Prime Minister Mackenzie King will provide the backdrop for the main platform at one end of the arena.

Meals will be provided in a restaurant being installed in the Horticulture building a few steps away from the Coliseum. It will serve 2,000 hungry Delegates a a time.

10-Year Plan To Modernize Hong Kong Port

By FRANK LONG

HONG KONG, July 24 (Reuters).—Hong Kong is to become one of the best international ports and the most progressive city in the Far East under a 10-year development plan.

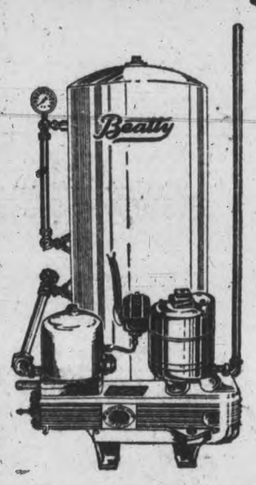
Major projects include construction of an up-to-date international airport estimated to cost 80,000,000 Hong Kong dollars, improvement of harbor facilities at a cost of 5,000,000 Hong Kong dollars, land reclamation and the conversion of hillsides and agricultural land into productive industrial areas.

(The Hong Kong dollar is worth about 25 cents in Canadian currency.)

Funds to finance the projects, now being studied in London, will come from an allocation by the British government and public rehabilitation plans.

Investments by private trade and enterprises are also expected.

Construction of the new airport will begin before the end of this year and the job should end in 1950. Site of the port has not yet been decided.



Improvement of existing harbor facilities will include addition of more moorings and construction of more launches, tugs and other craft. The government is planning to undertake major port salvage work.

Chinese industrialists from war-shaken centres such as Shanghai Tientsin, Chengtu and Kunming are already exploring the possibility of setting up factories here for safer and more profitable operation than in China, where civil war and economic restrictions are hampering development.

PC Executive Decides Convention

Believe Montreal Out, Now Between Ottawa and Winnipeg

OTTAWA, July 26 (CP)—The national executive of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada today considered Ottawa, Montreal and Winnipeg as possible sites for the party's national convention but reached no decision before the luncheon adjournment.

"I think myself Montreal is the least likely choice," an official spokesman said as the special meeting broke up shortly after 1 p.m. EDS, thus indicating that the choice had narrowed to Ottawa or Winnipeg.

He said dates between Sept. 8 and 30 are being considered for the convention, which will select a successor to retiring Leader John Bracken and pass on a new platform for the party.

Further inquiries about accommodation availabilities in the three cities would be obtained during the luncheon adjournment and placed before the 30-odd executive members when they meet again at 2:30 p.m.

Accommodation Key

"Accommodation is the key to the decision," the spokesman said.

Ottawa was able to provide both a meeting place and the necessary accommodation for Sept. 23, 24 and 25. Inquiries now would be made about accommodation during the week following.

Montreal had been able to provide accommodation and a meeting place—the Montreal Forum—during the last week of August but this period had been ruled out by the executive.

Alternative Montreal dates were Sept. 8, 9 and 10 and inquiries now were being made about later in the month.

Winnipeg could provide space and accommodation from Sept. 8 to 24.

The executive includes approximately 30 members representing all provinces. The membership is made up of all officers of the national association plus three delegates from each of the provinces and one from the Yukon.

Plane Misses Opening; 29 Are Killed

Believe Fog Cleared Too Late For Airman To Avoid Crashing

GASPE, Que., July 26 (CP)—A scant foot of ungained attitude was believed today the thin margin that sent a two-engined DC-3 crashing into a fog-wrapped Gaspe peak and cost the lives of 29 persons.

Weary rescue workers and county folk of the Gaspe district studied the wreckage and the peaks and visualized the last-minute effort of Pilot Emerson Mills to lift his ship.

Residents said there was a final scream of motors pushed to the limit—then the explosion.

Mills and his co-pilot Russ Miles of the chartered plane are veterans of the runs to the Gaspe peninsula.

When fogs suddenly shroud the peaks, Gaspe-wise pilots slide their ship through a gap known as Grande Greve, a break in the cliffs about three quarters of a mile wide leading into a valley.

This time something went wrong. It may have been a miscalculation. The opening to Grande Greve was missed and the DC-3 roared toward a cliff rising nearly 1,000 feet from Gaspe Bay.

Suddenly, it is believed, the pilot saw the huge cliff looming through the fog. He tried desperately to lift his plane and just missed.

It struck just below the cliff-top, cart-wheeled 200 yards into the bush and exploded as it rolled over and over.

Leon Blondeau, district inspector of air regulations at Montreal, today opened a preliminary investigation at the scene where only the gutted fuselage, one wing and a door remained of the two-engined plane.

Dr. Hector Rioux, district coroner, announced a preliminary verdict of accidental death following an inquest in Gaspe Parish Hall where charred remains of the 29 victims were placed.

Most of the bodies were unidentifiable when ground parties climbed the steep headland to drag them by stretcher and lumber sleds to Gaspe.

The airliner was making an approach run to Gaspe airport, 12 miles west, when it piled into the Cape about 100 yards from the sea. Only one wing was found

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW is 92 today, but has no intention of celebrating his birthday. He is in excellent health, though sight and hearing have failed a bit.

George B. Shaw 92 Today; Won't Celebrate

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, Hertfordshire, England, July 26 (CP)—George Bernard Shaw is 92 today but nobody in his household dares mention the fact.

As far as Britain's leading sage is concerned, birthdays are not to be celebrated. He hates them.

No celebration was planned for the day. Even the playwright's closest friends shrank from visiting him.

There was one, however, who took a chance with Shaw. She is his housekeeper, Mrs. Alice Ladden, who tempted him with one of the four cakes sent by admirers. It is iced and has the letters GBS inscribed on it.

Shaw's day was no different from his usual routine.

Up at 7 a.m.; breakfast 8-10 a.m., eating extremely slowly and reading all the while; writing until lunch at 1:15 p.m., then more reading and writing until dinner-time. He never has tea at a meal. After dinner comes more reading, perhaps listening to the radio and writing for a couple more hours before going to bed about midnight.

Nothing Unusual

Tonight Shaw plans to dress for dinner but that is not by way of marking the ibrthday. He insists on this procedure every evening, whether he has guests or not.

Shaw's general health is said to be better than it was a year ago. He was fully recovered from a recent chill caught while strolling in the rain.

Shaw gives credit for his good health to his vegetarian diet, the fact he is a teetotaler and to his extremely careful rules for living.

His sight and hearing have failed a bit, but he still can read without glasses and hear ordinary conversations without strain.

He describes his recreation now as "being ninety," and adds that he intends to enjoy it for a long while. In the last year he has completed a play, "Buoyant Bil-

Allies Ban Train Movements To And From Russ Zone; Have Technical Difficulty

Rail Stoppage Called Economic Sanctions As U.S.-Britain Crack Down; International Mail Trains Will Be Let Pass

BERLIN, July 26 (AP) — The United States and Britain banned movements of trains today to and from the Russian zone in Germany. United States officials said "technical difficulties" caused the stoppage. The joint Anglo-American action appeared to be the most positive counter-move yet taken by the Western Allies to break the Russian blockade of Berlin, now a month old.

Gens. Sir Brian Robertson and Lucius D. Clay, the British and American military governors, took the action at a conference in Frankfurt. The restrictions are effective at once. The prohibition is against all movement of all trains "originating or terminating in the Soviet zone.

When the Russians stoppaged traffic on the long railway between Berlin and the western zones of Germany, they asserted "technical difficulties" were the cause.

Economic Sanctions

British and United State officials in Frankfurt orally termed the rail stoppage "economic sanctions."

Authorities said the rail commerce between the Soviet zone of Germany and western Europe "doesn't amount to much." Interested countries of western Europe have been informed of the order through international railway channels.

A Berlin informant insisted that "technical difficulties are real and do exist" as far as the rail traffic into and from the Soviet zone is concerned.

A certain number of freight trains have been moving into and through the British, American and French zones carrying manufactured and raw material products from the Russian zone.

The Anglo-American action means that trains carrying goods from the Russian zone to Switzerland, or to Bremen for shipment to Scandinavia no longer can travel through Western Germany. The same ban applies to traffic from western Europe if its destination is in the Russian zone.

Let Mail Trains Go

International mail trains will be permitted to pass, however. So will trains from eastern countries as, for instance, Poland. Russian trains returning German prisoners-of-war also will be permitted to enter the western zones.

He listed the principles as:

1. Universal activity for peace and peaceful co-operation on the ground of full equality based on the principles of the United Nations.

2. Economic co-operation with all countries on the ground of equality and respect of mutual obligations.

3. The policy of support to the forces struggling for peace, national freedom and independence.

5. Development of co-operation in all respects with the Soviet Union and the countries of the people's democracies in economic and cultural life with the object of strengthening the common development in the socialistic countries.

Evatt In England For Jap Treaty Talks

LONDON, July 26. (AP)—Dr. H. V. Evatt, Australian deputy prime minister and foreign secretary, is in London today for talks with government officials on the German situation and a Japanese peace treaty.

An Australia House announcement said his consultations would touch on "all aspects of the international situation likely to affect Australia and the British Commonwealth of Nations."

Evatt's chief interest is what part Australia will play in writing a Japanese peace treaty, and Australian spokesman said, but "his talks here will necessarily include Germany."

PHILADELPHIA, July 26 (AP) —Eddie Sawyer, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs in the International league, today was named manager of Philadelphia Phillies of the National league.

Sawyer succeeds acting manager Lusty Cooke who took over field generalship of the Blue Jays after Ben Chapman was fired 11 days ago.

Peterborough Couple Held For Assaulting Policeman

HAMILTON, July 26 (CP)—Magistrate H. A. Burbridge this morning reserved judgment until Monday, Aug. 9, on three persons who were arraigned before him in magistrate's court on charges of assaulting and obstructing a police officer. The accused, Keith Dunning 23, Hamilton, Harry Dunning, 26, of Peterborough; and Helen Murray, also of Peterborough, were allegedly the cause of a scuffle with four police officers on James Street North early Sunday morning.

"If they don't turn up, we'll go after them," His Honor said in setting bail at $1,000 each. "If they're guilty they'll be severely dealt with.

All three pleaded not guilty to the two charges. The incident occurred, according to the officers, shortly after midnight on Saturday while they were patrolling their beat.

The patrolmen, P.C.'s James Gavin and Raymond Pion were told by Keith Dunning that he wouldn't move. This brought his brother, according to testimony, from a parked car.

The officers called for aid and arrested the two men. The woman [illegible] was also in the car, was later arrested. According to the officers, she pressed a lighted cigarette in the palm of P.C. Gavin's hand. The other officers also reported being injured as a result of the fracas.

Mitchell Rejects Onus Of Strike

OTTAWA, July 26 (CP)—Responsibility for maintaining law and order in the lake shipping strike rests with the provincial and local authorities, Labor Minister Mitchell reiterated here today.

"I repeat once more that it is not the function of my department to prosecute or attempt to send persons, who may be involved in violence resuling from a labor dispute, to jail, whether such persons be trade union members or officials of management," Mr. Mitchell declared in a 1,000-word letter sent to union leaders.

The letter, a defence of the department's record in the shipping dispute, was written last week and released to the press today. It was a reply to protests received by the department over its policy in the strike.

"The National Labor Relations Board ruled that the companies were bound to bargain collectively with the Canadian Seamen's Union," Mr. Mitchell wrote. "The anxiety of the officials of the Canadian Seamen's Union for results induced them to call a strike against the advice of the labor department," he continued.

He said, however, that he did not question the union's legal right to call the strike.

"Now as to the demands being made on me as Minister of Labor, I wish to make it clear that the responsibility for the investigation and punishment of acts of violence, whether or not incurred in the course of a labor dispute, is the responsibility of the local and provincial authorities," he declared.

OSHAWA, July 26 (CP)—Hugh Graham of Toronto, was seriously injured today when the automobile he was driving was in collision with a truck on highway 12, five miles north of Whitby. Graham was taken to the Oshawa General Hospital where he was found to be suffering from a fractured right knee cap, broken ribs and head cuts. Roy Polito of Lindsay, driver of the truck was uninjured.

Kill Gangster From Ambush

PEORIA, Ill., July 26 (AP).—Bernie Shelton, member of the notorious Shelton gang of prohibition era days, was shot and killed from ambush today.

A gunman who hid in a clump of bushes near a tavern where the former gang member hung out killed Shelton with a single shot and escaped.

Shelton's older brother, Carl, who headed the gang, was shot and killed in fairfield, Ill., last Oct. 27.

Hyderabad Plans Appeal To King

NEW DEHI, July 26 (Reuters). —The Nizam of Hyderabad whose territory was threatened Sunday night with war and extinction as a separate state if it does not accede to the Dominion of India, has appealed to the King to intervene, it was learned here today.

Customs authorities are said to have found a letter from the Nizam to the King and another to Sir Walter Monckton, constitutional adviser to Hyderabad, in the possession of Richard Beaumont, Sir Walter's secretary.

The Nizam aske Sir Walter whether he could refer the Hyderabad issue to the United Nations security council.

A dispatch from Hyderabad today says informed circles there believe that if it could find a sponsor the state would take her case to the United Nations assemble meeting in Paris in September.

Warns Canada Be Careful Use Newfoundland Gently

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 26.—(CP).—Canada will have to be careful not to tread on Newfoundland's toes if the country is taken into Confederation.

This was stressed by more than one observer here today as Newfoundland awaited word from Ottawa whether it had been "jilted" or was to be accepted into the Canadian fold.

Newfoundland did not vote so much for union itself as for the things that go with it—reduced debt, family allowances, old age pensions and other social services.

At that, only 51.9 per cent of the ballots cast were marked up in favor of union and it is reasonable to believe that a good many of these were more anti-responsible government, than they were pro-Confederation.

Newfoundland, a settlement 401 years old this year, has a strong though far-from-blatant national pride. That springs naturally from a people who have fought the elements for years to wrest a hard living from the sea.

Newfoundlanders who voted for responsible government will take some winning over by Canada. As one Confederate put it, Canada "will have to be big."

Another union - with - Canada supporter, said that any program such as "introducing Canada to Newfoundlanders" would not only fall flat on its face but make Newfoundlanders think they had voted the wrong way and played a mean trick on their children and grandchildren.

This spokesman said that, after all, many Newfoundlanders had served in the Canadian forces, many others had lived in Canada or spent some time there and that most others had relatives there.

Socialist Deputies Harassing Premier

PARIS, July 26. (AP)—Socialist deputies who wrecked the government of Robert Schuman a week ago were harassing the government of Premier Andre Marie today before it had a chance to be born.

Unwilling to take responsibility for the six ministerial posts Marie offered them, the Socialists have asked Marie to include only two of their party in his cabinet—Leon Blum as vice-premier and Paul Ramadier as minister of state. Both Ramadier and Blum are former premiers.

Marie is reported also to have offered the Socialists the portfolios of interior, social affairs, public works and commerce and industry.

The Socialist deputies approved the proposed Marie Cabinet by a vote of 33 to 31 today with eight abstentions.

Mangled Wreckage, Bodies All Left of DC-3 Plane

GASPE, Que., July 26 (CP).—Words are puny weapons to describe the scene of the crash which took 29 lives Saturday in the worst disaster in Canada's aviation history.

Smoke mingled with the smell of burning flesh.

I pushed my way through hundreds of people who, like myself, had thrashed their way through two miles of thick bush country to reach the scene.

A half-mile from the main wreckage I saw a torn and twisted wing, apparently ripped off by the thick trees as the DC-3 crashed.

Bring Out Bodies

As I struggled along the bush route to the destroyed plane I passed groups of tired Gaspesians who had preceded me to bring out the bodies.

They were struggling with stretchers along a trail to the main road, and bore the burned bodies of the victims.

Once on the main road they turned the bodies over to private automobiles which were running a grim shuttle service to the hospital in Gaspe. All the victims were beyond the help of a hospital.

The crowd was so dense around the wreckage that it was difficult to push a way to the inner circle around the ripped and burned patch of forest where rested the main part of the fuselage.

An organized search party was scouring the area for identifying signs, collecting dismembered parts of victims' bodies.

Hit By Lightning Bolt Feels Like A-Bomb

ESTEVAN, Sask., July 26. — What happens to a man when he is struck by lightning?

Sam Kinart, 58, of Bryant, Sask., has the answer. Lightning struck him Saturday while he was closing barn loft door at the farm of Ernie Penstock, eight miles north of here.

Said Kinart: "I saw a big ball of fire beside me. There was a deafening crash. I remember falling slowly into the ball of fire. When I came to my clothes were blazing but I could not move my hands nor could I roll over to put out the fire.

"It was the closest thing to the atomic bomb I care to see."

The bolt, which struck Kinart on the left side and passed through his foot, tore away his left shoe, which was found several feet away. A concrete counterweight on the barn door was shattered.

Donald Penstock, who had been helping Kinart in the barn, extinguished the flaming clothing and summoned aid. Kinart was taken to hospital.

FBI Arrests Pilot From Azores

Held For Violating Neutrality Act Exporting War Weapon

NEW YORK, July 26—(AP)—Nine men who took a B-17 on a mystery flight, apparently headed for Palestine, returned from the Azores Saturday. Their leader was immediately arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The man, Irvin R. Schindler, 32, pilot of the plane was quickly arraigned on a charge of violating the Neutrality Act by illegally exporting an implement of war—the B-17.

He was released on $1,000 bail pending federal grand jury action. The United States attorney's office said the charge carried a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and two years in jail.

Schindler, whose home town was reported as Miami, Fla., and the eight other men made the trip back from the Azores in a Pan American Airways plane. They made the return trip at their own expense.

They were met at New York by a bevy of officials from the FBI and five other government departments—Immigration, Public Health, Customs, State Deparment and Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Schindler, who piloted the B-17 from here to Halifax and then to the Azores before it was impounded there, had only a health examination and a brief spell with the customs men before the FBI whisked him away.

The FBI said the full charge aginst Schindler was "unlawfully willingly and knowingly" attempting to export "airplane, arms, munitions and implements of war" from the United States to Canada without a license.

Meanwhile two of the men were ordered held by immigration authorities because their papers "were not in order." They were Hyman Mark, 23, and Scholoni Solowitz, 25, both of Brooklyn.

The six others went through vaccinations, customs inspections of their belongings and immigration questioning. Then a State Department representative picked up their passports and permitted them to leave. They declined to talk to reporters.

Crops Damaged In Brief Storm

ROSLIN, July 26—Considerable damage was done to crops and at least one barn when a sudden storm swept through the district on Friday afternoon.

The fierce storm, which did not last long, cut a swath just south of the village and struck the barn of James Rutherford. Sheathing was torn away and part of the roof caved in. Grain stooks were strewn about the fields, oat fields were flattened and corn and potato fields damaged.

Large trees in the district were torn from the ground and traffic on the highway was brought to a standstill by the extremely heavy fall of rain and hail.

near the scene of the crash, leading to speculation the other might have dropped off while the plane was over the sea.

Mostly Lumberjacks

Most of the passengers were reported to be lumberjacks — employees of the Consolidated Paper Corp., Ltd. which chartered the plane to fly the men from Anticosti Island to the railhead at Gaspe.

Also aboard, however, were two married couples — Mr. and Mrs. Emmett P. Maloney of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Berth McCallum of Sandy Beach, Que., with their baby. The crew consisted of Pilot Emerson Mills of Rimouski, Que., and Co-pilot Ross Miles of Les Boules, Que.

Mr. Maloney, a navy veteran, was connected with Defence Minister Claxton's Montreal law firm, Dixon, Claxton, Senegal, Turnbull & Mitchell. His wife was the former Odette Ouellet, daughter of Wilfrid Ouellet, vice-president of Rimouski Airlines. Mrs. Maloney's mother and a second daughter had planned to make the flight, but changed their plans at the last minute.

When the plane failed to reach the airfield, the airport control tower asked the R.C.A.F. search and rescue division to start a search. The airliner went down about 5.30 p.m. Saturday just before it was ready to make an approach to the field.

Sight Wreckage

Rimouski Airlines Pilot Ken Irwin spotted the wreck Sunday morning and officials of the company said he radioed "It's a washout."

There apparently were no witnesses of the actual crash but one man who lives about eight miles from the scene said he heard "a thundering noise then an explosion."

"There were no flames visible from where I was," he said, "but a huge column of smoke arose and shortly after a smell like burning rubber permeated the air."

The body was found floating some 300 feet from where a Bailey-Bridge under construction last week collapsed sending the rigging crew to their deaths. Attempts are being made to recover the bodies of the five other men.

Allies Prepared For Conference

BERLIN, July 26—(AP)—Top-level talks between Russia and the western powers appear to be shaping up today to discuss the Berlin crisis and other German problems.

High United States diplomatic officials huddled in London with British and French representatives to chart new strategy on the Russian blockade following a conference here Sunday.

All indications pointed to acceptance by Britain, the United States and France of a Russian demand for a new conference on all of Germany. In London and Berlin reports circulated of a new Big Four Foreign Ministers conference or a meeting of Prime Minister Attlee, President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin in an effort to end the Berlin crisis.

The western powers expressed willingness to negotiate on Berlin only in their first note demanding that Russia lift the Berlin blockade. But Russia has rejected the idea.

Runaway Automobile Kills Young Bride

ST. THOMAS, July 26.—(CP)—A runaway automobile Sunday killed a 19-year-old bride of three months, injured her father-in-law, missed her husband by inches and almost drowned a 60-year-old woman passenger.

Dead is Mrs. Lavrne Scott, of RR 2, Southwold township. Rescued from drowing was Mrs. James Cousins of RR 1, Glanworth and injured slightly was George Scott.

The car was parked at the edge of a plateau overlooking Pinafore Park Lake near Southwest St. Thomas. Mrs. Cousins, mother of the owner, was sitting alone in the car in the back seat. Suddenly, the car started to move forward down a slight incline. Gaining momentum and out of control, it struck Mrs. Scott in the back and glanced off her father-in-law. Mrs. Scott was dragged over a 30-foot embankment to the lake below.

As the car plunged into the water, a group of swimmers led by Murray Griffin, former Ottawa and Toronto football player, pulled Mrs. Cousins from the sinking car. She suffered a bruised face, a severe shaking up and shock.

At the same time, Mrs. Scott's body was released as the car was rolled over 18 feet down at the bottom of the lake. Almost an hour's artificial respiration by local firemen failed to revive her.

Industrials Show A Stronger Trend

TORONTO, July 26 — (CP). — Industrials led a slightly stronger trend in very light trading here today. Base metals and western oils were up, but golds eased off after a strong start.

Abitibi, Bank of Montreal, Brazilian Traction, Canada Packers, A, Gatineau Power, Brown Preferred and Canada Vinegars moved fractionally ahead to lead the stronger trend in industrails.

Golds fell off towards the halfway mark in the day's trading after a strong start. Seniors showed little action, with Teck Hughes featuring early trading with a 5-cent gain. Kerr Addison wavered at the previous closing price, then kidded down ⅛ to 13. Chesterville, Kirkland Lake and Malartic dropped from 5 to 10 cents in juniors.

Base metals showed little activity, but the stocks that were traded were a little firmer. Falconbridge and Osisko were the main gainers, each advancing 5 cents.

Western oils were also stronger in spotty action. Home oil and Anglo Canadian led the firmer trend by gaining 5 and 4 cents respectively. Globe and Mid-Continent were also stronger.

England 400 Runs Ahead

LEEDS, Yorkshire, England, July 26 — (Reuters). — England scored 362 fast second-innings runs today in the fourth cricket test match against Australia, finishing the fourth day of the five-day contest 400 runs ahead of the Australians.

Eight English wickets fell during an exciting day's cricket.

By tea time, England had 209 runs for two.

England was 247 runs ahead, but time was running short in which to dismiss the strong Australians a second time when England's innings is ended.

At the lunch hour England was 110 runs ahead with all second-innings wickets standing.

Australia won the first two matches of the current five-match series, of which this is the fourth. The third match was drawn.

The best England can do is tie the series, having lost the Ashes, emblematic of commonwealth cricket supremacy, by failing to win the series.

3 Children Drown As Car Plunges From Bridge

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., July 26 —(CP)—Three children were drowned Saturday when an automobile, driven by their father, swerved off a bridge at near-by Sugar Island.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Halfaday of Munising, Mich., are in hospital suffering exposure and shock. The bodies of Garry, six, and Francis, two, were recovered while police are dragging for the body of Caroline Jean.

Halfaday said he lost control of the car when its wheels became stuck in loose boards on the wooden bridge. The car swerved off the bridge into 12 feet of water.

"I saw my wife free herself through the side window, but I had a terrific job opening the door," he said. "I tried to get hold of Garry but couldn't.

"I finally managed to open the door on my side and get close to my wife, who was swimming desperately, trying to locate the children. The current is very swift at this spot. Before we knew what had happened they were out of sight."

Canada's Defence Strategy To Combat Divisionary Attacks

COBOURG, July 26. — (ENS). —The defence strategy of Canada had been designed to meet United Nations commitments and to combat any diversionary attack on the Dominion, said Lieut.-Col. Gordon King, commanding officer of the 33rd Field Regiment, Cobourg, in an address on Canada's defence forces delivered at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Cobourg. The speaker was introduced by Douglas Tait, president of the club and was thanked by Russell Manning.

Chances of Canada being invaded by an overwhelming force from outside was remoted, he declared, and the defence had been designed, as far as the active army was concerned, to combat diversionary attacks on communications systems, utilities and transportation. It would take a bigger army than Canada could raise to cover every mile in Canada, but specially-trained airborne troops could be whisked to any danger point in Canada.

The reserve army in this section of Ontario had units centralized at Bowmanville and Cornwall in the south and Lindsay and Pembroke in the north and artillery units at Cobourg, Peterborough, Lindsay, Brockville, Belleville and Ottawa, with infantry at Cobourg, Cornwall and Belleville. At the present total of 35,500 in the reserve force was not up to strength, it was intended to increase it to 47,000, the speaker said.

Locally the reserve force was known as the 33rd Medium Regiment and the members trained 30 days during the year on a basis of two nights a week. Of the 30 days, a week at camp and 21 days of training in Cobourg comprised the total, and three full days military exercises were included. Object of the training was to make the reserve army as good as the active army, although various things might make it impossible to attain this objective. Local industries had shown their willingness to co-operate in regard to camp by permitting the men to go to camp without losing their regular holidays, the speaker said.

Sea Scout Troop Puts In To Cobourg

The next leg of their trip will be to Rochester and hence to Oswego, back across to Kingston and along the north shore to Toronto. The cruise will take two weeks and 22 boys are participating.

THIS SCENE, HISTORIC for Judaism, took place in Munich, Germany, when some 600 Jews who had survived the horrors of Hitler's regime and who later were interned in German displaced persons camps, left for Palestine. Only women, children and men too old for military service made the trip. As the train moved out the Jews stood on the footboards to wave to comrades staying behind.

Stalin Only One Who Knows If German Agreement Near

By WES GALLAGHER

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—What are the prospects of the Western Powers reaching an agreement with Russia over Germany at a new Big-Four conference?

No one definitely can answer this question except Stalin and possibly the Politburo.

It appears from here that Washington, Paris and London are indulging in wishful thinking that such an agreement can be reached.

Since the Foreign Ministers of the Big Four became deadlocked at the London conference no change in Soviet policy has been apparent. This policy has the avowed aims of wrecking the European recovery program and seizing control of Europe.

The quickest and most decisive way to achieve both objectives is to seize political and economic control of Germany.

Posed a Threat

When the Western Powers decided to set up a West German government independent of the Soviet Union they posed a threat to Rusian plans. For if a West German government were successful it would not only deny the Soviet Union control of Germany but might suck Eastern Germany into the Western orbit. Likewise, it would almost ensure the success of the European recovery program.

The Russians resorted to force in an effort to succeed where diplomacy had failed. They withdrew from four-power machinery. Berlin was chosen for the point of pressure because it is one of the most vulnerable and important western positions.

This policy had two possibilities —to force the Western allies from the city or to get them to agree to a Germany constructed on Soviet terms.

Either one would achieve Soviet aims.

New Conference

The first step in obtaining a Germany suitable to the Soviet Union must come through a new conference of the Foreign Ministers. Reports indicate that London, Paris and Washington are on the point of agreeing to such a meeting.

There seems little reason for the Russians to enter such a conference in a spirit of compromise. And there is no indication here that they intend to do so.

Marshal Vassily d. Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, to-day decreed issuance of new currency to replace the temporary tender issued a month ago.

The Russians also continued their harassing tactics along the air lanes used by the Western Allies to supply blockaded Berlin British authorities said Soviet planes wr conducting bombing practice in the corridor between Berlin and Hamburg. The previous day they charged the Russians with three other flight violations.

Resort Band Concert Greatly Enjoyed

CAMPBELLFORD, July 26 — (ENS—A diversified program was presented to large gathering of visitors at the Ayrhart Woodland Estate on Sunday night, when the Campbellford Citizens' Band performed at the first of a series of Sunday night concerts to be held at the estate.

The concert was an informal affair held on the spacious lawn in front of the estate's main building, and the audience sat in groups on the lawn and on the verandahs surrounding the area.

The fifteen members of the band performed well under the direction of Donald D. Bennett, ATCM, and were roundly applauded. There was a silver collection on behalf of the band during the intermission, the proceeds of which are to be used to augment the fund for the purchas[illegible] additional players required to bring the band up to full strength.

Bandmaster Bennett is understood to have a number of candidates ready for admission to the band as soon as instruments can be procurred for them, and every endeavour is being made to increase the fund as quickly as possible.

That will be the object of this series of Sunday night concerts.

Following the concert five members of the band remained behind, and were practicing some of the old favourites together, but at the request of a number of visitors went to the verandah of the dining room, where the affair developed into a community singsong lasting more than half-an-hour.

800 Lbs. Of Margarine Held At Montreal

MONTREAL, July 26—(CP)— Eight hundred pounds of margarine was under customs guard here today because its British owners failed to pay the freight charges for its return to Britian. The bread spread was brought here last week for a party of touring British schoolboys whose sponsors were unaware that its importation into Canada is illegal.

Customs officers said the margarine will be kept in bond for two months and then turned over to the crown unless its owners claim it.

It was to have gone back on the liner Empress of Britain Saturday but when the freight charges were not forthcoming it was left on a wharf.

Shannonville Hotel Destroyed By Fire

BELLEVILLE, July 26—(CP)— A landmark in Hastings County, the Shannonville Hotel, one of the oldest in the province, was destroyed by fire Saturday. The loss of the building, nine miles east of here, is estimated at more than $25,000. A wiring defect is believed to have caused the fire in the 75-year-old structure.

Three Important Political Sessions Held

OTTAWA, July 26 —(CP)— This is Canada's year of the Big convention.

There are three of them being held this year by Canada's three majory political parties—the Liberals meet in Ottawa Aug. 5, 6 and 7, the C.C.F. gathers in Winnipeg Aug. 19, 20 and 21 and the Progressive Conservatives get together sometime during September in a city yet to be chosen.

All three of the conventions will be concerned with the vital task of reshaping party policies and platforms. These are of paramount importance because of the approach of a general election year. The present Liberal government's mandate expires in 1950 and an election likely will be called in 1949.

Two of the conventions, those of the Liberal and the Progressive Conservative parties, will have one other important function—that of selecting a new party leader. This is dictated by the impending retirement of the two party heads, Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King and John Bracken.

Ranking third in importance on the agenda of all three conventions is that of party organizations. This, too, with an election in the offing, becomes of major importance.

The Liberal and Progressive Conservative conventions are unusual in that they are the first in some years. For those two parties, such get-togethers are not automatic; they are held only for some major question, such as the selection of a new leader.

Last Met In 1919

The Liberals, for example, held their last national convention in 1919, when Mr. King was chosen leader. The Progressive Conservatives last got together in a big way in 1942 at Winnipeg, where Mr. Bracken won selections as party head.

The C.C.F. national conventions are held every two years under the party constitution. At this meeting, as at others in the past, the leader, M. J. Coldwell, must be confirmed. This is a formality.

The Liberal and Progressive Conservative conventions will draw the greatest number of delegates Their systems of selecting delegates from the federal and provincial fields are similar. The Progressive Conservatives will have slightly more than 1,300 delegates while the Liberals will have just under that figure.

The C.C.F. which operates on a different delegate-selecting method, expects to have 300 at its turnout.

Fined $10 And Costs For City Accident

Fergus A. Moher, 29 Park St. North was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in court today as a result of an accident Saturday evening on Stewart St. Moher's car was in collision with the car of Hilton Rhodes, 155 Stewart St.

Damage to the accused's car was a dented fender and broken door. The fender and running board of the Rhodes car was damaged.

PC Allan Edmison investigated.

Nick Taxi Driver For Double Parking

Because he was "technically guilty," Michael McGuire, taxi driver of 514 Bolivar St., was assessed costs only of $1 for double-parking, contrary to city bylaw when he appeared in court today.

He told Magistrate Gee that "I was there all right," but argued that he was picking up a taxi fare which necessitated double parking for a short time.

"If I had to pay a fine every time I double-parked to pick up passengers I might as well quit business," he said. "So would every other taxi driver."

Cling 11 Hours To Canoe Think North 'Big Picnic'

EDMONTON, July 26.—(CP). —The far north almost claimed the lives of two youthful United States travellers this week, but a veteran Canadian Army sergeant said today they "seem to think it's been a big picnic."

Jack Qerly and Hal Smith of Chicago were en route from Waterways, NWT, to Aklavik, by canoe on the Mackenzie River.

Today Western Command reported a signal from Sgt. Dave Allison at the army signals station at Good Hope, NWT, saying Overly and Smith had a narrow escape in a river mishap which cost them their equipment.

Their 17-foot aluminum canoe, laden with 1,500 pounds of gear, tipped over Tuesday while shooting the San Sault Rapids — 60 miles north of Good Hope. The Hope is 950 miles northwest of Edmonton.

For 11 hours they clung to the overturned canoe as it floundered in the rapids. Then in late afternoon they abandoned it and struck out for shore. Allison said that figuring currents and channels they must have swam four miles.

They reached shore, suffering cramps and blue with cold and later were picked up by a police motor patrol boat.

Allison reported "neither seems to realize the seriousness of what they've gone through . . . they seem to think it's been a big picnic."

CAMPBELLFORD, July 26 — (ENS)—Fishing off the dock at the Ayrhart Woodland estate on Sunday morning, Mrs. Molly White of Brampton hooked a 19-pound muskie, which she landed without assistance.

Mrs. White had not been fishing very long when the big fish struck and gave her quite a tussle before it was brought up onto the dock.

"Could anything be more timely than the mingling of old traditions of the motherland with the mental vigor and freshness of the younger members of the commonwealth?" he added.

Irregular Procedure In The City Council

The propriety of the City Council's action in re-introducing the bylaw which fixed business hours for the sale of gasoline by service stations, after it had been defeated, has been the topic of discussion in several quarters. This bylaw was defeated in committee of the whole, on second reading, but later was re-introduced in the same committee, given second reading and passed. We believe that this is a practice that never should be permitted in municipal government, and especially when no notice of motion was required, advising the members that such a question was going to be re-considered.

What such a course might lead to is so far reaching that students of municipal affairs deplore the use of such tactics.

Let us recapitulate just how this very debatable question was handled by our municipal government. Following the receipt of a petition from service station operators for fixed hours of sale, the bylaw was advertised and prepared for the Council. On Monday, June 21, Alderman Douglas Miller, presiding as chairman of the committee of the whole Council on second reading, put the question, "All those in favor of the bylaw on its second reading?" The vote was tied and as was his duty, Alderman Miller cast the deciding ballot, and in doing so said, "I declare the bylaw defeated".

With the defeat of the bylaw things began to happen. The solicitor for the Garage Owners' Association became very indignant that a municipal council should defy an act of the Ontario Legislature and refuse to pass the bylaw, so in a letter to the Council read on June 28, he said, "You have no recourse under the law but to pass the bylaw". But how could the Council pass it? Had it not been defeated on a vote of the whole Council? However, on July 6 the bylaw appeared again in committee of the whole, this time with two of the members who were at the meeting when the bylaw was defeated absent, and it finally passed through second and third readings.

Such jockeying on the part of municipal bodies simply gives the public the idea that the members of the Council do not know where they stand. But this is not the worst feature of this type of action, for if it is possible to re-introduce the service station bylaw, it is also possible to re-introduce a much more important question, without notice of motion, and when certain members are absent.

• • •

In the House of Commons and ~~many~~ legislatures if a bill is defeated, when in committee, (and that is where they are usually thrown out), it remains out until it is re-introduced in the proper manner. Meeting in committee on second reading is simply a parliamentary procedure to make possible a fuller discussion of the question, and is not like ordinary committee work where the governing body must ratify the action of the committee.

While we do not believe that the issue at stake in this bylaw would make any difference in the legality of the Council's action, we do believe that the principle is something that every municipal body should watch very closely, and ever be on guard to see that such sloppy and irregular ways of doing public business never creep into our city's government.

Competitors in the Olympic Games being held July 29-August 15 in London will be given the maximum food ration —"Heavy Industrial". The same ration will presumably be given painters and poets entering the Olympic Art Competition. The days are gone when artists and poets were expected to be frail and wane and live on air.

The Ganaraska River Conservation Authority

The river which flows through Port Hope and misbehaves so badly every spring is the Ganaraska. Its annual flood which causes loss of life and property is due primarily to the transformation during the last hundred years of forest and swamp land in its watershed into arable open countryside. The damage caused by the floods is not limited to what is apparent during two or three spring weeks. Almost irreparable damage has been caused to many thousands of acres of once fertile land through erosion. Top soil is washed away, marshes and forests no longer contain the melting snow and spring water, there is insufficient water reserve to keep the soil from drying up in the summer sun.

In 1944 a scientific survey was published about the present conditions and future prospects of the Ganaraska valley. Action taken on the report led to the formation of the Ganaraska River Authority in 1946. We are glad to report now that the Authority is making good progress in arresting the processes of man and allowing nature and the waters of the Ganaraska to take a beneficent course. Land is being bought up and reforested.

Under an agreement made between the Authority (whose members live in the district)and the Department of Lands and Forests, the Provincial Government pays half the purchase price of the land, the Authority pays the other half. The Department of Lands and Forests plants and maintains a forest on the land at the request of the Authority. The agreement remains in force until A.D. 2,000. The Authority hopes to acquire and have reforested between 12,000 and 20,000 acres in the eroded land around the headwaters of the Ganaraska River system (in Durham and Northumberland Counties). In the words of the Authority's 1948 report:

> In this way, the spread of blow-sand will be checked, the volume of the spring run-off will be reduced and the flow of water in the streams of the Ganaraska system will be kept more regular through the spring, summer and fall. Besides this, the Authority will be creating a very valuable forest and contributing greatly to the amenity of the countryside.

During the year 1947 the Authority bought 1,220 acres of land in the townships of Hope, Clarke and Cavan. Its total holdings (including those in Manvers Township) amount now to about 2,500 acres. This spring 454,000 trees were set out.

The people of Port Hope and the large farming district north toward Peterborough must already feel that the Ganaraska Authority is of exceedingly great value, well worth the annual $5,000 assessment on the municipalities in the area. The time is at hand when large - scale conservation measures should be taken in Peterborough County, particularly in the north where holiday resorts and commercial undertakings are transforming wild bush land into cleared holdings.

Toward A Large Future

Last month the Prime Minister said that he believed Canada has a greater future than France, Britain, Italy or the U.S. That future will not be attained if we cower in igloos or sit on our haunches in the sun waiting like frogs for flies to pop into our months. We must build the future.

There are good signs that we are doing so. One is the present flow of immigrants. Another is the plans to explore and develop our natural resources, not only in unexploited areas but here in southern Ontario. One of the great resources we have is the upper St. Lawrence river. For a generation there has been talk of developing the St. Lawrence as a seaway and power supplier. Now the second phase of the scheme seems likely to be undertaken. The Ontario Hydro Commission and the New York Power Authority are planning a joint power development of the stretch of water extending about ten miles from Cornwall to Barnhart Island. The Chairman of the Commission, R. H. Saunders, has called it "the greatest Hydro project in the western hemisphere". It would take eight years to complete and cost an estimated $400,000,000, this sum to be provided by New York State and the Province of Ontario. It would generate one million, one hundred thousand additional horse power for each side of the boundary. The Department of External Affairs, which must approve the project, has it now under consideration.

Great public and private industrial ventures in the past (like the building of the transcontinental railways) have been instrumental in bringing this country to its present stature. It is large enterprises like the St. Lawrence Power Development which will foster a great future.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

THE following was found among Sir Gwilyn Gibbon's papers in his own handwriting, shortly after his death which occurred early this year:

SHORT FORM OF SERVICE FOR GOVERNMENT OFFICES.

Let us pray:

Oh Lord, grant that this day we may come to no decisions, neither run into any kind of responsibility, but that all our doings may be ordered to establish new departments, for ever and ever, Amen.

HYMN

Oh Thou who seest all things below,
Grant that Thy servants may go slow,
That they may study to comply
With regulations till they die.

Teach us, Oh Lord, to reverence
Committees more than common sense,
Impress our mind to make no plan,
But pass the baby when we can.

And when the tempter seeks to give Us feelings of initiative,
Or when, alone, we go too far,
Chastise us with a circular.

'Mid war and tumult, fire and storms,
Strengthen us, we pray, with forms,
Then will Thy servants ever be
A flock of perfect sheep to Thee.

Sir Gwilyn was himself a distinguished civil servant.

ONE of the quieter, nicer stories to come out of the war concerned a British airman who was shot down in the neighbourhood of a Breton village and crashed with his plane. The Germans buried him in the local graveyard and put up a cross bearing the words: "Ici repose un aviateur anglais inconnu."

A few days later the villagers crossed out the word "inconnu" and replaced it by "adopte."

SPEAKING about the war, that reminds me about the Englishmen in an American air camp who got involved with the pronunciation of the word "tomato." "Tomayto" or "tomahto" was the question.

He asked a young pilot whether pronunciation depended on which American state one lived in—or was it north or south?

"No, sir," was the answer. "It's just this. You ask for a pound of tomahtoes. The storekeeper will say, 'Huh! a pound of tomaytoes.'

"If you ask for tomaytoes, he'll say, 'Huh! a pound of tomahtoes.' The only rule is—JUST CUSSEDNESS."

STEPHEN Leacock was once called upon to explain why during his fourth year at University he had failed to lead his class in Ethnology, ranking only third place in this subject, although first in the other four subjects. Leacock explained the incredible mistake that accounted for this miserable third: "I remember in my fourth year in Toronto going into the exam room and picking up a paper which I carelessly took for English Philology: I wrote on it, passed on it and was pleasantly surprised two weeks later when they gave me a degree in Ethnology. I had written the wrong paper. This story oddly enough is true."

In his final year, young Stephen was Associate Editor of THE VARSITY. It is certainly unfortunate that his undergraduate efforts have not been put together—the following is unmistakably Leacockian and strains of his later work are already noticeable.

"Picture to ourselves (he wrote in his first effort on Convocation) the faculty as they sit before us. All of them are washed clean and dressed in their Sunday suits: no flannel shorts today; I venture to assert that almost every professor and senator has put on clean linen and a white collar, and this, too, for our behoof. Perhaps, too, some of them haven't got their shorts and collars on right-side-before, or they may, many of them, be hitching their necks to hide a bone collar-stud. What could be more embarrassing or trying to their equanimity than this? How many of them, too, are nervous, shy men, dazed at seeing so many people together, at the size of the room, and the acclamations of the gathered multitude!"

"SOME of them, too," he continued, "may have mothers; those mothers may be sitting in the vast throng listening with proudly throbbing pulses to catch the clamour drowned accent of their Johnnies. For a senator or professor is still his mother's Johnnie, nature he never so. Who has, let him pause and think of the feelings of a professor's mother when she hears her boy asked, before the assembled multitude, if he has had his hair cut, or perchance, rudely bidden to have it at the first opportunity. Placed, as the faculty are, in such trying circumstances, is it not unkind to ask them where they got their hats? Is it not ungenerous to suggest to our instructors to pull down their vests before they speak? True, the vest may be indecorously elevated as the professor begins to soar, but would it not be the manly course if one of our number should quietly step forward and pull it down for him? Remember they are doing their best to amuse us; in a humble way, yes, but let us not on that account rudely scoff at it. Seek, rather, to set them at their ease and aid them to laugh off their natural embarrassment."

TROUBLED by the reception of "The Leaves of Grass", Walt Whitman confessed to friends in the 1880's that he did not know of one copy sold. That can scarcely have been true, and his memory always tended toward exaggeration, writes Henry Seidel Canby in "Walt Whitman." "However, he had been liberal with gift and review copies, as, being the sole owner, he was free to do. It was, as he said later, his "carte de visite" to posterity, and most probably what he hoped for was not so much cash as fame, fame of the kind that would enable him, as he wrote to Emerson in 1856, to sell thousands of later copies of his poems. It would be absurd to suppose that Walt expected an easy popular reception for the twelve poems of these first 'Leaves'. He was not descending from an ivory tower into an unknown commercial world. On the contrary, he knew from long experience what the book and magazine-buying public wanted. Had he not tried again and again to give it to them! If he did not know how to write what was widely saleable, he certainly knew how NOT to write if he wished a quick commercial success. 'Be simple and clear—not occult' had been his prescription (not filled) as long ago as 1847. That he hoped to shock his critics and his readers with a sensation and so point toward success, is more probable. Unfortunately he puzzled more than he shocked. The shock was to be stronger from later editions.

"Nevertheless, though from the sale angle the first 'Leaves' was one of the great flops of literary history, this is by no means true of its critical reception. In spite of Thoreau's protest against the 'reprobates' among the reviewers who attacked him, the book, as will be seen, was not unfortunate in its reception by the professionals, who got their copies free. It was thoroughly and rather widely discussed and with a realization by no means confined to Emerson that here was something new and powerful in American writing. If the most frequent reaction was anger and even scorn, that was considering the subject success of a kind. The 'Leaves' registered far better than Poe's first production, and at least as well as Thoreau's A Week On The Concord And Merri-Mack Rivers."

ANOTHER CURTAIN TO RAISE

The 1919 Convention

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

OTTAWA: There were strange headlines in the papers, in those far-off days, as the Liberal convention opened in Ottawa on August 5, 1919. President Wilson was urging Congress to stop rising prices. The big news in Europe came from Hungary where the brief dictatorship of Bela Kun, the communist, had just ended. In Canada, Prime Minister Borden was trying to strengthen his cabinet. Prohibition was stirring men to angry debate. The British people were witnessing the dwindling genius of Lloyd George; the great days of Clemenceau were over in France; Russia was torn by civil war and foreign aggression; and Hitler and Mussolini, mercifully, were still unknown to the front page.

The convention had been called by Sir Wilfrid Laurier primarily to prepare a new platform for the party. These early plans, however, were changed with Laurier's death. Now the convention had to choose a leader as well as formulate the party's principles. Above all, it had to preserve and strengthen the party's unity, shaken by the crisis over conscription and other problems brought by the war.

The memory of Laurier dominated the convention. A huge portrait of the leader, on which the light played, commanded everyone's attention. Almost every speech contained a tribute to Laurier; and the convention recorded its praise of its former chief with an eloquence rare in Canadian public life.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Quebec premier, and Hon. George H. Murray, premier of Nova Scotia, were joint chairmen. The Liberal party did not forget that it had been out of office since 1911 when it was defeated on the recriprocity issue, a defeat more honourable than many political victories. The convention cheered Hon. John Oliver, B.C. premier, when he saluted capricious fortune by having a horseshoe on the chairman's table.

As the convention began, two men seemed the strongest contenders for the leadership. They were Hon. W. S. Fielding, former finance minister, and Hon. George P. Graham, former minister of railways. Others in the running were said to be D. D. McKenzie, temporary House leader; William Martin, premier of Saskatchewan, and W. L. Mackenzie King. Mr. King, then 45, a former Labour minister, had been out of parliament since 1911; he was described as "an able young man."

FIELDING declined to campaign. He was ready to withdraw if the convention was severely contested. The day before the vote he still was irresolute; a delegation, in which five provincial premiers were included, urged him to let his name stand. Fielding knew he had alienated many Quebec Liberals by parting company with Laurier, unlike Mr. King, on the issue of conscription.

The first notable speech of the convention came on the second day when Ernest Lapointe gave a prophetic display of power. Rumour had already run through the convention of the valiant stand Lapointe had taken at an earlier Quebec caucus when he attacked a resolution seeking to divide Quebec Liberals from the rest of the party. His plea for unity stirred the convention and when he closed with the reverberating pledge of loyalty to Liberal principles uttered by Macaulay, "As long as there is a shed of the old banner left, by that banner I, at least, will stand," it was evident that Quebec had found a new leader and Canada a new spokesman.

Mr. King made his bid when he presented the motion on labour and industry. There were no nominating speeches or statements by the candidates; instead, the leading candidates submitted the various resolutions forming the party platform. The same principle will be observed at the coming convention.

HOWEVER, rules were not rigorously enforced and Mr. King, like other candidates, was able to make his speech in support of one motion a real declaration of his principles. The speech, a remarkable success, at once strengthened his chances of succeeding Laurier. Tradition ascribes to this utterance a quality of eloquence which exalts it to the rare distinction of an oration. If so, it must have sounded very different than it reads today.

When balloting for leadership began, there were only four candidates—King, Fielding, Graham, McKenzie. On the first ballot the vote was: King 334; Fielding 297; Graham 153; McKenzie 153. The next ballot gave King 411; Fielding 344; Graham 124; and McKenzie 60. Only the first two names stood for the third and final ballot. Mr. King was elected leader by 476 votes to 438, a margin of 38 votes over Fielding who gained an ovation for himself by immediately moving, in generous terms, that the election be made unanimous, a gesture in which he was joined by Graham and McKenzie.

Thus Mr. King began his long reign as Liberal leader. Laurier's emphasis on party philosophy was remembered, and the 1919 platform in broad objectives was to guide Canadian Liberalism over the next span of years. Now, in the cycle of time, a new leader is to be elected and a platform for the future prepared. Many formulas for success are being extended to the Liberal convention. Its members may do far worse than to recall the admonition of Asquith when he said: "My counsel to you is to keep faithful to your old traditions, to safeguard and vivify your organization and never lose sight of that saving quality which alone makes politics a reputable profession for honourable men, that a party exists not to keep power, not to acquire power, but it exists for the promotion of great and worthy ideals."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

IN the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God and the Word was God....And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth....

For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ. (John 1: 1, 14, 17.)

And it came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles....

And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poor: for your's is the kingdom of God. (Luke 6: 12, 13, 20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled. (Matt. 5: 17, 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. (Matt. 9: 35.)

National Highway

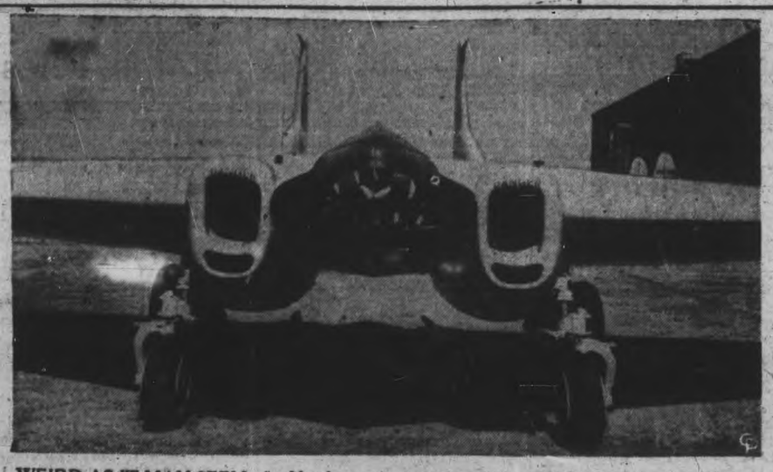
THERE is growing evidence of impatience with the Dominion Government's policy of delay and deferment in connection with the Trans-Canada Highway. There is a road of sorts across the country now, but it is a road of bits and pieces, constructed by the various provinces with provincial money and in line with provincial policy. There is nothing national about it and a truly-national road is the great need.

The city councils of Vancouver and Calgary have recognized this and have joined in a resolution urging the setting up of Dominion commission to undertake the study of Trans-Canada Highway problems. Maclean's Magazine recognizes the need, too, and in an editorial in its latest issue presses for action. "Surely", it says, "a country of Canada's stature can afford at least one strip of paved highway all the way across".

It is not entirely a question of affording. The luxury of stalling in which our Government has been indulging for years may well be costing us more than the highway would. It is keeping our tourists away; they don't like dust and broken springs in making their way from one Canadian park or one Canadian province to another. It is driving our own motorists to American roads for transcontinental journeys. It is holding back the development of an adequate network of provincial roads, for no province can plan intelligently until it knows where the Trans-Canada will run. It is keeping Canadians from knowing one another and knowing the country and its problems. It is thus a bar to our development as a nation. We need the unifying influence of a first-class highway from coast to coast.—Vancouver Daily Province.

The Flag As Scarecrow

A BROOME COUNTY farmer has been using an American flag as a scarecrow. The flagpole was connected to his house by a line. When the line was yanked, the flag fluttered dangerously and the crows departed promptly from their corn pulling. Protests from neighbors, it is reported, have caused the farmer to abandon what was admittedly a successful method of crow repelling.



We are not sure that the stand taken by Broome County's sensitive citizens is entirely justified. What they consider an act of disrespect to the flag may not be as regards as they patriotically believe. Certainly it can be argued that, in a crow season, the farmer flew his flag above his acres as a means of protection and a mark of ownership. Where the flag fluttered, let corn-subversive birds beware.

It would not be too difficult, we believe, to point a moral from this incident of an American flag above an American cornfield, flying where it had every right to fly, every need to protect.—New York Herald Tribune.

Callous Parents

The warning by Mr. J. Herbert Dawson, Children's Aid Society superintendent, that court action will be taken against parents who leave helpless children unattended while they stepout, should meet with general approval.

Two instances he cited, of children 16 months old and four months old being left alone while their parents were spending the evening at a dance and movie, respectively, are evidence of nothing less than callous irresponsibility.—Windsor Star.

WEIRD AS IT MAY SEEM, the Northrop aircraft XP-79 Flying Wing (above), until recently a carefully guarded military secret, was designed and built for the express purpose of slicing through enemy aircraft without destroying itself. As in the famous first flight of the Wright Brothers, the pilot of the XP-79 flies his plane from a prone position. The experimental Flying Wing crashed and killed its pilot, Harry Crosby, in 1945, and development of the plane stopped because the war had ended. Now both the air force and the navy are renewing research in prone position for pilots.

Careful Not To Hurt Newfoundlanders Have Simple Rules For Canadians To Follow

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, July 26 (CP)—Here are a few simple rules of etiquette to be followed by Canadians if Newfoundland becomes the 10th Canadian province::

Newfoundland is not Newfie, and islanders remember that Canadian troops started that nauseating nickname. Its okay for a Newfoundlander to use it, but nobody else.

Newfoundland is pronounced with the accent on "land."

Don't make fun of the Newfoundland railway. It takes 36 hours to cross the island and makes three trips a week—two in winter. But it carries as many as want to travel in a week and besides, under confederation, it would become part of the C.N.R.

Don't say to an anti-Confederate: "Well, it must feel pretty good to be a Canadian, eh?"

Don't refer to Newfoundland as the country of the cod, the fog and the dog. Fishing is the biggest industry, it isn't any foggier here than in Halifax and a Newfoundland dog costs a lot of money.

Don't make fun of his politics. Newfoundlanders haven't been able to have any for 14 years and they're blowing off pent-up steam.

Morale Worries Montgomery About Future

LONDON, July 26 — (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery diagnosed the present feeling of British youth as "spiritual malaise."

"Uncertainty, ignorance and fear are widespread among young people," he told a recent meeting of Young Parents, organized by the Mothers' Union.

"This is a disease of morale," he said. "It is a sickness of our national character and must be treated as such.

"I consider that we older people have two main tasks: First, to devote the remaining years of our lives to such work as will tend to make wars less frequent, secondly, to so train the younger generation that they will be able to handle the things that lie ahead."

Viscount Montgomery sees youth inclined to be intolerant and critical of its elders, observing there had been two major wars in modern times, "both of them probably brought on by unpreparedness and, after each of them, a total failure to realize the benefits which it was promised that victory would bring.

"The young are suffering from a profound feeling not of insecurity but of what, for want of a better word, I call uncertainty. This feeling robs them of the spirit of adventure and perhaps of their self-confidence.

"I thing the absence of faith, combined with the menacing pressure of world events which seem too vast to be comprehended, may have disastrous results unless we are very careful."

Several Dinghies Capsize In Rough Weather At Crowe's Landing Regatta

Crowe's Landing regatta, staged before a large crowd of tourists, cottagers and visitors Saturday afternoon, was one of the most successful in years. A strong wind whipping the water into white caps, made the sailing races hazardous, and in the open event, only three of the starters crossed the finish line. Several overturned and others were blown off the course.

Alan Barker, Toronto, scored 15 points to win the regatta championship, and entered 12 of the 21 events to pile up the winning score. The trophy was taken last year by Jim Wilkinson and he was runner-up this year with 13 ponits. In the dinghy sailing, Kay McCormick won the Chapman Cup. Mr. Knapman in the Sygnet won the Crowe's Landing Trophy, and Jack Matthews was second. The canoe sailing was postponed because of the rough water.

Judges were Russell McCormick, Bill Homewood, Harold Barker, J. Lush. Starters were Gord Minty and Don Jory and committee chairmen Charlie Barker and Ralph Wilkinson.

5 h.p. Outboard—Andre Dorfman, Jim Wilkinson, John Boynton.

10 h.p. Outboard—Greg Knox, Herb Knox, Chip Rorke.

Open Inboard—Jack Braund, Leo Dorfman, Pete Tedford.

Violence Sweeps Quebec Plant

QUEBEC, July 6. — (CP).—Violence broke out during the week-end at one of seven plants affected in the province-wide strike of 1,379 furniture workers even as employees of an eighth factory prepared to walk off their job tomorrow.

At Victoriaville in the eastern townships where 650 members of the Roman Catholic Syndicate of Furniture Workers struck, windows were smashed in the Eastern Furniture Co. plant, one of three factories affected.

Windows also were broken in a garage nearby while several automobiles parked along the street were overturned. Chief of Police A. Boucher said no arrests have been made pending further investigation.

A union spokesman said the demonstration apparently resulted from dissatisfaction among strikers, who seek a general wage boost of 15 cents an hour, at refusal of plant owners to negotiate. Minimum wage in the industry is 64 cents an hour.

Comstock's Fall Before B-A In Men's Tussle

B-A beat Comstock's 10-5 at the Bowl on Saturday night to take over first place in the men's softball loop. With two games yet to play, they have 12 wins and 10 losses, but haven't yet clinched a playoff berth. Comstock's have 11 and 11, as has Legion, while Knights have 10 wins and 12 reverses. But two games separate the top and bottom teams with two more double-headers booked for next week to end the schedule. A good-sized crowd saw Saturday's draggy twin bill. No men's games listed for this week.

Reg Gordon actually had a slight pitching edge on Ken Guilfoyle, but B-A had more extra-base blows and Comstock's had more miscues in the field. It was a 4-4 game on earned runs. Bob Crowe led the winners at bat with a double and single in three. Carpenter and Prdye had two for four each, one of the former's being a double, and Starr had a doubel and single in five. Anderson had two in three for the losers, White three for five, and Gordon a double and single, and Mackness two for four.

COMES THROUGH — Manager Ed Murphy put himself on the spot going in as a pinch-hitter in the ninth here Saturday against Batawa but his three-run homer paid off with a 7-5 win for the Petes in a thrilling COBL contest.

England Ahead In Test Match

LEEDS, Yorkshire, England, July 26.—(Reuters). — England was 110 runs ahead of Australia today with all second innings wickets standing at lunch during the fourth day of the fourth cricket test match.

The Australian first innings of the five-day match ended quickly this morning for 458 runs—38 less than England's first innings tally.

England's opening pair, going in after Ray Lindall was out for 77, put on 72 without being parted.

Lindwall had made 77, a valuable effort for his side. Ernest Toshack, the not-out batsman, again had to have a runner this morning because of cartilage trouble.

Len Hutton and Cyril Washbrook started cautiously when England went in and the first run did not come until the fourth oval. In successive orders both were struck painful blows, Hutton being hit on the hand by a bumper from Lindwall, while Washbrook was struck in the stomach when trying to hook the other speed bowler, Keith Miller.

In a later over from Lindwall, Washbrook was hit twice, but the bumpers did not upset either him or Hutton and they were still together at the interval when Hutton was 40 not out and Washbrook, 28 not out.

Knights Take A Triumph From Legion

Knights kept up their winning streak at the Bowl Saturday night when they trounced Legion 14-5 to come within a game of Legion and Comstock's in the race for a playoff spot. B-A are in front of K. of C. by two games, and each team has two more scheduled tilts next week. Both sides Saturday used two twirlers, Terry Woods taking over as Crowley faltered in the sixth for Knights, and Tom Parsons relieving the weakening Dalton in the seventh. Knights played better ball in a slow struggle, having no miscues to four by their opponents.

Frank O'Heron led the winners at bat with four for five, one a two-bagger. Garvey was close behind with three in four, while Spencer hit a double and single in four, Sullivan two in five, and Wade a double. For Legion, Bud Harrison was best with a homer, double and single in four, tries Walton had two for four, White a triple and Dalton a double. Nice catches were made by Walton and Spencer.

Hamilton Man Tops In OGA Tourney Here As 93 Golfers Compete

High wind and a fast course raised the score of most golfers in the Ontario Golf Association district tournament held on Saturday at the Peterborough Golf Club. Only two broke 80, Chal Graham of Lindsay and Ron Patterson from the Ancaster Golf Club in Hamilton, both with 79's. Club officials attributed the low number of entries, 93, to the holding of the Seagram Trophy play in Sudbury.

As a result of the showing of these 93 golfers, it is expected that the par for the Peterborough will be re-rated to 71 and 69. Joe Stoddard, runner-up in the Canadian Amateur, was expected, but notified officials that he was attending the Sudbury tournament.

Ron Patterson was low gross winner: in the first flight, handicaps 1 to 9, as his handicap is lower than that of Graham. Graham was awarded the prize for low net with a 79-8-71. Second low gross went to Emerson Creed, Barrie, with an 82, and the prize for second low net was taken by B. Moore, Cedar Brae, with an 82-9-73.

In the second flight, H. Haynes of Port Hope topped the rest with a low gross score of 81, followed closely by Hugh Waddell, Peterborough, with 83. D. Nesbett, from Highlands in Toronto, edged out Peterborough's Stan McBride by one stroke in the low net with an 86-20-66. McBride had an 83-16-67.

H. Finnigan, from the Rouge Hills course, took first low gross in the third flight with a 90, only one stroke better than C. F. Meyrick, Cliffside, who had a 91. First low net went to Owen Cauley, Peterborough, who had a net 61 and beat out his father Art Cauley who took second with an 88-24—64.

In the junior's class, Ross Cutmore of Peterborough led the pack with a net 67. Tied for second with net 76s' were Ken Jacobs, Cliffside, and D. Rodway, York Downs.

Murphy's Homer In Ninth Gives Petes Win Over Bata

A six-run rally in the last of the ninth here Saturday gave the Petes a 7-5 win over Batawa and a game and a half lead in the COBL race. The last-ditch outburst consisted of solid singles by Al Menzies, Jack Mackness, Don Pagett and Don McRae, with a homer by Bob Crowe and a three-run homer by pinch-hitter Manager Ed Murphy with the winning markers, Gordie Muffitt of Batawa, who had hurled fine five-hit ball to the ninth was the victim of the murderous attack. Bill Edger had pitched steady ball for the Petes but Eddie Whitehill took over in the ninth, down 5-1, and got credit for the win.

Mackness and Menzies, with two for four each, led the homesters at bat, though Murhy's big four-bagger to left centre in the ninth was the money blow. Jerry Wagar and Gord Muffitt topped the losers at the plate, and a catch by Fred Gravey and pickup by Pagett were fielding features. A big crowd saw the snappy scrap with Batawa better till the last half heat.

One In Third

The first Peterborough run came in the third on a single by Dalton, an error and Garvey's hit to left. They didn't threaten in any other frame till those big bats got going in the ninth. Hits by Bridgeman, Wagar and Solmes meant a Bata run in the third and a triple by Kennedy and a fly added one in the sixth. Two scored in the seventh on Spencer's single, Wagar's two-bagger and two miscues. Marietta doubled in the eighth, moved up on an out and raced home on a single by Muffitt to make it 5-1. Then the fireworks started as the Petes began pounding out that victory.

It was a thriller to win—and the big crowd loved it—and a tough one for the gallant Shoemen to drop. The score went as 7-5, rather than 6-5, as baseball rules call for a homer to be recognized as such, even in the last of the ninth and not necessary to win the game. The Petes nearly had a double play in the seventh but Bob Crowe later admitted he had missed touching second and the umpire's call was right.

Royals Blowing Fat Lead; Drop Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

Manager Clay Hopper of Montreal Royals is having another nightmare for his Royals once again are threatening to blow a fat lead in the International League pennant chase.

On July 4 the Royals led the second-place Newark Bears by 10½ games. Since then the Bears copped 14 out of 23 to cut the Royals' advantage to 7½ games.

The Bears took both ends of a double-header from Toronto Maple Leafs, 8-1 and 6-3 while Syracuse Chiefs handed the Royals their first double setback of the season Sunday 14-2 and 3-2.

Bob Porterfield scattered eight Toronto hits in posting his 14th victory of the year in the first game. The Bears collected 11 hits, including two homers by Jay Difani and one by Ken Silvestri.

In the second game Hank Workman and Jack Phillips wacged homers for the Bears.

Homers Plentiful

Home runs also highlighted Syracuse's first game triumph over the Royals. Kermit Wahl, Frank Drews, Al Rubeling and Austin Knickerbocker socked four-baggers for the Chiefs with Wahl's clout coming with the bases loaded.

In the second tilt the Chiefs scored all their runs in the first inning with Wahl knocking in two with a two-bagger.

Jersey City split a pair with the last-place Baltimore Orioles, winning the first game, 8-6, but losing the second, 6-4.

The Orioles erupted for four runs in the sixth inning to win the second game. Bill Barnacle's two-run homer was the bg blow of the Baltimore rally.

Buffalo Bisons and Rochester Red Wings also split a twin bill, the Bisons winning the first game, 10-0 and the Red Wings the second, 10-5. Johnny Groth and Larry Barton hit home runs for Buffalo.

Red Sox Mangle Indians Grab League Leadership

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy's blazing Red Sox were riding herd on the American league today after having achieved a baseball feat almost equall to thtat of Boston Braves' wonder team of 1914.

The Red Sox Sunday climaxed a sensational seven-week surge to rocket from a dismal seventh to first place.

They wrested the No. 1 berth from Philadelphia Athletics by defeating Cleveland Indians, 3-0, to entend their winning streak to 12 games. Meanwhile, the Athletics were dividing a doubleheader with Detroit Tigers.

Not since George Stallings' miracle Braves of 34 years ago rose from the cellar on July 4 to capture the National league flag has a team raced to the top in so short a time.

The Red Sox have captured 19 of their last 22 games and 15 in a 16-game home stand.

Dobson Hero

Joe Dobson gained the honor of pitching the Sox into first place. He scattered six hits to chalk up his 13th triumph.

Dom DiMaggio clouted a home run off Satchel Paige in the seventh for theSox final run.

Fred Hutchinson knocked the A's out of the lead by pitching the Tigers to a second game 10-2 triumph over Philadelphia and a split in their doubleheader. Joe Coleman had blanked the Tigers 4-0 with seven hits in the opener

Joe DiMaggio cracked out two home runs, a double and three singles in seven times at bat to lead New York Yankees to a double triumph over Chicago White Sox 5-3 and 7-3. The sweep of the twin bill advanced the fourth-place Yankees to within two percentage points of the Indians. Both of Joe's homers, his 22nd and 23rd, came in the second game.

Divide Doubleheader

Washington and St. Louis' Browns divided a double header, the senators winning the first game 5-1, and tthe Browns taking the second 6-4 in 11 innings.

The pace-setting Boston Brayes retained their five-game margin in the National league by gaining a split in their doubleheader with the Cardinals in St. Louis.

The Cards won the opener 6-5. They also led 6-4 after eight innings of the nightcap, but ninth inning home runs by Bob Elliott and Jeff Heath, the former with two on, gave the Braves an 8-6 victory.

Danny Murtaugh's grand-slam home run in the eighth inning gave Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-4 second game victory and a split in their doubleheader with second-place Brooklyn Dodgers. The Brooks won the opener 6-5 with four runs in the eighth. Jackie Robinson's steal of home proved the deciding tally.

Cincinnati slugged out a doubleheader victory over Philadelphia Phils 11-8 and 9-2. Hank Sauer slammed his 27th home run in the opener to tie Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh for the league lead. Frankie Baumholtz hit a grand slam home run for the Reds in the second game.

Chicago Cubs spotted New York Giants a 3-0 lead then came from behind to defeat Leo Durocher's men 6-3. Eddie Waitkus' inside-the-park home run with two on was the telling blow.

FRESH FROM THE University of Illinois campus, Bob Wakefield is batting at a .377 clip in his first 15 games with the Pueblo Dodgers, farm team of the Brooklyn Dodgers at Pueblo, Colorado. The Dodgers have signed him and some time this year or next he may become the idol of the flatbush fooers. He would be the second Wakefield in the big leagues. Brother Dick is now with the Detroit Tigers.

Stymie At End Of Racing Career

NEW YORK, July 26 — (AP). —One of the great "iron horses" in turf history came to the end of the racing trail today. Stymie will thrill the crowds no more with his brilliant, spine-tingling stretch rushes.

The gallant old "Pride of Brooklyn," suffered a fractured right forefoot in the Monmouth Park handicap Saturday, and less than 24 hours later trainer Hirsch Jacobs said the seven-year-old money-winning champion would be retired permanently.

When sufficiently recovered from the injury, Stymie will be sent to the blue grass country of Kentucky for breeding purposes.

Saturday Stymie collected only $1,500 fourth money—peanuts for him—putting his record all-time earnings at $911,353. This was just $88,665 under the mark which would have made him the first millionaire in the turf history. golden goal had he been spared That he would reached that injury this year was almost certain. When the year began his total was $816,060, and he added $5,275 in 11 starts this season.

Lesnevich Makes Bid

LONDON, July 26.—(AP).—A sell-out crowd of 46,000 fans will watch Gus Lesnevich make his bid for a shot at the world heavyweight boxing title when he meets Freddie Mills tonight at White City stadium. If Lesnevich, recognized world light-heavy champion, can repeat the knock-out victory he scored over Mills two years ago, he is considered a cinch to slug it out either with Joe Louis or Jersey Joe Walcott in September, and become fisiana's No. 1 "gold rush" for the coveted title.

DETROIT POLICE WIN

Detroit police team walked off with first place in the 66th renewal of the Toronto police games Saturday. The Detroiters ended up with 68½ points, five points more than a hard-hitting Montreal team. Toronto brought up the rear with 52.

No Love Scene For Shirley In Latest Film

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (AP)—Shirley Temple won't get her wish for a film love scene with husband John Agar.

The actress was campaigning for a smooch scene in their current film, "Baltimore Escapade" —"since we probably won't be doing another picture together for some time." But it didn't fit into the script, she tells me, so they will have aplatonic love affair in the film.

Shirley and John go their separate professional ways after the film. She will start a new movie in August; all she knows about it is that it's in modern dress. He will probably start "Mission Without Orders," John Ford's follow-up of "Fort Apache."

Tough Life

Judy Garland's collapse is partly due to the fact that she did three tough musicals in a row. With all the rehearsing of dance and song numbers, that is more than most constitutions can take. "Barkleys of Broadway" and "Annie Get Your Gun" would have made five in a row, so she had to take a rest.

Ingrid Bergman's "Joan of Arc" will probably premiere simultaneously in New York and Hollywood in late November. It will be the costliest new film shown this year.... Precocious Hollywood babies' Jeanne Crain's 15-month-old is learning to swim: John Hubbard's six-month-old has eight teeth.

Jack Carson, former Carman, Man., star, and Dennis Morgan fly to San Antonio August 4 for the "Two Guys from Texas" premiere....John Ford has big plans for Ben Johnson, the ex-stunt man. He will star in the Australian story, "Stingaree."

Here and There In Sport

The baseball world rallied today with offers to help rebuild the shattered Duluth, Minn., baseball team. The team manager and three players of the Class C Northern League team were killed and 14 other players injured Saturday in a firey bus-truck collision in the suburbs of St. Paul. The driver of the truck was also killed. Joe Mathes, chief of St. Louis Cardinals farm club system, telephoned owner Frank Wade to express sympathy and to assure him that players will be recruited from other clubs to meet the emergency when Duluth resumes play, possibly by Wednesday. Duluth has a working agreement with the Cardinals.

The Brat, a three-year-old filly sporting the silks of Mrs. George Hardy of Toronto, raced to a stunning upset victory in the 94th running of the Quebec King's Plate at the Blue Bonnets track in Montreal Saturday, defeating Double Briar, the 1 to 10 favorite. The filly, leased from W. F. Morrissey of Toronto for this fixture, was expertly handled by jockey Albert Florio.

Jim Boesch of Toronto Lambton Club shot 213 to beat Bobby Faair of Toronto withr 217 and Canadian amateur finalist Joe Stoddard of Hamilton with 220 to win his third consecutive Seagram trophy at the twelfth annual invitation golf tourney at Sudbury Saturday.

A Reading, Pa., Ben Hogan, the magnificent pressure golfer from Hershey, Pa., won the $15,000 Reading open Sunday with an eight-under-par 31-33—64 and a 72 hole total of 269.

He smashed the Berkshire Country Club course record by a stroke. Fred Haas, Jr., 32-year-old New Orleans pro, who shared or held the lead through the first three hours, finished second with a 270. Clayton Heafner, of Charlotte, N.C., wound up third at 271. Frank Stranaham of Toledo, O., Canadian and British champion, finished with 281 for 19th Winnipeg's delay in making application ensures that the Western Canada Senior Hockey League will remain a five-team circuit during 1948-49 with entries from Edmonton, Lethbride, Calgary, Saskatoon and Regina. The schedule will open Oct. 11. Directors voted to set up a Dryburgh Memorial Trophy as a tribute to the late Dave Dryburgh, sports editor of the Regina Leader-Post. The trophy will be a perpetual award to the best goalkeeper in the regular schedule.

At Inglewood, Calif., jockey Johnny Longden wound up the 50-day meeting at Hollywood Park Saturday with three wins and a record season's total of 105 victories. His performance, unprecedented at a single meeting in Canada or the United States, left the former Taber, Alta., jockey with a lifetime total of 3,130 wins.

Insults Flying In Pre-Election Que. Campaign

MONTREAL, July 26—(CP)—Quebec's election extravaganza moved toward a rip-roaring finale today, the trigger-happy campaigners firing oratorical salvos all over the provincial stage.

For six weeks there has been an endless supply of wordy ammunition. While voters themselves prepare to take the spotlight next Wednesday to choose 92 legislators from 312 candidates, the biting, vitriolic repartee, bordering on out-and-out name-calling, is on the increase.

Premier Maurice Duplessis, proclaiming provincial automony the watchword of his Union Nationale party which has governed Quebec these last four years, declared openly he would "never let the federal authorities crucify Quebec—not even on a golden cross."

Liberal Leader Adelard Godbout promptly retorted that the premier's espousal of provincial autonomy is nothing more than a personal desire to perpetuate an already-existing dictatorship.

When Camillien Houde, bustling, ebullient mayor of Montreal appeared on a public platform with the premier, Mr. Godbout labelled the occurrence a "marriage of convenience between Mr. Duplessis and one whom the premier once despised.

Entry into the campaign of several Federal cabinet members on behalf of the provincial Liberal brought more recriminations.

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, minister of external affairs, was singled out by Mayor Houde with the verbal blast: "Mr. St. Laurent's title of 'right honorable' means he has taken an oath to serve the Empire first and Canada second."

Bracken Warns Canadians Of New Danger

MERRICKVILLE, Ont., July 26—(CP)—John Bracken, retiring leader of the Progressive Conservative party, warned Canadians Saturday of forces "creeping in" to destroy them.

He urged them to be strong enough at home to resist these forces and to develop collective strength abroad "so that no nation can attack us."

Mr. Bracken spoke at the opening session of the Rideau Summer Conference here. Canadians, he said, should have an "economic creed in which they have faith; a political creed in which they have confidence and an attitude towards other nations through which they can have peace."

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell Sunday told the inter-denominational meeting that the early Christians had gone far beyond any modern democratic party in their denial of the right to possess private property.

Mr. Coldwell believed a society founded on the profit motive could not be reconciled with Christian teaching and ethics.

"Yet there are political parties and politicans who fight socialization of industries and services which are vital to our common life and interests on the grounds that any socialization is anti-Christian," the CCF leader said.

The church, he added, had lost the confidence of the common people in many lands becase it had neglected to take a decided stand against the exploitation of the masses in the past.

Vancouver Man 86 Pays Visit To Wales

LLANGYFELACH, Wales, July 26—(CP)—Thomas Edwards, 86, with his wife, 84, returned Sunday from Vancouver to present a chair from the Welsh community of Vancouver to the winning bard at the national Eisteddfod at Bridgened.

"We took a long time making the chair because we wanted it to be the best the Eisteddfod has had," Edwards said.

The chair, made of Canadian black walnut, is of the design set by the Eisteddfod Council and bears symbols derived from totems and the British Columbia Indians.

Edwards, who emigrated from Wales 58 years ago, is making his 12th visit to his native land.

Red-Headed Dancer Wins 'Miss Toronto 1948' Title

TORONTO, July 26 — (CP) — Dreams and "quite a few prayers" came true for the only red-head in the show Saturday when 20-year-old Florence (Diddy) Ferriman, a professional dancer, became "Miss Toronto 1948."

Out of a line-up of 52 finalists, the freckle-faced daughter of an Irish-born railway express messenger was the 12th beauty to win the annual contest, held in conjunction with the annual Toronto police field day.

She said the luck of the Irish was with her last Thursday when she took first place in a beauty competition held in Toronto Ward Two. She previously had won another district contest and came third in two others.

The $500 cheque she won as first prize in the Miss Toronto contest will go towards furthering her musical career.

She is five feet, four inches tall and weighs 119 pounds, described by herself as "too pudgy for a bathing suit." Her waist is 26 inches, bust 34 and hips 34 inches.

A brunette, Jean Rigby, 20-year-old Toronto stenographer, won second prize in this year's Toronto competition. Blonde Phillis Williams, a nurse, placed third.

Price Of Butter Up One Cent

Beginning today many Peterborough dairies raised the price of butter one cent a pound. This is in line with a Wartime Prices and Trade Board announcement boosting the ceiling price by that amount on Wednesday, July 21.

According to the Board the maximum price that can be paid for a pound of butter in Ontario and Quebec is now 74 cents. In the larger cities of Ottawa and Toronto consumers are already paying the new ceiling price. The Peterborough housewife is still luckier than her opposite number in those larger centres as she is charged 73 cents, and one cent more if the butter comes in a carton.

Increased freight rates and the need of the wholesaler for a higher price are two explanations for the raise.

A local creamery man explained to The Examiner that his firm was selling butter to wholesalers at 67½ cents a pound while at the same time paying the farmer 76 cents a pound for delivered butter fat. This, he said, was reducing the margin of profit too low.

He pointed out that while the WPTB had put a ceiling on butter prices it had not similarly curtailed the rising price of dairy equipment and supplies.

"The government should either step into the butter business or get out entirely. At the moment it has one foot in," he said.

According to the same dealer there is little likelihood of the price dropping in the immediate future whch sounds like bleak news for the penny-conscious housewife who is already battling against an all-time high according to the cost of living index.

Shunting Train Stalls Bus For 16 Minutes

A Byersville bus was held up 16 minutes at the C.P.R. crossing on Park St., near Perry St., by a shunting train and crew Saturday around 10 a.m.

The information from a bus driver was mentioned as a matter of fact rather than of complaint.

"Delays are rather frequent," he said, "but this was the longest I've even heard of. The annoying part of it was that the driver of the engine apparently did nothing to help the flow of traffic. He dropped a freight car on the main line, lying across the street, did the same thing on the siding, and then went ahead wit his job whatever it was. Why couldn't he have avoided placing those two cars on the street? That would have let us through and there would have been very little delay."

One result of this prolonged obstruction of traffic was that a second Byersville bus from uptown overtook the first one at Alparka and rather than be a trailer the rest of the way, it reversed the Romine St. route, going south on Park St., returning uptown by way of Monaghan road and Chamberlain St.

Traffic comments from Park St. south recognize that the railways are there to stay and are part of the city's industrial structure. For several years bus drivers have been reporting, now and then, that they find scant co-operation from the train men, that street crossings would be readily cleared by further movements of 25 feet or thereabouts but that engineers do not concede even that trifle to the business of the streets.

There are eight railway crossings on the Byersville bus route from the vicinity of the Canadian General Electric Co. at Wolfe St. around to Westcott. They are: CGE sidings at Towsend and Albert Sts. both astride Park St., the main line of the C.P.R. with several lines of sidings across Park and Chamberlain St., the C.P.R. crosses Monaghan Rd. at Romaine St., C.N.R. over Romaine and again at Park St. near Westcott.

Bus lines are not the only vehicles held up by the railways. The 16-minutes snooze Saturday morning was a new record for the bus company books, and the string of motorists, stalled with the bus, afforded further evidence of the unusual hold up at a busy hour.

CGE Deserted Holidays Start

'Not a creature was stirring," the familiar line from a Christmas verse reflecting quiet and vacancy and suspension of all activity applied to the big plant of the Canadian General Electric Company here this morning. This was the beginning of the middle week of the three-weeks holiday period. There wasn't even a freight car on the siding to be filled during the day; not one of the usual string to be loaded with all kinds of C.G.E. products.

At one door a maintenance man was looking out on the rain, possibly lamenting the turn in the weather for the vacation time of so many of the works employees. Windows were down, production was stilled, and all that was going on, was a big job of housekeeping while the crwod was away.

RAIN STEADY

Precipitation from 3 a.m. to 9 a.m today, was .19 inches. Rain continued to fall steadily throughout the morning.

Joan Townsend, Young's Pt. Takes Regatta Title At Kawartha Park

Joan Townsend of Young's Point, a winsome, blonde lassie of 12 years, carried off the championship of the Kawartha Park regatta on Saturday afternoon, scoring 17 points. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Townsend, and her mother was a winner of this same title prior to her marriage. Joan was awarded the Shipp Trophy.

The regatta was by far the best ever staged on the beautiful west shore of the lake, and more than 300 athletes competed in the 40 events, both of which are records. Highlight of the program was Col. Wotherspoon's triumph in th ecrab race. Michael Allen won the McClellan Trophy for canoe sailing, winning by a narrow margin over his sister Nancy.

Joan Townsend and her young brother Michael were both prominent in the win column, while the Clouters of Toronto, Reeds of Buffalo and Richard Wotherspoon, Toronto, all showed up well. Eight-year-old Connie Hickey, Rochester, took first in the girls' single skiff and single canoe in her age group, performing like a veteran. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hickey, 189 Sagamore Drive, Rochester, N.Y.

Dr. George F. Zimmerman was master of ceremonies, and Bryce D. Davidson was recorder. Judges were Ken Slater, Charlie Coulter, Rusty Bell, Stewart Allen, Bert Scott, Alex Edmison, Jim McClellan and George Boomer.

Gals Shame Men Ride Fearlessly Over Whirlpool

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 26.—The pioneer gals of 1847 were more courageous than their menfolk when it came to crossing the Whirlpool Rapids at Niagara Falls. Before the Whirlpool Rapids Bridge opened in 1848, a "basket ferry" ran across from Canada to United States on the construction cables of the bridge. Bridge officials, preparing for the Whirlpool Rapids Bridge Centennial on August 2, dug out the old records about this pioneer method of crossing Niagara.

These records show that three-quarters of the basket passengers —daring or foolhardy depending on your point of view — were women. The girls had to pay a dollar for the privilege of riding in the contrapiton too, although doctors, minister and saloonkeepers were allowed to cross free.

The basket has been kept at the Buffalo Museum of the Historical Society for years but will be on display at Niagara Falls on Whirlpool Rapids Bridge Centennial day, August 2. Patterned after two rocking chairs pushed together, it is just six feet long, by three feet wide and made of narrow bands of iron. Inside two narrow wooden seats give a precarious perch to a duet of passengers. According to the diaries of the day, the basket dipped and swayed in the wind as it ran across on the cables. The women, despite crinolines and swooning, loved it.

Still being argued is the question whether Miss Jane Redfield of Batavia, N.Y. or Mrs. Sarah Childs, of Niagara Falls, N.Y. was the first passenger to cross the gorge in the basket. In any case, the honor goes to a lady while further research unearths some presidential gossip.

Millard Fillmore, before he became President of United States, visited Niagara Falls with a vivacious young lady. The lady wanted to cross the gorge in the basket; the future President didn't. Finally, she shamed him into accompanying her on the hair-raising trip. Fillmore, it is said, turned green with fright while his charming companion enjoyed the trip immensely. Like so much other gossip, this beauty, alas, has always remained "nameless".

Although the basket will be exhibited here on August 2, rides are not being offered across the gorge in it, even if any girl is courageous enough to demand one. Bridge officials suggest subtly, that the Whirlpool Rapids Bridge has carried traffic for 100 years without interruption and perhaps it is the better way to cross.

Your butcher will bone a chuck or blade joint of beef for you and cure it in brine for 7 or 8 days, and you can have a nice lean piece of corned beef for boiling, and serving hot once with cabbage, Jiggs style, and from then on you can slice it cold. This is an economical cold meat for summer meals.

I have mentioned Iced Cafe au Lait before and am now taken to task by one of our readers for not telling how to make it; Make triple strong coffee. Fill glasses full of ice and then add half hot coffee to fill glasses. Sweeten to taste with sugar if desired. This is a good rich drink if coffe is strong enough.

To make Swiss steak with vegetables in your Dutch oven, remove trivet, sear floured steak in the piece until golden, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add 2 cups boiling water, cover and simmer 2½ hours over very low heat. One-half hour before serving time, add the prepared small new vegetables, and additional salt and simmer until vegetables are tender. Green beans are a nice addition.

PENNY SINGLETON'S HAIR-DO is as soft and as feminine as a coiffure can be. The top section of the hair is combed into a fluffy, softly-curled bang. The sides are held in place with combs. Back hair is parted, braided loosely, criss-crossed and pinned at either side above the ears. A tiny bow at the end of each braid adds the final feminine touch.

Marriage Vows Stressed As Protection to Wife

Apparently marriage is going to be a much serious adventure in the future than it has been in the past. Heretofore with thousands of men and women it was one of the things they did on the spur of the moment, if they happened to feel romantically inclined, but that they didn't have to worry about because it was always one of the things that they could take, or leave, as the spirit moved

Dorothy Dix

Girls didn't give as much consideration to selecting a husband as they did to picking out a new hat, and when a man lost his taste for his old wife he swapped her off for a new model, and that was that. Of course, it wasn't according to Hoyle, but then has marriage ever been one of the games in which there have always been a thousands exceptions to every rule.

So we have had the bobby-sox marriages, and the marriages of boys who had never earned a nickel in their lives and who brought their wives home for their families to support, and the repeater marriages of men and women who had acquired the chronic divorce habit. And it has all made a pretty sordid mess.

Glad Tidings

Therfore, it is glad tidings of great joy to learn that a movement is on foot to take marriage out of an individual's life. Curiously enough, the reformation has started with an effort being made to protect wives against deadbeat husbands. It used to be that only rich women were the victims of trifling men who married to get wives to support them, but nowadays when so many competent business women command good salaries they are the prey of the Weary Willies who never do another lick of work after th

No sight is more common or more pathetic than that of the working wife who has toiled all day at her task and then has to stop, as she comes home, and buy clean the house and wash the the food and cook the meals and clothes of her parasitic husband. Apparently, however, the days of the human sponge are numbered, as many of the big business firms are refusing to employ married women. And while this may lessen the number of marriages, it will give the women who do get married husbands who will cherish and protect them, instead of being slave-drivers.

Also, and this is another modern improvement, many judges are overhauling the divorce racket and trying to make it less of a graft. This goes for both sexes, for neither one often shows any heart or conscience in dealing with a situation that is filled with tragedy for all right-thinking people. Men callously leave their wives and children to starve, while they spend their money on having affairs with girls young enough to be their daughters. And there are thousands of women who live luxuriously on the alimony squeezed out of their ex-husbands against whom they have brought fake charges.

It is a matter of common knowledge that there is no debt that is so hard to collect as that which men owe their families. Furthermore, in trying to force divorced men to pay their alimony it has put a crimp in marraige, for not many husbands can afford to support two wives and the kids. So maybe we will get back to the one wife standard, after all.

For Tuesday, July 27

Although the sidereal operations point to very expansive and productive openings for large scope and action, with objectives and ambitions of more than major consequence, yet there is also omen of a befuddled state of mind or a curious or inexplicable churning of the feelings, emotions, and inclinations. A tricky state of affairs, incited by confusion and chaos, possbly due to an agitated physical condition, may determine excellent prospects. Under such critical circumstances it might be well to postpone action.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are under splendid promise for the consideration of important openings for highly productive and ambitious programs, seemingly with every indication of assistance from influential sources. Yet the personal judgment may be so chaotic or beclouded by strange feelings or emotional urges as to make all endeavors not only difficult but dangerous. The mental and nervous tension make it advisable to postpone operations. Seek stimulus and relaxation through warm-hearted friends.

A child born on this day, while having some indication of success, efficiency and large ambitions, may find itself unable to cope with singular conditions or disturbances of mind and body.

Plan For Peace With Russia, Wallace Aim

PHILADELPHIA, July 26 (AP) —Henry A. Wallace rolled his new Progressive Party today down a road he and his followers promised leads to a give-and-take peace with Russia.

With an assertion that "We've just begun to roll," the third party presidential nominee set out to plant in every state the seed of what he called a new political crusade.

It was born here in a boisterous, singing, shouting convention that ended Sunday night in 7½ hours of free-for-all debate over a party platform.

Wallace was glued to a television set while his friends were adopting a platform placing "joint responsibility" on the United States and Russia to keep the peace.

The first Progressive Party convention picked Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho as No. 2 man on the third party presidential ticket headed by Wallace.

Some of the delegates said they weren't in favor of endorsing Russia's policies 100 per cent, although all profressed their friendship for the Soviet.

But Hugh Delacy of Seattle, Wash., a former Congressman, got the biggest hand and biggest vote with a plea to delegates not to yield to "outside pressure" but to take a stand for "a firm, solid basis of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union."

VANCOUVER — Curly-haired Diane Ford, four-year-old British war orphan, arrived by plane after an unchaperoned flight from London, England. Diane, whose parents were killed during the war, came here to live with her mother's sister, Mrs. Adella Kingshott, who is to become her stepmother.

VANCOUVER—Minnie the circus monkey, who had roamed Vancouver streets the last three days knocking off policemen's hats and pelting elderly women with apples, was captured. A posse of policemen, pound-keepers, three newspaper men, three photographers and several citizens dislodged her from the rafter of a basement in an east end home.

LONDON, Eng. — Londoners living in boroughs along the Thames will be offered a cool and novel way of travelling to and from work. Waterbuses will operate on the river starting this week between the London suburbs of Greenwich and Putney.

PARIS — Tunisian Premier Mustapha Kaak was struck about the head several times Sunday by a 23-year-old student, Agence France - Presse reported from Tunis. Kaak suffered slight injuries. The student was jailed.

CLEVELAND, O. — United States coast guardsmen and a private plane searched today for a converted cabin cruiser containing six persons which was more than 10 hours overdue.

LONDON— Princess Elizabeth today gave the royal nod to two new colors — tide blue and golden beige. The British color counsil says the blue is a 'light smoky turquoise' and the beige is 'a deep corn color.' Both are on display at the council's fall and winter exhibition. But the council adds, the fact the princess is sponsoring the colors does not necessarily mean she will wear them.

SINGAPORE—Because the film of Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" shows scenes of the French Revolution, it will be withdrawn from exhibition in Malaya. Between 40 to 50 films containing scenes of violence have been banned here because the censors do not think Asiatic audiences should see them "just now."

LONDON — Amateur radio "hams" from several Ontario centres took their families on a picnic to Cedar Bay, Beach, Lake Huron, Sunday. More than 300 persons attended from Niagara Falls, Ont., Oshawa, Trenton, Hamilton, Galt, Waterolo, Chatham, Kingsville, Goderich, Owen Sound and Dundalk. The prize for the oldest "ham" went to Rev Father F. Williams, of Kingsville.

THE WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS Bridge Centennial, August 2, has revived a century of memories. In the 1870's it took three rails to get trains across the bridge. Note third rail inside the two standard tracks to accommodate old narrow guage wood-burners, in this picture of pioneer Whirlpool Rapids Bridge.

Art Dabblings Said Clue To Problem Child

TORONTO, July 26 — (CP).— Don't wrap the garbage in that lop-sided design junior dreamed up in school art classes— it might be a clue to his problem-child activities.

Minute pastel dabblings might indicate that a failure in mathematics has given him an inferiority complex, or a one-eyed blue man hanging over an orange boat could mean he has a secret longing to run away to sea. In any case it is all highly significant.

Howard C. Dierlam, supervisor for Art in Toronto Public Schools believes that to a certain extent personality traits and vocational interests can be traced through what children draw and how they draw it.

He hasn't made it a special study, but he thinks psychologists could pick up some pertinent facts on child development and behavior through a study of what happens when junior dips into the paint box.

It all ties in with the new approach to children's art which has been adopted during the last 10 years. Theory and taught-art have been tossedw out of the junior curriculum and substituted by free expression.

"The emotional use of color and color experience are more vital than the theory of a color chart," said Mr. Dierlan.

Through its new attitude toward art, teachers strive to develop independence of thought and self-reliance.

LLOYD LA BEACH, one-man track team, is on his way to London, England. Nanama, La Beach's native land, is mighty proud of him and has hired ULCA coach, Elvin Bucky Drake, to go over with him to train him. La Beach who has bettered the world's records for the 200 meters dash (he will compete in both 100 and 200 meter events), went by plane from New York so he would have more time to train.

CANADA'S AREA

Canada has an area of 3,695,189 square miles.

Government Soon To Study Butter Industry Expansion

OTTAWA, July 26 — (CP). — The Government is expected soon to explore the posibilities of expanding Canada's butter supplies.

Latest production and consumption figures are far from encouraging and it becomes more apparent with the release of each government report on the stock position that some steps will have to be taken before the snow flies.

True, it will be more than four months before the winter season opens, but only two of those months— August and September —lies in the period of heavy butter production.

In Retrospect

Observers— and the Canadian housewives — recall that butter supplies became dangerously low last winter and that for a few weeks it was virtually impossible, in some of the larger centres, to come by a pound of butter. There is a fear that the same situation may develop next winter.

Just last week the Bureau of Statistics reported the total supply of butter— creamery, dairy, and whey — was approximately 63,000,000 pounds at the end of June, down 10,500,000 pounds from the supply position a year ago. This, if anything, indicates a worsening of the position.

Production during June was higher than a year ago, up by 1,500,000 pounds to 44,500,000, but this was offset by an increase in consumption. For instance, domestic disappearance in June was nearly 32,000,000 pounds against 30,000,000 pounds in June, 1947.

There are several things the government could do. Dairymen say there would be more butter if it would either incerase the price ceiling, thus providing a greater financial incentive, or if it could pay a subsidy to producers, which would have the same effect.

Another alternative would be to import butter, as was done during the war to bolster the Canadian ration. This is something dairymen generally oppose because supplies available beyond Canada's borders usually are cheaper than the domestic product.

Swimming, canoeing, rowing, sailing, fishing—these enter into most vacation plans. But too often, holidays bring tragedies—over 1000 Canadians drown each year.

The Canadian Red Cross Society water safety rules are printed here in the hope that both adults and children will learn them, respect them, and obey them.

RED CROSS Rules for Water Safety

1. Learn to swim safely. Join a swim class sponsored by Red Cross or other recognized organizations. Know your own limitations as a swimmer.
2. Learn artificial respiration. The briefest delay in applying it may cost a life.
3. Where to swim. If possible, swim in a supervised area. Investigate unknown water before swimming or diving. Respect "DANGER" signs.
4. [illegible] the safest hours in which to swim.
5. Temperature and time. Between 70° and 80° is best (warmer water relaxes too much, colder exhausts). 30 minutes is long enough in the water for the average swimmer.
6. Swimming after eating. Wait at least 2 hours after eating a regular meal before swimming.
7. Panic contributes to most accidents. Learn to scull and tread water. Novices must stay in shallow water while learning to swim.
8. Exhaustion. Avoid over-activity before a swim. Over-exertion while swimming, and extremely cold water also contribute to exhaustion.
9. Always have a companion when fishing, swimming or boating. Never swim alone.
10. Reaching aids. Learn how to use all reaching aids; how to use floating objects to support yourself; how to throw handline and ring buoy.
11. Cramps. If hit by stomach cramps, scull to support yourself and call for help. To ease leg cramps, [illegible] muscles with thumb and fingers of one hand, pressing through the muscles to meet those of the other hand.
12. Currents. Never buck a current. Swim diagonally across and with its flow. If unable to reach shore, drift to save strength and call for help. If caught by an undertow, go with it and swim diagonally upwards to the surface.
13. Weeds. Use gentle, slow drawing and shaking movements to get out of weeds. Swim with the current, not against it, until freed.
14. Boating. If capsized, hang onto the boat and call for help. Never enter a canoe unless you are an experienced, competent swimmer.

BRIDGE

A TWO-PURPOSE WEAPON

WHEN a fine player makes a suit bid of one more than necessary to overcall an opponent's bid, he has one of two different kinds of hands. Either it is a two-suiter of great strength or it is a one-suiter with a really considerable suit. How in the world can his partner tell which it is? He can't at first. And he doesn't have to know right away. When rebid time arrives, if a different suit is called, he knows it is a two-suiter, but if the same suit is rebid, then it is the one-suit [illegible] that bidder was to impede the opponents.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠
5 ♥	5 ♠	Pass	Pass
Dbl
2 1 ♣	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	3 ♣

At two tables of a tournament the fate of this deal depended on what South did on his first turn. Where he made a minimum overcall of 1-Spade, West was able to come in with a free bid of his heart suit, as the necessary level of two was not too high for him. But where South overcalled with 2-Spades, West could not think of trying his hearts at the height of three. That suit being higher-ranking than his partner's clubs, such a bid might compel his partner to stretch into the rarefied atmosphere of four if he did not fit the hearts, and four is too high to get in a misfit.

As it developed, the 2-Spades shut the original bidder's side out of any more activity. North, treating the call as tentatively showing a two-suiter of about one-time forcing strength, properly responded with his diamonds, not only because that might be South's second suit but because it would give him a chance to call his other suit if it happened to be hearts, in which event North's club stoppers might be quite important for the trump play, or he could sashay into spades.

South's rebid of the first suit, spades, showed he did not have a two-suiter. In cases where that sort of hand is held, the partner should be wary about going too high. It was close for North on the point of passing or essaying 4-Spades. He decided to leave it at three and exactly that contract was made.

Notice how easy it was for East and West to find out about their splendid heart fit over the mere 1-Spade. It resulted in North and South taking a two-trick doubled sacrifice.

Oshawa Union Holds Salary Discussion

WINDSOR, July 26 — (CP). — Wage negotiations between the motor products unit of Local 195 United Automobile Workers (CIO) and Motor Products Corporation management are in progress, Gerard Foley, international representative of the UAW said today.

Mr. Foley said the union, in presenting its requests to the company last June 9, asked for a wage increase sufficient to compensate employees for the increased cost of living since June, 1947.

The union asks an additional five cents an hour to take care of social security plans to which workers now contribute. They ask two additional paid statutory holidays to the six they are now receiving.

Approximately 600 employees are affected by the negotiations.

Worse Power Cut Predicted In Hamilton

HAMILTON, July 26—(CP)— A power shortage, possibly 25 per cent worse than that of last year, would probably be felt in Hamilton the end of September, A. W. Brac[illegible] general manager of the Hydro-Electric system of Hamilton, said today. He hoped, but could not promise, that power cut-offs would be avoided.

"If we receive the co-operation of last year," he added, "it will not be necessary to open circuits."

Local Industrialists were already working out advance plans for cutting down on individual power consumption. It was believed that possible change of shifts from peak to low-consumption wek-end periods would number among measures adopted by industry here.

Brinton Vote Invalid Ruling Of Board

The vote at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. plant on May 20 to determine whether the Textile Workers Union of America, CCL-CIO, or the United Carpet Workers' Association should be the employees' bargaining agent, has been declared invalid by the Ontario Labour Relations Board.

According to a judgment of P. M. Draper, Labor Board, a bargaining representative of the Textile Workers Union was guilty of electioneering on behalf of the petitioner (the Textile Workers' Union) within the 72-hour period before the vote was taken.

The Textile Workers won the vote but a complain was promptly laid by the United Carpet Workers. After testimony by John Stante, president, and Harry Hele, secretary of the UCWA as well as seven witnesses the board found Charles Robinson of the Textile Workers had violated "the no propaganda rule."

The text of the board's decision follows: "The Board finds that Charles Robinson, one of the bargaining representatives whose certification is sought by the petitioner on the day prior to and on the day of the vote conducted by the Board in this matter on May 20, 1948. The Board is of the opinion that in view of the relationship in which Robinson stood to the petitioner, his activities above referred to constitute an infraction by the petitioner of the Board's no propaganda rule..."

Another vote among the more than 300 employees of the company to decide which union will be the certified bargaining agent will be held at a future date.

Complete Plans For Handling Food Parcels

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, July 26 (CP)—Kenneth F. MacLaren of Toronto, chairman of the executive committee of the United emergency fund for Britain, today announced arrangements are completed with the food ministry here to facilitate the movement of Canadian gift supplies to the United Kingdom.

"The food ministry has entered into arrangements with the U.E.F.B. to extend to it free ocean transportation and free inland freight in the United Kingdom along with exemption from customs and excise duties on supplies so shipped," MacLaren said.

Free warehousing facilities also are being provided.

MacLaren was accompanied by Lady Eaton of Toronto, executive committee member, and Lt.-Col. P. L. Browne of Ottawa, executive director, in meetings with Food Minister John Strachey and other government representatives, and with welfare organization officers.

The main purpose is to arrange for the bulk shipment of supplies to be distributed through welfare organizations.

The London office in Alberta House will be in charge of Maj. Kenneth Grills, formerly of Belleville, who will be secretary to the advisory council.

Any Canadians who wish to send individual parcels will be able to use U.E.F.B. facilities in his province by setnding it money and asking it to deliver the parcel to the United Kingdom. Such parcels will not qualify for free freight like shipments for organizations but bulk-buying by the U.E.F.B. will lower prices of the contents and increase the amount of food which can be sent.

U.K. Will Exchange Workers For Year

OTTAWA, July 26 (CP)—For the first time since the Second World War Canadian social workers will journey to the United Kingdom as part of a plan for the exchange of social workers between the two countries, the Canadian Welfare Council announced today.

Anne I. Vail, a director of the Iverley Community Centre in Montreal, will leave for England in the fall to study community centre work there. Edgar Guay, a graduate student of the Laval University School of Social Work, Quebec City, will travel to England to study public welfare administration.

The two trips, lasting about a year, are being financed by a British committee for the exchange of social workers which is supplying the Canadians with £250 (about $1,000) each.

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)— Featured in the travellers' day parade during exhibition week here will be a 1911 "Spark" model Buick roadster, owned by C. H. Grass of Sturgis, Sask. The car attains speeds as high as 17 miles an hour and makes 21 miles to the gallon.

EMILE COTE, 23, of Sherbrooke, is escorted from a plane at Dorval airport by detectives, who transferred him to Montreal from Toronto. In addition to his arrest for non-support of his pretty 32-year-old Toronto wife, Cote is facing charges in a $14,700 robbery of a St. Jerome bank. Also arrested is the attractive 24-year-old teller of the bank who has confessed to complicity.

Youth Tossed Egg At Girl And Missed Splatters Constable And Police Car

Garfield Shilling threw an egg early Saturday morning. It was aimed at a girl, but missed the mark to hit — of all unfortunate targets—a police cruiser. Shilling paid $15 damages to the slip covers of the police car and for repairs to the uniform of PC Dennis Traynor, who was sitting in the car and also got some of the spattered egg..

Shilling appeared in court Saturday morning and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor. The incident of the egg-hurling was told in court by Police Inspector James F. Reid.

Apparently, the call to the city police about the liquor came from a girl, who accompanied police to the station. At the police garage, Shilling produced an egg from somewhere and threw it at his informer. The missive glaced off the girl's shoulder and continued on into the front seat of the police car.

Doctor's Report On Flier Studied

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 26. —(AP)—The case of Stephen J. Supina, the former United States Army Air Force gunner who "bombed" United Nations' headquarters at Lake Success, NY, on Thursday, was continued in city court here today.

Judge Dominic W. Celotto, agreed to continue the case until tomorrow when Supina's counsel, T. Emmet Clarie, asked for time in which to study a psychiatrist's report on the mental condition of the 36-year-old Ashford veteran.

At his Danielson office, Clarie told reporters that he expected to receive the report "later in the day" from Dr. Roy L. Leak, former superintendent of the Connecticut staff hospital at Middletown.

Dr. Leak Sunday spent two hours with the twice decorated veteran of 33 bombing missions over Germany who is confined to the New Haven County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Supina, wanted by Nassau County (N.Y.) authorities on a charge of malicious mischief is held here as a fugitive from justice.

Extensive Rains Quell Bush Fire

WINNIPEG, July 26—(CP)— Extensive rains in East-Central Manitoba are helping rangers to quell two fortnight-old blazes at Little Grand Rapids and Sasaginnigak Lake, the Manitoba forest service reported today.

The two fires were brought under control last week, but had continued to burn among roots and decayed logs. Forestry officials said the week-end rains, probably would help to extinguish them.

Fires in the area at one time this month drew more than 250 forest rangers and volunteers. The Sasaginnigak Lake blaze destroyed about 5,000 acres of woodland.

Crews are being kept on duty until all fires burning between lake Winnipeg and the Ontario border have been extingushed.

Sure Louis Finished Choose Top Heavies

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP).— Harry Mendel, who has been about as close to Joe Louis as anyone during the last few months, offered the opinion that the promoters won't persuade Joe to fight again.... And before you could drop a hat, Dumb Dan Morgan was picking the top 10 heavyweights.

"First, said Morgan, 'is Gus Lesnevich.' ... The listener protested that Gus is light-heavyweight champion.... "Yes; he defends his title every six months and in between he licks heavyweights. We'll pull him first, but we'll leave out Ezzard Charles because he's a real light heavy.... Second is Jersey Joe Walcott —if he didn't shimmy and cover up in the second Louis fight, he might have won. Then there's Melio Bettina — we'll throw out that Lesnevich fight—and Lee Savoli, if he has a good night. Savoli can be the most dangerous fighter in the ring. He knocks them down and busts their noses .... Five is Al Hoosman. He's one of the best but he's lazy. He made some money and went out to become a melon tester for some relatives. He tests watermelons by eating half of each one.... Six is Joe Baksi—there's nothing the matter with him outside of being a big, over-eaten, lazy heavyweight."....

Dum Dan hesitated momentarily—at a loss for names, no words ...."How about Jack Kearns' guy, Joe Maxim, or Jo Weiden, the Australian, or Enrico Bertola—we're going to bring him into the Garden?" asked Harry Markson.... "Maxim would be all right if he'd stay away from a looking glass and stop making fancy moves. He oughta be a ballet dancer," Morgan pronounced.

Ken Stacey Wins Second Place In 1-Mile Swim

Ken Stacey, one of the city's better swimmers, placed second in the annual Credit River mile swim held Saturday. Ken, who is 17, and lives at 136 Hunter St., was an easy second in a field of 26. In first place was Fred Smith of Toronto West End Y, who is the holder of several Ontario championships. Nine Peterborough swimmers were entered.

In the 12 years and under group, 11-year-old Jack Gorman came in fifth, and Elaine Rutledge, 14, also took fifth spot in the 17 and under section. Ontario champion Barbara Mowat was in first place in the latter event.

Each of the Peterborough contestants were awarded a trophy for finishing, as they had travelled farther to compete than any other group of swimmers. This was the fourth year for Peterborough swimmers in the Credit River Swim, which is sponsored by the Lakeshore Swimming Club of Toronto. All but one, Jerry Armstrong, were new to competitive long distance swimming.

The other six who entered were: Joan Coombes, Art Harrison, Ronald Woods, Ray Seabrooke, Jack Boorman, Stewart Brooks. The trip was sponsored by the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club.

52 Violent Deaths Reported In Eastern Canada Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Canada's worst airplane crash, a flaming smash in which 29 persons died on a fog-masked Gaspe Peninsula hilltop, gave a tragic boost to the Eastern Canada accident toll on what otherwise would have been a relatively death-free week-end.

A Canadian Press survey today showed 23 other violent deaths, including seven each in drownings and traffic accidents, three in falls, two each from accidental shootings and burns, one from electrocution and one on a railway track.

Montreal had a triple drowning involving three young children. Drowned when a rowboat overturned at the southern tip of Montreal Island were Louis Courtois, two; a brother, Michel, five; and a sister, Monique, four. Four adults were rescued.

A swamped motorboat carried Camille Abass, 21, to his death in the Rideau Canal near Smiths Falls. Five other youths swam to safety.

Other Drownings

Other drowning victims were: Mrs. Betty Orde, 19, of Toronto, dragged down by a Georgian Bay undertow at Balm Beach, seven miles west of Midland; Adelard Dodge, 49, of Montreal, whose body was recovered from the Lachine Cana; and an unidentified woman of about 40 whose body was taken from the Niagara River before the falls at Niagara Falls, Ont.

A runaway automobile killed 21-year-old Mrs. Kathleen Scott, a bride of three months, and carried her body into Lake Pinafore at St. Thomas. It also injured her husband and plunged the car's occupant, Mrs. James Cousins, into the lake, from which she was rescued by swimmers.

Traffic Mishaps

Victims of other traffic accidents were: Dalton Dash, 22, Oshawa, killed when his motorcycle collided with an automobile police said was driven by Fred Kotowych, of RR 1, Kingston; Mrs. James McGuigan, 40, Charlottetown, killed when a car was sideswiped; Mrs. H. Houston, 60, Englehart, Ont., injured when a car went out of control near North Bay; Ernest Mongeon, 28, Hull, Que., said to have walked into the side of a truck in Ottawa; Mrs. Jean H. Jordon, Burks Falls, Ont., killed when a car rammed a guard rail at North Bay; Jean-Paul Desroches, 32, whose jeep overturned at Warwick, Que.

A fall last Thursday while picking cherries at his home in the Toronto suburb of Mimico proved fatal to Edward Cunningham, 86.

Georges Guibault, 75, died in Montreal from injuries suffered in a fall from a third-storey balcony.

Mrs. Sarah Ormandy, 75, died at London, Ont., as a result of a fall down a flight of stairs in her home.

The accidental discharge of a rifle in a companion's hands killed Thomas Dutton, 17, of Allan Mills, near Campbellford. And a stray bullet took the life of Jean-Marie Desroches, 12, at Warwick, Que.

Lise Millard, two, was fatally burned at Quebec City when a can of gasoline in which her father was cleaning automobile parts exploded.

The body of Albert E. Johnson, 68, of Lansing, Mich., was found in the ruins of a summer cabin in which he had been living alone at Worthington Lake, about 75 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. A kerosene refrigerator was blamed for the fire.

Robert Patton, 41, of no fixed address, was killed by a train near Toronto. Police described him as a discouraged writer and said he threw himself in front of the train.

When a granite-polishing machine burst at Cap St. Martin, near Montreal, Rosaire Lepage, 30, reached for a switch to shut it off. But he was drenched with water from the machine and the instant he touched the switch he was electrocuted.

Minister And Student Held For Adultery

ATLANTA, Ga., July 26—(AP)—A Baptist minister and an attractive former missionary student were charged here Sunday with living in adultery.

Police said the two are Rev. D. A. Martin, for 20 years a pastor in Greenville, S.C., and Miss Lois Chandler, 27-year-old brunette who once studied missionary work with him.

Police quoted the minister as admitting that he and Miss Chandler were the parents of a baby that they abandoned on the doorstep of his brother-in-law's house in Greenville.

"They could not have children and I thought they would like it," police quoted Martin as saying.

Trades Training Camp Will Be Inspected

OTTAWA, July 6.—(CP). — Two representatives from the Departments of Education of each province will inspect a new development in army cadet training tomorrow — a trades training camp at Ipperwash, Defence Minister Claxton announced today.

The camp, training 200 boys from Ontario technical school cadet corps, began a six-weeks program of electrical and automotive instruction on June 20.

Trades training for cadets, a new idea inaugurated this year, may be extended to a three-year progressive course for all Canadian cadets if the results of the Ipperwash camp are satisfactory.

The camp's training program provides 100 hours of trades training as well as rifle shooting, physical training and other camp activities.

Plan Bonfire To Burn Proofs Of Canon Law

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, July 26 — (CP). — There will be a bonfire in the street outside St. Stephen's Church, South Lambeth, Wednesday, when Rev. Robert Hood ceremonially burns proofs of the new volume of "The Canon Law in the Church of England."

One reason for the fire, Hood says, is that "some of the proposals would remove authority from the King as head of the Church of England."

"The burning will be done in a dignified manner. After a special service my congregation and the other clergy supporting me will start a fire on the pavement and consign the proposed new laws to the flames."

"After that we shall return quietly to the church."

He gave three reasons for burning the new laws::

"They are against the King, the Church and the people. So far as the King is concerned, Canon XIII proposes to share the authority of the King with the convocations contrary to the present constitution of the Church.

"Secondly, we believe Canon XVIII relating to the vesture of ministers will alter completely the whole aspect of the church services, contrary to present church law.

Marriage Difficulties

"Thirdly, people are going to find it more difficult to be baptized and married under these laws."

Hood said he expected support from the Free Churches of England.

"If we can prove that the people generally are against them—and I believe they are—it could be put to the convocations that they are wasting time which ought to be devoted to the real work of the Church."

The Oxford Conference of Evangelical Churchmen meeting in April agreed that "a revision of the existing constitutions and canons ecclesiastical of the Church of England is desidable, so that what is obsolete may be removed."

They considered, however, that some of the proposed revisions were "highly controversial."

Truman Demands Congress Introduce Price Control And Excess Profits Tax

New Depression Scuttles Last Peace Hope Must Put On Economic Brakes; Predict Few Of Suggestions Accepted

WASHINGTON, July 27—(AP)—President Truman today demanded limited price control and an excess profits tax to help check the rising cost of living in the United States and avert "another great depression." A depression, he said, would scuttle "the world's hope for a lasting peace." He coupled a reiterated plea for power to hold wages in line with his price control recommendation. And he personally confronted the politically-hostile 80th Congress with six other proposed brakes on spending, among them a return to credit restrictions and standby rationing authority.

"The Communists, both here and abroad, are counting on our present prosperity turning into a depression," Truman declared.

"They do not believe that we can—or will—put the brakes on high prices. They are counting on an economic collapse in this country."

That "would cut the ground from under the free nations of Europe."

Joint Meeting

Truman addressed a joint meeting of the Senate and House on the second day of the special session he called in the heat of a Presidential campaign year.

But his language was far more restrained than it was on his Western tour, or in his acceptance speech to the Democratic National Convention. Then he referred repeatedly to the Republican-controlld 80th Congress as one of the worst in United States history.

The President did not spell out the details of his price control program. He left that a question to be answered by an administration bill promised later this week, perhaps to-morrow.

But he did say the controls should be authorized for "scarce commodities which basically affect esential industrial production or the cost of living." That would seem to mean things like steel and meat.

U.S. Refusing Australia Defence Secrets

SYDNEY, Australia, July 27—(CP) — The Australian government is deeply embarrassed by disclosures that the United States does not trust it with defence secrets.

Recent disclosures state that the United States refuses to hand over atomic data and top secret information to Britain unless assurances are given it will not be passed on to Australia.

Defence Minister John J. Dedman is understood to have informed the council for scientific and industrial research that Australia is unlikely to get any more scientifici defence information if the United States attitude persists.

Washington's alarm at the possibility of secrets leaking out from Australian sources is believed to be based on the reported opinion of Sir David Rivett, chairman of C.S.I.R., that secrecy and integrity in science cannot flourish together.

Sir David denies he has ever been asked to sign a pledge of secrecy about Australia's defence projects and claims the council is not engaged in any secret defence works.

The question of purging the C.S.I.R. of a number of alleged Communists and "fellow travellers" has been brought up in the House of Representatives many times.

ORLANDO, FLA., July 27—(AP)—Joe Tinker of the double-play Tinker to Evers to Chance baseball fame, died suddenly in a hospital today of respiratory trouble.

Today was the 68th birthday of the famous old Chicago Cub shortstop. Physicians only a few hours before had remarked how well he was. He died shortly after noon.

He was in a hospital here for a check-up on his diet and for treatment.

Tinker went into hospital 710 days ago. His condition was considered not serious.

He was the only surviving member of the Tinker to Evers to Chance baseball combination that brought him fame through sportdom.

Theatre Attendance Hit By Cost Of Living

TORONTO, July 27 — (CP). — High cost of living is forcing down motion picture theatre attendance across Canada, a spokesman for the film industry said today. He was commenting on a statement by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, that movie theatre attendance had dropped in the United States.

The Canadian spokesman said several factors made it difficult to determine accurately the exact attendance situation in Canada [illegible] way of telling whether a sharp decline in that province was because of them or the high cost of living or both.

"But people are being pinched between their incomes and the cost of living—and this is affecting attendance at movies," he said.

Township People Oppose International Airport Plan

WINDSOR, July. 27. (CP) — More than 150 residents of Sandwich West township appeared before the township council Monday night and opposed the proposal that the Canadian and United States governments join in building a great international airport in their township.

Council resolved it would do "everything in its power" to stop construction on the project. A resolution that it opposed the plan will be forwarded to Ottawa by Don Brown, MP for Essex West.

This project, first advanced by Allen V. Brett, Detroit enginder in 1943, then long neglected, was revived 10 days ago by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume who told a meeting of public officials and representatives of aeronautical organizations from both sides of the border, that if the site for the great major airport which Detroit needs can be found only in Canada, "Windsor will co-operate to the limit" in helping to get it.

George Hooker, spokesman for the opposition, told Reeve John Cahill and the four other Sandwich west councilmen that it is the united opinion of residents of the area that the taking of 2,200 acres of land from the heart of the township for an airport would only work a great hardship on more than 1,000 residents. The residents would be dispossessed, with no place to go, but that the removal of that amount of real property from the tax-rolls would bankrupt the township.

Discussion of 12 written questions which Hooker submitted to the council brought out that no representatives of the ownship had been at Mayor Reaume's meeting reviving the proposal.

TEL AVIV, July 27—(AP) An Israeli police prosecutor filed general charges of espionage and security violation today against five Britons arrested six weeks ago in a Jerusalem spy hunt. Conservatives Choose Leader On October 2

OTTAWA, July 27—(CP)—The Progressive Conservative party decided Monday to hold its national convention here Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and 2—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The decision was made by the party's national executive, called together following John Bracken's announcement last week that he is retiring from the party leadership because of age and ill-health.

The approximately 1,320 delegates who will attend the convention, to be held in Ottawa's Lansdowne Park, will select a successor to Mr. Bracken and deal with a new party platform being placed before them for consideration.

The executive considered convention sites in Montreal, Ottawa and Winnipeg, but rejected Montreal and Winnipeg because they could not provide sufficient accommodation during the period in which the convention is to be held.

Second In 10 Years

It will be the second Conservative convention here in 10 years. The late Dr. R. J. Manion was selected as party leader here in 1938. The late iVscount Bennett had been chosen at Winnipeg in 1927 and Mr. Bracken was selected in Winnipeg in 1942.

Executive members attending yesterday's meeting included Mr. Bracken himself and John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) who has been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the leadership.

Under an agenda adopted by the executive, the deadline for nominations for candidates will be 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1. The candidates will speak that evening and balloting will get under way the following afternoon.

1320 Delegates

The meeting decided that the total number of delegates should number approximately 1,320 supported by an additional 750 who would act as alternate delegates.

The delegates will include three for each of the 245 federal constituencies, delegates-at-large from each province, members of the Commons and the Senate and other legislatives bodies, Privy Councillors, and representatives of party youth associations and Progressive Conservative University clubs.

Party candidates defeated in [illegible] ticket to delegate status.

Malaya Trouble Eases Slightly

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, July 27 (Reuters). — Maj.-Gen. C. H. Boucher, general officer commanding in Malaya, today reported a "slightly better" situation in Malaya.

"We are beginning to get results now," he told the legislative council, but added a warning that until the formidable task of properly organizing and training the police was completed there would be a critical time with Communist guerrillas for the next few months.

The Communist "liberation army" expected complete mobilization by Sept. 1, but already its activity had decreased particularly in the south.

Inche Zainal Abidin Bin Maji Abas, secretary-general of the United Malay national organization, biggest Malay political body, told the council that Malays now needed British protection and wanted it to be given effectively and now.

Police Quell Mob Protest In Russ Zone

Soviet Police Chief Ignores Suspension Has Army Backing

BERLIN, July 27. — (CP).— persons were arrested today after scuffles with police who broke up a demonstration of some 600 persons in the Russian sector of the city. The demonstration was in protest against the slowness of the currency exchange organization.

A British official spokesman said the crowd became restless when a currency exchange booth closed shortly after 4 p.m. without issuing them their quota of the new Russian "Deutsche" marks."

The demonstrators, many of whom had lined up in the early morning, protested angrily and German police carrying truncheonse were called to the scene.

Karl Litke, leader of the Communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party faction of the City Assembly, appealed to the crowd to maitain order and, when they cointinued to shout protests, more German police were summoned.

Communists directly challenged the authority of the Socialist-controlled city government. Paul Markgraf, Communist-trained police president, told the elected municipal government it could not suspend him because he had the support of the Soviet army. The city government ordered him removed Monday.

Markgraf said he would refuse to yield his office in central police headquarters to Socialist Johannes Stumm, his former deputy whom the city government has appointed as his shuccessor.

Central police headquarters is in the Soviet sector. Thus the prospect arose that the three western powers might decide to establish a central police headquarters in their occupation sectors were Stumm would preside. The three western Allied commanders of Berlin met and were believed discussing the police crisis.

Chief Paul Markgraf, suspended by the anti-Communist city government for being "undemocratic, un-German and unco-operative," continued to receive the backing him originally.

of the Russians, who appointed His anti-Communist deputy, Dr. Johannes Stumm, directed by the city government to take over, was ordered dismissed by the Russian commander of Berlin, Maj.-Gen. Alexander Kotikov. The dismissal, was a one-power act, however, and the city is run by four powers.

Cabinet Studies Referendum

OTTAWA, July 27—(CP)—The Federal Cabinet today began its study of last week's Newfoundland referendum, with its 6,000-vote majority in favor of Confederation, but no official announcements were expected for several days yet. It was understood the official result of the vote has not yet reached Ottawa and the cabinet had only unofficial totals before it. In that sense, the current discussions were expected to be informal.

Prime Minister Mackenie King said in a statement last week, while tabulation of the vote was in progress, that he would have to refrain from official comment on the result until the "authoritative" figures had reached Ottawa and had been studied by the cabinet.

It was presumed here the first word of the situation would be given by the commission government. This might be a recommendation to Canada that she accept Newfoundland or a formal application for confederation.

Deluged By Calls

The two daily newspapers here and the broadcasting corporation of Newfoundland were deluged by telephone calls from persons who wanted to know if the Canadian government had yet reached any decision.

One woman said "Canada is taking almost as long to make up its mind as we did."

But the delay provided a "cooling-off" period after heated campaigning that had gone on for two years. People were being given a chance to let their tempers simmers down.

There were rumors that disorders might still break out but police reported no incidents and they were taking on no additional

Black Market Uncovered In Quebec Voters' Slips

MONTREAL, July 27—(CP)—Assistant Director Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police said today that a "black market" existed in voters' registration slips in Montreal with citizens being offered from $2 to $5 for the papers which will identify them in tomorrow's Quebec elections. At the same time George Lavoie, 32, pleaded guilty in recorder's court to a charge of illegally possessing a number of slips. He will be sentenced tomorrow.

The registration slips are issued to enumerators under provisions of the Quebec Election Act of 1945 specifying that voters in Montreal and Quebec City must have such papers. The slips, which urban voters have to present to poll officials, are not needed in rural areas where voters are well known.

Police said that some voters were unwittingly surrendering their papers to so-called revisors who called at their homes on the pretext of making certain corrections an promising to return the slips, which they never did.

As a result, police said, hundreds of citizens were complaining they had been disfranchised and many complaints of impersonation attempts are expected tomorrow.

eManwhile, police deposited with Recorder's Court 727 registration slips they said were seized on Monday in a raid on the central committee rooms of Joseph Francoeur, Liberal candidate in Montreal Mercier.

Marie Forms New Cabinet

PARIS, July 27, (CP)—France's new premier, Andre Marie, today won parliamentary approval for his cabinet by a vote of 375 to 197.

After formation of his cabinet, Marie presented its members to president Vincent Auriol.

Like its predecessor, the new cabinet contains no Communists. It is made up of members of parties who favor the cause of the western allies.

The new government contained one major change from the eight cabinets France has had in the last three years. Georges Bidoult has been dropped as foreign minister.

Bidault, who has represented France in all major international [illegible] replaced by 67-year old Robert Schuman, the outgoing premier whose cabinet resigned July 19 and precipitated the crisis.

Fenn of the Ontario provincial command of the Canadian Legion announced today that citizens and Legion members of Harrogate, England, have offered to adopt the graves of Canadian airmen buried in the district. He said that about 650 Canadian next-of-kin have already taken advantage of the offer. The Canadian bomber group of the RCAF operated in the vicinity of Harrogate during the second world war.

Girl 13 Saves Money For First New Frock Faints When She Discovers Dress Stolen

An unknown person with the light-fingured touch on Monday afternoon gained undisputed possession of the title "meanest person in town." And as a result of the thief's act a 13 year old girl is heartbroken.

She entered a George St. dress shop clutching a purse that contained the savings of many months. Despite frail health she had taken a job and carefully saved to buy herself a dress. And she was proud to think that every cent of it had been earned by her own efforts —a prideful step in any girl's life.

Accompanied by her mother she inspected the many dresses and after careful consideration she bought one that just suited. The clerk wrapped it up, put it in a special box, and the litle girl walked proudly out of the shop with her prize.

Then she crossed the road to a chain store to do some more shopping. While she examined an article of interest on one of the counters she laid the box down, and then moved away when something else on display caught her fancy.

In a couple of minutes she returned to that part of the counter where she had deposited the package, but it was gone. She made enquiries of clerks and customers in the vicinity but nobody knew anything about the dress or its mysterious disappearance.

Desperate, she raced back to the ladies' dress shop on the off- chance that someone might have taken it by mistake and then returned it when the error was discovered. But the shop clerk also knew nothing of the missing dress.

Her last hope had gone. Recently she has been under close medical supervision for a bad heart and the original excitement and elation over her purchase followed by the crushing disappointment at the sudden loss, proved to much for her. She fainted.

Today the shop owner, who wished to remain anonymous, told the little girl's story to the Examiner on the slight possibility that even the "meanest person in town" couldn't want a child's dress that bad, and might return it.

Hold Parley To Draft Soviet Note

If Direct Approach Wins Nothing To Use 3-Power Query

LONDON, July 27 —(CP)—A direct approach to Prime Minister Stalin by the three western powers to discuss a way out of the existing deadlock in Berlin is believed in diplomatic quarters here to have been discussed in detail by British, French and American representatives at the foreign office today.

Purpose of the meeting between the British and American ambassadors to Moscow, the French ambassador to London, Charles Bohlen, Russian expert of the United States state department, and Patrick Dean, of the German political department of the British foreign office, is to work out agreed drafts of the initial approach to Stalin and possibly to decide on an alternative procedure, as well, if Stalin is unable to meet western representatives for direct talks, diplomatic observers believe.

It is believed that if the direct approach to Stalin fails, the original proposal of a three-power note to Moscow may be adopted.

Observers believe that decision, in principle, has been reached on the next move by the western powers.

A diplomatic official today said that the western powers decided their ambassadors will present personally to Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia, proposals for settling the crisis. This is believed by observers to be the firsth step in the planned negotiations and would be accompanied by a written outline of the subject the western powers wish to discuss.

Uncover Nail Black Market

SYDNEY, N.S., July 27 (CP)— The Prices Board today said it had uncovered a black market in nails involving Sydney, Montreal and Toronto firms.

Hugh MacNeil, general investigator for the board, said he had laid information against Elman Motors of Sydney charging the firm with selling nails "at a price higher than was reasonable and just" contrary to the regulations of the board.

The board alleges the Sydney firm bought the nails at between $6 and $7 for a 100-pound keg, and shipped them to Montreal and [illegible] where they were retailed [illegible] Monday that the Canadian fleet was within only 40 minutes sailing time from St. John's.

R. A. MacKay of the External Affairs Department in Ottawa arrived Monday for discussions with commission government officials.

Two Montreal and two Toronto firms were named in the information as outlets for the nails but so far no charges have been laid against them.

A profit of between $3,000 and $4 000 was said to have been realized on sales totalling $11,000.

Injuries Dog Canadians In England For Olympics

UXBRIDGE, Middlesex, England, July 27.—(CP).—There was both good and bad news for the Canadian Olympic team today.

Bob McFarlane, of London, Ont., who strained his thigh muscles before the Canadian Olympic track trials and has been taking it easy, impressed coach Ken Yost of Winnipeg with today's workout. Yost said: "I think he'll be o.k. now." McFarlane holds the Canadian 400-metre record of 47.5 seconds and set a mark of 47.3 in the zone Olympic trals.

Yost also announced the line-up for the men's 400-metre relay: Jimmy O'Brien of Toronto, lead-off; Jack Parry of Windsor, anchor; Ted Haggis of London, Ont., No. 2; Don Pettie of Calgary, No. 3.

There was gloom in the women's track camp when Elaine Silburn of Victoria, strained a muscle in her right leg. She was attended by a doctor and E. W. Griffiths of Saskatoon, coach of the women's track team, said he is "not quite sure" whether she will be able to compete in the games. She went to hospital today for an X-ray.

Diane Foster of Vancouver, another member of the track team, is nursing a bruise on the ball of her right foot.

The women's 400-metre relay team will consist of three British Columbia girls and one from Ontario: Patricia Jones of New Westminster, B.C.; Mille Chester of Vancouver; Miss Foster and Viola Myers of Toronto. With this lineup. Nancy Mackay of Oshawa, will be on the sidelines through the games.

Security Council Takes Hand In Indonesia

LAKE SUCCESS, July 27. — (CP).— The United Nations Security Council today discusses the situation in Indonesia where tension between Indonesians and Netherlanders grows daily.

The Council's "good offices" committee" in Inodonesia said in a report Monday the Indonesians have refused to continue political talks with the Netherlands. The reason given was that Netherlands authorities have refused to talk over the Australian-United States proposals for an overall political settlement of the dispute which has raged since the end of the Second World War.

Netherlands officials in the rich Indies, where there are 72,000,000 natives and less than 500,000 Europeans, said they could make no new proposals until formation of a new cabiet in the mother country.

The heart of the problem appears to be the conflicting interpretations of the Linggadjati agreement of March, 1947, by which the de facto authority of the Republic of Indonesia was recognized on the islands of Java—where almost half of the Indonesian population lives—Madura and Sumatra.

Seized Power

On these islands a revolutionary Nationalist movement seized power from the Japanese invaders in August, 1945, when Dr. Soekarno proclaamed the Indonesian republic, becoming its first president.

The Netherlands retained control in the three other main islands—Borneo, Celebes and New Guinea—of the 3,200-mile chain, one of the world's greatest producers of oil, rubber, tin, manganese, bauxite, gold and a variety of tropical agricultural products.

Elsewhere in the U.N. today, Syria sought support for her proposal to ask a ruling by the International Court of Justice on Palestine. The decision is in doubt. The Security Council will deal with the Syrian proposal and other Palestine topics.

The Council adjourned July 15 after ordering the second truce in Palestine without voting on the Syrian resolution.

Haying Under Way Across The Province

TORONTO, July 27.—(CP).—Haying is well under way in most sections of the province and the Ontario Department of Agriculture's weekly report indicates a bumper crop in prospect.

In western and southern Ontario harvesting of fall wheat is being carried out in fields expected to yield, in many cases, 30 bushels or better.

Tobacco has made such excellent progress in southern Ontario that farmers believe harvesting will begin 10 days to two weeks earlier than last year. In the same section corn, sugar beets, beans and soybeans show great promise.

Russians Bringing More Planes To Berlin Hold Large Summer Air Manoeuvres In Zone

BERLIN, July 27 — (AP). — German press reports today said the Russians are increasing substantially the number of fighter planes, including jets, stationed in their zone of Germany around Berlin.

These reports appeared as the Americans strengthened their combat plane forces at bases in western Germany. The most recent United States additions were 16 jet fighters which reached Fuerstenfeldbruck Sunday.

German reports also said large Russian summer army manoeuvres are taking place in the Russian zone, from the Baltic south to Thuringia. The reports said much armor is involved, including big "Joseph Stalin III" tanks, and strong air support. The tanks were described as 62-ton monsters, perhaps the heaviest in the world.

United States air force officials here said the Russians have posted new warnings of manoeuvres by their fighters in the air corridors traversed by British and American transports flying over the Russian land blockade. The Americans said some Russian jets have been seen in these corridors, but that most fighters sighted were conventional Yaks.

Gets Seven Days Sideswiped Police Cruiser

COBOURG, July 27—(ENS)—Bill Daniels of Cobourg was sentenced to seven days in jail on a drunk driving charge and seven days concurrent for failing to remain at the scene of an accident, when he appeared in police court before Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday. He was the driver of a car which collided with a provincial police car here on the night of July 7. Daniels pleaded not guilty.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol testified that he and Constable Lyle Erskine were proceeding east along King Street at 12.45 when near the town hall, a car from the east sideswiped the police car and kept on going. Constable Erskine tried to make a U-turn but another car from behind had locked bumpers with the police care in the confusion of the accident. Constable Nicol said that Constable Erskine had pulled as far to his right as possible in a vain effort to avoid the accident. The police commandeered a passing car but could not locate the car involved in the accident. They came back to the police station, picked up Constable E. Butler and then proceeded to the Daniels home. A 1928 Durant with left front fender and bumper damaged was parked in the yard. The radiator was still warm.

Police knocked at both rear and front doors without success. Constable Butler announced to the occupants of the house that they were police and told them what they were there for. When nobody opened the door, Constable Butler gave it a push and it opened. Daniels was sitting on the side of the bed with just his shirt on. He was told to get dressed then was taken to the police station, Constable Nicol said. His evidence was corroborated by Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine and by town constable Butler.

Evidence of Dr. W. Michael, who examined the accused around 1.45 was that he had been drinking and that from his condition then he could have been under the influence of liquor earlier.

Fights Maskinonge More Than 2 Hours

CAMPBELLFORD, July 27 — (ENS) — Two and a half hours was the time required to land a twenty-two pound maskinonge, caught during the week-end by Frank Little, Seymour.

Frank and Ed Rutherford were fishing from a boat at Bradley Bay, in deep water in the canal, when the 46-incher struck at the small red and white plug on Frank's line.

This was about one hour before dark, and the fight went on for an hour and half after the sun went down. The big fish was well hooked through the corner of the mouth and gave quite a battle before it was brought to the side of the boat and landed by hand.

Mr. Carroll, with Clark Young of Milliken, treasurer of the association, and Alex McKinney Jr. of Brampton, in charge of demonstration for the big match, visited Lindsay and the new site for the 1948 International, and were pleased with the location and progress the local committee is making.

"I am very pleased with the land that is available and feel that the plow boys and girls will be much more satisfied to plow in this land than in the two previous Internationals." He pointed out that he was particularly pleased with the co-operation received from the farmers in the district in making all land possible available.

Tweedsmuir Wed At St. Margaret's

LONDON, July 27.—(CP). — Lord Tweedsmuir, 37, former fur trader in the Canadian sub-Arctic and wartime commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Ontario, was married today to Lady Grant of Monymusk, 33, described as the best-looking woman member of parliament.

They were married in St. Margaret's, a stone's throw from the Parliament Buildings, where both have seats as Conservative members. In sultry summer sunlight, hundreds of women gathered outside the church door in bright summer dresses and waved colored handkerchiefs as the bridal pair posed for photographs.

Lord Tweedsmuir, son of Canada's Governor-General who died in office in 1940, and his bride, then drove to a reception at the home of House Speaker Douglas Clifton Brown in the Commons building.

The bride made her responses in a low voice as she is recovering from laryngitis.

Lady Tweedsmuir is the widow of Sir Arthur Grant of Monymusk, who was killed in action with the Grenadier Guards in 1944. She was elected to the Commons in 1946 in a by-election in Aberdeen South.

Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will spend their honeymoon in Scotland.

Canon Charles Smythe officiated at today's ceremony, assisted by Prebendary Christopher Cheshire. The best man was Lord De L'Isle and Dudley, V.C., and ushers included Lord Carrintgon and Lord Lloyd.

Twenty-six tenants from Elsfield, Lord Tweedsmuir's Oxfordshire home, attended the wedding.

A party from the bride's constituency also was present.

The reception was attended by 600 guests, including members of the Cabinet.

Lord and Lady Tweesmuir, who will make their home at Bremar Castle, Aberdeenshire, hope to visit Canada in the future.

School Supplies Cost Soaring Principal Says

CAMPBELLFORD, July 27 — (ENS)—The session was brief at the monthly meeting of the Campbellford Board of Education Monday night, and was poorly attended, most of the members being on vacation.

Present were Trustees A. J. Armour, E. C. McKeel, H. A. McArthur, V. Farrel, Mrs. Petherick, Mrs. Scott, and G. E. Nicholls, vice-chairman, who presided in the absence of Chairman Meyers.

At the request of public school principal C. E. Haig, the board agreed to a motion authorizing him to arrange for the purchase of supplies for the primary classes, Mr. Haig warning the board that due to the current increase in prices, this year's costs of the necessary supplies would be about twice as much as formerly. It was agreed that the board could not avoid the purchase and the motion passed.

During the correspondence period, a letter was read from Miss Hazel Atkinson, now in Belleville, stating that due to medical advice she will be unable to return to school before November 1, and requesting that the board grant two months leave of absence, and also that Grade 7 be moved to the second floor, from its previous location on the third.

Members agreed to grant the required period of leave, and Trustee Nicholls was delegated to notify the supply teacher, Mrs. Pierce, that her services would be required for this period.

It was at first felt that it might not be wise to have the supply teacher tied up for this period, but Principal Haig felt that as there is usually little or no sickness among the teachers during the first three months of the term, the board would not be taking any risk in making the appointment.

With regard to the matter of moving grade 7, it was found that the desks in the classroom have not yet been fitted with "skids" as have most of the others. The board agreed to have this done at once to facilitate the move, and a motion was passed authorizing the alteration to the desks to be done at once.

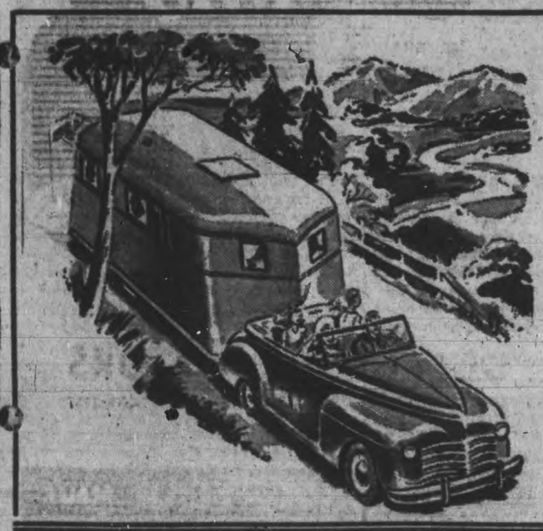
Reporting for the property committee, Trustee H. A. McArthur told the members that the work on draining the public school hill had now been completed and the stone drains are in place.

Further drainage work will not be undertaken until the exacavation for the coal bunker is started, and further drains will then be installed simultaneously with the coal bunker.

The electricians are working on both schools and the work is well under way.

Following the reading of the accounts and the adjournment, those present visited the basement of the public school and inspected the newly installed heating plant, and the other partially completed installations, work on which is expected to be completed shortly.

Fire Razes Chair Plant



TRURO, N.S., July 27.—(CP).—For the fifth time since it was established in the 18th century, fire today destroyed the Dominion Chair Company plant at nearby Bass River. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

The last fire was in 1940 after which the plant, one of the few remaining rural industries in Nova Scotia, was rebuilt on a new site.

Lawlessness In Lake Shipping

The dispute between the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) on the one side and the companies and new Canadian Lake Seamen's Union on the other has become a national and bloody disgrace. The president of the Trades and Labour Congress, Percy R. Bengough, has not exaggerated when he said last week-end that "A state of lawlessness exists in Canada that is without historical parallel".

• • •

The most blatant evidence of this lawlessness has been the bloody heads of warring seamen, the arming of the ships and the shooting indulged in by one of the ship's officers. Behind this (and its primary cause) is the attitude and conduct of the Canada Steamship Lines. Its officials have taken the law into their own hands, which is not the ordinary way for law to be administered. The Canada Steamship Lines is chiefly to blame. That is apparent from the report of the conciliation board appointed to deal with the dispute:

"We are unanimous in our belief that the defiance of the existing law, the breach of the existing agreement and the failure to fulfil the promise made by these companies to the Government are a serious threat to the recognized practice of labour conciliation".

• • •

What is the use of labour laws, labour codes and the like if a company like the Canada Steamship Lines disregards them when it wishes? Is that the way to encourage union members to stick to their contracts and to behave like peaceful citizens?

• • •

The C.S.U. can of course take the companies to court. That is a proper procedure. Court processes are notoriously slow, however. Must the lawlessness continue? Mr. Bengough has called a meeting of T.L.C. labour leaders from all parts of the country to consider the matter on August 5-7. He wants the Government to intervene. The least the Government can do is to see that any court action on the matter is speedy, and that while it is in progress both the company and the unions toe the line. The Canadian people will not countenance lawlessness.

Canadian Wings

This country is of necessity air-minded. The thousands of miles which must be traversed from coast to coast through sparsely populated areas, the sub-arctic mining regions, the mountain valleys of Quebec and British Columbia into which access by road is impracticable, the Arctic frontiers, our defence problems — these make cargo, passenger and military flying essential. As an important commercial nation we are also involved in competitive trans-oceanic flying.

In spirit and flying performance we are meeting the need. This was shown during the war by the large number of Canadians who served in the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. It was shown when we took control of the Empire Air Training scheme. It is apparent in post-war developments, the latest of which is the projected trans-Pacific service by Canadian Pacific Air Lines, the C.P.R. counterpart of the C.N.R.-operated T.C.A., which is continually expanding its trans-Canada and trans-Atlantic service.

Even if Canadians take to air as naturally as ducks to water, flying in Canada will not develop fully unless the flying equipment we use and shall use in the future can be produced in Canada. The construction in Canada of aircraft and equipment is essential. Since we have got off to a slow start in aircraft manufacture and cannot mass-produce on the U.S.A. scale, in these formative years the Canadian aircraft industry needs to be fostered, not condemned.

In his private feud (publicly aired) with Mr. Howe, Premier Drew not long ago had harsh things to say about Canadair, the Government-sponsored aircraft plant in Montreal, and about the North Star planes it manufactures. Canadair was a white elephant, the North Stars were inefficient, the Government had in the whole business a lame duck, and that was the reason for cancelling the American air transport arrangements which Premier Drew had made for British immigration scheme. Canadair and T.C.A. needed the business.

Premier Drew got hold of the wrong end of the stick, not for the first time in his political career. Experts know that the North Stars are efficient machines and have been giving satisfactory and profitable service over T.C.A. lines. If confirmation were needed it comes now with the British Overseas Airways decision to purchase 22 North Stars for its Commonwealth runs. The B.O.A.C. order is a healthy kind of approval for Mr. Howe and Canadair to have, for each plane is priced at about $700,000. It is good export business.

Canadian aircraft designing and building is developing well in a highly competitive market. The North Star, for instance, is an adaptation of the famed Douglas DC-6, and although only 80 inches shorter, costs about $300,000 less to make. It has four British Rolls Royce engines. Our aeronautic engineers at work on jet-propelled machines are excelling in this newest type of engine and plane. Critics of our aircraft industry could justly be more generous with their praise and less ready to condemn, even if Mr. Howe is the target.

The Ineffable Anglophobia of Colonel McCormick

Colonel Robert McCormick, who publishes the Chicago Tribune, must subconsciously love the British, for his expressed hatred of Britain has the stinging violence of a lover's reaction to a beloved.

Colonel McCormick flew to England the other day in his private Flying Fortress. His initial pronouncement there seemed to indicate that he had recently unergone psychiatric treatment for his anglophobia. He said that he does not hate the English. People had been misinterpreting his sentiments (expressed so virulently, so frequently, in the columns of his paper). English newspapers have been building up an unjust appreciation of him by propaganda. "I don't hate the English; why should I?" We really do not know. Perhaps he himself does not know, unless some psychiatrist has lately uncovered a rankling vestige of his school career in England. But we do know that the converted colonel has had a lot of unpleasant things to say about England—and even about Canada for daring to preserve the British connection—in his newspaper, on the air, in public meetings.

Hope that Colonel McCormick had been converted was dashed resoundingly to smithereens when the colonel spoke up again, this time in Paris. Here are sample pronouncements made last Saturday:

"The arrogance of the noble pervades the nation. . . .

"The peers do devote themselves to the national interest. Their experience, hauteur, and condescension have largely dominated diplomacy.

"The executives of the Labour Government like our new dealers, have never had to make ends meet or meet a payroll. All they are doing now is to raise prices and taxes.

"The Labour Government misrules England, but the aristocracy continues to direct the foreign policy of the United States and thereby rules the world."

His anglophobia has curious twists. The greatest living Englishman, Winston Churchill, an aristocrat, a man with an old school tie, an imperialist, seems somehow in Colonel McCormick's fantasy to be a rather acceptable kind of fellow, a soul to be saved. Ah, well, all queer people have quirks to their queerness.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Man can now see a billion light-years into space, but he's just as bad as ever at seeing through a brick wall.

An interesting item in the estate of the late Henry Ford was $20 which was owed to him for a load of hay. Hay, however, is not a term which anyone would apply to the cash assets, which amounted to $26,600,000.

An insurance company finds that "the average head of a family has no desire to quit work at the age of retirement". And very often he doesn't. His wife retires and he takes over the bulk of the housework.

Several people these days are advocating that we speak to Russia "straight from the shoulder". How about trying a few words from that useful article which sits just above the shoulders?

We have been carrying in our advertising columns an important "Notice To Water Consumers". It refers to the emergency regulations apportioning the days when lawns and gardens may be watered. People who do not consume water are not affected.

A Letter From Paris

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

THE first and most fascinating thing to report from Paris is that champagne is sold in the local equivalent to our 5c and 10c store, which incidentally also carries a stock of wines and liqueurs that would put to shame Peterborough's L.C.B.O. grog shop.

❖ ❖ ❖

AFTER Switzerland, France itself is a shabby place as seen from a train window. Very noticeable is the lack of farm mechanization: in field after field we saw grain being cut by scythe and tied by hand, and this in fields of a size to compare favourably with those in Peterborough district. The farms themselves and the villages look poor and rundown. The recent war and German occupation dealt France a heavy blow, and her problems of recovery are overwhelming. One must add that a great deal of rebuilding and recovery work is in evidence, and in the places that count. The railways, razed and harried by friend and foe alike for five years, are bustling with reconstruction. The Paris-Lyons line is being electrified, a major job covering 400 miles. In spite of the reconstruction work going on, the French railways maintain a fast and efficient service, and at extremely low fares. The trip from Lyons to Paris in the equivalent of our coach class is under $4.

WE were fortunate enough to be in Paris for Bastille Day, July 14th, the great national French holiday similar to our 1st of July, or the U.S. 4th. Two big parades were held, one military and one civil; tremendous fireworks display took place in different parts of the city; street dances and entertainments were held in all the public squares. The city was bedecked with flags, and the Parisians in their millions swarmed over the streets from early in the morning until long after we had retired for the night.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE military parade was received with surprising coolness by the watching crowd. To anyone acquainted with the former fervent nationalistic temperament of the average Frenchman, this was a significant post-war change of heart. Most interesting to me were the military bands,—scores of them. Some were mounted on horseback, others on foot, but in both cases they played at a fast nervous tempo, quite different from anything on our side. The French horn is frequently used where we would have bugles, and the flourishes of the bandsmen are wonderful to behold. In the parade was a great hodge-podge of British, U.S., and even Canadian equipment,—virtually no French. U.S. Sherman tanks, half-tracks, jeeps; British mobile radar sets, battledress uniforms, and rifles, and even a few Canadian Ram tanks. Overhead there was a display of fighters and bombers of the French Air Force, again with many familiar faces such as Halifaxes, Spitfires, Thunderbolts, Lightnings, and Mustangs. Units of infantry, artillery, paratroops, all marched past, and even a regiment of Algerian cavalry, mounted on pure white horses, a colorful and picturesque sight in their flowing robes. Altogether, it was quite an impressive display.

❖ ❖ ❖

PARIS is a city planned on the grand scale. The wide boulevards and streets make Paris probably the most impressive of the world's capitals, especially when combined with the many stately buildings and monuments with which the city abounds. But these selfsame wide streets and boulevards have their unpleasant side for the harried pedestrian, and that is the simple matter of crossing a street. I formerly thought Montreal had the world's most reckless and impatient drivers, but they haven't a patch on those of Paris. I should think the least one could expect after a few years in Paris would be ulcers, if not worse. There are few traffic lights, and no stop streets, with the result that the motorist driving any but the main streets merely keeps his elbow on his horn, as the pedestrians jump for safety in all directions. Two motorists approaching an intersection at right angles, both leaning on their horns, obviously cannot hear one another, with the result that you hear more screechings of tortured tires and crash of dented fenders than in any other city I have visited. But I must admit the population seems to thrive on it.

❖ ❖ ❖

TRADITIONALLY, this is the centre of women's fashions, and on the main boulevards you do see many stylish and smartly turned-out people. But this is not true of the suburban districts, far from it. The office worker, the middle-class housewife, the shop worker, all have enough trouble making ends meet without the extra burden of changing their wardrobes. The New Look is far rarer in suburbia than it is in a British city.

❖ ❖ ❖

CURIOUSLY enough, in spite of the inflation, or perhaps because of it, France is a cheap country to visit for the tourist with dollars. The official exchange is 300 francs for a dollar, and black market rates are even better. With this exchange rate, many prices are ridiculously cheap by Canadian standards. The underground railway, the "Metro", takes you anywhere in the city for 2c. We have a good hotel room in the centre of town for $1.60 a day, and a very fair meal may be had at the smaller restaurants for 75c, complete with wine. Perfumes are so cheap my wife tells me you can't afford not to buy it. The finest brands for $1.50 a bottle. Champagne is $1.25 a bottle. The only trouble for the Frenchman is that he has francs, not dollars, and few enough of these.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

"We'd like to have you stay to dinner with us if you are content to take 'pot-luck'," said the wife cordially.

"You mean 'can luck' my dear," murmured her husband.

Communism In Asia

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IF Western Union and the Marshall Plan build a wall against Russian advance in Europe, the Russian machine may reverse in its tracks and move back towards Asia. From the earliest times of Russian imperialism, Russian interest has alternated between East and West. Moscow may decide that it is foolish to risk destruction by gambling too high in the West when in the East there is an Empire for the taking. Moreover, it may think that paramountcy in Asia would lead in the long run to paramountcy from the Sea of Japan to the Atlantic. The opportunity for Russia in Asia is not unlike that which lay before it at the end of the war in Eastern Europe. In the Balkans and to some extent in Poland there was on the one side a discontented peasantry, on the other side a middle class too small and too badly shaken to be able ot carry on its former dominant role. Russia's skill in its penetration of those countries has been to moderate its Communism and to offer them only the selection from it which would appeal to their particular needs. It can use the same tactics in Asia. The countries of Asia which have been under Western rule or influence are endowed with the institutions of West European life but they have a middle and upper class which probably is too weak to defend them. The masses of the people and the growing new classes of technicians, clerks, and foremen are not interested in the liberal State. But they would respond to the appeal of a carefully moderated Communism of the new East European pattern. Socialization of industry and the ending of landlordism — these are promises which would penetrate to the centre of their interest. The programme would be no more than a mild Socialism. It might nevertheless put the Communist machine in control of Asia. The young Asiatic sees on one side the middle-class parties which he regards as old-fashioned, which are controlled by old men, and which accept as tolerable a society in which much of the intelligentsia is left at a dead end. On the other side is the Communist party which offers a career of immediate leadership to the young and energetic and which campaigns against privilege and against the archaic, the two banes of Oriental society.

Communist parties are therefore flourishing in most of the small Asiatic countries, in Burma, Ceylon, Indo-China, Indonesia, and Malaya. The news from Malaya and Burma is especially disturbing. What these parties lack in size they make up for in energy and persistence. But if Communism is to capture Asia as a whole, it is in India and China that it must prevail. Between them these two countries contain over eight hundred million people, more than a third of the total world population. In spite of their misfortunes and humiliation in the past century they have great prestige. They will give their colour to the rest of the continent. At present a Communist China seems more likely than a Communist India. In China a crisis of overpopulation, such as has recurred every two or three hundred years in Chinese history, has been successfully exploited by the Chinese Communist party. After twenty years' struggle with the Kuomintang the Communists seem at present better placed than at any previous time in their history. The Kuomintang, which overthrew the old Manchu empire, passed too quickly from being a revolutionary party to being a conservative one. It has tried to conduct a stable government in a society which could in fact only be stabilized by reforms from which the Kuomintang shrank, once it had lost its first revolutionary force. Yet its position is rather less desperate than it is at present the fashion to think; by identifying itself with the defence of Chinese tradition, the Kuomintang has great reserves of strength. Compared with China, India is in less immediate danger. The present Governments in India and Pakistan still have on their side a far greater share of the active, stirring forces in political life than has the Kuomintang in China. Nevertheless, in India also a social upheaval has begun. As it proceeds the Governments are likely to be forced into conservatism. A society in revolution always tempts the more spirited leaders to exploit their opportunity, and in doing so they increase the turbulence. The Indian revolution, once started, may last longer than the Chinese, because Indian society is more thoroughly archaic and may need to undergo even more drastic change before it settles down. The Indian population is increasing at a rate which will make agrarian tension almost unendurable. And to a surprising extent the Communist party is already bewitching some of the best of the younger men from the privileged classes in both of the Dominions. But for the vigour of the Indian Socialists it would have won even more.

If India or China, or both, should pass under Communist control, the political and still more the economic organization of the world would be changed. Up to the present, Russia has given surprisingly little support to the Communist forces in either country, but this may alter. The interconnection of war and peace in Europe and Asia began already in the eighteenth century, and Macaulay described how brown men fought with brown men on the Coromandel coast because a Prussian king had invaded Silesia. It is true that Indian and Chinese Communists might prove very autonomous and that even if there were a Communist Eurasia this would not necessarily mean that Russia, China, and India formed a single military unit. A Soviet Asia would be a weaker thing militarily and economically than a Soviet Europe. Nevertheless it would be disagreeable for the Western world, which would have every interest in trying to prevent it. This it can do by economic aid on the lines of the Marshall Plan in Europe to remove some of the worst economic tension. It can maintain close cultural links with the Governments of India and China so that these will draw a spiritual sustenance from the West, and it can take students from these countries in increasing numbers. More than this it can hardly do without colliding again with those nationalist forces in the East with which it now desires to work in harmony.

Letter To The Editor

PUNISHING TENDER YOUTH

Sir: I was more than pleased with the fair appraisal you gave teacher-punishment case in Friday's paper. I thought it would interest you to know that the teacher in question is a Peterborough boy; a graduate of the local schools. He does not teach in North Bay, but in a lumbering community on the French River. As a school-mate and close friend I can honestly say that I have seldom associated with a fairer, saner, or more stable personality.

I was particularly pleased with your attitude towards corporal punishment. After administering punishment—punishment that he should have received at home years previously—to have an insolent youth sneer would more than test the patience of the gods.

Those theorists who rail against sadism will as readily admit that egoism begets altruism. Obviously sadism is one form of egoism. To produce a race of altruists is no mean objective in education. When one observes the pleasure-seeking throng emerging from our educational factories today, one wonders if we have not leaned too far backward in our "Don't injure their tender sensibilities" programme. Certainly this was not the philosophy that built the nation—that developed a democratic sense of duty and responsibility, expressed so ably by Longfellow:

"Let us then be up and doing
With a heart for any fate,
Still achieving, still pursuing;
Learn to labour and to wait."

Yours truly,
A LOCAL TEACHER

Saving The Gardens

England's finest private gardens are to be preserved for all time. Under a scheme launched the end of June, the recently formed joint committee of the National Trust and Royal Horticultural Society will take over responsibility for the upkeep of gardens of special beauty and historical interest in order that they may become permanent monuments of English gardening.

The new committee, under the chairmanship of Lord Aberconway, president of the Royal Horticultural Society, has been formed to provide the specialized care necessary to maintain these gardens and to raise money by public subscription. Gardens accepted by the committee as gifts on behalf of the nation will be opened to the public.—UK Information Office.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

SO Jesus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain nobleman, whose son was sick at Capernaum. When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judaea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death.

Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe. The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die.

Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way. And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth.

Then enquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house. (John 5: 46-53.)

Mapping Canada's Hinterland

THE R.C.A.F. has been doing aerial mapping in Canada since 1921, and in the interval over 2,000,000 square miles of the nation's vast and varied topography has been filmed.

This year another 350,000 square miles will be photographed from the air. In mid-April a group of 12 Dakotas and four long-range Lancasters began the job. Much of the territory they are working over is unexplored, though flights have been from coast to coast, and from the International border to the Arctic.

Two types of camera work are being done —tri-camera coverage for basic mapping and vertical coverage for more detailed mapping. During the current program a number of self-contained bases, several of them in isolated areas, had to be set up to service the planes, which meant the landing of ground crews for the working season. A number of geodetic survey workers were also flown in to areas being photographed so that the aerial surveys could where necessary be supplemented at once by ground work.

Film negatives are being flown back to the R.C.A.F. photographic bases at Rockcliffe, Ontario, for development and printing, and for distribution to the army and various government departments who do the actual mapping.—Winnipeg Free Press.

They are now being readied for high altitude interception "manoeuvres," in which a group of B-29 superfortresses will participate. Last leg of the journey from U.S. was a 600-mile flight from Oldham, England. Total elapsed flying time for the trip from Selfridge Field, Mich., was 12 hours and 10 minutes for 5,060 miles.

Stage Manhunt For Ex-Policeman

TORONTO, July 27 — (CP) — RCMP officers said Monday they are conducting a country-wide manhunt for George Murnaghan of Winnipeg, former military policeman, on a warrant charging him with abducting his own three-year-old son in defiance of a Winnipeg court order.

The court order gave him custody of his son for 24 hours a week. In the fall of 1946 he is said to have left Winnipeg with the boy, then two years old. Police said he is known to have flown to Montreal with the child under the name of George Ripley. He visited friends here last February or March. Then last April he was seen with the boy in Montreal.

A senior RCMP officer here said:

"Murnaghan is a devout Roman Catholic and there are indications that he may have arranged to have his son placed in a convent. His wife is suffering considerable mental anguish and, as the case has attracted some interest from the attorney-general of Manitoba, it is imperative that every effort be made to find him."

Party Leaders Now Wait Quebec Vote

MONTREAL, July 27 (CP). — The Quebec political campaign, one of the liveliest in a year that has already seen three provincial elections in Canada, will come to a halt tonight.

In 92 electoral divisions from the northwestern mining district of Abitibi to the wind-swept Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, 312 candidates will make their last speeches to the voters and then sit back to wait for the decision of the ballot boxes.

The fate of Premier Maurice Duplessis' Union Nationale government will be in the hands of about 2,000,000 men and women who are eligible to vote tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. EDT. A turnout of 1,500,000 will be about average.

Voting was light in Monday's advance poll in Montreal, but returning officers said this did not indicate lack of interest. Confused by the new regulations governing advance voting, many citizens decided to play safe and wait until tomorrow.

The campaign, already under way when Premier Duplessis announced the election date June 9, has been a pitched battle, accompanied by one of the heaviest barrags of publicity, banner-flying and oratory in the recent history of the province.

Unless the result is a neck-and-neck finish between the Union Nationale and the Liberals, the outcome of the election should be known within two or three hours of the closing of polls.

Kiwanis Beats Bowmanville For 3rd Straight

Junior Kiwanis are now within half a game of the lead in the Junior Lakeshore Baseball League as a result of Saturday's win over Bowmanville by 5-1 at Riverside. Jake Jaquith on the hill for Kiwanis, gave six hits, struck out eight, and walked one. He hit twice, scored one run and hit a near homer over the fence into left in the eighth which was a foul by inches. Giardino and Sisson made fine catches off Sturrock and Rundle in the fifth and eighth respectively, to feature ifield, while a double killing by Menzies and Sisson in an attempted double steal of second and home in the second by Sturrock and Cowle was perfectly erecuted. For the visitors, Dadson tried hard, hit a triple, and scored his team's only run.

On Wednesday, Kiwanis meet Cobourg at Riverside at 6:30, and with first place at stake a record crowd should attend to see the Kiwanis make it four straight wins in as many starts.

Rochon Moves To 3rd Round

TORONTO, July 27 — (CP). — Starry Henri Rochon of Montreal has advanced into the third round of Canadian tennis championship matches, the week-long blue ribbon classic now in its third day.

Rochon, seeded first in the men's singles, Monday defeated Toronto's Dave McKenzie 6-1, 6-0. A member of Canada's Davis Cup team, Rochon said that his game has improved by the rest he took following competition in the Quebec championships.

Brendan Macken, who trimmed Rochon in straight sets in that tournament, wired officials of his withdrawal from the Canadian championships. He had been seeded second.

Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, given third seeding, came through with an easy victory over Vic Blackhall of Toronto, 6-0, 6-2. Jim Macken of Montreal, next in the seeding, trounced Fred Fennell of Toronto in straight love sets.

Elaine Fields, another member of the strong Montreal contingent, justified her first place seeding in the women's singles by defeating Mary Nutson of Toronto, 6-1, 6-1. She blamed her losing games on her service.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Kingston's feud with Halifax over the site of the Hockey Hall of Fame, just isn't.

And "as far as we are concerned there is no feud at all," says James Sutherland on behalf of the Kingston hall. He said Kingston and Halifax were the first Canadian cities in which hockey was first played.

But Mayor J. E. Ahern of Halifax said his city was the site of the first hockey played in Canada and that Halifax should have its own hall of fame.

However, both the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association have approved Kingston as the most central site for a memorial to hockey's great. Erection plans of the $150,000 hall of fame are progressing and there is already $85,000 in the treasury. The hall will likely be completed in the next three years.

Preliminary matches to the first round of the Olympic soc competition brought victories Holland and Luxembourg at Portsmouth, Eng. Holland defeated Eire 3-1 and Luxembourg down Afghanistan 6-0. Holland thus qualified to meet Britain and Luxembourg to face Yugoslavia in the first round Saturday.

Boston's Ted Williams, benched for a week with a side injury, slapped six hits in 13 trips in his return to action last week. He boosted his American League leading batting mark three points to .391. Second place Lou Boudreau of Cleveland dropped seven points to .352 and Detroit's George Kell moved to third with .342.

Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals continues to lead the pack of National League hitters with a .386 average. He tops by 40 points Andy Pafko of Chicago, second with .346. Alvin Dark, the Braves' rookie shortstop flash, has moved up to third place with .332.

Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton Monday was elected president of the International Ice Hockey Federation at Zurich, Switzerland. He succeeds Dr. Fritz Kraatz of Switzerland who was elected first vice-president.

At New York it was announced that Floyd (Bill) Bevens, who pitched 8 2-3 hitless innings before losing his World Series start last fall, has been optioned by New York Yankees to their Newark farm club of the International League. The husky 30-year-old right-hander has been sidelined all season due to a sore arm.

At Toronto Bill Stewart scored the only goal of the game as Toronto Greenbacks won the first game of the Ontario finals for the Dominion Soccer Cup from Toronto Generals 1-0. The second game of the two-game, goals-to-count series will be played on Thursday.

The world premiere of the "Babe Ruth Story" was held Monday night in New York and the "Bambino" himself made a special trip downtown to see himself portrayed on the screen. Approximately 1,300 persons were invited to the opening but thousands crowded in front of the theatre to see Babe and other celebrities. Ruth, who has been ill and has undergone several operations, was greeted with a tremendous roar as he stepped from his limousine.

Australia made a clean sweep of its series with Cuba Monday in the semi-finals of the American zone Davis Cup Tennis eliminations. Having clinched the round Sunday to go into the finals against Mexico, the Aussies made it complete by taking the final two singles contests.

Tickling A Fish

Belleville, July 27 (CP)

THE ancient Persian idea of "tickling" a fish with the hand still holds.

Today Alvin Richardson Stevadore noticed a fish loafing near the government dock here. He slipped his hand in the water and started tickling. He came up with a 10½-pound pike.

Believes Sawyer Leads Phillies TowardsPennant

PHILADELPHIA, July 27 (AP) —Eddie Sawyer, whose success in handling young ball players is legend in these parts, today takes over the reins if the Philadelphia Phillies, determined to "let the kids play their own game and enjoy themselves."

Sawyer, only 37 himself, said that "if they don't enjoy the game they're not worth a dime."

The club announced Monday that Sawyer was being elevated from the post of manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League to fill the managerial shoes of the Phils, now embedded in sixth place.

Sawyer developed three of the youngsters on the Phils' National League club this year. That trio, which already has copped plenty of headlines, is made up of Richie Ashburn, Ralph Caballero and Granny Hamner.

And besides, the Phils' club is loaded with youngsters. Del Ennis is 23, Curt Simmons 19, Robin Roberts 21, Johnny Blatnik 26, Charley Bicknell, 20, and so on.

Looking Ahead

Owner Bob Carpenter isn't counting on Sawyer to achieve sensational results this year, but he's got his eye on the future and in that future he sees pennants.

For in addition to those already named, the Phils will have such youngsters next season as Ed (Puddin' Head) Jones, now third baseman at Toronto; Stan Lopata, Toronto catcher; Hugh Radcliffe, bonus pitcher now with Wilmington of the Interstate league, and Stan Hollmig, another bonus player now outfielding with Wilmington.

Sawyer will be succeeded at Toronto by Dick Porter, now manager of the Phils' Utica club of the class A Eastern League, where Eddie got his start in the Phillies system.

Sawyer is the sort of a fellow who inspires confidence in a player. Carpenter thinks he'll be able to transform Ennis from a luke-warm hitter into a kid with confidence, who plays the kind of ball of which he is capable.

Civic Holiday Golf Tourney To Attract 250

A record entry is expected for the third annual Kawartha Lakes Invitation Tournament to be held at the Kawartha Golf Club on Civic Holiday, August 2. Last year there were 233 entries and about 250 are hoped for this year The competition is basically a club affair, the Schneider Trophy is presented to the four members of a club having the lowest total gross score.

Last year the St. George's club took the trophy, and their win was due mainly to the Cassidy brothers, who are expected back this year. Ron Patterson, single gross winner in 1946, and winner at the OGA district tournament at the Peerborough club on Saturday, has entered again. Ernie Bentley of Weston, last year's winner, is also entered, and it is hoped that these two can be put into a threesome with one of the Cassidy brothers.

This year there is another attraction, the Hiram Walker Trophy for the low gross winner, which was presented this year. The tournament will be divided into three flights, with low gross and net prizes for each flight. Due to the concentration of entries in the second flight, prizes for that group have been doubled in number.

Among the better known entries are Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener who is bringing a team with him, and Johnny Koval from Sarnia, a 2-handicap player. Joe Stoddard, runner-up in the Canadian amateur, may also come, but club officials are not counting on his entry.

The tournament will be managed by a committee headed by Arnold Sanderson, and Lionel Brown, who started the tournamenth three years ago when president of the club. Local golfers will tee of as early at 7 a.m. Draw for advance entries will be carried in The Examiner on Thursday.

Sizzling Game Expected On Wednesday

Cobourg juniors play Kiwanis at Riverside tomorrow night in a game that may give the scrappy local team the lead in the junior Lakeshore League group and earn them a bye in the playoffs. Right now, Art Pagett's boys are half a game off the lead. Saturday's victory over Bowmanvile was the third straight victory for Kiwanis since July 9, including victories also over Whitby and Kinsmen. Their pitching has been excellent, but four earned runs having been scored off two pitchers, Brian Wade and Jake Jaquith in 27 innings, a record that would warm the heart of any big-leaguer.

In addition, the team as a whole is hitting well and fielding in sensational style. Fans who attend Wednesday's game should see a real contest.

The juniors merit all the support the fans can give them.

Begin Last Day Of Test Match

LEEDS, England, July 27 — (Reuters)—Australia scored 121 for one wicket before lunch today on the last day of the fourth cricket test match against England. England took its overnight second innings total to 365 for eight before putting Australia in to make 404 runs for victory.

England's innings was declared closed after two overs had added three runs to the overnight total of 362. Australia had 345 minutes to hit off the runs needed for victory.

By batting at the start of the day England was able to have the heaviest roller over the pitch with the possibility that it would help England's bowlers later.

England, however, did not seem to have the type of bowler suited to the conditions, for it was soon apparent that the pitch was taking spin when Australia set out to get the 404 runs.

Cautious Start

Arthur Morris and Lindsay Hassett made a cautious start in the Australian second innings. The rate of scoring was not fast enough to make victory certain. But when Hasset was out the pace increased. Hassett was the victim of a brilliant catch by Dennis Compton off his own bowling.

Australia's star batsman, Don Bradman, joined Morris and the Leeds crowd gave the visiting team's captain an ovation, realizing that it probably his last appearance on a Yorkshire wicket. By the lunch interval he had hit 35 runs while Morris was not out at 63.

Australia still needed 283 runs with four hours' play remaining.

The Australians won the first two test matches of the current series of five. The third was drawn.

Hank Workman Slugs Bears To 5-3 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Hank Workman, 22-year-old Newark Bears' outfielder, is following in the footsteps of Charley Keller, who left the University of Maryland in 1937 to become one of the most feared sluggers in the International League.

Workman was signed by the Bears June 29, after helping his University of Southern California nine win the National Collegiate championship.

A six-foot left-handed clubber, Workman, in 23 games for the Bears, has collected 23 hits in 76 tries for a .303 average. He has whacked seven homers.

He slammed his seventh homer Monday night to help the Bears down Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3. The victory was the Bears' seventh straight and it enabled them to pull within 6½ games of the league-leading Montreal Royals, who dropped a 7-4 decision to Syracuse Chiefs.

The Chiefs' triumph enabled them to jump from fifth to third place with the Leafs flopping to fourth, one percentage point ahead of Rochester Red Wings and Jersey City Giants, who are tied for fifth.

The Wings Monday night beat the Giants 4-1, although outhit 10-6. Errors enabled the Wings to score three of their runs while Ed Kazak homered for the fourth.

Buffalo's seventh place Bisons divided a double-header with Baltimore Orioles, winning the nightcap 6-5 after the Orioles took the opener, 5-3, in 10 innings.

Durocher Has Last Laugh As Giants Massacre Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lippy Leo Durocher today rides triumphantly into the Polo Grounds in his home debut as manager of New York Giants, with all the pomp and glory of a conquering hero.

No matter what Durocher does from now on, Giant followers will never forget what he did Monday night. Neither will the Flatbush faithful. In a setting knee-deep in drama, the former Brooklyn Dodgers pilot returned to his old stamping grounds and watched his Giants club his former hirelings into submission. The New Yorkers massacred their interborough rivals 13-4.

It was sweet revenge for Durocher, who was shipped across the river to the Giants only 10 days ago.

The Giants collected 17 base knocks against five Dodger flingers. The loquacious Durocher had taken an unmerciful booing before the start of the game. It started the minute he poked his head out of the Giant dugout and lasted until the game got under way.

Cries of "kill the quitter," and "send the bum back to New York," were hurled at him. One fan called him a "dignified bum" now that he was with the "conservative Giants."

No More Jeering

The sell-out Dodger crowd of 33,932 didn't know it then, but that was the last chance it had to jeer Durocher and the Giants. Once the game got under way, it was Leo who had the laugh.

The Giants opened up on starter Preacher Roe and before the game was 10 minutes old, Roe was en route to the showers and the Giants had a 5-0 first inning lead on six rousing hits.

Most of the subdued crowd sat disconsolately for another two hours and 26 minutes, but they could all have gone home right then. The Dodgers were through.

They managed to nick Sheldon Jones for nine hits scoring three times in the sixth and adding another in the eighth, but they were just feeble gestures.

The victory left the Giants still in fifth place, half a game behind Pittsburg Pirates. In losing, the Dodgers dropped a notch into the third place, half a game behind St. Louis Cardinals and 5½ back of the league-leading Boston Braves.

That was the only game played in the Majors Monday.

Lloyd Nolan Hollywood's Forgotten Man

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 27 (AP).—This is hereby declared Lloyd Nolan Week, in honor of Hollywood's forgotten man.

Such a celebration may finally bring due honor to the San Francisco actor, but it's doubtful. Everything else has failed. Edith Gwynn recently noted in The Hollywood Reporter that Nolan's work in a current film is bringing spontaneous applause from local audiences. This sort of thing has been going on for years.

Everybody says, "That Nolan—great actor!" Then what happens? —Nothing. Other actors continue getting plum roles and he keeps plodding along in featured parts, turning in fine performances.

Lloyd was dicussing his plight on the set of "Interference," in which he is billed below Victor Mature, Lucille Ball, Lizabeth Scott, and Sonny Tufts. "I can't understand it," he remarked, shaking his head. "Maybe it's because I don't get my name in the papers with night club brawls."

"I've never been on suspension either. I might not like a part, but when I think of how much they're paying me, I can't bring myself to turn it down." (He gets around $50,000 a picture.)

Lloyd has come close to stepping into the limelight many times since he entered films in 1934. Last year's "13 Rue Madeline" was written for him and he was deemed a cinch for stardom. Suddenly he was told he didn't look French enough to play an underground agent in France. James Cagney was given the role.

One of his finest roles was the cap in "A Tree Grows In Brooklyn." But his effort was overshadowed by James Dunn; you can't steal a picture from an actor who's playing a drunk.

But things are looking up. He is free-lancing now and has a new agent. Maybe we won't have to celebrate another Lloyd Nolan Week next year.

Heavyweight Puzzle Has Lesnevich Missing

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP).—The jigsaw puzzle that is the heavyweight boxing division is scrambled again today and one of the missing pieces is Gus Lesnevich, former light heavyweight champion of the world.

Lesnevich's defeat in London Monday night at the hands of Britain's Freddie Mills jarred the ring world and sent promoteres scraping around for new talent to toss into the wrangle for Joe Louis' vacated crown.

Only last week there was excited talk that the Brown Bomber would come out of retirement to meet Lesnevich at Yankee Stadium Sept. 22. Denied by Louis, this now has been punctured for good.

Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club, still the big stick-wielder in New York fights, disclosed tentative plans for opening of a heavyweight tournament at the Stadium Sept. 22.

Coal Exports Up

GENEVA, July 27.— (AP). — Britain exported more coal in June than in the whole of last year and more than in any month since the war. Statistics published Monday by the Economic Commission for Europe showed that in the four weeks ending June 26, British exports totalled 10,035,000 metric tons, or more than 14 times the figure for the same period last year.

Yorks Down Fergus

WESTON, Ont., July 27 (CP).— Weston West Yorks downed Fergus Thistles 22-12 Monday night in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior tilt. Referees Jay McDonald and Billy Fitzgerald of St. Catharines, handed out 13 penalties. Gord Cruickshank and Jack Dorney each scored five times for Weston while Jim Gray, Gord Allewell and Ted Downer got two goals each. For Fergus, Hec McKenzie with five goals was outstanding.

Freddie Mills Downs Lesnevich In 15 Rounds

LONDON, July 27 — (AP). — Ring-scarred Gus Lesnevich sailed Friday for home in the United States minus the world light heavyweight boxing championship and his once-bright hopes of fighting for the heavyweight crown.

Freddie Mills, beetle-browed Briton, scrambled Gus' future Monday night in a surprise upset. The former carnival clouter won the 175-pound crown with a 15-round decision before the largest crowd ever to see a fight in England.

Promoter Jack Solomons packed 46,000 into White City Stadium and grossed around $300,000.

Lesnevich, twice banged to the canvas and left with ugly gashes around both eyes, immediately announced he was discarding his heavyweight aspirations in favor of another shot at Mills. It would be the third bout between the two.

Lesnevich scored a 10th-round knockout over Mills in 1946. This time, however, he failed to pack the same authority in his fists after taking off some 10 pounds to make the weight. He barely squeaked in at 174¾ while Mills weighed 170½.

Freddie exploded in the 10th round. He spun Gus with a left, then dropped him for a count of nine. Lesnevich rose weakly, only to be banged to the canvas again for nine.

Referee Teddy Waltham, the only official, didn't hesitate in giving his verdict. The crowd exulted: "That's our Freddie!"

The bout was fairly close despite the fact Lesnevich absorbed the bulk of the punishment. The Associated Press score sheet gave seven rounds to Gus, five to Mills and counted three even.

2,000 Homeless Despite Building Boom

By MICHAEL O'HARA

DUBLIN, July 27 (CP). — There's a building boom in Dublin but 2,000 families remain homeless because of "misgovernment and mismanagement," says Joseph Murray, recording secretary of the House and Room Dwellers' Protective Association.

Real estate values have climbed sharply in the Dublin-Dun Laoghaire area and houses — many of them with "Sold" signs in the windows before the roofs are on —at a selling price of between £2,500 ($10,000) and £,000 are being biult as fast as licenses are available. Sometimes the new homes are offered for rent at between £6 and £ weekly — a high rate for Dublin.

The Government, seeking a more equitable distribution of housing, has appointed a Housing Consultative Council to co-ordinate building and to ease the shortage by renovating existing buildings.

Murray's association, meanwhile, has demanded that the authorities refuse further licenses to "luxury" builders until 5,000 pre-fabricated houses are erected to meet Dublin's immediate needs.

Partition Again

Eire leaders still are seeking ways and means to end partition between their country and Northern Ireland. Latest suggestion —a customs union to form a partial link between North and South —has been advanced by Sean MacBride, Minister for External Affairs.

"Many more things should be done by ourselves to solve partition . . . I agree that possibly the British are not themselves in a position to undo the effects of partition by one stroke of the pen," he said.

Landslide Threatens To Block Highway

GODERICH, July 27—(CP)—A landslide here Monday night threatened to block the Blue Water highway during a torrential rain storm and highways department officials erected a barricade to block the possibility.

A side of Saltford Hill gave way as driving rains washed out the area. Washout of the hillside carried trees and underbrush about 100 feet towards the Maitland golf links.

The Ontario Highways Department moved quickly to avoid the smothering of the road at this point. Fences were erected along the highway and traffic was retarded.

Although many crops throughout the area were flattened, most fields withstood the onslaught of the storm. Many streets were flooded when sewers became plugged. A few trees in the city were blown down.

Machinist Electrocuted

HAMILTON, July 27.—(CP).—Alvin James Alexander, 30, a machinist at the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Locomotive shops here, was electricuted Monday. Police said he was repairing a motor when the accident occurred.

DES JOACHIMS RAPIDS, Que., July 27.—(CP).—Three of the six bodies of the riggers drowned here last Wednesday were recovered Monday. A fourth was recovered Sunday. The bodies have been identified as that of Roy McDonald, Romeo Chaput, Aldemore Bertrand and Edward Picotte, all of this district.

Buys New Headlight Clue Leads To Arrest

MORRISBURG, July 27—(CP)—Earl Baker, a Winchester farmer, Monday purchased a new headlight glass for his car and found himself in police custody.

Police said the new glass was to replace the one smashed Sunday when Baker allegedly struck Mrs. Bob Durant of Winchester with his car and raced from the scene of the accident.

The woman was found beside the road in an unconscious state, suffering from scalp wounds and body and leg abrasions.

Police were tipped when Baker made his purchase in a neighborhood garage. They booked him with the charge of leaving the scene of the accident. He was later released on $500 bail.

No Air Show Invitation For Canadian Attache

MOSCOW, July 27.—(CP). — Group Capt. L. H. Randall, DFC, of Saint John and Ottawa, Canadian air attache in Moscow, was not invited to the Russian air show Sunday attended by the British and American air representatives. No explanation was given.

Canadian defence headquarters at Ottawa last week deliberately excluded the Russians from a group of foreign military attaches invited to visit a Quebec military camp.

Army officials said the Soviet representative, Lt.-Col. Nikolai N. Zerof, was excluded for the same reason he was left out of a simlar visit to another camp last year—that Russians denied such privileges to Canadian representatives in Russia.

500 Firemen Meet

DUNDAS, July 27.—(CP). — Five hundred firemen, with equipment and bands, will gather here Friday for the 47th convention of the Ontario Firemen's Association. Demonstrations of fire equipment, parades of bands and drill teams, sports and a midway are included in the four-day program.

2 Crew Members Given Freedom

NEW YORK, July 27—(AP)—Two of nine crew members of a bomber involved in a mystery flight from Westchester County airport to the Azores via Halifax were ordered released Monday.

The two men, Hyman Mark, 23, and Sholom Solowitz, 25, both of Brooklyn, were taken into immigration custody when they arrived from the Azores Saturday. Neither had a passport.

W. Frank Watkins, district immigration director, said Monday the state department had evidence of the citizenship of the two.

The other crew members were freed, except the pilot, Irvin Ronald Schindler. He was released in $1,000 bail on a charge of violating the Neutrality Act by exporting without a licence a plane which was classified as a war weapon.

The four-engined plane took off from Halifax July 17 ostensibly to return to its starting point in Westchester County, N.Y. Instead, it flew to the Azores.

Speeding U.S. Tourist Jailed For 15 Days

OTTAWA, July 27 (CP). — A speeding American tourist, halted by police at gun-point after a 90-mile-an-hour chase, today was jailed for 15 days when he was unable to pay a $159.50 fine.

The tourist was Dr. Louis J. Connor, 50, of Dushore, Pa., a dentist. He struck and damaged four cars and continued on at break-neck speed. Today he pleaded guilty to charges of dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident. His badly-damaged car was still in the hands of the police.

"I didn't think there was much damage to any of them," was the explanation given by the dentist for failing to stop after his series of collisions.

Fined on Money Count

WINDSOR, July 27.—(CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Greenwood, of Detroit, Monday were fined a total of $664 on three charges of unlawful export of Canadian money to the United States. Mr. Greenwood was fined $500 when he admitted exporting from $5,000 to $6,000. Two other charges resulted in a $100 fine against Mrs. Greenwood and a $50 fine against her husband.

Canada Taking No Chances On Television

OTTAWA, July 27 — (CP) — Canada is taking no chances that a growing American television industry may grab off all broadcasting channels before the Dominion gets her own television stations in operation, expected by the end of 1949.

Officials of the transport department and the CBC are bargaining with the American Federal Communications Commission for the right to certain television broadcasting channels along the border.

The pact, if consummated, would cover a belt 250 miles deep on each side of the boundary, involving virtually all major Canadian cities. By the same measure Canada would also guarantee not to allow her stations to interfere with American stations in channels set aside for them.

Only 12 channels are available to go around and there have been some objections from the American industry which sees the tentative act as tying up expansion plans near the border. They say that Canada is taking a dog-in-the manger attitude when there is no industry here.

Looking Ahead

However, the Canadians say there soon will be a growing industry and frequencies will be needed. Government officials say that although there are only 12 channels, the brief television range makes the figure deceptive. One expert said that actually the horizon is the broadcasting limit and it will be possible for more than one station to use the same wavelength within the 250-mile belt.

For example, Rochester, N.Y., and Montreal may use the same frequency but be far enough apart not to bother each other. However, the same would not hold true for Windsor and Detroit. Consequently the tentative pact to stagger the stations.

The CBC, at the first meeting of its Board of Governors after Oct. 1, will consider the right of private individuals to open television stations.

One of the three stations available in Toronto will be reserved for the CBC for its contemplated national establishment as soon as the necessary financing can be arranged. Two applications have been received for the remaining two. Oct. 1 has been set as the deadline for others.

Son Presumed Dead After Holland Air Raid But Father Waits In Station Every Day

LONDON, July 27 — (CP) — John Sutherland, 65, of Vancouver, stands 10 hours daily under the clock at Kings' Cross station.

He is waiting for his son Wilfred who was reported "presumed dead" when shot down off Holland in an RAF bombers in 1943.

Sutherland believe he saw his son under the clock four months ago and intends to wait under it for the next three months.

"Some intuition made me visit the station when I came here in March," he said. "Not even thinking of my son, I stood beneath the clock for a few minutes.

"Suddenly I saw him. He stared at me, looked away and went into the ticket office. I waited. When he returned he looked hard at me again. Then I was sure.

"I ran after him but lost sight of him. Though I spent an hour at the station and looked in every departing train, I saw no more of him.

"Two days later I returned to Canada. I wrote at once to Scotland Yard. The letter was passed to the Air Ministry.

"But I couldn't wait for official inquiries so I flew back to England.

"Every days since I arrived two weeks ago I've stayed at Kings' Cross until the last train went out. I feel sure if I wait long enough I shall see my son again."

Residents Stalk Bear

HENSALL, Ont., July 27. — CP).—Armed with high-powered hunting rifles, a party of district men searched a bush in Huron county after a mother bear and her four cubs were reported munching berries at the edge of an oat field. The party returned Monday night reporting their search fruitless.

Court Crowded As Bank Clerk Brought Back

ST. JEROME, Que., July 27—(CP)—Crowds stood in a drizzle of rain Monday to see a 24-year-old bank clerk and her lover brought back to this holiday resort to face conspiracy charges in a $14,000 faked bank robbery.

The pair spent the week-end in custody in Montreal.

Police said pretty Marguerite Morand stole the money from the bank and passed it to her suitor Emile Cote, a man who already was married to a woman he allegedly defrauded of $2,000 and then deserted.

Cote was arrested in Toronto last Friday on a warrant sworn out by his wife, charging him with non-support. Mrs. Cote told police she had met her husband in Toronto and after a whirlwind courtship they were married. Two days later Emile borrowed $2,000 from her and then disappeared, she said.

The handsome bartender was whisked through a side entrance into the jail while gaping natives craned for a glimpse of the man who rocketed to prominence since his arest in Toronto last week.

The crowd surged upstairs to the courtroom for the hearing but authorities decided it was too jammed and heard her plea for release on bail downstairs in part of the jail.

Bail was set at $5,000. The girl's worried father handed over the money and left with his daughter, free until Friday when she and Cote will be arraigned.

Cote was remanded in custody until then.

New Power Plant At Hospital Damages Lots

Relocation of the power plant of the new Civic Hospital will be proposed to the architects who are being asked to meet the hospital committee of the council some time this week.

This was the decision of the committee Monday night in a motion by Ald. M. J. Swanston and Mayor Wm. Ovens, which also directed that Hugh Stewart be invited to attend. Ald. Dick Raine presided with all the members of the council present.

The plan of buildings on the 40 acres which the city bought from Mr. Stewart for the hospital site and grounds places the power plant so close to the contemplated projection of Weller St. along the north side of the property that the realty value of his property on the north side of the proposed street extension has been seriously depreciated, Mr. Stewart told the Raine committee Monday night. He named six or seven citizens who had bought from his lots at $1,000 on which, he said, they had intended to build houses for themselves costing up to $20,000 and $30,000.

Checked Building

Prospect of the smoke stack of the power house of the hospital a short distance from them had checked their residential plans, leaving in present doubt the development of a large subdivision north of the extension of Weller St. which Mr. Stewart said, would create substantial property value in that desirable and attractive section of the city.

"When the city bought my property for the hospital I was very happy about it," Mr. Stewart said. "I had in mind the developing the rest of my land to the north, and making what it should be as the extension of that residential area of the city."

Spacious lots were bought by prominent citizens with the purpose of erecting houses for themselves north of the hospital grounds, but development plans were halted when it became known that the power house was to be located north of the hospital and close to Weller St.

"My request is that you move the power house south and west of the hospital," Mr. Stewart said. "I have lived out there nine years, and I know that the prevailing winds are from the northwest. If you move the power house where I suggest it will not interfere with the hospital location, and it will encourage the building of the residence which have been planned for that section."

Willing To Give Deed

Mr. Stewart said that the realty development of some 30 additional lots was affected. "I have been willing to co-operate with the city from the very beginning. I was willing to give a deed of a 66-foot strip across my property for the extension of Weller St. from its present end to the west side of my place, all the way back of the hospital. The next thing I heard was that the council was going to put the power house close to Weller St. extension and expropriate the street strip."

Mr. Stewart said the basis of his request to the council was that the transfer of the power plant site which he proposed would not detract from the appearance of the hospital allocation of its buildings. He recalled that he had presented his appeal to the council months ago, but it was referred to the architects, and that was the last he had heard of it.

After Mr. Stewart had left the committee room, Mayor Ovens suggested: "We can ask the architects to give early consideration to the location of the power house."

Hold Up Contract

Ald. Gordon Armstrong: "We should not sign a contract for the building of the power plant until this matter of its location has been definitely settled."

Ald. Doug Miller: "Could we direct the architects to try to get some other location?"

Ald. Swanston: "We can give them an opportunity of moving it, or of giving reasons why it should not be."

Ald. Adam Sands: "We could get the architects to come here."

Ald. Swanston: "Next Monday night? We have a council meeting."

Mayor Ovens: "The sooner the better."

Ald. Swanston: 'Then, I'll move we ask the architects to meet this committee as soon as possible. It should be some time this week."

Ald. Hugh Waddell: "And invite Mr. Stewart."

Mayor Ovens seconded the Swanston motion.

A BASS STRING of seven beauties taken at the floating bridge, Gannon's Narrows on Sunday proves that small-mouth species are still in abundance in Kawartha waters. Largest of this string held by Jack Scott, left, and Arthur Parnell, was caught by Mrs. Parnell, an English war bride, her first fishing trip in Canada; it weighted over four pounds.

Princess Sends Letter To City For Canoe Gift

City Clerk Outram received today the following letter from Princess Elizabeth:

"I am most grateful to the citizens of Peterborough for the canoe they so kindly sent me as an additional wedding present.

"I accept it with greatest pleasure and shall be glad if you will tell the citizens how glad the Duke of Edinburgh and I are to have in our possession this delightful canoe which leaves us in no doubt of the skil of the craftsmen of Peterborough."

This distinctly Peterborough product was made by the Peterborough Canoe Company and its men who are specialists in that branch of boatbuilding. It was planned as a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth and her husband, and was sent to London by the City Council.

They Never Learn

Despite the work of governmental departments some resort owners fail to heed the advice: Improve property. Sunday afternoon an Amercan party stopped in at the Junior Chamber of Commerce information bureau. They were bound for a resort and required direction. Direction was given. A few hours later the party returned to the Bureau. The resort, they said, had been misrepresented in advertising. They were going home. Despite attempts to prove that one egg doesn't make the whole basket bad, the Americans left for home via the Thousand Islands.

THE END OF THE ROAD

Peterborough and district holding its own in the realm of modern history had a slight reverse Sunday. One American stopping at the Jaycee Bureau came up with an odd query. Native of Kentucky, he asked: "How far is it to the end of the road—over the hill to the hillbilly country?"

The Jaycee operator was stumped.

$200 Gift Given To Playgrounds

An anonymous citizen has contributed $200 to the Recreation Commission for a program encouraging children to keep the playgrounds clean and tidy. As a result, a clean-up campaign is being organized at all city playground. It was won last week, the first of the campaign, by Inverlea playground, followed by Confederation, King Edward, Fleming, Riverside, Dixon House and Prince of Wales.

Playgrounds are rated on the cleanest ground when inspected and on the effort made by the children during the week to keep the playgrounds tidy. Cash awards are made to each playground and are used for such activities as corn roasts, wiener roasts and picnics.

SEA CADET TRAINING

Sea Cadet PO Don Buchan, of 294 Lake St., is one of 12 boys from Ontario who have been selected to attend a special petty officers' training coures at the RCN Station, Esquimault, B.C PO Buchan will leave Peterborough on Wednesday, and the two weeks' course will commence at the beginning of next week.

7 Large Bass Caught Off Gannon's Bridge

Mrs. Arthur Parnell, English war bride of Hamilton, got the thrill of her life on Sunday when she participated in a bass-fishing junket at the floating bride, Gannon's Narrows, in company with her husband, Jack Scott, Miss B. Rellinger and Jack Ryan of Peterborough. Armed with a cheap rod and lowly dew worm she hauled in the largest small mouth bass in the party's catch of seven, a beauty over four pounds; the smallest was 2½ and four more got away.

Mr. Parnell, before serving overseas, had made many fishing trips to Kawartha waters, but says this is the best he has ever experienced; his former successes were with pickerel. The visiting fishermen are now planning to go after 'lunge in Lake Katchewanooka after hearing of the Grey and Bruce derby winner that was taken there on July 1st.

Celebrates 93rd Birthday

Thomas Milburn, "grand old man of Smith Twp.", is 93 today. Mr. Milburn who is living at the home of his son, Elmer Milburn, RR 4, Peterborough, is said to be in good health considering his age. However his legs are bothering him now so that he is no longer able to get around as he once did. As he enters his 94th year, now the oldest man in Smith Twp., he finds his chief hobby in extensive reading which he is still able to do without the aid of glasses.

Few Restaurants Closing Down During Summer

People who eat out in restaurants need have no fear of being caught without an eating place in the city during the vacation season. Unlike some cities, very few restaurants are going to close down completely in order to give employees their holidays.

A check of several eating establishments in Peterborough shows that few, if any of the restaurants, are closing down. A few of the smaller refreshment booths and refreshment stands where only one or two people are employed have decided to lock up for a week while the proprietor and his helpers go fishing. The majority of places are staggering vacation periods so that a complete shut-down is unnecessary.

Two of the largest and most popular restaurants are so new that their employees are not yet eligible for a vacation.

Few employers grant vacations unless the employee has been working in the establishment for at least six months. And as many of the people employed in this business frequently seek other jobs, this also adds to the ineligible list.

Those that do close their doors to their customers out of necessity often take advantage of the period to have a painting and decorating job done on the interior of the building, and they overhaul the kitchen equipment.

Worker For 53 Years At Auburn Mill

Funeral service for the late James Davidson, 80, formerly of Peterborough, was held at the Kaye funeral home on Monday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper of George Street United Church officiated and burial was at Little Lake Cemetery. Pallbearers were Roy Sanderson, Jack Tremaine, James and John Jones, Clifford Tyader and Norman Killingbeck.

Mr. Davidson, a resident of the city all his life, died a week ago Sunday while visiting at the home of his daughter in Vancouver. He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson, and was a retired wool finisher, having worked at the former Auburn Woollen Mill for 53 years. He was a member of George Street United Church and of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Bags His Second 32-Pound Muskie

CAMPBELLFORD, July 27. — (ENS).—John E. Barrett of Toronto has been doing well with his fishing at a spot he knows in Mud Lake. As far back as ten years ago, he took a 32-pound 'lunge from the weed beds, and since then has lifted a good one every summer.

On Monday evening, as guest of a local lodge, he struggled for half an hour with another big muskie and finding both net and gaff of no avail, played the fighting fish and succeeded in lifting it into his outboard boat by the gills at the expense of cut hands; it too weighed 32 pounds and taped 49 inches. Mr. Barrett is a veteran of the Boer War and World War I and says that his early soldiering had put him in just the right trim to handle the big fish he catches in the Campbellford area.

City Council To Petition Municipal Board

City Trust funds for the construction of a concrete bandstand at Inverlea Park costing approximately $11,000 are not available to the council, according to information from the Commission before the board of works last night. It appeared to be a case of you can't have your cake and eat it, too.

Council has diverted to its own custody rentals from city properties which were long in the care of the Trust. George St. and Ashburnham store tenants are now paying their monthly contributions into the city hall. Hence, the Trust has informed the council that it has not on hand enough money to pay for the park stand that is being built by Eastwood Construction Co.

But, the Trust has still some funds from debenture sinking funds which they contend are restricted to the paying of interest and the redemption of maturing bonds.

As to the suggestion that authority might be obtained from the Ontario Municipal Board to draw on this remaining money of the Trust, the council was informed that such application by the Trust did not seem proper. So, the council decided last night that they proceed with the approach to the Board. The recommendation was moved by Aldermen Swanston and Raine.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

PLAYGROUND PARADE POSTPONED

Many children turned up at Riverside playground on Monday afternoon with gaily decorated bicycles, scooters and wagons, only to be disappointed as the Children's Bicycle Parade had to be again postponed owing to bad weather. The parade will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday.

NEED CADDIES

A call for caddies for the Kawartha Lakes Golf Tournament has already gone out from club officials. A record entry of 250 golfers is expected this year at the Kawartha and more caddies will be needed than in other years. Details of a pickup service for caddies who cannot get out to the club will be announced later.

ROTARY MEETING

Dr. Ernest Nickel, Walt Disney imitator, entertained the Peterborough Rotary Club at it sweekly meeting on Monday at the Empress Hotel. Dr. Nickel was introduced by Tom Taylor and thanked by Sid Black. W. J. Hamilton presided and among the guests present were Acting Mayor Max Swanston, Aldermen Hurrell Dodds, P. J. Anglesey and Grant Miller.

GETS THREE MUSKIES

Harry Pulley, James St., foreman at the De Laval plant, and his wife, had a fine streak of fishing luck over the week-end They hooked and landed three muskies in the lower Otonabee Mrs. Pulley got the first one, a 13 and later in the day her husband snagged a nine pounder. This was Saturday afternoon. On Sunday they went back and Mr. Pulley landed a 14 pounder after a lively tussle.

SIGN STOPS TOURISTS

Activity at the Jaycee Tourist Information Bureau over the week-end included the erection of a large sign on the bureau roof. The sign paitned by Jaycees indicates that fishing, vacationing and accommodation information are available. It also states that the Bureau is "operated by the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce." Previously tourists complained they didn't see the bureau location due to the lack of signing. Signs recently erected are very effective in stopping tourist traffic, bureau operators report.

Jaycees Place 155 Tourists On Busy Week-end; Serve 81 Cars In Two Days

Jaycees on duty in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tourist Information Bureau located on Highway 28 reported one of the heaviest traffic week-ends since the bureau was opened June 28. Statistics taken from the log book showed 81 cars stopped at the bureau, 93 tourists were given direction, and 155 were placed in district resort, lodge or cabin accommodation.

Tourists from 11 of the United States and as far south as Lexington, Kentucky, called at the bureau between Friday night and Monday afternoon for information.

In the accommodation section the Jaycees were able to fill requests for from one night accommodation to two weeks at district resorts. Heavy demand for the housekeeping type of cabin required the Jaycees to use their reserve listing of cottages on district lakes.

Late Sunday afternoon accommodation in local tourist camps was at a premium, and it was necessary to draw on hotel accommodation to meet the demand.

Entries in the log book showed a variety of enquiries ranging from: "Where is there a good fishing spot?" and "We have no reservations; can you get us accommodation?" to "Can you get a housekeeping cabin for a family of six " to "We just want to stay overnight close to the city?"

Don Grace, Canton, Ohio, an ex-Jaycee, came into Canada for his first trip. He had no accommodation. "I'm in trouble," he said. "Can you help me out?" Ten minutes later he and his family were bound for Indian Head Lodge and a bureau-arranged reservation.

Taken For a Ride

J. Warner, Meadville, Pennsylvania, would have completely passed the Jaycee Bureau if one passenger had had not noticed the "Junior Chamber of Commerce" name on the overhead sign. Warner later related that when crossing at Buffalo, N.Y., he had to pay $5 for information and "got a fast tour of the city before leaving for Canada."

Claude Hewitt, regular Jaycee Bureau Sunday operator, reported that the past week-end was the heaviest since the bureau opened. During one rush period Sunday afternoon three American cars were on the parking lot.

One problem of the visiting tourist lies in highway sign routing. A number of tourists travelling north-bound on Highway 28 were "enroute to Toronto." After stopping for directions, they turned around and followed the proper route to their destination.

New ventures in servicing tourist crop up every day. Sending telegrams, plotting railway trips and use of the bureau as a rendezvous meeting for tourists expecting friends from the city, or another car in their party, have been recorded in the log book.

Would Give Power Plant Job to Eastwood

Contractor Says Work Cannot Be Completed Before Spring

Letting of a contract to Eastwood Construction Company for the building of the power plant and laundry at Civic Hospital was recommended to the council Monday night by its hospital committee in a motion by Mayor W. C. Ovens, seconded by Ald. Herbert Young.

The company has the contract for the main buildings of the hospital. In their agreement with the city they accapted a clause that on any further work they would charge only 60 per cent of thei rfee for the main job.

"I'm bound to accept your contract, but you are not bound to give it," was the way Mr. J. Hubert Eastwood interpreted that phase of the original agreement.

Board of Governors urged the council several weeks ago to proceed with the construction of the power house to ensure the heating of the main building during the winter as a necessary accommodaton for the workmen who, it has been expected, would be engaged on interior details when the cold weather sets in and the hospital is roofed.

Ald. Grant Miller asked Mr. Eastwood whether the heating plant would be completed within that time, or would it be as late as February.

'Roughly, I would say next spring," was Mr. Eastwood's reply.

The Governors had stressed to the council the necessity of immediate action in letting the contract for the power plant, advising that it should be within 30 days. To comply with the representation from the Board, the hospital committee proceeded last night to take advanage of the special clause in the agreement with the Eastwood Construction Co. Lt is understood that their fee bid for the main building was on the basic of cubic footage on the main structure, and that if they were called on for any other building they would cut their fee to 60 per cent of the original.

As to the cost of the building, only approximate estimates have been mentioned so far. The amount of $538,000 was suggested by the Board of Governors. Mr. Eastwood said he had not received the plans of the laundry and power plant unttil July 19, that his staff was on vacation last week, and that he did not have time to go into the matter of estimating. He also said that he had not provided the Governors with any approximation of cost.

That point was explained in the information that the Governors, for the purposes of scanning ultimate costs of the hospital, had found that the contractors' figures on other work were generally 14% less than the architects', and it was on that basis that the $538,000 was arrived at.

"I'm in no position at the present time to give an estimate," was Mr. Eastwood's statement to the committee.

Where To Get Money?

Ald. M. J. Swanston, chairman of the finance committee, again asked the question "Where are we going to get the money?" As an approach to the answer to that question, Mr. Eastwood is being asked for an early estimate of the cost of the boiler house and laundry, and, as Ald. Raine commented: "The next thing will be for the finance committee to find the money." That means the Swanston question bounces right back into his own hands.

One phase of financing the completion of the hospital was the comment of Ald. Swanston that for the large amount of money that would be required, half a million for the power plant and laundry with the nurses' residence still to be provided for, the proposed expenditure should be referred to the electors next December. Mayor Ovens agreed with that reference to the ratepayers.

"You don't have to unless you want to," said Ald. Adam Sands. "You have already set a precedent by granting $140,000 to the hospital across the river."

Ald. Swanston: "I think you're right. But, at least we would have to get the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board."

Ald. Gordon Armstrong asked Mr. Eastwood: "If we got started now on the power house will it be finished in time to heat the main building next winter."

"It will not," Mr. Eastwood replied.

"Well, is there any advantage in going ahead now with the power house?" Mayor Ovens asked.

Heavy Pipe Scarce

That question was not answered. Mr. Eastwood suggested to the committee that, as a possibility, it might be touch and go for the completion of the power plant by the winter of 1949-50. Actually, he said completion by next year. "Heavy pipe is running about six months delivery. That is bound to slow up the job."

Several of the aldermen mentioned again the Board of Governors' desire for heat this winter.

"We are practically into August now," said Mr. Eastwood. "It can't be done."

Mayor Ovens asked whether Mr. Eastwood had been consulted by the Board respecting the power plant job.

"That subject was never discussed with me," Mr. Eastwood answered.

City Clerk Outram pointed to a roll of plans of the power plant and laundry, and said they had been recently received.

Ald. Swanston: "I think we are just wasting our time and Mr. Eastwood's talking any more about this matter. We have the plans, and we should go ahead with them. That is all we can do, and we are doing what has been asked of us."

Ald. Raine: "We had a meeting several weeks ago with the chairman of the Board of Governors. We were told that we should get on with the heating job within 30 days. That is why this meeting was called. We thought we were well under the line; now we find we are away back."

Mayor Ovens: "Well, as Ald. Swanston says — 'We've got to have a boiler house'. There is no purpose in any delay. We can ask Mr. Eastwood to go ahead as soon as he can, and the work will be partly done this fall."

Women's Role Seen More Vital Hon. Iva C. Fallis

Giving the keynote address to 525 delegates of the American Federation of Soroptimists as they opened their tenth biennal convention at Toronto, Monday, Senator Iva Campbell Fallis challenged the women to keep developing their interest in public affairs.

Soroptomists, she declared, need to discuss matters of common interest. The theme of the convention is "Working For the World We Want." Defining this goal, she said that soroptimists wanted for all peoples on earth the four freedoms of the Atlantic Charter—soroptimists want the best for women, the best not only for women of our own countries but for the women of the world.

Answering the reactionary cry that women's place is in the home, the senator suggested that women's place is wherever she can do a good job and wherever she is most needed, and surely, she added, "There was never a time in the world's history when the voice and influence of woman was more necessary — both in national and international fields of service."

In telling of the action taken by the UN in the formation of a sub-committee to the Commission on Human Rights, namely that on the status of women, she told of members agreeing that the subcommittee should last till women the world over were on an equal footing with men in all fields of human endeavor—the self-imposition of a life sentence, she felt. Canada was not represented on this commission elected from 18 countries. The soroptimist clubs might take a firm stand with other non-political women's organizations in askng that Canadian women be represented at future meetings of the United Nations, she said.

The war had shown that women were capable of "satisfactorily discharging new obligations and assuming new responsibiltes." Because of ths and because of their sacrifices, all countries should recognize the right of women to a voice in nternatonal affairs, she argued. While the battle for women's freedoms has been won in theory, it is far from won in practice. In a survey that included 74 countries, it was shown that 47 now have legal provisions giving women equal rights wth men on franchise and elegibility for public office; 23 do not have any such provisions and two grant limited rights. In Argentina, Venezuela and Costa Rica, however, "women are being granted the right to vote as the happy result of public interest created by the appointment of the United Nations Commission on the status of women.

During the afternoon session President Mrs. Hazel Hackett and Vice-president Mrs. Gertrude B. Huitt told of endless miles covered in the study of conditions which might be bettered by soroptomist effort and of the work entailed in the bringing of new clubs within the federation in the coming year.

DOROTHY DIX

Every Girl Should Be Able To Earn Her Own Living

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 18 years old. My people are fairly well-to-do and it is not necessary that I should work, but my Dad is always telling me that he would feel easier in his mind if I would study some trade or profession whereby I could be self-supporting in case anything should happen to him. What do you think about this?—ALICE H.

ANSWER: I think every girl should have some good trade at her fingertips by which she can earn her own bread and butter and a little jam on the side.

Nobody knows what the future has in store for any of us. But we know for a certainty that as long as we live we are going to be hungry three times a day, and have to have clothes to cover us and a roof to shelter us. If we do not know how to get these for ourselves we are always standing on the brink of abject misery, for none are so wretched as those who are starved and ragged and homeless.

There is no surety that a girl will get married, or, if she does, that her husband will be able to support her. And even the best of husbands often die, or become invalids, and the wife suddenly is called upon to support the family. That is a catastrophe if she has no trade, but it becomes merely a misfortune if she has some way of making a living.

Meet Any Emergency

So my advise to you is to listen to your Dad. Study some profession and perfect yourself in it so that you can meet any emergency.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are four girls planning to hitch-hike out West. We are not going to tell our parents of our plans as they are very old-fashioned and wouldn't approve of it. What is your advice to us?—FOUR GIRLS WHO WANT TO HAVE A LITTLE FUN.

ANSWER: If you will take my advice, you will put such a mad idea out of your minds and never think of it again. Nothing but your ignorance of life could make you contemplate for an instant doing a thing that might bring disaster to you.

To begin with, your chances of getting free transportation West would be practically nil. Very few cars pick up hitch-hikers these days. It is a pastime that has proven to be very dangerous. Many kind-hearted people have been murdered by the hitch-hikers to whom they gave a lift, and, conversely, many a girl has rued the day she ever got into a stranger's car.

So get over this crazy idea and stay at home. I am sure you can get all of the fun you want right in your home town.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Don't you think it a good plan for a wife to make her husband jealous occasionally? Lately, in order to stir up a little interest, I have been leaving my husband in doubt as to what I do or where I go when he is out of town. He seems to be becoming a little suspicious of me, so I am in hopes that he won't take me so much for granted.

What's do you think of the idea?—A WIFE.

ANSWER: It seems to me that there are difficulties, danger and troubles enough in married life without a woman deliberately going out to rouse the green monster in her husband's breast and make him suspicious of her.

The first thing you know you will find yourself involved in an ugly scandal and you will wind up in the divorce court. Before marriage it may pique a boy's interest in a girl to think she is interested in other boys and has dates with them, but a husband wants to feel secure in his wife's heart and to know that she is the only man.

THE LONG LINE bag looks like a fall hold-over since it appears in so many collections and is one of the most popular items in store handbag stocks. The handles extend down the sides to accentuate the line.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 28

Some sudden development, an opportunity to put over a brilliant coup, promises rather spectacular performance, with promotion, preferment or possible public recognition. This should be readily grasped and pushed into highly novel of constructive grooves, while the tension is high. But industry, well-planned and carefully executed techniques and systematic formula, may give surprising returns of long-term and cumulative value. Femine or family influence may be counted upon. Work for futures with ingenuity and originality. Basic issues are to be put to the test.

Those whose birthday it is, may be prepared to grasp with determination and avidity, some rather surprising opportunity, of long range benefit, with possible recognition from influential sources, probably public appreciation. But originality, startling innovation or brilant performance must be sustained by hard work, shrewd and clever tactics, with a view to future security as well as basic solidarity. An unlooked-for turn of events might furnish romance and high adventure. The feminine, social, cultural or family equations might be accented and happily.

A child born on this day is splendidly endowed with unusual ideas, talents and characteristics for a brilliant, adventurous and honored career—carved from its own excellent qualities.

New York Woman Raises Tigers In Zoo Nursery

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP).—A simple frame house across the street from the Bronx Zoo has changed hands. The former landlady was nervous because her tenant was raising simultaneously a tigress, a black leopard and two lion cubs.

"I bought the house and lot," says Mrs. Helen Martini, keeper of the zoo's animal nursery, "because she worried about the animays eating her grandchild while I was upstairs coaxing my little babies to eat a bite of meat.

Mrs. Martini, only woman keeper in the largest zoo in the world, has quite a record.

Single-handed, she has raised four tigers, three lions and a leopard because the mothers were too ferocious to tend to that chore themselves. As a personal hobby she breeds and raises vampire bats, pack rats, ground squirrels and white-footed mice.

As a daily occupation she presides over a delicately tinted pink-and-blue nursery in the 300-lion house. Her charges include a new born bambi (white-tailed deer), an addax (African antelope bred for the first time in captivity), a young orang-outang, a woolly monkey from South Africa and a cageful of tiny marmosets.

She weighs 100 pounds, "but when I worry as I did this Spring when Dacca, one of the tigers I raised, had her first litter of four, I dropped to 85 pounds.

Sat Up For 24 Hours

"The curator wouldn't let me in the cage. I sat next to it for 24 hours. Two cubs came in the morning, but the other two weren't born until afternoon. When it was all over Dacca took them out of the box and brought them over to me."

Mrs. Martini says she has never been hurt. "It's just a matter of getting them young," she says, "and treating them nice."

She disdains tricks as "unnatural." "This is no circus. If they do anything real bad, I give them a slap."

At 36, Mrs. Martini has dainty dimensions, diffident gestures, a decided manner and the handclasp of a cow puncher. Her husband is the keeper of the lion house. As a child in Newfoundland, where she was born, and later in New York, where she was raised, she was preoccupied with bords.

"My mother sent me for a pair of shoes I needed," she recalls, "and I bought two canaries. I saved all my pin money for birds. I tamed wild starlings, made little cages myself. I was the pest of the pet shops."

An only child herself, Mrs. Martini has no children of her own. She thinks that may explain her absorption with animals.

"I just take care of them like you would a baby. I use a typical baby formula — and don't worry too much. None of them ever has been unruly or mean. They listen to the tone of your voice.

"I'm well paid when I walk in to see them on exhibit on a Sunday afternoon and in front of 500 people they come over to greet me."

MIDSUMMER BLACK DRESS —The little black dress, big in charm and wearability is a must for smart city children come midsummer. Superfluity Shop Sells Wide Range Goods, Curios

OTTAWA, July 27 (CP). — A braclet of human hair . . . a golf-bag . . . a set of teeth . . .

Hardly items on the average shopping-list, but these are examples of what can be had for the asking — plus a modest sum of money—at the Ottawa Superfluity Shop.

During the war similar shops were started across the Dominion as a wartime activity of the Canadain Red Cross. But the Ottawa store has remained to take a permanent place in the life of the Capital.

It's the spot where the girl setting up housekeeping goes looking for inexpensive pictures and knick-knacks to fill that bare corner in the living-room.

And tourists make a point of dropping in, seeking curios for the folks at home.

When attic-cleaning time comes 'round, housewives keep the shop in mind for books, antiques and any articles they can't use.

And when mother finds young Johnnie has outgrown his new spring suit, she knows the "Sup" can sell it, and that the money will go for some worthy work.

The Allied Merchant Seamen, Blood Donors Service and Save the Children Fund are just a few of the many organizations which have benefitter from money the shop has raised.

Widely Disbursed

"We have given to anything with which The Red Cross sympathizes," said one of the volunteer workers.

At the present time there are about 125 women volunteers working in three daily shifts at the store which is in downtown Ottawa.

Some prepare for sale the articles well-wishers send in. Others evaluate objects — which in the past has often proved a difficult job.

"One time we found a diamond bracelet in the bottom of a handbag," said a worker. "The bracelet was never claimed . . . we got hundreds for that."

Oddities make their appearance — birds in cages and even one or two dogs. More than one set of false teeth has been donated — and sold.

Customers often come looking for specific things.

During the war when the clothing shortage was at its height an undertaker in a small town wrote asking if the shop could send clothing to help him out in his business.

"At that time we couldn't supply enough clothing for the living, let alone the dead," said the volunteer worker.

Besides used articles, the shop has sold several paintings donated by Canadian artists. And at Christmas and Easter it always has on hand a collection of delicately made dolls and other toys.

Three Parties Present Alberta Plans

EDMONTON, July 27.—(CP).—Three of the four parties running in the Alberta election Aug. 17 have presented their platforms and candidates for the 57 seats and prepared today for the three weeks of campaigning ahead.

The Liberal party, in presenting its stand Monday, was the latest of the major parties to state its policies, leaving only the Independent movement of J. Percy page to give its stand.

The Liberal appeal to the electorate was issued by the party's 35-year-old leader, J. Harper Prowse. Alberta's last Liberal government was defeated in 1921.

Last week Premier Manning issued the Social Credit government's invitation for a return to power based mainly on its record. During the week-end CCF Leader Elmer Roper announced his party's platform.

Oppose Government

The Independents led by Mr. Page, an Edmonton school principal, so far have said only that they opposed the government. Though the official opposition in the last Legislature, Mr. Page's party has been unable to qualify for the CGC's free time for political broadcasts within the province.

The corporation required that each party sharing its time assure that it would contest at least one-quarter of the 57 seats at stake—or approximately 15 constituencies. Mr. Page said he could not give the assurance.

The result is that the Social Credit Government, the CCF which had two representatives in the Legislature, and the Liberals—who officially had none — will share the six hours allowed by the CBC, while the official opposition will have to pay for its time on the air.

The Liberals promise to set up "free of partisan interference" a provincial civil-service commission, to hire civil servants and to reorganize the present service on "a business-like basis."

Kitchener To Spend $13,500 For Parks

KITCHENER, July 27 (CP)—Purchase of a considerable amount of land, involving expenditure of $13,500 for parks was approved by city council Monday night. The action was approved without question, information about the deals having been in the hands of the aldermen for some time.

A new 20-acre park recreation field was purchased in the north ward at a cost of $10,000. The lands bounded by Breithaupt Park, Margaret Avenue and Floyd street was owned by the Senior Estates Limited of Toronto.

The second purchase was that of a parcel of land owned by the Carmel Church and the Hoffman estate. The Carmel property was listed at $2,500 while the Hoffman land was reported as between $500 and $1,000.

Small Explosion

MONTREAL, July 27.—(CP).—A small explosion in the King's Hall building on uptown St. Catherine St. caused slight damage Monday and injured one person. The explosion occurred on the second floor in the Betty and Maxime millinery shoppe when an employee, Sam Silerman, 42, passed a naptha-soaked rag near a gas stove.

MAMMOTH BUILDING

The colosseum of Rome, most famous of the Roman amphitheatres, opened in 80 A.D. and seated more than 40,000 people.

A RIMOUSKI AIRLINES PLANE crashed into this cliff at Fox River on the Gaspe Peninsula, Que., and exploded, resulting in the deaths of 26 men and two women and a baby. Fog had closed in after the plane left Anticosti island and Pilot Emerson Mills tried to slip through this gap in the mountainous coast. Most of the passengers aboard were lumberjacks returning from the bush for a holiday after work in the woods of Anticosti island. Photo shows wreck of plane.

MORE JOBS for Young Canadians

TODAY CANADA'S manufacturing capacity has been increased—and diversified—to an extent never thought possible in pre-war years. Now Canada can do more — can make more — offers far more opportunities to young Canadians commencing their careers today. While established industries have been expanding, new ones have been springing up. Over 200 new products formerly imported are now being made here.

CAPACITY for steel production doubled; chemical output more than twice 1939 level; pulp and paper mills operating at 50% above pre-war: everywhere the magnitude of the advance is evident.

EMPLOYMENT figures, too, tell the story of our emergence as one of the world's great industrial nations; today almost twice as many Canadians are engaged in manufacturing as there were before the war.

DEVELOPMENT continues: on new plant and new equipment nearly four times as much was spent by Canadian industry last year as in 1939.

". . . UNTOLD OPPORTUNITIES"

"If one wants to give service and work, Canada is full of untold opportunities — greater than ever. It is well, too, for young Canadians not to overlook small towns and rural parts, because in these places the door is ajar, life can be gloriously free and very full."

. . . says ROY SHIELDS of Coboconk, Ontario. He and his brother Charles have, by industry and initiative, supported by loyal, hard-working employees, attained a remarkable success as General Merchants in their rural community. Their store has been referred to as the "Biggest Little Department Store" in the country.

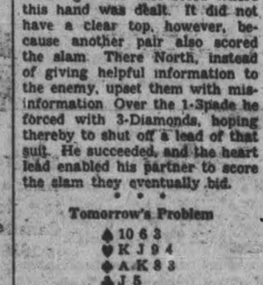
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

KEEP 'EM IN THE DARK

"IF YOU won't help this sinner, please don't help that bear," were the approximate words of an old song about a prayer by a hunter that had been treed. The same principle may well be applied by a bridge player to the bidding of his partner. Except that his variation should say "Please don't give the opponents [illegible] of us." One situation in which you find too many fair players violating that principle is with one holding a splendid fit for the other's major suit, but bidding another suit instead and thereby telling the opponents how to defend against the eventual contract.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
6♠
2. 1♠	Pass	3♥	Pass
4♣	Pass	4♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5♦	Pass
5♠
3. 1♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♣	Pass	4♥	Pass
4♠



What would you lead against the bidding at Table 1? Probably the heart 2 or club 4. This West picked the heart, and the slam was a cinch, with hearts furnishing two discards in diamonds.

What would you lead against the bidding at the other tables? In either of those cases a keen player should select the heart K. It would win, so would the A, and the repeat would give West a ruff. That would make enough tricks to set the 5-Spades and enough to hold the 4-Spades to exactly the contract. In the case of Table 2, the bidding would have shown you that North had hearts and [illegible] first lead. At Table 3, the cue-bidding of the club and heart aces would tell you that East had the diamond A, and your choice of a diamond lead was easy.

Obviously, the pair which bid and made the 6-Spades by direct action got the best score where this hand was dealt. It did not have a clear top, however, because another pair also scored the slam. There North, instead of giving helpful information to the enemy, upset them with misinformation. Over the 1-Spade he forced with 3-Diamonds, hoping thereby to shut off a lead of that suit. He succeeded, and the heart lead enabled his partner to score the slam they eventually bid.

Tomorrow's Problem

6—In Memoriam

BARTON — In loving memory of Ray Alvin Barton, of Havelock, who was drowned July 27, 1947.
Come to My heavenly garden
And see in perfect bloom
The flower you loved so dearly,
And thought that I plucked too soon.
Then will you know My reason,
Though you will know it not to-day,
Why in his promising manhood
I took your son and brother away.
He little thought when leaving home
He would no more return—
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn, but not in vain.
For up in heaven we'll meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by Dad, Mom and Brothers.

BARTON—In loving memory of Ray Alvin Barton, who was drowned in the Trent River, July 27, 1947.
His life is a beautiful memory,
His death is our silent grief,
He steps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
So leave him in God's keeping,
The rough road safely o'er;
And the one we loved so well
Has only gone before.
—Ever remembered by Gran, Ashby, Wilma and Ed.

DAVIDSON — In memory of a dear son and brother, Stanley Davidson, who was taken from us five years ago.
He was only a little white rosebud,
A sweet little flower from birth;
God took him home to heaven
Before he was soiled on earth.
—Ever remembered by Daddy, Mommy, Sisters and Brothers.

DAVIDSON — In loving memory of our dear grandson, Stanley Davidson, who was accidentally killed five years ago.
A little lamb, too sweet and pure,
Upon this earth to roam;
An angel came
And took our dear child home.
—Fondly remembered by Grandpa, Grandma, and Evy.

HOGG—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Henry Stewart Hogg, who passed away July 27, 1945.
Three years to-day dear Stewart was called
To his eternal rest—
Gone where the angels sing so sweet
And taken when God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh;
But we all hope in heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.
—Sadly missed by loving Wife and Sons Elmer and Edward.

NEAL — In loving memory of our husband and dad, Harry Alfred Neal, who died July 27, 1945.
Those who love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and Daughters.

WOODCOCK—In ever loving memory of our dear mother, Effie Woodcock, who passed away July 27, 1940.
If I had all the world to give
I'd give it yes, and more,
To hear her voice and see her smile,
And greet her at my door.
But all I can do, dear mother,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind tokens of love
To the best mother God ever made.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by Daughters, Mrs. Eva Reid and Mrs. Grace Hetherington.

MORE ABOUT—
Truman Demands

No Real Hope

Even before he spoke, Republican leaders made clear that Truman could pin no real hope for action on more than one or two minor points in his message.

Truman hit hardest at the rising cost of living, but he led off by saying that another crying need is for more and cheaper housing.

So he called again for passage of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill to meet the "acute" housing shortage.

"This is the bill we need," he said. "We need it now, not a year from now."

In addition to selective price-wage controls and a return to the wartime excess profits tax at a rate he did not disclose, the President asked Congress to:

1. Restore consumer credit controls, such as those which specified down ayments and the time in which instalment purchases had to be paid off.

2. Arm the federal reserve board with more power to regulate "inflationary bank credit."

Regulate Speculation

3. Grant him power to regulate speculation on the commodity exchanges.

4. Grant him power to impose allocation and inventory control over "scarce commodities which basically affect essential production or the cost of living," the same term he used for his price-control proposal.

5. Strengthen controls over rent with adequate appropriations for enforcement to prevent "further unwarranted rent increases."

6. Give him stand-by power to ration "those few products in short supply which vitally affect the health and welfare." Unless further shortages occur, this authority "might not have to be used at all."

He asked authority to limit wage increases only where they would "force a break in a price ceiling." Even in this instance an exception would be made if the increases were "essential to remedy hardship, to correct inequities or to prevent an actual lowering of living standards."

Contending that industry has boosted prices in many recent cases where profits margins were "adequate" to absorb the increased labor costs, Truman added:

"Rising wages and rising standards of living, based on increasing productivity and a fair distribution of income is the American way. Non-inflationary wage increases can and should continue to be made by free collective bargaining."

troversial civil rights program he sent to Capitol Hill last February.

He did not specify priority for any of the proposals, but a "score card" made public at the White House Monday placed emphasis on anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills on which hearings already have been held. Truman signed executive orders late Monday establishing a fair employment practice policy for federal employees and calling for an end to racial discriminations in the armed services.

Other Requests

As he had said he would, Truman also asked the special session for:

1. A new displaced persons bill to provide for the admission of 400,000 of Europe's war refugees into the United States during the next four years, instead of 202,000 in two years as provided in a bill passed at the last session. He asked that Congress wipe out "discrimination" in the current law, as it would operate unfairly against Jewish and Roman Catholic displaced persons.

2. A federal-aid-to- education bill to provide $300,000,000 annually to states for education.

3. Approval of a $665,000,000 loan for the construction of a permanent United Nations headquarters in New York City.

4. Senate ratification of the international wheat agreement. He said this would "guarantee American farmers an annual export market of 185,000,000 bushels of wheat at a fair price (a maximum of $2 a bushel) during the next five years.

5. Restoration of $56,000,000 trimmed from proposed appropriations at the last session for power and reclamation projects.

6. A "more equitable and realistic" pay bill for federal employees.

Raise Minimum Wage

7. A bill raising the present 40-cent minimum wage to "at least 75 cents an hour."

8. Legislation increasing "by at least 50 per cent" the benefits under the old-age retirement provisions of the social security law.

The president took note of the Republican cry of "politics" that went up in response to his special session call.

"High prices," he said, "are not taking 'time off' for the election.

"High prices are not waiting until the next session of the Congress.

'High prices are getting worse. They are getting worse every day.

"We cannot afford to wait for the next Congress to act."

The cost of living in the United States "is now higher than ever before in our history."

The program the President submitted varied only in minor re- [illegible] to another rspecial session of this Congress eight months ago. It had been "revised and strengthened in the light of changing circumstances."

cost-of-living program, Truman called it a "balanced" way to attack high prices. All eight points were "necessary to check rising prices and safeguard our economy against the danger of depression."

Little Reference to Soviet

Aside from his reference to Communists here and abroad counting on an American depression, Truman made no direct reference to the strained relations with Russia.

He devoted only a single paragraph in his 3,000-word address to "urge upon Congress" the con-

"No, thank you!"

TWO CANDIDATES

Plan National Opera In Britain

LONDON, July 27 (Reuters)—The Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, home of grand opera in Britain since 1847, is to be taken over by the government when the present five-year lease expires in December, 1949.

The government, aiming to establish a national opera and ballet theatre, has served notice of preliminary compulsory purchase order on the present owners, the Covent Gardens Properties Company.

Leslie A. Boosey, chairman of the company at present leasing the theatre, said yesterday the management will be handed over to the British Arts Council. "My company took over Covent Garden for five years to enable National Opera to be established," he said. "We washed out the possibility of making any profit ourselves." A spokesman for the ministry of works said negotiations are proceeding for the purchase of the opera house. The ministry has been asked by the treasury to acquire the property but it does not expect final compulsory acquisition will be necessary.

The Royal Opera House, which with a seating capacity of 1,952 has housed most of the famous opera and ballet companies of the world, is the third theatre to stand on the site near busy Covent Garden market. The first theatre was built there in 1733, but it and a second building were subsequently destroyed by fire.

Will Claim Priority If Windsor Gas Short

WINDSOR, July 27—(CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said today that the city will claim priority on gas manufactured and stored here in the event of an industrial supply shortage next winter.

The recent rejection by the United States Federal Power Commission of the Union Gas Company's application for import of gas from the Texas Panhandle Fields has posed the possibility of a shortage.

Windsor secured construction of extra storage tanks for butane and propane to manufacture and store gas locally through its decision to accept higher interim rates while the question of permanent rates was being considered by a gas referee.

Give Up Efforts To Control Arms

LAKE SUCCESS, July 27 (CP)—The United Nations commission on conventional armaments virtually gave up today all efforts to regulate arms until peace is made.

The commission's working committee approved by a 9-2 vote a British-American resolution saying peace must be made with Germany and Japan before arms can be effectively controlled. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine voted against the majority.

The committee decided to meet again next monday to write its report to the security council. Delegates said, however, that the commission's work is virtually ended until the international picture changes.

Say CSU Head Out To Wreck All Shipping

Chevrier Says Union Utterly Disregards Industry Contract

OTTAWA, July 28 — (CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier today charge Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the Canadian Seamen's Union, with seeking to "destroy" Canada's shipping industry.

At the same time, he said he had learned the CSU is preparing for a strike of deep-sea vessels in November.

Mr. Chevrier made the statements in a letter to Mr. Jackson replying to the union leader's protests the Canada Steamships Lines has broken the law in its dispute with his union.

The minister said he has "very grave doubts" about the tactics of both the company and the union in the jurisdictional dispute.

He was satisfied the union members "are not communist, but I am convinced some of the leaders are actuated by a desire to disrupt our economy and are not acting in the best interests of the seamen members."

Disregard Contracts

As for the CSU's claims that it co-operated with other lake shipping companies, he had letters regularly from other companies concerning the "utter disregard" of union members for their contracts as well as "their lack of discipline," instead of co-operating with the industry, Mr. Jackson was "trying to destroy it."

"You speak of usurpation," Mr. Chevrier wrote. 'No one has been more guilty of usurpation than yourself and the men under your guidance. You have usurped the functions of the law by taking the law into your own hands and boarding ships contrary to the Canada Shipping Act . . .

"You speak of the operators interested in knowing you have boycotting other industries. I am so suddenly become interested in other industries.

"My feeling all along has been that the only thing you and your associates are interested in is the fomenting trouble and discord in the industry."

However, the conduct of the CSU was "equally reprehensible." The shooting of men could not be condoned.

Say Greatest Disaster In Europe Since War; Hospitals Filled Up

MANNHEIM, Germany, July 28 —(CP). — Police said between 500 and 600 persons were killed and 1,400 injured today in an explosion and fire which wrecked the I. G. Farben chemical plant at Ludwigshafen.

The disaster in the French zone city appeared to be the greatest in Europe since the war.

Police in Mannheim, and American zone city across the Rhine from Ludwigshafen, said about 1,400 injured already have been taken to hospitals.

The plant employed from 6,000 to 7,000 chemical workers and comprised several buildings sprawled over a wide area.

The explosion shattered a six-storey building, shooting a fountain of fire two miles into the air.

Flames enveloped the building. A cloud of smoke a half-mile square obscured the scene. For a time, firemen were unable even to get close.

The injured poured across the river into Mannheim. They crowded the hospitals here and in towns surrounding Ludwigshafen. Workmen from parts of the plant distant from the explosion said the heat and wreckage made it impossible to rescue those trapped.

From all parts of western Germany rescue and police squads were rushed to Ludwigshafen.

The cause of the explosion was not known.

Even rescuers were killed. Two died when two vehices rushing to the scene collided.

"Flames shot two miles into the sky when the explosion took place," said an American officer in Mannheim, across the Rhine from Ludwigshafen.

Hundreds of windows in Mannheim were smashed by the concussion.

Scores of injured were rushed across the river to Mannheim, from the French to the American zone.

Hospitals Filled

Doctors in Mannheim city hospital said "the hospital is full of victims. They said the other victims pouring in would have to be sent to Heidelberg.

Several telephone lines between Mannheim and Ludwigshafen were destroyed. The stricken city could not be reached from Frankfurt.

The plant was a branch of the sprawling I. G. Farben Industrie Chemical Trust before the combine was split up by four-power order. It was the main factory in Ludwigshafen and covered several acres.

ERNIE (RED) LEGON, one-time teacher at the Collegiate and well-known athlete, who starred in senior baseball, rugby and hockey, dropped dead during a tennis match at Toronto today. He was a teacher on the staff at Lisgar Collegiate, Ottawa.

Ernest F. Legon Collapses Playing Tennis

Ernest Frederick Legon, classics master of Lisgar Collegiate Institute, Ottawa, and formerly of Peterborough, died in Toronto today shortly after collapsing during a Canadian tennis championship match. He was playing against W. Smallman of Toronto in a singles draw.

Mr. Legon was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Legon, 182 Sophia St., Ashburnham, and was for years prominent in local athletics, starring on hockey, baseball and rugby teams.

"Ernie and his family were at Balm Beach, Georgian Bay, for the summer holidays," his father told the Examiner. "His mother and I just recently returned home from spending two weeks with them."

Coronary Thrombosis

Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson attributed death to conorary thrombosis, and said no inquest would be held.

Legon won the first set of his match with Bill Smallman, although he complained of a sense of weakness in his legs. He insisted that he continue, although spectators and his opponent urged him to end the match.

Shortly after the second set started, he collapsed and rested on the sidelines. Despite warnings, he again continued the match.

He collapsed a second time and was carried from the court. Within 20 minutes he was dead.

Warning To Others

Dr. Lawson said Legon's death was a warning to others who compete in sport after the age of 45. "They must be very careful and should get a doctor's approval before they participate," he said.

Mr. Legon was born in England some 45 years ago, and was in his boyhood when he came to Peterborough with his parents from the of the Collegiate Institute, winning the Charlotte Nicholls scholarship in his last year and being the first boy to be awarded the Principal's prize, He took the Arts course at Queen's University, Kingston, and was an honor granduate in classics. He com-

New 20 Per Cent Increase In Freight Rates Asked By Rail Companies

Base Application On 17-Cent Wage Grant Made Two Weeks Ago; Ask Interim Raise of 15 Per Cent For Costs

OTTAWA, July 28—(CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners announced today the Railway Association of Canada had applied for a 20-per-cent increase in freight rates. The association based its application, which was made on behalf of the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and other railways, on the recent 17-cents-an-hour increase in wages. The application was filed in writing with the Board this morning, an official said. At the time of the wage increase granted two weeks ago the railways estimated that the extra 17 cents would cose the CPR and CNR $76,500,000 a year.

A railway official said details of the application will be issued in Montreal later today.

Get It In Writing

The application goes before the Board in writing and other interested parties—including the provincial governments which appeared here last week to protest against the earlier increase in rates—are notified of it.

The commissioners then decide whether to hold public hearings into the application.

The fresh request for an increase in freight rates follows the 17-cents-an-hour wage increase granted to the railway unions two weeks ago. At the time C.P.R. officials saaid further increases in rates would be necessary to pay the increased wage bill.

At a press conference immediately after the wage dispute had been settled, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the Federal government had made no commitment "direct or indirect" on freight rates in getting the railways to agree to the wage boost.

It was estimated that the 17-cents increase would cost the C. P.R. and C.N.R. a total of $76,-500,000 a year.

Second Increase

The association applied for an interim increase of 15 per cent to meet immediate requirements due to the wage boost and for a permanent increase of 20 per cent be-

Severe Storm Damages Crops; One Man Killed

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP). — An electrical storm accompanied by hail and rain Tuesday night caused heavy damage in farming areas of Ontario north of the lower lakes and was blamed for one death.

William Lovelace, 65, of Bloomfield (near Picton) was killed and Jake Brewer, also of Bloomfield, was severely injured in a motor accident on Highway 14, two miles west of here.

Driving in the thunderstorm, the car, owned and driven by Brewer, collided with the rear of a truck owned by Brummell's Service Station.

Tobacco, grain, fruit and vegetable crops were hard-hit in southwestern Ontario.

A lightning bolt crashed through the roof of a three-storey building in Toronto's west end, wrecked the interior of a jeweler's store but left the occupants of several apartments above the store uninjured. Occupants said the building rocked under the impact.

Pirates Bungled Holdup; 25 Lives Lost

By WAYNE RICHARDSON

MACAO, China, July 28 (AP). —Police commissioner Luis A. M. Palletti today blamed China coast pirates, who bungled their job, for the crash of a Catalina flying boat here July 16 that claimed 25 lives. Two of the dead were Canadians from Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stewart.

The Macao Daily News said Portuguese colony police were working on the following evidence:

Four armed pirates boarded the Cathay Pacific flying boat with the intention of taking over the plane and holding rich Chinese passengers for ransom.

The newspaper said after the plane reached an altitude of 500 feet one of the pirates pressed a pistol against American pilot Dale Cramer's back and ordered him to hand over the plane's controls

Allow British Industrialists Open Branches In Canada

LONDON, July 28.—(CP).—The British Government cleared the way today for British industrialists to open branch plants in Canada or expand existing plants there. Douglas Jay, economic secretary to the Treasury, announced in the Commons that they now may take advantage of investment facilities made available in December, 1946, by the Canadian Government.

In some cases, funds for such projects may be provided by Canadian financial institutions.

Jay's statement was made only a few weeks after Premier Drew of Ontario held conferences with British officials on just such a program.

Until now, stringent foreign exchange regulations have almost ruled out British investment in Canada.

Dollar Earners

Jay said any new investment by British firms must be restricted to Canadian enterprises which

W. German State May Be Frozen

LONDON, July 28—(AP)— A government official said today Britain, France and the United States will offer to begin talks with Russia "on a general European settlement as a whole."

The Whitehall informant said the western power idea would be to broaden the projected four-power discussion of all Germany to embrace all outstanding European differences between east and west.

Earlier, an official British London agrement to set up a western German state would be frozen if new four-power talks on all Germany were arranged. The question of such talks may be decided in Moscow within a few days.

Frank Roberts, Foreign Secretary Bevin's principal private secretary, will fly to Moscow this afternoon in the place of the British Ambassador, Sir Maurice Peterson.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the London agreement to create a course in West Germany is being swiftly implemented, and that Septemebr 1 remains the target date for a meeting of a constituente assembly.

The official source said the Western powers expect Russia to urge them to abandon the London agreement before beginning any talks on ending the Berlin blockade.

In that case, the West will have no choice but to put the plan for West Germany into cold storage at least until the outcome of the projected new four-power talks is known.

Vast Power Plan For N. Ontario

EAR FALLS, Ont., July 28—(CP)—Ontario Hydro chaiman Robert Saunders Tuesday announced a Hydro Electric Power Commission program "unsurpassed in history of northwestern Ontario."

Speaking at a luncheon following the opening of the Ear Falls generating station which serves the mining areas of Red Lake and Pickle Crow, near the Manitoba border, he said plans have been made for the development of 270,-000 horsepower at four new sites.

They will be located at Boundary Falls on the Winnipeg River, three miles from the Manitoba border, and at Kettle, Oak and Manitou Falls, on the English River. The Winnipeg River development will produce 150,000 and each of the others 40,000 horse power.

Mr. Saunders said the power developed by these proposed stations will make possible inauguration of a rural electrification program "which will blanket the northwest from the Fort Frances and Rainy River farm areas, through to Kenora and north to Redditt. It would also serve farms and tourist camps in the Dryden district."

Report New Disorders In Russ Berlin Zone

BERLIN, July 28 — (AP). — Disorders broke out in the Russian sector of blockaded Berlin today when thousands of Germans jammed streets in front of banks in an effort to exchange their money for new Russian-sponsored currentcy.

Newspapers in western Berlin said the Russians and their Communist-controlled economic commission are trying "to cheat the people out of their money." The tonight.

Mayor Louise Schroeder defied an order from the Russian commandant to fire her new anti-Communist deputy police chief, Johannes Stumm.

Welcome British Plants—Drew

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP). — Premier George Drew of Ontario said today the announcement Tuesday by the British secretary of the treasury that the government has authorized British firms to invest dollar earnings in Canadian enterprises "gives full effect" to proposals put forward by the Ontario government.

The premier said in a prepared statement that during his recent visit to England he was given "definite assurance" that this would be done but there were certain details to complete before a formal announcement could

"Several important and well-known British companies" had already received permission to establish plants here.

"This is going to bring many new lines of industrial production to Ontario with a resulting increase in employment and economic advantages to the whole province."

Fear 17 US Airmen Killed As B-29 Crashes Off Aden

ADEN, July 28—(CP)—Harbor tugs, launches and the 1,600-ton British surveying vessel Dampier today searched for a United States superfortress which crashed into shark-infested seas a mile off Aden, southern Arabia, Tuesday night with 17 or 18 on board.

A local fisherman picked up one survivor whose name was given by the United States air force official as Sigyer R. Gustafson of Norwood, Mich. He is reported resting comfortably in hospital.

The giant plane one of three on a two-week round-the-world test of flying facilities, crashed at sunset shortly after taking off.

Poor visibility and Monsoon conditions hampered search work.

The crash occurred about one mile off shore. The wreckage is visible from the shore. The RAF and Royal Navy patrolled the beach throughout the night and early this morning, but found no bodies.

Carried 53 Men

The three planes carried a total of 53 men, an announcement in Tuscon last week said. The customary complement of a B-29 is nine men.

The United States air force said the flight was intended to train B-29 crews in the techniques of long over-water flights and "to acclimate personnel with world-wide regional conditions."

This, according to informal explanations, meant the trip was in the nature of a survey. What it was intended to show was the present condition of wartime bases in faraway places—the condition of runways, parking areas, shops and fuel-pumping equipment.

The planes were scheduled to return to Tuscon Aug. 5.

According to their original flight plan, the B-29s were to go to Ceylon from Aden.

Bury 13 Victims Of Plane Crash

GASPE, QuQe., July 28 (CP) —Almost the entire population of this tiny fishing village today gathered at special grave-side services for 13 unidentified victims of the worst plane crash in Canadian aviation history. They were buried Tuesday night in seven graves in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Bodies of the other 16 crash victims were claimed late Tuesday by relatives after Dr. Hector Rioux, district coroner, pronounced a verdict of accidental death. They were taken by rail, plane and hearse to family burying plots in their home towns.

55 Charges Now Laid In Money Order Case

TORONTO, July 28.— (CP). — Thirty-five charges have been laid against John Attfield, 31, in conjunction with the passing of a series of stolen money orders in southern Ontario.

Attfield was arrested last week with money orders stolen from the Erin, Ont., railway station in his possession, police say. Investigation disclosed that $3,500 of the $266,000 worth of orders stolen had been passed. Twenty money orders of $1,000 denomination were recovered in a bag in Attfield's room.

Attfield will appear in court tomorrow to face the largest number of charges against one man in recent years, police say. Attfield was in custody in Ottawa in June when he escaped. Police say it is probable he will be taken to Ottawa to face the charge there.

King Ready To Welcome Newfoundland Into Fold

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP). — Newfoundland may be accepted as Canada's 10th province in a few days, it was indicated in statements here today.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in a statement that before the week is out the government will make a definite announcement on Newfoundland's political status.

Mr. King made his statement at the end of a lengthy cabinet meeting called to discuss the results of last Thursday's Newfoundland referendum and study its significance. He said it would seem from results reported there will be a "substantial" majority in favor of union.

So far the unofficial total show that Newfoundlanders in all districts except Labrador had cast 77,784 votes for Confederation against 71,587 for responsible government, a majority of about 6,000.

Pointing Way

The fact that Mr. King called this 6,000 majority "substantial" led some observers to believe he was preparing to announce the government's acceptance of Newfoundland's vote.

At the same time the belief was expressed by authoritative quarters that the commission government in Newfoundland has no alternative but to recommend that Newfoundland be brought into union with the Dominion.

Police And Pickets Stage Factory Battle

DAYTON, O., July 28 (AP). — Police and pickets clashed again today at the strikebound Univis Lens Company plant and an undetermined number of persons was reported injured. The strike was caused by a jurisdictional dispute.

The police radio reported that a car load of injured had been taken to hospital. Among the injured was Lou Kaplan, international organizer of the United Electrical Workers (CIO).

Tuesday policemen pierced the 200-person picket line with a flying wedge. They formed a corridor through which non-strikers returned to work. One employee was struck by a picket, who managed to dodge past the police detail.

Truman Makes New Appeal To U.S. Senators To Ratify Wheat Agreement

Canadian Cabinet Members Hail Revival Of Pact in President's Speech; Sure U.K. Could Be Persuaded To Join Again

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(CP).—President Truman Tuesday made a fresh appeal to the United States Senate to ratify the international wheat agreement which would provide a sure marke tfor 500,000,000 bushels of United States, Canadian and Australian wheat over a five-year period. He included it in his legislative program laid before Congress in a special message Tuesday, but action is required only by the Senate since the agreement is in the form of a treaty.

Truman described the agreement as "another vital measure on which the Congress should act."

The agreement, completed last spring after years of effort, was among Canada, the United States and Australian and 33 major importing countries which agreed to buy 500,000,000 bushels a year from the three provinces at prices ranging from a $2 bushel maximum to a $1.50 minimum the first year, the minimum to decrease 10 cents a year to $1.10 in the fifth year.

Ratification deadline was set for July 1 and the agreement was to come into operation Aug. 1 but the Senate, after lengthy hearings, left it up in the air when Congress adjourned.

"We have good reason to believe that it can still be made effective if it is now ratified promptly," he said.

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP). — Cabinet members Tuesday night hailed a possible revival of the international wheat agreement following President Truman's plea Tuesday to the United States Senate to signify its approval of the pact.

Trade Minister Howe said he felt certain that the United Kingdom—which walked out of the 36 nation agreement July 8—could be persuaded to return once the United States put the finishing touches to the five-year, 500,000,000-bushel agreement.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner hoped Mr. Truman would achieve success in his appeal, but pointed to the need for haste since the current wheat crop in Eastern American areas already is being harvested and prepared for sale.

Canada, the agriculture minister added, was deeply interested in the agreement which provides a steady and almost non-fluctuable market for much of the Dominion's wheat industry.

However, both Mr. Howe and Mr. Gardiner said that in the even: that Mr. Truman did not succeed in his current appeal the hardship on Canadian farmers would not be immediately great. All of this year's crop already has been promised to the United Kingdom and the possibility of some of next year's crop going unsold was small.

Rumor Austerity Tax To Be Eased

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP). — Rumors began circulating here today that the government shortly will start a progressive removal of the special excise taxes imposed on a long list of durable consumer goods in last Novmeber's austerity program. There was no comment in government circles.

The reports said that the taxes first would be lifted from goods which have been adversely affected by the levies. Radios, for example, have become a glut on the retail market because the taxes have tended to discourage theih sale. Later, the tax would be lifted from electrical goods and motor cars.

Removal of the taxes was predicted during the parliamentary session which ended a month ago. The suggestion then was that the government still had not decided when to "time" the removal.

Finance Minister Abbott, commenting on that report, recalled that he had said several times that the taxes were temporary and would be lifted when their usefulness was ended. They have been originally intended as a dollar-saving and consumption-depressant device.

Voting Quiet In Quebec; Slow Starting

QUEBEC, July 28. — (CP).—In a province where elections have often been accompanied by violence the early voting for members of Quebec's 92 members of the 24th Provincial Legislature went quietly today.

Headquarters received no reports of disturbances as voters went pollward under clear, sunny skies.

There was nothing to approach the gunfire and wounding that marked early election-day proceedings in Montreal four years ago.

If there was any voters' impersonation in Montreal as a result of what police had termed a black market in voters' registration slips it was not apparent during early polling.

Only complaints came from some voters who saad they did not find theeir polling places open for the scheduled 9 a.m. starting time. Some returning officers arrived late and there was delay in swearing in scrutineers. Polls close at 6.30 p.m.

Police said thousands of voters in the metropolis may have been disfranchised because they unwittingly surrendered their registration slips to persons posing as revisers and examiners.

Deputy director Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police said Montreal black market operators were offering voters from $2 to $5 for each slip—a paper similar to a sales bill. Later reports said the slips market value has risen to $10.

As a result, police anticipated polling-station disturbances and hundreds of attempts at impersonation.

In the constituency of Montreal Mercier the Liberal candidate, Joseph Francoeur, charged Tuesday that 727 registration slips found behind a picture in his committee rooms had been deliberately planted by Union Nationale supporters.

In a counter-move Tuesday night, an unidentified man applied for a warrant to have the committee rooms of Mr. Francoeur's Union Nationale opponent, Gerard Thibault, searched.

75 Per Cent Vote

Political forecasters predicted about 75 per cent of more than 2,000,000 eligible voters would go to the polls.

In the last election, in 1944, a total of 1,330,059 voted, 71.3 per cent of the 1,864,692 eligible voters. A record vote was set in 1944, the first provincial election in which women had the franchise.

Polls open at 9 a.m. and closed at 6.30 p.m. EDT. The time the result will be known depends largely on the closeness of the battle among the 312 candidates for the province's 92 constituencies. A decisive trend may possibly be established in the vote counting three hours or less after the polls close.

pleted his studies for the teaching profession in the required year at the College of Education, Toronto.

Subsequently he was engaged for a time as classics master at the Peterborough Collegiate, and has been on the staff of Lisgar Collegiate in Ottawa for the last ten or twelve years.

Mr. Legon leaves his widow and two children, a boy and girl, of Ottawa, also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Legon of this city, his brother, Mr. Arthur Legon, 465 Donegal St., and two sisters, Miss Constance Legon of Toronto, and Miss Frances Legon of Peterborough, who was in Toronto today visiting her sister. He was bereaved of two brothers in the Great Wars, Sidney Frederick Legon, killed in France during the first war, and John Legon of the RCAF who lost his life in a flight over the Atlantic in the second war.

Ernie (Red) Legon was not only an outstanding student throughout his collegiate and university years, but also a splendid athlete. He starred on Peterborough hockey, baseball and football teams during the period immediately preceding the winning of the senior OHA championship in 1925. He was both senior and junior athletic champion as a student, and later as member of the teaching staff he coached the junior PCVS rugby team. While he was still at school he was also a playing member of Peterborough OBAA and OHA teams.

Some of his associates in intermediate hockey here were Ted LeBarr, Jim Gillespie, Pat Calladine, Red Dallin, Sailor Maudsley. Legon was playing coach of that team, and Jim Coursey was manager.

Ernie Legon went on for a while into senior company locally, but was passing out of hockey when the senior champions headed by Irvin (Ace) Bailey and Bert McLeod were organizing. His dark reddish hair accentuated his ability as a player, and earned for him the popular name "Red."

In all the sports that attracted him he was a natural. Legon combined skill with an abundance of courage. Hockey fans may remember the night he was making passes at and refusing to back up from Lionel Conacher, one of the all time greats of Canadian hockey and rugby, and famous as a boxer. Legon was just about of medium height, in contrast with the tall and brawny Conacher who grabbed him and held him out at arm's length. With that good humored gesture, so characteristic of Lionel Conacher, the crowd and Legon dissolved the fiery incident in laughter.

Ernie Legon will always be remembered by his contemporaries as one of the finest type of sportsmen Peterborough produced. He played a fine game in the outfield with the baseball team Jake Solomon managed and sponsored, and his conduct on and off the diamond was always exemplary. His sudden death today on the Toronto tennis court will be deeply regretted by all his friends and the fans of 25 years ago.

Find Crop Conditions Better In Praires

OTTAWA, July 28 — (CP). — Fairly general rainfalls during last week have brought improvement to crop conditions on the Prairie Provinces.

The Dominion bureau of statistics reported Tuesday prospects still are "very good" in Manitoba and soem improvement has occurred in Alberta and Saskatchewan

Yields are expected to be light in large areas in the western half of Saskatchewan and in the east-central part of Alberta. Recent rains have improved the outlook for feed in those areas. Elsewhere in the two provinces, crop conditions are reported to be "fair to good."

The bureau said most Manitoba districts now have enough moisture to carry crops to maturity, although rain is needed in a few small areas. Wheat is practically all headed and more than half of the coarse grains are in head.

United States officials here said the plant was burning furiously two hours after the explosion.

The plant has been reported making dyes.

Unconfirmed reports in recent months have stated that French authorities were making in the plant high explosion propulsion fluids for experiments with V-1 and V-2 missiles.

Mannheim police headquarters said "many persons were injured in Mannheim by concussion from the explosion." Some 300 policemen were sent from here to help rescue work.

American military police also went to the scene with American and German fire companies.

Canada To Train 2 Squadrons Of Jet Fighters

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP). As Canada's air chief stressed the prolonged and arduous job that lies behind creation of any standing air strength, the Dominion was presented today with the first tangible signs of a beginning.

Defence Minister Claxton announced formation of an RCAF unit to train fighter pilots in operational tactics with jet planes. It will be launched Sept. 1 at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal.

At the same time, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of the air staff said in an interview the first two regular interceptor fighter squadrons will be in existence within 12 months, based at Bagotville and Mont Joli, Que.

Trained pilots will be converted to jet fighters and trained "in interceptor air defence operations" at the school. From there, they will go out to squadrons.

The OTU will teach air and ground crews together how to spot incoming bombers with radar and how to get up to meet them. The techniques will resemble those used in the Battle of Britain.

Air Marshal Curtis said 90 per cent. of Canadians probably didn't realize the efforts behind creation of a standing force. Whether they considered it extravagance or realism, they should be aware of the elementary facts that the only effective way of meeting an enemy attack was with a ready force, and that you had to look from three to five years ahead in planning it.

If Canada was going to need a fighting air force in 1951 or later, she had to start getting ready for it now. The two regular squadrons were a start.

13 Killed In Mine Explosion

PRINCETON, Ind., July 28.—(AP).—Grim inspectors today probed the depths of King's coal mine seeking to learn the cause of an explosion which killed 13 miners Tuesday afternoon. It was the second serious explosion in eight months at King's. The previous blast, last November, caused no deaths but was followed by extensive fires which closed the mine for more than two months.

The mine had been closed again last week cause of water seepage. It had been inspected Sunday by state mine inspectors and had been reopened only Tuesday.

Two men were injured critically in Tuesday's blast, and a rescue worker also was in a hospital after being overcome by gas. His condition was not serious.

The dead and injured were members of a single loading unit which was on the lowest level of Indiana's deepest shaft mine, 433 feet underground, and three miles east of the Tipple.

Coroner C. C. Cooper said all the bodies were badly mutilated and burned. All were brought out within three hours after the explosion.

There were 176 men in the mine at the time, but other crews were not endangered. The blast caused only a small fire which was soon put out. King's employs 525 men on three shifts.

A silent crowd of 250 persons gathered around the Tipple as rescue workers brought out the bodies.

One of the dead, William De Courcey of Princeton, had come back to work Tuesday for the first time after being hurt in a slate fall in the mine three months ago.

Accounting System Gets Overhauling

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—Representatives of C. W. Cochrane and Co., of Toronto, are presently engaged in overhauling the town accounting system, and bringing it up to date.

The work has been made necessary by the recent change in the office of town treasurer, when F. W. Wood succeeded F. F. C. Davey on a temporary basis. At his own request, Mr. Wood, who was actually in retirement when asked to assume office, is now being replaced by Jack Allen, who was appointed town treasurer at the last meeting of council.

The accounting system is now being brought up to date by the auditors in order that Mr. Allen may take over without there being any overlap from the previous incumbents.

Female Admirers Whistle Loud And Long As 22 He-Men Parade For Casanova Title

TORONTO, July 28 —(CP)— Twenty-two handsome he-men—22—paraded the stage of a Toronto theatre Tuesday night competing for the title of "Casanoa" amid shrieks of female admirers.

Down in the orchestra pit trying hard to appear serious were four judges — three teen-age misses and Florence (Diddy) Ferriman, who won the Miss Toronto crown last Saturday.

The judges asked the boys to walk. Some tripped along daintily, others slunk menacingly and others swept along with a jaunty masculine stride. They were asked to show their muscles, to say a few words into the microphone.

Slowly, the judges weeded them out—a 14-year-old wolf, a lad in a bright green suit who had a slight resemblance to actor Brian Donlevy, a bespectacled youth with a roving adam's apple —one by one they were dismissed.

Finally the inscrutable judges smiled—20-year-old Edward King was the winner. Included in his prize — besides all the female hearts—was a mantle radio, a book of theatre tickets, a couple of meal tickets and possibly six lessons from Madam Lazonga.

Can't Rouse British Enthusiasm For Monument To War Dead

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, July 28 (CP).—The question of commemorating the dead of the Second World War by some monument in London is still the subject of inconclusive debate.

In some parts of England, communities have gone ahead with local memorials: a playing field, a public hall, or some other useful project, in contrast to the cenotaphs and statues which arose after the First World War.

Others followed the example of London, rededicating the 1914-18 memorials and adding the inscription: 1939-45. As far as the general public was concerned, this practice seemed adequate.

Now the War Memorials Advisory Council has reopened the question, and is trying to arouse interest in "some visible commemoration at the heart of the Empire of the great national war effort."

It has offered two proposals for public discussion: improvement and beautification of the precincts of Westminster Abbey, or a memorial garden in the blitzed areas around St. Paul's Cathedral.

Show Little Interest

Little interest has been shown in either suggestion, although if anything the St. Paul's site seems favored. The symbolism of the Cathedral's massive dome, which escaped the blitz while buildings all around were smashed to ruins, captures popular imagination.

The Government has offered no guidance. Last October Prime Minister Attlee received a deputation from the council which sought his support and asked that a committee be set up to prepare one or more schemes for which public subscriptions might be invited.

Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield, president of the council, previously appealed in the House of Lords for a new memorial, on grounds that rededication of the Cenotaph "is not enough to convey to posterity the immensity of our national effort or the high ideals that lay behind it."

At that time Lord Hall replied on behalf of the Government saying that no scheme had been brought forward which commanded the necessary public support. That would also seem to sum up the situation today.

Net Revenue Of CNR Down Six Millions

MONTREAL, July 8.—(CP).—A decrease of $2,512,000 in the net revenue of the Canadian National Railways system for the month of June and a decrease of $6,612,000 in the net revenue for the six months of 1948, as compared with the corresponding [illegible] today.

In releasing the June results of operation the railway company states that the actual results for the month were $2,074,000 worse than was expected largely attributable to flood conditions in western Canada.

Clover Honey Good

GUELPH, July 28 — (CP). — Ontario is headed for a slightly better than average crop of clover honey this year, Prof. Philip Burk, head of the Agricultural Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, said to-day. Better weather conditions are responsible for an increased yield over the scarce crops of the last few years.

Soon To Learn If Russia Wants Solution

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP) —The Western powers hope to learn soon whether Russia really wants to negotiate an acceptable settlement of outstanding German issues.

This is understood to be the main purpose behind the idea of having the United States, British and French envoys in Moscow call on Foreign Minister Molotov, probably next week-end, for a direct discussion of the Berlin crisis.

What they findl out from Molotov will go a long way toward determining whether there is any prospect for an early meeting of the big-four foreign ministers council.

Such a session would bring Molotov face to face with State Secretary Marshall, Foreign Secretary Bevin and the new French foreign minister, Robert Schuman, for the first time since the stalemated London meeting of last December.

If it appears as a result of one or more talks with Molotov that a council meeting might offer some prospect of a workable east-west compromise on Germany, there is speculation among diplomats here that the session might be held in Berlin prior to the United Nations assembly meeting in Paris in late September.

Marshall had an opportunity to discuss the situation publicly today if he cared to. He scheduled a press conference for noon, EDT. Further information also may be made available with the impending return here of Charles Bohlen, state department counsellor who has been conferring with British and United States officials in Berlin and London.

According to responsible informants here the plan to send ambassadors represented a compromise between British and American views. Britain wanted to send notes. The United States favored having the ambassadors talk to Stalin.

Red Measles Lead With 11 Cases

COBOURG, July 28 —(ENS)— Twenty-four new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending July 24 by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. Red measles led the list with 11 cases, all of them in the rural sections of the counties. Six new cases of chickenpox were recorded with three in Cobourg and the rest in the rural municipalities. Two cases of mumps, one of undulant fever in rural sections and four cases of whooping cough in Bowmanville comprised the balance of the list.

Rain Needed

COBOURG, July 28 —(ENS)— Moderate rainfall occurred yesterday afternoon and in the evening also, and while it was not as heavy as desired, it at least helped alleviate the dry countryside. The extended dry spell has tended to spoil the raspberry crop and the need of rain for general crops was being keenly felt by farmers. Yesterday's rain would have been a fair rain in itself but due to the very dry conditions in the rural parts, it fell short of requirements.

Third Choice Open To Newfoundland

LONDON, July 29.—(CP).—L. D. Gammans, Conservative Member of Parliament, for Hornsey, says today in a letter to the Times Newfoundland has the third choice of forming a part of the United Kingdom with the "Northern Ireland type of constitution, with a Newfoundland parlament for domestic affairs but with direct representation in the Imperial Parliament."

He said that the second plebiscite results show Newfoundlanders have found it difficult to choose between Confederation with Canada and a dominion status it probably would be impossible to maintain economically.

Under a third choice, Newfoundland would be able to draw on the imperial exchequer if necessary without loss of status and the United Kingdom would gain sea and air bases and location for dispersal of vital industries.

Attacks Russia's ERP Propaganda

GENEVA, July 8.—(Reuters). —Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, today attacked Russia's "shrieking, shouting campaigns of propaganda" against the European Recovery Program in an address to the United Nations Economic and Social Council here.

Earlier, the Soviet delegate, Amazask Ariutiunian, accused the United States of deliberately creating an atmosphere of international tension to enslave Western Europe by the Marshall plan.

McNeil vigorously denied another charge by Ariutiunian that the European Recovery Program agreement had caused Britain to slow up nationalization of steel.

"The Labor Government will dispose of the British steel industry according to the mandate they have received," he said.

Nor has American influence persuaded Britain from nationalizing the Ruhr industries, McNeil added.

"We have left it to the German people themselves to decide what to do with this property," he said. "It may be a dreadful offense to consult these people, but it is the kind of error we traditionally make."

Ariutiunian, attacking the Marshall plan, demanded that the 18-member council holding a six-week session, here should "act to prevent Western Europe from becoming an American colony."

Ariutiunian saiad the United States was using Marshall aid to secure military bases in Europe, to achieve the political enslavement of Western European countries, to corner the world's markets by controlling the foreign trade of countries receiving relief, to distort Europe's economy and agriculture to make it fit the desres of American monopolies and to gain control of European countries' colonies.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1948

A United British North America

The Newfoundland referendum on the colony's future status resulted in an absolute majority for Confederation with Canada. It was the second defeat for the proponents of responsible government. This would seem to indicate that the matter is decided, that Newfoundland will become the tenth Canadian province, that at long last the aim of the Fathers of Confederation will be realized—a union of all British North America.

* * *

The majority for Confederation was, however, only 6,000—52 per cent. Even though a majority is a majority in democratic, parliamentary countries, and a majority decision is decisive, the issue for both Newfoundland and Canada is too large to take the slim majority as a mandate for Confederation without other favourable indications. What is the opinion of the thousands of people who are not violently partisan, now that Confederation seems likely? Will a majority of those who voted for responsible government take the attitude of the independent St. John's Evening Telegram, which says editorially:

"It (The Telegram) sees no purpose in recrimination and the keeping of old sores open. The outcome represents the will of a majority of the people. To disregard the expressed wish of 77,295 would be to invite trouble. Acceptance of the verdict will avoid dissension and division."

Will some of the leading spokesmen for responsible government now co-operate with their former opponents, as did George Brown with Sir John A. Macdonald so that Canadian Federation could be achieved in 1867 for the good of the Province of Canada?

* * *

These are matters which the Canadian cabinet is now considering. The Government's position is delicate, but it cannot overlook the effect a disregard of the majority vote would have. If it rejected that vote the supporters of union and the people of the colony generally would feel that Canada had reneged on its promises and broken faith. The cabinet has no doubt examined the distribution of the vote. That is important. The chief support of responsible government and opposition to Confederation came from St. John's. If instead of negotiating directly now with the Commission Government, Canada waited until a Newfoundland parliamentary government were elected, the parliament and government would be overwhelmingly a Confederation parliament, on the basis of representation by constituencies.

* * *

Canadians generally will welcome Newfoundland's accession to the Dominion. The cost to both Canada and Newfoundland in dollars and cents may cause heartache and recriminations in the first few years, but in matters like this the cost is trifling compared with the benefits that will ultimately accrue to both Canada and Newfoundland.

Orange Floats In Little Lake

Peterborough's Little Lake is touched with iniquity. It has more than a faint air of harlotry, for it is attractive from a distance (the pretty face of the water, the ornament of the embankment and tracery of foliage), but on near acquaintance it not only smells foully but is seen to be corrupt. There is even scum on the surface. An American touring the Trent system called in to see us the other day. His yacht sails unscathed from Florida to Lake Superior, but (as he politely remarked) he did not want to tie up at George Street Wharf overnight as he had planned; if he did the hull would need a thorough scraping. He liked the central location, the air of tidiness, but he liked neither the air above the water nor the scum on it nor the corruption in it.

Word has come to us from Sarnia that 3,500 orange-coloured wooden floats have been dropped into the St. Clair River to get information about the direction and speed of currents and to study river pollution. That of course is a cheaper way of finding out how badly polluted Little Lake and the Otonabee are than by having expensive American yachts test it to their own detriment. And more courteous.

Perhaps we do not need the orange floats. Perhaps we need an efficient sewage disposal system.

Candidate For Liberal Leadership: Hon. Angus Macdonald

Sixth on the alphabetical list of possible candidates for the leadership of the federal Liberal party is that of Hon. Angus Lewis Macdonald, P.C., K.C., B.A., LL.B., S.J.D., LL.D., premier of Nova Scotia. Mr. Macdonald's outstanding career in Nova Scotian and federal politics thoroughly qualifies him as a candidate, and it is predicted he will actively seek nomination at the Liberal convention to be held in Ottawa next month.

Mr. Macdonald's political career began when he was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Commons in the riding of Inverness, N.S., in 1930. Three years later he was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature as leader of the victorious Liberal party and became premier; he was re-elected in 1937. After serving in the Dominion cabinet from 1940 to 1945, during which time he represented Kingston riding, he resumed leadership of the Nova Scotia Liberal party, and is now premier and provincial treasurer of that province; he led his party successfully at the polls in the provincial general election of 1945, taking every seat except two, which went C.C.F.

The war service of Angus Macdonald in two world conflicts has won him a high place in the respect and affection of Canadians generally. During the First World War he served with the 185th Battalion, going overseas with the rank of lieutenant; he won promotion to the rank of captain, but reverted to lieutenant and transferred to the 25th Battalion in order to see active service. He was wounded two days before the Armistice was signed.

Overshadowing that record, however, is the five-year period of service in which Angus Macdonald was Canada's minister of defence for naval services, 1940-1945. He brought to that post remarkable administrative ability, unflagging energy and a deep sense of duty. Under his leadership the Royal Canadian Navy grew from a token force into a fleet that astonished the world and won warm praise from all Allied nations. Naval historians of the United States and Great Britain are agreed that the R.C.N. was the vital factor contributing to victory in the North Atlantic, and history will record Angus Macdonald's share in that triumph.

Born at Dunvegan, on the western shore of Cape Breton Island, Angus Macdonald's career has won him a place in that great group of men of Scottish descent who have become prominent in the public life of this country. He is, first of all, a scholar; he is an experienced and able politician, a fluent and concise speaker and a nimble-witted debater. He is married, is the father of four children; he is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

If election to the leadership of the national Liberal party depended on the vote of Nova Scotians or the electors of the riding of Kingston City, Angus Macdonald would succeed Mr. Mackenzie King in that post.

Poliomyelitis Congress

Poliomyelitis ("infantile paralysis") is now recognized to be a disease not peculiar to childhood or to North America and a few European countries. It has become a world problem and medical experts attempting to find ways of eradicating the disease have little encouragement to offer. In an effort to deal with the problem on a global basis, to pool knowledge and collaborate in research, a permanent World Congress on Poliomyelitis has been established as a result of the first international conference on the disease which was held in New York earlier this month. Representatives of 30 nations who attended the congress reported no spectacular cures, no sure methods of reducing the incidence of the dreaded disease. There has been, however, a marked decrease in the crippling effect of the disease in many cases.

Thus far this summer Peterborough has been free of poliomyelitis. There been two cases in Lakefield and both patients are now undergoing treatment in Toronto. Montreal, which had a siege of it in 1945, is free from it up to the present. The chief alarms have come from North Carolina where 600 cases have already been reported, although the danger season has far from run its course.

The Time For Reconciliation In Palestine

By W. N. EWER

THE truce accepted by both sides in Palestine on order of the United Nations Security Council is as yet no more than a lull in the fighting. It is uneasy and unstable.

Both parties insist that it cannot last indefinitely: that if there is no settlement there must be renewed war until the issue is decided. The Arab Government have only accepted under intense pressure and because they would not flout the Council's authority.

They accuse the Jews of having—in violation of its conditions—brought in munitions and fighting men during the earlier truce. And certainly Israeli forces, when the fighting was resumed, had larger bombers and heavier artillery than before.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE will be restlessness and pressure on both sides for denunciation of the new truce. There may well be violations of it. Israeli authorities have little or no control over Irgun Leumi or over the Stern Gang: nor is there absolute discipline in the Arab ranks.

The position is unstable. And yet the chances of a settlement by consent (though not by agreement) are better than they have been.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR the enforcement of truce upon reluctant Arab States implies that the Council (or a sufficient majority of it) is in fact prepared to enforce a solution upon them, and that this solution will include the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine. The Arabs have, in effect, been told that they will not be allowed even to attempt to overthrow the "Republic of Israel" by force. That institution has to all intents and purposes been taken under the protection of the Council. Not merely its existence, but even its immunity from any threat of attack are now patently guaranteed.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE issue is decided. And the Arabs know it. That is the reason for the reluctance and bitterness of their acceptance. They knew that they were in fact being called upon to accept not merely a truce but partition and the creation of a Jewish State: that this would be the end of their long struggle for "unity and independence of Palestine": and that there could be no going back—partition is decided and will be enforced upon the Arabs. And they will submit to force but with the conviction that they are the victims of a great injustice, and that the verdict has been given, no on considerations of equity or Palestinian welfare, but because of remote and irrelevant political factors.

THAT settles the old, only to raise a new, Palestine problem. An imposed peace, improvised frontiers, a disrupted economy, displaced populations and bitterness and suspicion between the two communities give little hope for the future.

There is no real solution without some measure of reconciliation. To think of such a possibility before even a truce is fully practiced may seem absurd. Yet it is a fundamental. And it is from this moment that all effort should be directed to reconciliation.

NOW for that, the major responsibility must rest with the Jews: for the simple reason that they are the victors. It is the victor who can and needs to be generous if there is to be real peace.

Other than the bitterness of defeat, the chief source of Arab bitterness at the moment is the fate of 250,000 Arabs who have been driven, or have fled through fear, from Israeli territory. Their sufferings have been acute, though they have had small publicity. Like all "displaced persons", they are a heavy economic liability.

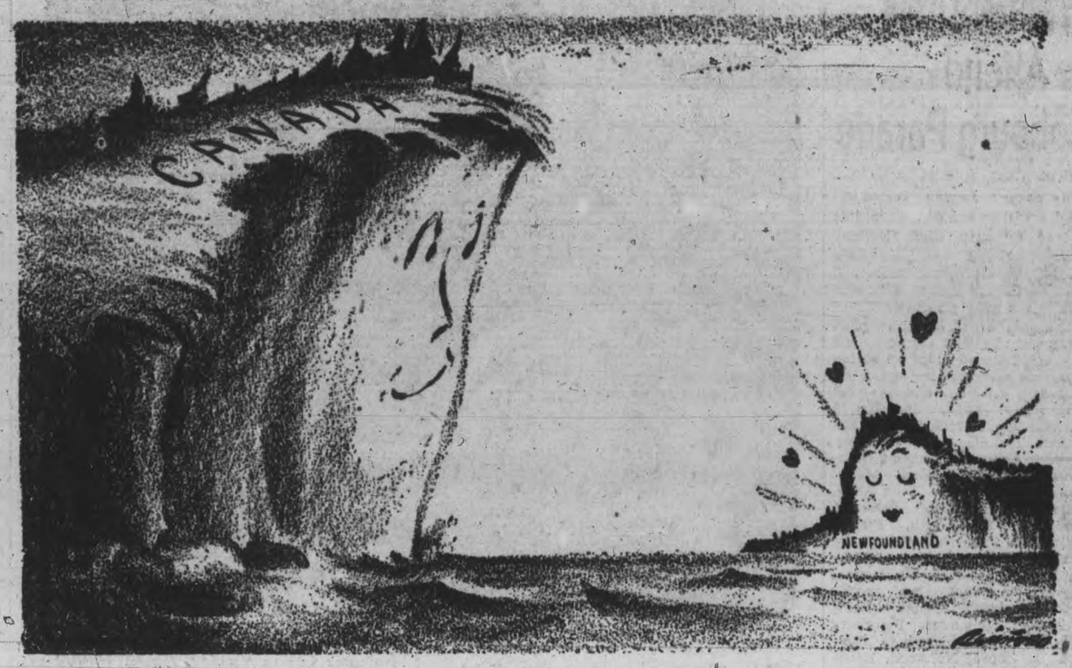
A SWIFT and genuine offer to arrange for their return and reinstatement in homes and farms and jobs would have a good effect. Just as any suggestion that their exile will make room for [illegible] Jewish immigration would be disastrous.

Immigration, indeed, is still the crux of all the question, the real basis of Arab fears. They have seen the first Jewish settlements, then a "national home", now a Jewish State in a land which only 30 years ago was (though under Turkish rule) unquestionably Arab.

◇ ◇ ◇

IF they could be assured that this settlement (whatever it may be) will really set final limits to the Jewish invasion, then the Arabs would, I think, gradually accept it and become used to it. What they fear is that the "Republic of Israel" is only a brideghead: that Jewish claims to all Palestine, to Transjordan, perhaps even beyond, will be only dormant and will be revived when an increasing population in Israel wants new "lebensraum". The root of it all is that the Arabs are afraid. And it is only the wisest and most imaginative statesmanship on the part of Israeli leaders that can allay that fear. They are coming to that supreme test which always comes with victory.



He Prefers Jail

There will be many a hard-pressed taxpayer who will experience a feeling of sympathy, or perhaps even envy, for an 84-year-old Indian by the name of Paddy Duncan who has declined to leave his snug refuge in New Westminster penitentiary.

Many a man or woman, weary of the unceasing struggle against the world, with the rising cost of living, the effort to make ends meet, and the continual competition for survival, will be moved to admire the aged Indian's decision. Three meals a day, a bed, a roof overhead, medical care and freedom from income taxes—these surely are attractions adequate to outweigh certain small disadvantages.

Paddy Duncan has enjoyed them for the past 11 years. His life sentence has now been ended by a parole. But Paddy opines that he will stay where he is, and the law provides that he can serve his full term if he wants to. —Victoria Times.

WEDDING BELLS?

Robbing the Young of Self-Respect

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THERE is a popular theory that military tradition moulds and narrows, stamping out individual qualities to form a human automaton. It may be that that concept still exists, difficult as it is to justify in an age of mechanized warfare demanding individual initiative. The point is immaterial perhaps. Its only interest lies in the notable fact that within the month two British field marshals —Earl Wavell, former Viceroy of India, and Viscount Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff—have both warned of the dangers of modern dependence on the State and urged a revival of the spirit of individual adventure.

Lord Wavell, speaking at Aberdeen University in his capacity of Chancellor, urged graduates to avoid the fate of modern man in the modern state: "a mere number on an identity paper and a hole punched in an index card." Hens and geese are cared for from cradle to grave, he argued cogently, but that way lies "slavery and iron curtains."

Speaking in London recently, Lord Montgomery echoed this thought in his own fashion. Contemporary youth lacked the adventurous spirit, he suggested. "There is a general disinclination to do a good day's work. The general cry is for less work and more pay. The high sense of duty is lacking. There is no discipline."

"These are symptoms of a disease, a disease of morale," Lord Montgomery warned; a disease that "may have disastrous results unless we are very careful."

Both war heroes are legitimately concerned; and correct in diagnoses. The root cause of this current disease of morale is the tendency of the contemporary State to guide, protect and cushion its citizens; and in exchange, to absorb all responsibility. That tendency exists in every modern State. It finds its most exaggerated form, perhaps, in the U.S.S.R. But it is implicit in Britain and a growing sentiment in Canada and the U.S.

Only one result can derive from this excessive paternalism on the part of the State: what Lord Montgomery rightly calls robbing "the young of some of their self-confidence, self-reliance and even their self-respect." Man, master of the State, is democracy; the State, master of man, is tyranny, whatever it is called.

Letter To The Editor

THE BRINTON CARPET CO. VOTE

Sir: It has come to my notice through your esteemed paper that the evidence given against me at the Labour Relations Board in Toronto on June 30 last regarding the protest by the United Carpet Workers Assn. has made it necessary to take another vote and I could not pass it up without comment. At the hearing of the Board I took a solemn oath to tell the truth and did so. The main point was centred on what happened after the deadline set for the "no propaganda rule" and I answered truthfully that I took no part in anything during that period. And I solemnly swear I have never asked or tried to influence any persons to vote for any Union at any time. Regarding the testimony given by Stante I beg to state I have not spoken to this pergon for months either before or after the vote and I challenge him to deny it. Also two of the witnesses I have never spoken to outside of "good morning". I did not hear the evidence of the witnesses because I was not allowed in the room when they were being examined.

I wanted to tell the Board what happened weeks before the deadline, regarding the jokes between all concerned, but was told that did not concern the case in question. Well, Mr. Stante and Mr. Hele, here is something that actually did happen on the day of the vote. Three trucks of bobbins which were waiting for me to take to the weavers, had, in each case a large Vote C.I.O. button fastened to the ticket bobbins and these bobbins came out of the Dept. where five of the witnesses work, and another button was hanging over the desk I use. Was this a joke? Or was some person or persons trying to involve me in some wrongful action. I have since wondered.

Maybe some person or persons dislike me and maybe would rather see me working at any place other than the Brinton Carpet Co. I want to point out I am not or ever have been a "Stooge" for any Union and I would not favour any Union any more than the firm I may be working for. I do my job and do it conscientiously and have not yet had any complaints and here is a point, I do not take advantage of any privileges I may be given.

In conclusion Mr. Stante, President, and Mr. Hele, Secretary, and others, please take notice from now on I do not wish to be connected with any Union and in future my name be omitted from such matter, otherwise strong action will be taken against those concerned.

C. ROBINSON.

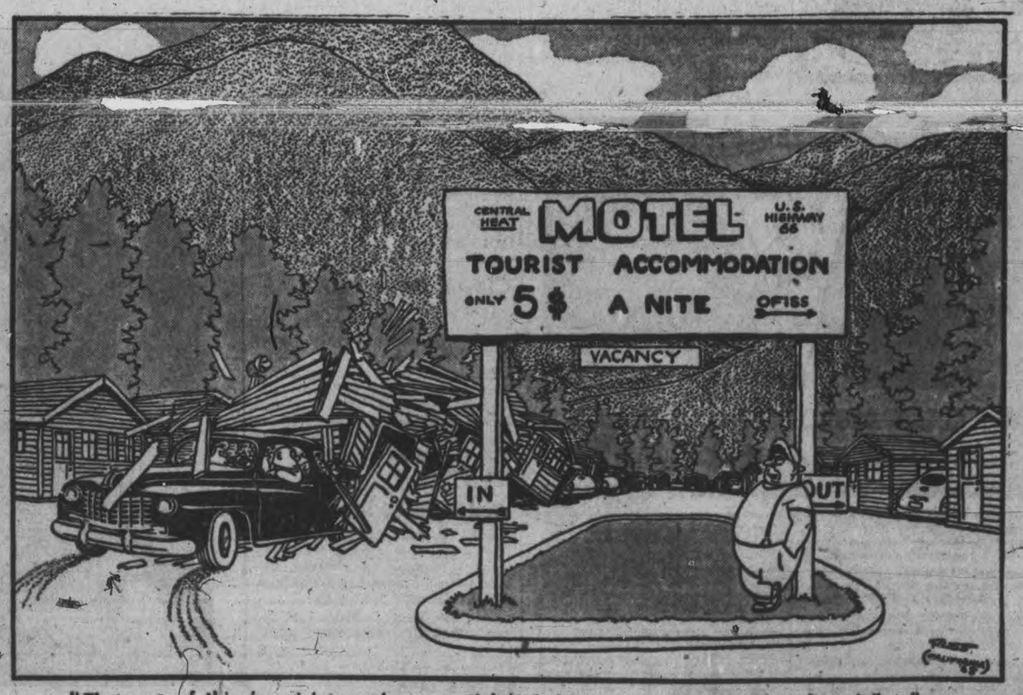
A Bible Message

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron; because they rebelled against the words of God, and condemned the counsel of the most High: therefore he brought down their heart with labour; they fell down, and there was none to help.



Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses. He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder. (Ps. 107: 8-14.)

Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock. For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he.

Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd: and their soul shall be as a watered garden; and they shall not sorrow any more at all. (Jer. 31: 10-12.)

Five-Pound Baby Is Born On Air Ambulance Plane

REGINA, July 28—(CP)—A five-pound Saskatchewan resident made his debut Saturday while his mother was flying 5,000 feet over the province.

The baby was born to Mrs. Marie Dubril of Rose Valley, Sask., a passenger in a government air ambulance plane bound for Regina.

Mother and child are reported well in Wadena hospital, 80 miles northeast of here, where the pilot set down in an open field after the birth.

Ambulance officials recalled several births minutes after the plane touched ground but none while the craft was in flight. Statistics officers here say the birth record will list the child as "born in an air ambulance en-route from Rose Valley to Wadena."

Pilot Julien Audette, 34-year-old veteran of Dakota-flying with the RCAF in the Burma theatre during the Second World War, said he "turned around 15 minutes out of Waden and knew something was wrong."

"I was told by Nurse Eleanor Fraser to set down fast and I knew the district well, so I got down in a field."

Russia Builds Treaty Network

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP). —While assailing American support of Western Europe, Russia and her Eastern European satellites are building a tight network of treaties against "aggression."

The State Department noted this today in publishing as an official document the texts of 22 compacts signed by Moscow or the Soviet bloc states. Others have been completed or are in the making.

The round-up was made before Czechoslovakia and Romania signed their "treaty of friendship, collaboration and mutual assistance" last week. Russia and Albania are expected to sign up shortly, thereby increasing pressure against Premier Tito's Yugoslavia in his quarrel with Moscow.

The treaty between the new Communist-run Czech regime and Romania, like most of the others, provides for mutual military support in case either is "dragged into armed conflict" with an aggressive Germany or "with any other state directly or indirectly uniting with Germany."

By the terms of Moscow's propaganda campaign that would appear to include the United States, Britain and France because of their backing of a separate government for Western Germany.

The exchange of pledges among the Soviet-bloc states has been accompanied by numerous denunciations of "American Imperialism," the State Department also noted.

Have No Comment On Latvian Refugees

OTTAWA, July 28 — (CP) — Immigration authorities said Tuesday they could not comment on a suggestion that 29 Latvian refugees now being held at Boston after a trans-Atlantic crossing aboard a ketch might seek entry into Canada

"We can't comment on a case that is before the United States authorities," a spokesman said.

He was referring to a Kitchener dispatch in which Rev. John Schmieber of the Lutheran World Relief organization indicated his group might assist the refugees.

The organization last January sponsored the entry into Canada of 23 Estonians after they had been refused admission to the United States. The Estonians were allowed into Canada a month after they applied for entry.

TODAY many sections of the country are seriously affected by shortages of electrical power.

But this situation is being remedied. Vast new power projects are now being developed — through the investment of life insurance funds.

You see, part of every dollar that you put into life insurance is invested in government, public utility and industrial bonds. And millions of these life insurance dollars are helping to pay for new electrical power plants throughout the Dominion.

When they are completed, there will be power enough for all our homes, farms and industries in future years.

Thus your life insurance serves a double purpose. It provides financial protection for your family. And it helps raise the living standards of the nation!

WEDDINGS, OH MY: "I'm to be matron of honour at my sister's wedding in Toronto this October. It's a formal wedding with long dresses. I have no call for a long dress after the wedding and would like to rent one instead of buying. I'm size 44. Is there any place in the city I could get this service?"

We haven't been able to find a dress-for-rent shop in evening dresses. But the Junior League Opportunity Shop, 75 Gerrard St. W., frequently have good-looking dresses at very reduced prices. Why not try there? Otherwise why not buy a V-neck, long sleeved, long skirted dinner dress for the wedding, then cut it off to right street length?

MORE WEDDINGS: "At my evening wedding I am wearing a white satin dress with a finger-tip veil. Is it permissible to wear the veil over my face as I walk down the aisle?"

Veils over the face going to the altar, off the face after the ceremony is the usual procedure.

HARD BLANKETS: "I have a pair of wool blankets that have become slightly hard and shrunken through improper washing. Is there any treatment that will restore their fluffiness to any extent?"

The blanket manufacturers say once a blanket shrinks it's difficult to bring back it's fluff. Method recommended to improve them is this: Wash in mild suds adding one cup vinegar in the last rinsing water. Have two people gently pull the blanket into shape while still damp, then shake. Some of the nap will rise again, but not much.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE: "To what department do I write in the Parliament Buildings for my birth certificate? How much will it cost? To whom should the money be sent?"

Enclose also the full names of both parents. A money-order for $1.50 should be made payable to the Registrar General or the Provincial Treasurer.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Millar Trophy match-play tournament opens Thursday at suburban Toronto's Islington golf course and will continue Friday and Saturday. More than 75 of the country's top professionals have entered.

The tourney is being sponsored by zone four of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association.

Any pro in Canada is eligible so long as he is qualified in the CPGA. Bill Ezinicki, Toronto Maple Leafs hockey star, and pro golfer, was not accepted in the tourney because he was not attached to any club.

Last year's champion, Bill Kerr of Montreal Beaconsfield, will defend his crown against an impressive array of link artists.

Canada heads one of the four groups into which the 23 countries participating in the Olympic games basketball event have been divided.

Each group is headed by teams which held a group first place in the 1936 games in Berlin. Canada heads group "A" which included also Britain, Italy, Hungary, Brazil and Uruguay. Canada meets Italy Friday night in the group "A" contest. Saturday afternoon Canada meets Britain.

Theo Dubois, veteran Winnipeg sculler, said Tuesday he hadn't planned to enter the Canadian Henley which opens at Port Dalhousie, Ont., today. He said he wouldn't gain anything by competing. "I've beaten all the guys who'll compete . . and it wouldn't get me a birth on the Olympic squad—the one thing I've really been shooting for," he said.

Jaroslav Drobny and Valdimir Cernik won their opening singles matches at Prague Tuesday to give Czechoslovakia a 2-0 lead over Sweden in the finals of the European zone Davis Cup tennis eliminations. Drobny, the Czechs' top performer, conquered Sweden's Lennart Bergelin, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5. Cernik had more difficulty with Torsten Johnnson but won, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Jean Richard of Montreal, Canadian welterweight champion, Tuesday night won a unanimous decision at Halifax in a 10-round main bout against Dick (Kid) Howard of Halifax. Richard weighed 128, Howard 128½. The bold-punching Montrealer had little trouble in scoring his second decision over the Maritime lightweight champ in three matches. It was a non-title affair.

William Louth of Oakville, Tuesday qualified at Rochester, N.Y., for the United States Golf Association's first annual national junior tournament. Playing in the Rochester district qualifying round, Louth scored 42-39—81. The tourney will be played at Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 11-14.

Proposals to hold either the Canadian open or amateur golf tournament in Halifax next year as part of Halifax's bicentenary have fallen through, bicentenary officials said today. Plans were cancelled when it was found that the city has no course of 9,000 yards, required length for title play.

Horse Blind In 1 Eye In Maryland Race

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 28. (AP)—Joseph F. Flanagan, Maryland Racing Commission steward at Farigo track here, announced Tuesday night an investigation of the spill which caused the death of Jockey Benny Leggett here Saturday showed:

1. Alpine Boy, 12-year-old gelding which bolted into the rail and spilled Leggett, is blind in its right eye but can see from its left.

2. That two track veterinarians examined the horse before the race Saturday and found him fit to run.

3. That the same two veterinarians checked Alpine Boy again Tuesday, and saw "no apparent change" in the horse's condition.

4. That the horse had been barred from racing in West Virginia, but, so far as Flanagan had been able to determine, that fact had not been reported to the Maryland Commission.

Gambi Swims Channel In 12 Hours

DOVER, England, July 28. — (Reuters)—Giovanni Gambi, 40-year-old Italian horse breeder, who once won a Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim at Toronto, today swam the English channel from Au Dresselles, near Cap Griz Nez, France, to the English coast near here in 12 hours and 36 minutes.

Reneato Veschi of Rome said Gambi had fought rough sea and strong wind during the night. When they finally reached the English side, the trawler accompanying Gambi was unable to put into shore and Gambi was too exhausted to swim back to the small boat which also went along.

"We shouted to him to wait there while we went to Dover for assistance and by the time we got into Dover we heard that Gambi had been found and had been taken to Dover hospital," Veschi said.

Veschi's account of the swim was confirmed by the men who manned the trawler.

Gambi's claim of 12 hours 36 minutes for the France-England swim would, if confirmed, be the second fastest on record. Georges Michel of France made it in 11 hours and 5 minutes in 1926.

The Italian said a year ago that he expected to cross from Cap Gris Nez to Dover in less than 10 hours. He had been preparing for the swim since then.

Gambi won a five-mile marathon swim at the C.N.E., in Toronto in 1935.

Juvenile Team Loses 17-7

In an exhibition juvenile lacrosse fixture last night in the indoor arena at Huntsville, the Huntsville juveniles defeated Peterboro all stars 17 to 7. Despite the score, Hickson for the Petes was brilliant in goal and repeatedly earned the plaudits of the Huntsville fans for his fine work.

For the first two quarters Petes seemed thoroughly disorganized and were unable to click in their usual style. Huntsville displayed fine team-work both in passing and checking. At the end of the first quarter the score read Huntsville 6, Petes 1 with the lone Peterboro tally notched by Whitnall. At the end of the second quarter Huntsville was well out in front, 10 to 1.

Starting the third quarter Petes getting accustomed to the poorly lighed indoor arena finally started to click, rattling in four goals while Huntsville added two to their total. Payne for the Petes was in alone on the Huntsville goal on two occasions but was unable to score.

The third quarter ended with the score, Huntsville 12, Petes 5.

Petes started the scoring in the early moments of the fourth quarter with Garry Robinson notching two counters to make the score 12 to 7. Petes held the edge in the play most of this quarter but were unable to add to their score. In the dying moments of the game Petes tired rapidly and Huntsville scored five quick goals to make the final score 17 to 7.

The game, played before a capacity crowd, was very fast and clean with only four minor penalties being handed out, all of which went to the Huntsville team. Oddly enough, Petes were unable to score on any of the four occasions when they had the man advantage.

Crowley, Whitnall and G. Robinson with two goals each and Sedgewick with one were the Petes' scorers. Ward and Seaton each with four goals were the main goal getters for Huntsville.

Peterboro— Hickson, H. Russelle, Beavis, B. Robinson, Payne. Vincent, Whitnall, VanAllen, Crowley, Foster, Bicford, Levasseur, G. Robinson, Sedgwick, Moorby, Shearer, O'Donel.

Huntsville— Seaton, Chabrian, Ward, McDonald, Payne, Boucher, Brunski, Booth, Cassidy, Smith, Jones, Arthurs, Adams.

Romania Quits Olympics

LONDON, July 28.—(AP). — Romania will not compete in the Olympic Games, it was disclosed Tuesday as political complications arose to harass officials of the international competition. Adding to the difficult situation was the exclusion of an Italian Communist newspaper man and the unexplained absence of another one of the original 62 entries, Bulgaria.

Boston Braves On Rampage Won Last Pennant In 1914

By FRED MAYBEE

As the races in both major leagues reach the white heat of mid-summer, baseball fans old and new scan the sport pages and they saw both Boston teams in the lead on Tuesday.

Could it be that this city steeped in glorious baseball tradition of other days will rise to heights anew and produce two winners?

Has it ever happened before? Not to our knowledge.

Looking at the National league, we find that relatively speaking, the Boston Braves occupy a much more secure position in their loop than their colorful rivals in the American.

From a sentimental standpoint, too, fans hope that the star of Southworth's Braves will not grow dim during the next two months—whate'er betide the Red Sox.

After all, the Red Sox won two years ago in the American, though they lost a tough seven game set to the Cards in one of the greatest series of recent years.

The Braves, on the other hand, have waited 34 years for a winner.

The last victor Boston produced in the National league was in 1914 and this is the team we will talk about briefly, tonight.

On July 15, 1914, the Boston Braves, under manager George Stallings were in last place in the league, 13 games behind the New York Giants who won the pennant in 1913.

A Sizzling Race

On Oct. 7, exactly two months and 22 days later, those same Braves were 10½ games ahead of the Giants who had to be content with second spot at the end of one of the most hectic races the game has known.

Stallings was installed as the miracle man of baseball and his name has been perpetuated since and will continue to be, despite the McGraws, McCarthys, Durochers and Boudreaus.

Who played on that 1914 team?

Hank Gowdy, the first big-leaguer to enlist in World War 1, caught for the club. He had been traded by McGraw in 1911 as a first baseman and became a catcher only in 1913.

Although Stallings had several pitchers including young Bob Shawkey and Herb Pennock, who later gained fame with the Yankees, he decided in July as the club began to win, to use his three aces regularly, namely: Dick Rudolph, who in 1912 had set a record of 120 wins in a Toronto uniform that still stands; Lefty George Tyler, and Bill James.

As it turned out, Rudolph won 27, James 26 and Tyler 16, a total of 69 wins. So these three virtually won the pennant for Stallings whose good judgment was vindicated.

"Rabbit" Maranville, the great little 5' 5" shortstop, who lasted more than 20 years in the majors, was the "kid" shortfielder at the time.

Johnny Evers, of the famous "Tinker to Evers to Chance" combination of the old Cubs of 1910, was at second, after being fired as manager of that same club. "Butch" Schmidt was on first and "Red" Smith on third.

The club had five outfielders, Herbie Moran, "Possum" Whitted, Joe Connolly, Les Mann and Ted Cather, the last two playing only against south-paws. Also on the club were Josh Devose, Charlie Deal and Larry Gilbert, later a great minor league manager.

Met Athletics

Yes, they won the pennant and went on to meet Mack's Athletics in the World Series. The A's boasted such stars as Danny Murphy, Rube Olding, Eddie Collins, Frank (home-run) Baker, Stuffy McInnis, Wally Shang and pitcher Chief Bender, Eddie Plank and Bullet Joe Bush to name the stars.

How was the series won?

Dick allowed five hits to shut out the A's against 11 by Bender and Herb Wykoff who finished as Bender yielded to fate 2-0.

In the second game, Bill James gave two hits, one each by Collins and Shang and the Braves won by 1-0 as Deal doubled in the ninth and scored on Mann's single.

The third game saw interest at fever pitch the country over. Lefty Tyler opposed Bush, then a youngster, whom fate also decried must wait for later fame.

The A's moved in front in the first when Murphy doubled, was sacrificed by Olding and scored on Eddie Collins' fly, muffed by Connolly. The Braves evened in the second as Maranville walked, stole second Gowdy doubled.

Both teams scored in the fourth and in the 10th the A's scored two. Gowdy's homer however, in the Brave half followed by a walk to Moran, a single by Evers and a sacrifice by Connolly again evened the count. In the 12th a double by Gowdy, a walk to Gilbert, a bunt by Moran thrown wild by Bush gave Boston the verdict 5-4.

Dick Rudolph won the fourth game 3-1 as Boston bunched hits off Shawkey and Herb Pennock to conclude one of the greatest series every played.

All-Star Tilts Thursday To Aid Arena

Tomorrow night the all-star doubleheader with teams from the Civic Softball League comes up in the Bowl. The program is in aid of the civic arena, which should be finished by November 1. More money is needed for the rink, and it is hoped that other teams in other loops will try similar methods to back the arena.

First game is between All-Stars No. 1 and Grafton's. All-Stars No. 1 consist of: Killingbeck, Stillman, Johnson, Pierce, Crowe, Pagett, W. Ferguson, S. Ferguson, Burns, Kiff, Dummitt, Harrison, Greatrix and Cournyea. Grafton's include: Riches, Livingston, Godfrey, Sheehy, Jamieson, Conroy, Hall, McGillis, Taylor, Byers, Price, Lake and Lewis.

The second tilt is All-Stars No. 2 vs. Babe's Place, players in the latter club being: Davis, Loyst, Wilford, Mortimer, Conway, Carnegie, Fontaine, S. Anderson and J. Anderson. All-Stars include: Strickland, Lebarr, Rowe, Parnell, Brown, Ackford, Grey, Simmons, Fife, Maher, Wallwork, Moore, Nyosol, James, Gillespie, Scott and Tushingham.

Managers of the four teams are S. Ferguson, P. Scully, G. Bowen and T. Drumm. Umpires are G. Trennum and C. Castle. The Civic Softball League is moving into its playoffs at present, and there should be two good ball games tomorrow night.

There are several valuable prizes to stimulate further interest at these games, and the draws will be made at the Bowl.

Canadian Squad Said Hot Team

LONDON, July 28.— (CP). — The Canadian basketball squad has been dubbed a "hot" team in the 1948 Olympics.

There are much knowing head-nodding among scouts and coaches of other teams as the Canadian hoopmen worked out twice at the big Harringay arena Tuesday. They tried out some of their long passes and razzle-dazzle strategy on a not-too-smooth floor laid on concrete, where a 23-team Olympic hoop tournament begins Friday.

Canada meets Italy Friday night, then Britain's team Saturday afternoon. The Dominion's tall and fast squad is expected to take both games with ease. The trouble they are expecting lies in the giant United States team, which so far has not made an appearance at Harringay.

Coach Bob Osborne said: "The Americans? I don't have to see them. From what I hear and from what I read they're good. Of the teams I've seen in action around here so far, the Mexican boys look the most impressive.

700 Oarsmen Enter Canada's 1948 Henley

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 28 — (CP). — Canada's 1948 Henley, boasting a near-record entry list of more than 700 oarsmen, gets under way today on the old Welland canal course with its 66-year-old tradition twice broken.

Officials of the blue-ribbon regatta announced these two precedent-making moves:

1. For the first time in the regatta's annals, no post entries will be accepted.

2. Two women's crews will take part in the program, also for the first time in its history.

ONE OF THE REASONS that the Red Sox are currently riding the crest of the American League is their ace pitcher, Jack Kramer (above). Kramer's pitching has been star-studded of late. The Red Sox mound staff still needs bolstering, but the continued fine pitching of Kramer, along with team-mate Joe Dobson, should make the Bosox a formidable outfit to down from here on in.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

For the second night in a row the weather man threw the book right at us. Result: no bowling.

We hope our bowlers tuned in on CHEX at 6 o'clock last evening. We did, and that's how we found out about the bowling being cancelled. A smart arrangement.

This piece of information was given to us around noon on Tuesday. It seems that the plans regarding postponed games have been changed. This is the latest official news: The games committee has withdrawn the club singles on Thursday night, for the time being, and instead are asking groups No. 1 and No. 2 to play their first postponed game. The date was Tuesday, June 22. We understand that all the interested skips have been notified. Later on in the week we will announce the date of the next postponed game.

The news of the passing of Herb Ralph came as a great shock to many of his friends. Although it was generally known that he was ill in the hospital, yet very few knew of the seriousness of his illness. Although not a member of our club this season, he was for many years. He was also a member of the curling club. He was a grand fellow, well liked by all. We knew him personally, having played on our rink for several seasons. He is going to be missed in the arena of sport that he chose for pastime. We join with his friends and acquaintances in extending condolences to the members of his family.

Sports Menu

Girls got caught in the rain last night, but they're going to try again tonight. The setup will be the same, Westclox vs. Lindsay in the first, followed by Ab by's vs. Westclox.

At Riverside Park tonight, Kiwanis Juniors meet Cobourg in a game that can push the local club into a top-spot tie with Oshawa. Locals have won five and lost two, while Oshawa have won six and lost two.

An All-Star doubleheader is scheduled for the Bowl tomorrow night and proceeds are for the Civic Arena fund. Grafton's play All-Stars No. 1 in the first and in the second Babe's Place are up against All-Stars No. 2.

Norwegian Wins Marathon Set In Tennis Tilt

TORONTO, July 28.—(CP). — Sverre Lie, former Norwegian underground fighter, has fired almost every shot in his tennis book at a Toronto player to win a marathon set and advance in the Canadian tennis championships.

The nephew of UN Secretary-General Trygvie Lie battled Jack Dickinson for 22 games before winning 12-10. He then went on to take the second set 6-1 as his older opponent weakened.

The 22-year-old Lie, rated fourth-best player in Norway and seeded fourth in the tournament here, earlier was extended by Ray Page, Montreal junior, in winning his first match 9-7, 5-7, 6-3.

Rain forced postponement of half of the 100 matches scheduled yesterday. Seeded players swept through their matches without upset.

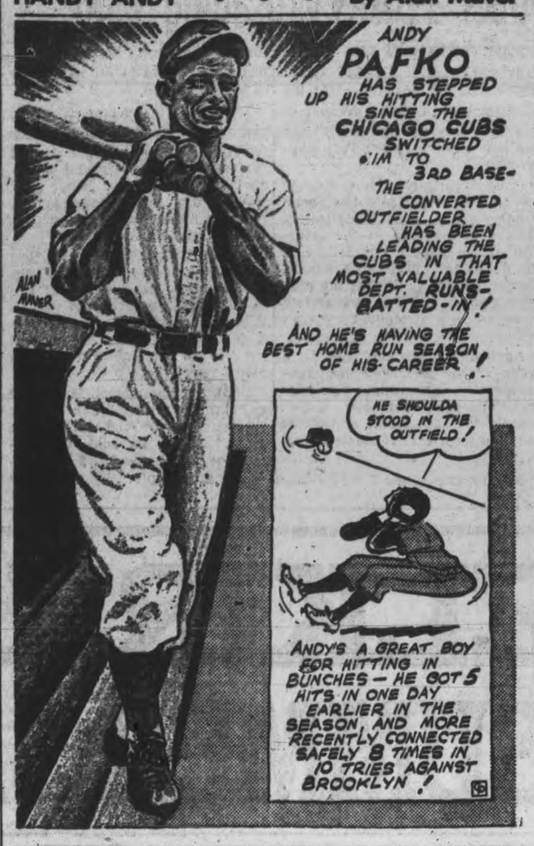
Top-seeded Henri Rochon of Montreal blasted a fellow townsman Rene Beaupre in straight love sets. Don McDiarmid, seeded third, triumphed over Bruce Harrison of Toronto, 6-1, 6-3, in a match that called for little effort from the Ottawa player.

Americans Ahead

Ranking American intercollegiate players moved ahead with third-round victories over Toronto players. Tony Vincent of the University of Miami defeated G. Campbell 6-1, 6-1; Bill Tully of Notre Dame University won from J. McGregor, 6-2, 6-2; Lin Baldwin of Yale University defeated A. Brenner, 6-4, 6-1.

Sverre Lie landed in New York 15 days ago to operate a fur-importing business. He has played in one U.S. tennis tournament since his arrival.

Lie said his Norwegian underground group during the war operated on the Swedish border, bringing weapons across to Norse fighters.



He had several scrapes with German patrols but escaped unscathed.

Mexican Ball League Drops Money-Losers

MEXIC OCITY, July 28. (AP) —The Mexican Baseball League, which three years ago lured many players from the major leagues in the United States, has dropped its two biggest money-losers — San Luis Potosi and Tampico—in a surprise financial reorganization.

Millionaire Jorge Pasquel's League will finish the season with only four clubs. All games will be played in Mexico City where it is believed there are enough fans to save the League from bankruptcy.

Braves Nip Pirates 5-1 As Red Sox Blank Tigers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Southworth, Boston Braves' manager, continues to have amazing success with castoffs.

Southworth's latest "find" is Nelson Potter, veteran right-hander he picked up a month ago as a free agent after Potter was fired by Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics.

Southworth used Potter strictly in relief roles for three weeks. Tuesday night Nels was used as a starter for the second time and again came through with a well-pitched game, permitting Pittsburgh Pirates only six hits in defeating them 5-1 in Boston. He did not allow a run after Ralph Kiner tagged him for his 28th home run in the first inning.

Boston's American League entry, Joe McCarthy's rampaging Red Sox, extended their amazing winning streak to 13 straight games by blanking the Tigers in Detroit, 8-0. Ellis Kinder held Tigers to three hits. Hal Newhouser, Detroit's ace southpaw, was the victim.

Full-Game Lead

Boston's triumph, together with the Indians' 10-5 victory over the Athletics in Cleveland, gave the Red Sox a full-game lead in the tight pennant race. Although the Indians trail by a game and a half to Philadelphia's one, they took over second place from the A's through a mathematical oddity. The A's, with four more victories and three more defeats than Cleveland, are two percentage points behind the tribe.

Brooklyn Dodgers replaced St. Louis Cardinals in the runner-up spot to the braves in the National League by coming from behind with two runs in the ninth to nip the Redbirds 3-2 in Brooklyn in the only game played in daylight. A misjudged fly by the usually-reliable Terry Moore and Pee Wee Reese's run-producing fly furnished the tying and winning runs.

Larry Jansen turned in his 13th victory of the season as he pitched New York Giants to a 3-0 triumph over Cincinnati Reds. The game marked the home debut of Leo Durocher, new Giant manager.

The victory moved the Giants into the first division, half a game ahead of the Pirates and one game behind the Carinals.

Although he was tagged for a grand-slam homer by Sam Chapman and wasn't around at the finish, Bob Feller was credited with his 10th victory of the season as Cleveland got off on the right foot in its home stand. Chapman's homer knotted the count at 5-5 in the fifth, but the tribe came back with four in the sixth off Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., third Athletic pitcher. Ken Keltner smacked his 23rd home run for the Indians.

Brown Triumph

Rookie Hank Arft, making his major League debut with St. Louis Browns, drove in three runs with a triple and home run to lead the Browns to a 4-0 triumph over New York Yankees.

Pat Seerey walloped his 14th home run with Luke Appling on base and two out in the last of the ninth to give Chicago White Sox a 2-1 triumph over Washington Senators.

Bob Scheffing's pinch single scored Clarence Maddern with the run in the 11th inning that gave Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over Dutch Leonard and the Phils in Philadelphia. The hit spoiled Eddie Sawyer's debut as Philly Manager.

Gary Cooper May Produce More Pictures

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—Gary Cooper indicates that he may produce more pictures. Hollywood has thought that Coop had soured on the medium of making his own films, but he told me on "The Fountainhead" set he may try it again. "But I would have a shooting script first," he says. "It's too expensive to start a company and not shoot right away."

Hollywood hears that the Rita Hayworth-Orson Welles reconciliation was largely coincidence. She happened to be at the same hotel where he went to see Darryl Zanuck and Tyrone Power about appearing in "The Prince of Foxes." Rita and Orson remain friendly, but Hollywood doubts if they'll ever remarry.

What, Again?

Bette Davis had a prompt answer to rumors she was having another baby. "This has been going on once a year for 15 years," she said on the "June Bride" set. "Only once have the rumors been true."

Shirley Temple and John Agar have a slight difference of opinion about how many more children they'll have. Shirley wants two more, John holds to three. That's how many brothers and sisters each had.

Leatrice Joy plans a lengthy return to pictures. After the current "Red Stallion in The Rockies," she goes into "The World and Little Willie," with June Lockhart.

Today's feature: Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Susan Hayward telling about her help problem: "My twin boys have notched their guns for another nurse" . . . Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra wandering around M-G-M- labelled "Wolves," name of their baseball club in "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" . . . Goliath-like Charles Laughton reading the story of David and Goliah for his recordings of Bible stories . . .

Alan Young, the comedy star from Vancouver, telling about the tonsillectomy of his dog, Freckles . . . Alexis Smith, also a migrant from British Columbia—Penticton—telling about her "South of St. Louis" role: "It's a pleasure to play someone called 'Rouge' after seven years of 'Cecilies'."

Wings Capture Giant Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

For the first time since 1941 Rochester Red Wings have more than an outside chance to wind up an International League season in the first division.

The Wings moved from sixth to third Tuesday night sweeping a double-header from Jersey City Giants, 8-6 and 5-3. Bill Reeder received credit for his 11th victory in the first game while "Iron Man" Max Surkont posted his 12th triumph in the second.

Syracuse Chiefs dropped from third to fourth and Toronto Maple Leafs tumbled from fourth to fifth place.

Syracuse took a 8-3 lacing from the Royals while the Leafs divided a double-header with the runner-up Newark Bears, winning the first game 7-0, but losing the second 8-3.

After veteran Jim Konstanty blanked the Bears on three hits to snap their seven-game winning streak, the Bears came back and collected 13 in routing the Leafs in the second game.

Joe Collins, with a homer, double and two singles, drove in four runs to lead the Newark drive in the second game.

The last-place Baltimore Orioles took both ends of a twin bill from Buffalo Bisons, 4-0 and 5-0.

Labor Conditions Improved Across Dominion

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP). — Employment conditions have shown improvement during both June and July, with a more adequate labor force and only local shortages of workers, the Labor Department said Tuesday night.

In its monthly review of labor conditions across Canada, the department said that on July 15 there were 110,000 people looking for work through the National Employment Service and 51,000 jobs available.

The absence of any severe labor shortage so far as the country as a whole is concerned was attributed mainly to a great reduction in labor turnover. The number of immigrants coming to this country has ben another major factor.

A measure of the availability of jobs was shown by the fact that the department estimated the closing of the schools for summer holidays threw approximately 125,000 students onto the labor market.

Although many of them registered with the Employment Service, the 110,000 job hunters on its books was 9,000 less than the 119,000 registered a month earlier. The number of unfilled jobs fell from 63,000 on record on June 17 to the 51,000 available at the middle of this month.

Make Heavy Demands

The review said seasonal industries are making heavy demands on the labor force and the heaviest concentration of unfilled jobs is in Ontario. Activity in agriculture and building has continued to expand and a growing supply of materials has speeded up the latter.

"The tourist trade is stimulating employment in the transportation and service industries," the review noted. "In mining many firms have acquired immigrants who are turning out to be very regular workers and employment is more stable than usual for this time of year."

Employment in the manufacturing industries is three per cent. above last year's levels, but demand for additional labor is light since most plants are operating at or near capacity. Labor turnover is low.

Carleton Raises Fees

OTTAWA, July 28 — (CP)— Carleton College, youngest of Canada's universities, Tuesday night followed the educational trend and increased its students' fees. Its president, Dr. M. M. Alberta Loses Crusading Spirit

EDMONTON, July 28 —(CP)—Provincial C.C.F. Leader Elmer Roper charged Tuesday night the Alberta Social Credit government had "lost its crusading spirit" and had become a "straight Tory government."

In an Alberta election campaign speech, Mr. Roper said the Social Credit party was "definitely elected to legislate in the interests of the people but following the death of William Aberhart, former premier, "It lost its crusading spirit and has now settled down to be a straight Tory government."

Agriculture Minister Ure in a radio speech defended the government's agricultural policies and charged that the C.C.F. "would socialize farms as well as other enterprises" if elected Aug. 17.

Mr. Roper said the C.C.F. would provide "the best hospital and medical services to all regardless of ability to pay.

"A C.C.F. government would assume provincial responsibility for financing up to 50 per cent of the cost of elementary and secondary education," Mr. Roper said. "It would pursue aggressive and realistic plans to overcome the present teacher shortage."

Of rural electrification, subject of a plebiscite in conjunction with the elections, Mr. Roper said "The Social Credit government doesn't believe in public ownership and it is hoping the city people will say 'No' to the public ownership plan."

In another broadcast, Mr. Roper said the government had become "the darling of the millionaire press." That, he said, was because it had changed and had "deserted the people."

Fine Four Men Total Of $300 In CSU Dispute

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP) — Four men, identified as Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) pickets, were fined a total of $300 in two Ontario courts Tuesday on charges laid following incidents in the Great Lakes shipping dispute.

Three others in another court were committed for trial on charges of assault with intent to maim; judgment was reserved in another case of counselling to beset a county jail, and 16 others were remanded to Aug. 10 on charges of carrying offensive weapons following the boarding of a vessel.

The biggest fine was $100, levied against Joseph Grabeck, 23, found guilty at Cornwall of obstructing a police office. RCMP said he interfered with the arrest of two other CSU members who boarded the Sarnia freighter J. O. McMcKellar June 13.

At Toronto ,Gordon Coutch, 22, Saul Gellar, 19, and John Quinlan, 18, were convicted of obstructing police in front of CSL property July 17. Coutch was fined $75 and costs of 30 days; Gellar, $50 and costs or 20 days and Quinlan $75 and costs or 30 days.

In passing sentence Magistrate R. J. Browne observed that fines apparently were not having the desired effect.

"Open defiance of law and order cannot be tolerated in this city," he said. "When certain types of offences become an epidemic in the community they must be stamped out. The only thing that will stop it is a jail sentence. You might take note of that for the future."

Will Stand Trial

Charge at Port Colborne with assault with intent to maim in connection with a beating given the crew of the Colonial Steamship freighter Royal July 9, three CSU pickets were committed for trial. They were: Patrick C. Rogers, Fred Hilson and Patrick McManus.

Two new charges laid under the Canada Shipping Act of boarding a ship and carrying offensive weapons also will be heard when the three appear in court again Aug. 10. On that date 15 other men arrested the day after the freighter was boarded also will be heard. They were remanded Tuesday on charges of carrying offensive weapons.

At Welland, judgment was reserved until Aug. 3 on a charge of counselling to beset the county jail, laid against Danny Daniels, CSU organizer. Magistrate George Street said he wanted to consider if picketing a public building is unlawful under the section of the Criminal Code, under which the charge was laid.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH (left), making an exception to the statement that she is to make no more public appearances until after the birth of her baby, leaves Westminster Abbey in London, July 22, with Princess Margaret Rose (second from left), after attending the wedding of the Earl of Derby and Lady Isabel Milles-Lade. Delicate Task Finland Faces Getting Premier HELSINKI, July 28.— (Reuters.)—Finland's President, Juho Paasikivi, is seeking a new premier now that the general elections are over and the old cabinet has resigned.

It is a delicate task because the new premier, like the coalition cabinet he will appoint, must enjoy the confidence of the Finnish people as well as the Russians who hold a heavily-armed base west of Helsinki.

Unlike neighboring Sweden and Norway, Finland's new parliament will have a bourgeois majority with 108 right and centre members and only 92 leftist members.

Two men are most strongly favored for the post—Urho Kekkonen, ablest man in the Agrarian Party which came first in the elections, and Karl August Fagerholm, parliamentary spokesman of the Social Democrat Party which won second place.

Kekkonen has the confidence of the left parties because he is a radical. He is also popular with the Russians, having been ministre of justice during the war-guilt trials of 1946 when Finland sentenced to imprisonment some of her wartime leaders who opposed concluding a peace treaty with Russia.

Fagerholm has equally good qualifications and like Kekkonen is a man the President has always consulted in crises.

Whoever the President appoints is expected to have trouble with the People's Democrats —a merger of Communists and left-wing Socialists who suffered greater losses in the last elections than any other political party.

In spite of these losses they have said privately they will try hard to maintain their dominant position in the cabinet.

It is forecast here that they will scale down their demands and concentrate on the ministry of the interior which controls state police, which other parties say is becoming the striking force of the People's Democrat Party.

Plan Exchange Of Air Cadets

The second annual international exchange of Air Cadets will get underway on July 30, 1948, when aircraft of the United States Air Force land at Ottawa and Calgary bringing a total of 24 U.S. Civil Air Patrol Cadets to Canada. They will mingle briefly with a similar number of Royal Canadian Air Cadets who will leave the following day for a two-weeks' tour of the United States while their American counterparts are visiting Canada.

After official receptions in Ottawa and Calgary, the two groups of U.S. Cadets will be flown in RCAF aircraft to the rendezvous point at the Royal Canadian Air Cadet camp, Patricia Bay, BC. Their entertainment in British Columbia will include several days of sightseeing in the Victoria and Vancouver areas and educational visits to centres of industry and commerce on the West Coast. They will return to Calgary on August 13th and, while awaiting the arrival of Canadian Cadets from U.S.A., will spend a day at Banff.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Cadets will visit a B.36 bomber plant in Fort Worth, Texas, then divide into two parties, one to tour the New York-Washington area and the other to see such west coast attractions as Hollywood and San Francisco. Both parties will visit motion picture studios, aircraft plants and advanced USAF bases. They will meet in Denver, Colorado, Aug. 13th, for the return to Calgary and a final get-together with the U.S. Cadets.

The second phase of the international exchange will commence on August 3rd, when a four-engined RCAF "North Star" takes off from Montreal Airport with 25 Royal Canadian Air Cadeas aboard, bound for three weeks of sightseeing in Britain. On the turnabout flight, 25 ATC Cadets will be brought to aCnada for entertainment by Provincial Committees of the Air Cadet League.

If Newfoundland 10th Province Confederates Control Legislature

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 28—(CP)—If and when Newfoundland becomes Canada's 10th province, it is taken as a foregone conclusion here that the Confederates—or whatever name they take then—will control the first provincial legislature.

Some 60 per cent of the eligible voters live in outports outside the Avalon Peninsula. The outports favored confederation heavily in last Thursday's referendum on Newfoundland's future form of government. They would control the majority of seats in the first house.

The last House of Assembly under responsible government, elected under a new resdistribution act in 1932, had 27 members from 24 districts. The act probably would be the basis for election of the first provincial legislature, with the addition of Labrador as the 25th district for the 28th member.

On the basis of last week's referendum, the Confederates would win 18 seats and the anti-Confederates 10. All 18 Confederate district would be single member seats while three of the seven anti-Confederate constituencies—St. John's East, St. John's West and Harbor Main-Bell Island.—would have two members each.

The national convention, which for 18 months studied and recommended possible future forms of government for Newfoundland, had 45 members. But the convention was constituted under a special act and no provincial election could be based upon it.

Even if this basis were used, the Confederates, again reasoning from the results of the referendum, would take 30 of the 45 seats.

2 to 1 Majority

Any way one looks at it, it seems probale that the Confederates would probably hold about a 2-to-1 majority in the first legislature.

In 1928, 37 districts returned 40 members, but in 1932 the districts were cut to 24 and the members to 27. During the first session of any provincial legislature, it would seem likely that the number of seats would be increased to at least 40.

Party alignments in the first few houses would be the same as they are now: Confederate or anti-Confederate, no matter what names the different factions might take.

It will take years before the Confederation issue drops from sigths and probably it will never be completely raised.

Confederate Leader Joseph Smallwood has said that he would lead a Liberal party in the event of Confederation. But everybody, including Smallwood, realizes that this still would be the Confederate party and the opposition would be the anti-Confederate party.

As time went on, party alignments might take on the aspect of those in Canada. But this is so far in the future that nobody is even guessing at how long it would take.

Ontario People Flock To Quebec

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP). — Paul E. Joubert, manager of the Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau, said today three of every five cars entering Quebec Province from the west bear Ontario license plates.

He attributed the sudden influx of touring and vacationing Ontarians to exchange regulations making it difficult for Canadians to holiday south of the border.

Joubert said the eastward movement from Ontario "is in marked contrast to previous years when it was generally understood Ontario tourists preferred to spend their dollars in the United States.

He said the bureau is receiving many letters from Ontario residents asking if a knowledge of French is necessary for a visit to Quebec.

"We tell them it is helpful but any tourist can get along fine without sepaking French."

Incoming tourist cars are checked at Ville St. Pierre, just outside Montreal proper. Some say their reason for visiting Quebec is a patriotic one of "Seeing Canada first." Many report it is their first visit to Quebec.

Want To Take In 29 Latvian Refugees

KITCHENER, July 28 (CP). — Officials who sponsored the entry of 23 Estonians to Canada last January after they had been refused admission to the United States would like to do the same thing for 29 Lavian refugees who are being held at Boston after a 43-day crossing of the Atlantic in a 64-foot ketch.

"We would welcome these Latvians with open arms," said Rev. John Schmieder of the Lutheran World Relief Organization. "There is room for them in Ontario and our experience wtih the Estonians indicates they would be a real asset."

He said that in the case of the Estonians, arrangements to come to Canada were made through the New York office of the Lutheran World Relief Organization. A month after the Estonians applied there for entry, the Canadian Government had completed the move.

Car Rolls Over On Warsaw Rd.; Driver Unhurt

There were no injuries in three motor accidents reported by city and provincial police today.

Heaviest damage was to the car of Norman Bowins, Toronto which is estimated at $400 The car flipped over twice when it went off the road on the Warsaw Road about three miles from the city Tuesday night. Provincial constables Emmett Crough and George Henderson investigated.

Fender damage to both vehicles was caused in a collision between cars driven by George R. Jollymore of Halifax and Thomas Best, 569 Gilmour St. near the Lift Lock on the Canal Road late Monday.

A city truck, driven by M. Pearson, 292 Brock St., and the car of Milton L. Freeburn were in collision on Bethune St. near Charlotte St. Tuesday afternoon. There was no damage to the truck. The Freeburn car had a split radiator core and damage to the hood.

PC Claire McGillen investigated both city accidents.

Repairing Roof Of Horse Barn Will Cost $65

Winter effect of raising nails in part of the roof of the horse barn at the city's Townsend St. yard requires a repair job that will cost $65, Ald. H. Dodds, chairman, reported to the board of works Monday. He was authorized to have the work done.

"It is only from the hip to the roof where there has been any leaking," Ald. Dodds said. "Frost starts to lift the nails a bit, and then snow and ice get under them and there is more loosening, and the first thing you know about what is going on is when rain drips through."

Ald. Gordon Armstrong said it was a rather general experience with that type of roof. He advised that red granules be mixed in the plastic coat that is to be applied, making these strips the same color as the roof.

"I think we can get away with a $65 job," Ald. Dodds said. "The rest of the roof is in good condition.

THE BIG SQUEEZE between a Nephaline ore truck owned by F. S. Coyle, Lakefield and driven by Kernel Lean, occurred Tuesday evening when Lean's truck struck a CNR shunting train on the east Nepheline spur and pinned between the ore storage building and the derailed box car. Lean did not receive a scratch. Both truck and rolling stock were travelling slowly and the sudden impact kept the driver in his seat. The right-hand side of the cab was wrapped around the corner of the building. Lean is shown looking over the wreck.

Girl 13 Who Lost Newly-Purchased Dress Has Treasure Replaced By Generous Donor

There is a happy ending to the story of the 13-year-old girl who had her newly-purchased dress stole on Monday when she left it lying on the counter of a George St. chain store.

This morning a generous donor, hearing of her plight, wrote out a cheque for the full amount of the stolen dress, $12.95. The Good Samaritan was A. E. Thompson, 351 Park St. N., whose only comment was: "I read about her dress being stolen and I felt sorry for her, and I thought I'd like to help her out."

She had taken a job, despite poor health, and carefully saved her money in order to purchase a dress with her own earnings.

On Monday afternoon she entered the store of Allan B. Collis, George St., and after much consideration chose her new frock and then left. During her shopping tour she momentarily laid down the box containing the dress on a counter and when she returned to pick it up, the box was gone.

She returned to the shop where she had bought the article and when she was informed that nobody had returned it as a result of mistake she realized her careful savings had been wasted. The shock proved too much and she fainted.

On Thursday morning the postman will deliver a letter addressed to her, containing a cheque for the full amount of the stolen dress.

County Assessment System Being Adopted Rapidly

At least a third of Ontario's 38 counties can be sure that they are being fairly and equally assessed. This has been made possible through the county assessment system set up under the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

Peterborough county has taken the first step toward the appointment of a county assessor, and it is expected that some progress toward organizataion of this new county department may be accomplished at the two later sessions of the county council this year.

Mr. Max R. Sloan is assistant supervisor of the county assessment branch of the provincial department. He was Peterborough's assessment commissioner before accepting the new responsibility with the Ontario government.

to watch the results of the endeavour. This year Brant, Huron and Renfrew counties joined the plan. Over a third of Ontario's counties are now under the system.

From three of five years are needed to bring the scheme into a working stage. This length of time is required as houses must be measured, lands valued, appraisal cards and maps drawn up, and municipal assessors must be trained. Assessors submit a report each June, giving the basis of equalization for county rates.

Requests from districts, such as Northern Ontario, to join the plan have been received. Because of the large territory in these districts, much of it unorganized, the system cannot be put into effect for them at present.

number of years there have been difficulties with the equalization of assessment committees of county council in setting the basis for county rates.

The county assessment system has eliminated this, and yet has not deprived county councils of any of their powers. Individual municipalities still retain the right to appeal the equalization set.

Under the county assessment system a new basis of valuing is used in areas such a high school districts, equalizing rates. Municipalities which have been assessed on a fair value do not have to enter a high school area and pay more than their rightful share, compared to areas which have been assessed on a low basis.

Where the county assessor is a full-time official he has been able to train the municipal assessor, enabling them to make recovery of assessments. In this way other tax payers in a municipality are equitably assessed.

The first county assessor was appointed in 1943 in the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. By January, 1946, ten county assessors had been appointed. Other counties held back

VISIT DUNBARTON

Peterborough Kiwanians returned on their shields on Monday night after an unsuccessful invasion of Dunbarton. In what may be loosely referred to as a softball game, according to eye-witness reports, the local club went down to defeat 17-9 before a hard-hitting crew of Dunbarton Kiwanians. Bitterest complaint of the local club was that despite having Peterborough umpires, they still could not get the decision. All report the excellent hospitality of their hosts — after the game. Those that made the trip were Jack Allen, Dit Clapper, Wes Switzer, Rufus Payne, Bert Grant, Morton Knox, Fred Stenson, Laurie Mitchell, Mac McCallum, Lloyd Parnall, and Ben Myers.

Truck Driver Dodges Death; Truck Hits Train

Kernel Lean, veteran ore truck driver for F. S. Coyle, Lakefield, was involved in a truck-train accident on Tuesday evening on the east spur of the Nepheline siding. Driving around the corner of the ore storage building after unloading his vehicle, his vision was blocked by piles of lumber on the left where the shunter was spotting empty cars and his truck bumper struck a step rung of the box car.

The impact spun the five-ton truck between the box car and building, dislodged the box car trucks, and derailed it. The front of the truck was telescoped, hood and engine crushed, and the front left axle torn from the frame. Onlookers estimated the damage at $3,500.

The accident happened so quickly Lean did not move from his driving seat, and if he had done so he would have been badly crushed, as the right-hand side of the cab was bent around the corner of the building. He received no more than a bad scare and said he neither saw nor heard the shunting cars.

The train was in charge of Conductor D. L. Curtain and Engineer J. Norris of Lindsay. It is expected that the wrecked vehicle will be removed early today and the rolling stock packed back on to the right-of-way.

BREAKS WATER SKIS

Eric Dinesen, Carlisle Ave., smashed his water skis while performing at Orchard Point near Atherley last week. He was being towed behind the fastest boat on the lake, and in going over the jump, hit the water so hard the except for a few sore muscles. Dinesen was also towed behind a low-flying aeroplane and figures he was going 70 miles an hour.

250 Girls Seek Summer Jobs 160 Are Placed

More girls than boys have registered for summer employment this year from the high schools in and around the city, W. H. Mellis, manager of the local branch of National Employment Service, said toda . A total of 250 girls have applied for vacation work and to date, more than 160 have been placed, the majority in summer resorts.

In contrast, only 97 boys have applied, and about 90 per cent of these are in factory or construction work. However, many of the boys have returned to summer resorts in which they worked last year, and as a result, their number is not known to the employment service, Mr. Mellis said.

This year, 10 per cent of the male applications from high schools have been from boys under 16, and employers in factories have been reluctant to place them, Mr. Mellis added. Last year, 175 boys were placed, and about the same number of girls as this year.

Employers have been satisfied with students doing temporary not popular this year, said Mr. work so far. Farms are definitely Mellis, and the only students working on farms are the children of farmers.

DP Domestics Taking Course

Summer school for DP domestics in the city began two weeks ago, and 13 girls are taking the course. All speak Polish, though some are Esthonians. Classes are held each Thursday night from 7.30 to 9.30, and their teacher is Miss Helen Bonnycastle.

W. H. Mellis, manager of National Employment Service, reports that the girls are doing well in their course. Last winter, night school classes were held for Polish war veterans, and a total of 28 attended the three schools in Peterborough, Norwood, and Campbellford. It is expected that there will be more attending this year, and that by the time the regular fall course starts, the DP domestics will be prepared to enter it.

Record Pea Pack Aphids Beaten

"We think we saved several tons of peas by spraying against the aphidis," Joseph McGuire of Canada Packers estimated to The Examiner today.

Looking back on the podding season and the engagement of a plane to dust the contract fields after they had passed the blossom stage, Mr. McGuire said the precaution was a kind of insurance against aphid loss. To all appearance and results its effects were satisfactory and worth while.

"We have just about the largest pea pack in the history of Canada Packers," Mr. McGuire said, "and 65 per cent of it graded fancy and choice. The jost was finished last Saturday evening, and the department is putting things in shape for the tomato pack about the last week in August."

HOW CITY GROWS

Residents of Riverside Drive have asked the council for a light at their Monaghan Road corner. That is less than a stone's throw from Crawford's Grove, at the southern boundary of the city. "I'd include Cameron St., too," said Mayor Ovens. Utilities Commission's street lighting program n the south end of the city has been held up by delay of British Columbia poles.

Muskie Got Away

Can a man land a muskie on spinning reel tackle? That's the $64 question, and Reg Faryon, president of Quaker Oats of Canada, almost had the answer last week when a muskie hit a streamer fly he was using on a five-pound test line, fly rod and spinning reel.

A small one, the muskie hit fast and before Mr. Faryon had time to set the reel for it, the line snapped and the muskie was gone. Somebody still has to answer the question.

Peterboro Cadet Chauffeurs Top Generals

IPPERWASH CAMP, July 28—(CP). — Top army and education officials from across Canada met at this Lake Huron army training centre yesterday and were expected to decide some of the future policies of army cadet training in schools across the Dominion.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, Chief of the General Staff, arrived from Ottawa to meet the educators from nine Provincial Governments. Federal Labor Department officials were also present to enter into the discussion of the future of trades training.

"We of the Army wish to find out about provincial education in technical schools and augment this with practical training in military vocations," Gen. Foulkes said.

About 200 cadets from Ontario centres are taking a special course here. It was a big day for Frank Heard of Peterborough, who drew the assignment of driving the Army delegation headed by Gen. Foulkes and Brig. H. A. Sparling, Western Ontario Military Area Commander.

Want Mill Building As Social Centre

Burnham's Point residents wish to utilize the central storehouse on the property for community and other social affairs, Ald. H. Dodds informed the council Monday. This building is the only remnant of the industry of Peterborough Lumber Co. that once flourished on the property.

Council is eager to co-operate with the lakeside people and to encourage them, but it was said that somebody had to assume authority for the building. That calls for an organization, and any time the preliminaries have been completed the building will be turned over to the residents.

No Treatment Given Sewage In Little Lake

Ald. Doug Miller recently stirred up a noisome mess when he asked for a "check" on any improper materials going into storm sewers flowing into Little lake and the Otonabee river.

His question was sent on to the city's health department. Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., enlisted the aid of his sanitary inspectors, and his report stressed a malodorous condition that might have been expected. It relates to a municipal problem of sewage disposal and clean-up of local waters which might have been corrected by this time if construction costs had not soared above first estimates which the council of several years ago obtained.

The main clause in Dr. Kelly's report follows: "There is some pollution of Little lak as a result of Canada Packers discharging certain materials into this body. However, the company has always been co-operative, and arrangements are under way for the plant to be connected to the sewer.

No Treatment

"Little lake is polluted by Ashburnham sewage because there is little or no treatment of it. Sewage from the rest of the city is emptying into the river without being adequately treated.

"Consequently, may I state that the pollution of the natural waterways within the city is largely due to the fact that the sewage from the city is emptied into the waterways without adequate treatment. I again strongly urge that steps be immediately taken to bring about the correction."

Dr. Kelly also mentions one sewer emptying into Little lake that contains oil from an industrial plant. It was reported to City Engineer Chalmers some weeks ago. There is also some oil seepage from a saturated bed at the gas works. The recent switch to propane gas should gradually eliminate this source, which is now regarded as not being a serious cause of contanimation of the river. It is expected to disappear entirely since the recent changes in the method of gas production went into effect.

Warkworth Man Bailed For Trial For Assault Upon Young Girl

Henry Ketchem of Warkworth was Tuesday bailed for trial on a charge of indecent assault upon a ten-year-old girl. Preliminary hearing was before Magistrate A. E. Gee in police court here.

Emmett Sheehy, defence counsel, in moving for dismissal, said that the crown had failed to prove a basis on which the case might be sent for trial.

Evidence was given in the closed court case by the alleged victim of the assault and her eight-year-old sister. Mother and father of the girl and provincial constable Roy Feeley also testified.

Constable Feeley said that the girl and her sister had identified the accused as the man who had committed the assault in the woods near their home in Otonabee Township. The parents of the girls repeated the description of the man which they said had been given them by the children.

Wore Dark Glasses

Highlight of the hearing was when the 10-year-old girl pointed out the accused, who was seated at the side of the courtroom, and identified him as the assaulter. The accused was wearing dark glasses during the trial and defence counsel Sheehy declined a request by acting crown attorney John Bradshaw that the accused remove the glasses.

"The identification is even better, then," said Mr. Bradshaw, "as the girl states the man was not wearing the dark glasses when the assault took place. And yet she has pointed him out with the glasses on."

The account of the alleged assault, as given by the girls, was that it took place on July 16. On that afternoon, the two sisters, with several neighboring children, had gone the road to pick berries. While there, they said, a red truck had stopped and a man came up to them.

"He told us there weren't many berries here and said he would show us a place in the woods where he had picked a lot of them last week."

When the children followed the man into the woods, evidence said, he had grabbed the 10-year-old and handled her indecently. The man had released the child when some older girls were heard nearby.

Denies Assault

The accused, in his own defence, denied that he had been in any way connected with the assault. He said he had been in the vicinity that afternoon checking on some logs which he had been considering buying.

It was emphasized in Counsel Sheehy's argument for dismissal that one of the sisters had been certain that the attacker's eyes were brown, and that color had been mentioned by several other child witnesses. He pointed out, as his client took off his dark glasses, that Ketchem's eyes were blue.

Mr. Sheehy and Mr. Bradshaw differed in opinion again as to whether the crown had prove a "primae facie" case before the preliminary hearing.

Magistrate Gee ruled that there was sufficient evidence to have the accused placed upon his trial.

Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Two Ring Wedding Unites Doris Glover, Norman Allan

Baskets of white and pale pink gladioli with large white hydrangea blooms and banking of small ferns formed a charming setting in St. James United Church for the wedding on Monday afternoon of Doris Mary Glover and Mr. Norman B. Allan, both of Toronto. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Glover, and the groom a son of Mrs. Allan Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Malcolm Davie, Toronto, matron of honor, and Miss Claire Crealock, Toronto, and Miss Eleanor Taylor, Peterborough, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids Mr. Harold Rogers of Toronto was groomsman. Ushering guests to their places were Cyril Glover, brother of the bride, and Rod Davis, cousin of the groom.

Their vows were taken and rings exchanged with the Rev. F. W. Craik officiating. Wedding music was played by Cecil Lapp. After the bride's mother entered, Mrs. A. L. McLaren sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and later, during the signing of the register, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding the bride chose a beautiful gown of blush pink satin with long sleeves of lace and the full skirt was patterned with lace. A redingote-style overskirt was scalloped down the front and embroidered with seed pearls, and formed a train at the back. Her of the satin and she was carrying American Beauty roses. The matron of honor wore a gown of old rose satin and the bridesmaids' frocks were in aquarmarine shade. They were fashioned alike with bustle bow effect at the back and ecru lace formed cap sleeves and elbow-length mittens, and also trimmed their hats made of matching satin shaped in a tiara. They carried bouquets of roses forming hearts and tied with matching satin ribbon.

The bride's mother had chosen a floor-length gown of aqua brocaded sheer and was wearing a black straw hat trimmed with large pink roses which matched her shoulder corsage. The groom's mother wore grey chiffon and lace in a floor-length gown with large brimmed hat of black mohair and a corsage of pink roses. They assisted the bridal party to receive their guests at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club after the wedding ceremony. The centreplece for the tea table was a huge silver boat ornament filled with flowers surrounding a three-tiered wedding cake. Telegrams from friends and relatives in England were read during the reception.

On their wedding trip to the Martime provinces by car, the bride is wearing a beige suit with peplum back and dark brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Allan will live in Toronto.

Mothers Often Alienate Children From Fathers

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of a 21-year-old girl who has been going steady with a young man for two and a half years. During all of this time they have been quarreling constantly. Every date is a fight. Don't you think that these two people should separate for good and try to meet someone with whom they can get along?

Dorothy Dix

I try to talk my daughter into taking a different attitude toward this boy, but all the reply that I get is: "Mom, leave me alone." I can't see any other boy in the world like this one." I am very much worried, because she is my only daughter and I just can't stand seeing her always downhearted and not eating enough, and lying awake at night, always down in the dumps because of another quarrel with her boy friend.

If you can give me any advice about how to help her, I will appreciate it.

ANSWER: Perhaps you have a weakness that I have, and that is in trying to help people who don't want to be helped. They get a kick out of having a grievance and telling their troubles to all who will listen. Think of the number of wives you know who are always moaning over haw badly their husbands treat them, but who never even try to get a divorce.

Kiss And Make Up

From your letter I judge that your daughter belongs to this and that there is nothing they enlodge and so does the boy friend, joy so much as a good fight. It peps them up and after they have gone after each other hammer and tongs and said all the mean and insulting things they can think of, they kiss and make up, and that's all until the next time.

If your daughter really wanted peace, she would have it. So I think you are foolish to worry over not taking a more conciliatory attitude towards her fiance. Probably he is just as scrappy as she is and they have a beautiful time calling each other names. You know, lots of people love fights. Just think of all the money that thousands upon thousands of people pay to see a prize fight.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a divorced women, 26 years old, and have a little girl 2 years old. My husband deserted me before my child was born. I know a man, who is very good in every way and who could give my little girl and me a wonderful home, but I do not love him. My family, as well as his, are all out for us to marry and I believe he loves me? Will I be making a mess of another marriage if I let myself get talk into marrying a man I don't love?

F. W. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: At 26 years of age you are still young enough to look forward to a long period of life. Don't spoil it by marrying a man whom you do not love. So many women make that terrible mistake. They are lonesome. They want to have a home home oftheir own, security for themselves and their children, and they marry men who bore them death. If you marry this man, you will wear your nerves to a frazzle trying to put on an act at which you will never be good because it will not be sincere.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is your opinion of a husband who goes into a closet and shuts the door, or else into the bathroom where he locks himself in, before he opens his billfold?

MRS. W. O.

ANSWER: Surely something must be the matter with your husband mentally, for no man in his right senses would ever do such a ridiculous thing as locking himself in a closet to keep his wife from finding out how much money he has in his billfold. It is such a preposterous performance because it is so futile, for no wife can make her husband give her even a split unless he is willing to do so.

She would have to be a feminine Joe Louis and able to slug him into unconsciousness before she went through his pockets, and few wives are physically able and to do that though I do not doubt that many a wife of a tightwad has wished that she had the ability to do it.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, July 29

According to an adverse solar lunar aspect it must be advisable to marshal all the faculties, ingenuity and skills in an effort to bolster up lagging or menaced conditions. A sudden slip either in plans, production or other twist of chance or tactics, might alienate interest or cooperation from high places. Those at the top may be easily discouraged or unimpressed, unless exceptional merit or ingenuity hold their customary support.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may have opportunity for demonstration of their skills, endurance, and cleverness under exceptional stress or unforeseen maneuvers coming from those whose sustained support and fidelity are vital to constructive or experimental ventures. If such reversals threaten, it may be profitable to maintain composure, hold to practical foundations, carry on with confidence and assurance. Other supporters may materialize and from unlooked-for quarters.

A child born on this day should be encouraged to hold its course, with confidence and faith in its own ingenuity and skills, if cooperation from higher-ups is to be held.

Soroptimists Help Nursing in China

TORONTO, July 28.—A report of $27,000 spent in the last two years to aid hospitals and promote nursing as a profession in China was given by Mrs. Felicitas H. Keel, chairman of Federation Chinese Contacts Committee of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs, meeting at Toronto.

A major project of every club in every region, money has been raised to aid development of nursing in China, where there are only 12,000 nurses for a population of more than 650 million. Mrs. Keel said that support was being given to the Chinese Nursing Federation and that plans had been completed for compiling and translating into Chinese a complete and up to date set of medical text books.

Much of the money has gone into the support of the Lanchow Hospital School of Nursing in Kansu Province in Northeastern China, she reported. Up until 1943 the people of this city knew nothing of nursing or hospitals. A Chinese doctor and three student nurses set up a hospital in that year. Now 50 nurses go throughout the province teaching child welfare, public health and epidemic prevention as well as caring for the sick.

Before 1940 the only way to reach this remote province was over a 5,000-year-old camel trail connecting Mongolia and Tibet. Now a weekly air service connects Lanchow with Nanking.

The club also intends to raise funds to send outstanding nurses to the United States for post-graduate courses so that they may return to become superintendents or teachers.

Hyne-McCracken

COBOURG, July 28. (ENS)—Gladioli and fern formed a setting in Trinity United Church for the wedding of Doris Lellia June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. McCracken, and Mr. George Edward Hyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hyne, all of Cobourg. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. P. Woodger with Mr. Alfred at the organ. Mr. Lloyd Stinson was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer and a full-length veil. She carried a nosegay of pale pink roses, sweet peas and baby's breath. Delicately contrasting were the pastel tints worn by the bride's attendants. Miss Eileen McCracken, maid of honor for her sister, wore delft blue taffeta. Miss Mary Stinson, bridesmaid, wore pink, Miss Phyllis Dearman, bridesmaid, in delft blue, and Patsy McWain, flower girl, in pink. Each wore mittens and floral headdresses and carried nosegays of summer flowers.

Mr. Jack Hyne was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Douglas McCracken and Donald Caine.

After the reception the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and on return will reside on King Street West, Cobourg.

Peers-Seeney

The marriage was solemnized at the Anglican Church manse in Millbrook on Saturday of Catherine Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Seeney of Ida, and Robert J. Peers, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Peers, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. M. MacLean.

The bride wore a dress of white silk jersey with white hat trimmed with blue and long blue gloves. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Seeney, who was dressed similarly in blue. Mr. Thos. Peers was groomsman for his brother.

After the reception held at the bride's home, the couple left on a trip to New York City. They will take up residence on Homewood Ave. in Peterborough on return.

Staff Honors Bride

Before her marriage on Monday afternoon at St. James' United Church, Mrs. Herman A. Castle, formerly Eva Leether, received a shower of gifts from her associates of The Peterborough Examiner office staff, and a pressure-cooker was presented as their wedding gift. Mrs. Castle is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Leether of Thompsonville, Conn., and her husband a son of Mrs. Castle and the late Thomas Castle, Peterborough. After their honeymoon in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Castle will reside in Peterborough.

Bold Operation On Brain Now Under Study

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 28 —(AP).— A bold brain operation to cure or help the mentally ill can be made better by careful teamwork, a new medical study shows.

The operation is the frontal lobotomy, in which surgeons cut the connections of the forepart of the brain with the rest. It is done through two holes, about the size of quarters, made above the forehead.

About 5,000 lobotomies have been done in the US since 1935. They are used largely for schizophrenia, or split personalities, the most common form of menteal disease and the most hopeless. There have been sucecsses and failures. It never has ben possible to predict results.

The new study is a Connecticut co-operative project to learn how effective lobotomy is and whether results can be predicted more accurately. Co-operating are the Connecticut State Hospital, Fairfield State Mental Hospital, the Institute of Living, and Psychiatric Clinic of Yale University Medical School.

Among 20 patients, 65 per cent showed great impravemente or full recovery from symptoms within a year after operation, said Dr. Burness E. Moore, Yale psychiatrist, who reported the results, and Dr. Benjamin Simon of the Connecticut State Hospital, chairman of the co-operative committee.

By the end of a year, about half the patients could be sent home. Twenty per cent were able to worn again at jobs of the same skils as before. The patients had been in mental hospitals an average of five years, and many even longer.

Curs Violne

Although 5 per cent were only slightly helped or not helped, many could be moved out of violent or closed wards in menteal hospitals. This made their care easier. In about 75 per cent of the cases, the operation cured the patienets of the most disturbing kinds of behavior.

Those who do have lobotomies still need psychotherapy, occupational therapy, and social service aids for rehabilitation. The operation has its bad side, said Dr. Frederick C. Redlich, head of the Yale Psychiatry Department. The front part of the brain is put out of action. This means that finer aspects of personality and social behavior may be impaired in some cases.

Loss of this part of the brain's function doesn't affect intelligence. But it may lead to an "I don't care" attitude, to lessened activity, untidiness, or other results. Some of these can be corrected by training.

Sex and intelligence don't seem to make any difference in whether the operation will have good results. Age makes little difference, except that there is slightly less chance for good results in middle-aged persons. The operation seems to have a better chance of succeeding if there is some known cause or starting factor for the menteal illness.

The studies also are yielding more information on how the brain functions. Knowledge like this, from humans, is expected to lead to better treatment of mental diseases.

IT WAS A NARROW escape for farmer Robert Vyse and four of his family when lightning struck a string of four barns on their Bathurst-St. Lawrence Ave. farm, Toronto, yesterday. Inside a few minutes, the whole building was an inferno which destroyed more than half Vyse's hay crop and some of his livestock. Efforts of firemen and torrential rain failed to check the fire which completely razed the barns.

Cripps Facing Stormy Session Over U.S. Plan

LONDON, July 28 — (AP). — Stormy weather appeared in prospect for Sir Stafford Cripps to-day when the House of Commons considers his proposal that Britain seek American advice to increase its industrial production.

For the second straight day the Chancellor of the Exchequer's suggestion for a joint committee, submitted at the economic co-operation administration meeting in Paris, received prominent attention in most London newspapers.

Herbert Morrison, the Deputy Prime Minister, said Tuesday that an explanation of Sir Stafford's idea doubtless would be made in Commons to-day. He did not know whether the Chancellor himself would make a statement.

Demand for an explanation grew as newspapers and politicians discused reports that Sir Stafford had not told the Cabinet what he intended to do.

The Conservative Daily Mail said: "It is false and a falsehood should be nailed down before it undermines out will and our power to make good to imply that the native resources of our people are inadequate to the tasks which confront them. It is strange that we should need outside help to get on with our own business."

The Daily Express, which had opposed the plan, called it a "humiliating, ignorant, foolish proposal."

The Express article was headed: "We don't need the Americans to teach us what is wrong here."

Calling it a "startling step," the Conservative Daily Mail said "should it mean interfering with British industry we must at once bid them a civil good-bye, but if it means British and American brains and experience are to be pooled, then we say it is the best thing that has happened for a long time."

Beanery Gang Pair Sentenced

TORONTO, July 28 — Two youths, said to be members of Toronto's west-end "Beanery Gang," Tuesday were sentenced to serve reformatory terms by Magistrate Hanrahan, who told the pair they were building up a record "that must eventually lead to the penitentiary."

Daniel Bunville, 20, of 583 Gladstone Avenue, was convicted of stealing a truck and sentenced to 18 months in reformatory plus six months indefinite. His companion, James Pidgen, 17, of 215 Emerson Avenue, will serve one month in jail on the lesser charge of taking a car without the owner's permission. The truck was to have been used to get them to Muselman's Lake for a week-end.

The truck was stolen from the Ontario Lumber Co., 1345 Dufferin Street, and the pair were arrested by police officers after a chase through west-end streets, during which three warning shots were fired.

Pidgen, who had been placed on probation for a year in May, 1947, for taking a car, told the court that he and Bunville had been walking the streets looking for a car or truck in which they could drive to Muselman's Lake. They took the truck, Bunville fixing the ignition so it could be operated without a key.

THE MOST BRILLIANT FUNCTION of the year in London was the marriage of thirty-year-old Lord Derby, described as Britain's "richest man," to Lady Isabel Milles-Lade, 28. The royal family were among the 1,500 guests present at Westminster Abbey. The newly-weds are shown leaving after the ceremony. Her dress is of cream satin, tight bodice embroidered with pearls and diamonds, and with a full skirt.

Ocean Horse Express Ready To Set Sail

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP). — The American freighter Calvin Victory, called "the Antwerp horse express" by her crew, made ready to sail for Belgium with 875 horses aboard, the largtsa single shipment from this port.

Capt. D. A. Beall said his ship has carried nothing but horses since it was built several years ago. It is estimated the vesse. has carried more than 20,000 horses from Montreal. The estimate so far this year is 5,000, and the ship will probably load 10,000 by the end of the navigation season.

The horses are used for work on farms in Belgium. Farmers there report Canadian horses excellent for heavy farm work.

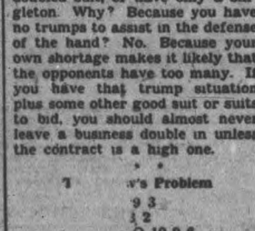
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TAKE OUT THAT DOUBLE

THERE ARE two contrasting situations in which you should not pass a business double by your partner. One comes when it appears probable to you that the opponents will be able to make their doubled contract for a whale of a score, and your purpose then is to protect your side [illegible] positive rather than a negative situation. Its distinguishing mark being that your side seems destined to attain a profitable result because of your making a bid that takes out the penalty double. On frequent occasions you will find both reasons combined—you stand to lose points if you pass the double and expect to win points by taking it out.

(Dealer South. East-West vulnerable.)



South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	Dbl	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
4 ♠

That could have been the bidding of this deal, but it was not. As it actually went, the rubber was closed out by this deal, with East and West the big winners and scoring the rubber game on a deal in which no game had been dealt to them. What really occurred is that South passed his partner's business double of 2-Hearts, a real bridge crime. With his blank ♠ hearts and biddable holdings in the three other suits, he should have carried on with the 3-Diamonds indicated in the sequence above, standing ready to show the clubs next if North did not indicate a fit with either the spades or diamonds, or to leave the contract in No Trumps if North's next act made that seem advisable.

In the 2-Hearts doubled, West [illegible] all three of the dummy's trumps because North hated to lead away from his own tenace honors, and he wound up taking an extra trick above his contract for a terrific score.

When your partner has doubled a low suit bid, you should seldom leave it in if you are blank in the doubled suit, or have only a singleton. Why? Because you have no trumps to assist in the defense of the hand? No. Because your own shortage makes it likely that the opponents have too many. If you have that trump situation plus some other good suit or suits to bid, you should almost never leave a business double in unless the contract is a high one.

[illegible]'s Problem

(Dealer, South. North-South vulnerable.)

What should South lead to the second trick after winning the heart lead against his No Trump game?

6—In Memoriam

HEARD — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Walter A. Heard, who passed away July 28, 1947.

God knew how she was suffering,
And could not bear her pain,
So He took her home to heaven,
Where we all will meet again.
While you, dear mother, rest and sleep,
Your loving memory we will always keep.

—Always remembered by Husband, Daughter, and Son-in-law.

SLOAN — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. George S. Sloan, who passed away July 28, 1942.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better God never made;
A wonderful worker, loyal and true.
One in a million, that mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew—
A wonderful mother — that mother was you.

—Lovingly remembered by the Family.

7—Cards of Thanks

The Family of the late William A. Davis wish to express their sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for beautiful floral tributes, many cards, kind expressions of sympathy and kindnesses shown during their recent sad bereavement.

Mrs. F. A. Wells and Family wish to thank their many relatives, neighbors and friends, especially thanking Mr. McRae and attending doctors, and different departments of the C.G.E. for floral tributes, and expressions of sympathy shown during the long illness and death of a beloved husband, father and brother.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to attending doctors and nurses of Civic Hospital, Peterborough, and Kingston General Hospital; Rev. F. Craik, Rev. T. H. Floyd, St. James' Church organizations, Canadian Legion, C.N.R. employees, and friends and neighbors for all kindness shown during my illness.—Leslie M. Bristow.

ALDERMANIC REMARK

Ald. Hugh Waddell seemed to be somewhat cryptic in his comment at Monday night's meeting of the Council's Hospital Committee when discussion moved around to the nurses' residence unit. "This requires more than the committee of the whole can give it. We have been voting on things we don't know too much about, and haven't known from the beginning."

Bulgaria Withdraws

LONDON, July 28 (Reuters)— Bulgaria has sent an official notification from Sofia withdrawing her team from the Olympic Games, it was officially announced today. In a cable to the organizing committee, the Bulgarian Olympic committee stated that unforeseen difficulties had delayed the departure of its team and the committee regretted that it would not be able to take part in the games.

Leg Some

Leg Some Better

LONDON, July 28 (CP)—Elaine Silburn of Victoria, Canadian Olympic runner who strained a muscle in her right leg Tuesday said the leg was less troublesome this morning and she hoped to be fit for the games opening Thursday. The definite nature of her injury will not be known until this afternoon when results of X-rays taken Tuesday will be disclosed. She is having treatments both this morning and afternoon.

NO DATE SET

Date of the inquest into the electrocution death of Craig Reeves, Buckhorn Road, on July 20, has not yet been set. Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner, is awaiting the return from vacation of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry. It is also necessary to consult crown officials in Cobourg, as the accident happened in Durham County.

Warriors' Day Revenue Reported Small; Veterans' Home Needs Help

Final returns from the Warriors' Day held in aid of the Old Veterans' Home are not yet available, but Mel Morrow, general chairman of the organizing committee, said today that it was doubtful if the expenses of the day have been more than covered.

The intention of the committee is to organize an Old Veterans' Home in the Peterborough district for the many old veterans who are now living alone on meagre pensions, which are inadequate to meet the high cost of living today. It hopes to eventually be able to buy a suitable house for a home.

The objective of the present campaign is to raise $30,000, of which only $500 has so far been collected, by public subscription to cover the cost of establishing the home. When in operation, it will be partly self-supporting, as the veterans will give part of their pensions towards their board and keep. The committee has not yet decided how the remaining expenditure for the upkeep and maintenance of the home is to be met. It has been suggested that the City Council and County Council be approached for some measure of financial support and also that the Department of Veterans' Affairs be asked to take over management and control of the home.

Run By Committee

Mr. Morrow said it is intended to run the home by a committee of the Peterborough zone of the Canadian Legion, which includes Apsley, Bancroft, Campbellford, Havelock, Hastings, Lakefield, Millbrook and Norwood.

The Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has already notified the committee of its willingness to help in the running of the home. Others supporting the project are Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and George S. White, M.P.

As well as Mr. Morrow, there are the following committee chairmen: Major A. M. Hamilton, ways and means; Alex Butcher, finance; B. C. Chambers, property, and P. J. LaBranche, publicity. Other members of the committee are Mrs. A. Parrington, Mrs. Albert Mason, Miss Grace Simpson, Miss Irene Vivash, Harold Yelland, Garfield Torrance, P. Burke, F. Lockhart, Ken Sloane, Michael Gahagan, Alan Wade, Gordon Wyatt, Fred Kiff, Percy Luther, A. Wagstaff, Leslie Reid, Stewart McLaren, Larry McQuade. All are members of the Canadian Legion, which is sponsoring the campaign.

Protest Joining Trieste To Italy

LAKE SUCCESS, July 28 - (CP)—Yugoslavia today called on the United Nations Security Council to prevent any move by Britain and the United States to join the free territory of Trieste to Italy.

In a letter to council president Dimitri Z. Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine, Yugoslavia said Britain and the United States are violating the Italian peace treaty which set up Trieste under a joint British, American and Yugoslavia military government.

"The intention of the Allied comand to infringe on the independence of the free territory of Trieste has become quite clear," the letter stated.

Yugoslavia charged that Trieste, International hot-spot at the head of the Adriatic Sea, is gradually being incorporated into Italy by agreements between the Allied military command and the Italian government and by "day-to-day" decisions of the military command.

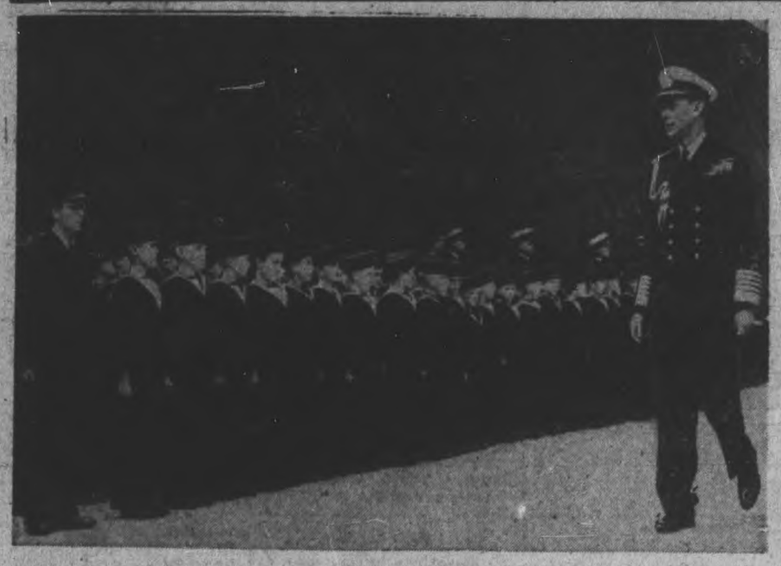
Mr. David L. Seymour, assistant city engineer, attended the board of works meeting Monday night in the absence of City Engineer Chalmers who is on vacation.

Forest loss is your loss...

Panic . . . despair . . . a lifetime's work burned out by a careless match, a smouldering campfire. This is not only one innocent man's loss—the guilty seldom suffer—but a serious loss to every Canadian. Timber, wildlife and streams, basic elements in our national economy, are all destroyed by the forest fire.

By observing the simple rules of the woods, which every real camper and sportsman obeys, you can help prevent the forest loss which costs Canadians nearly four million dollars a year in timber alone.

HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES



1. Throw cigarette ends in the water or snub them out on a rock.
2. Break used matches in two.
3. Build campfires near the water on rocks or well cleared mineral soil.
4. Make sure your fire is out before you leave it unattended.

Target Shooting Features Apsley Legion No. 381 Annual Field Day

APSLEY, July 28 — (ENS) — Canadian Legion No. 381 assisted by Women's Auxiliary to Canadian Legion held the second annual Field Day at Exhibition grounds on Saturday. The weather was ideal and a large crowd enjoyed the various games of chance and refreshment booths. Auxiliary bazaar was well patronized and a decided success.

At 2 o'clock the members of Canadian Legion No. 381 together with members of Women's Auxiliary mustered at Legion Hall and led by the Peterboro Pipe Band paraded to Cenotaph. Rev. C. A. G. Spence gave an address and Chas. Smith carried a wreath presented by Legion No. 381 which was placed at the Centotaph by Mrs. Chas. Smith, president of Women's Auxiliary. Following this ceremony the pipe band played "Last Lament" when they again formed ranks and proceeded to the Exhibition grounds.

Sports were enjoyed. A ball game by selected teams by junior boys of Apsley, and in the evening a softball game was played between Chandos and Apsley seniors, which resulted in a win for Chandos.

Mrs. Legot of Toronto, a summer visitor at Chandos Lake, won the outboard motor.

Mrs. Norman Wilson of Apsley held the winning ticket in the draw for bedspread.

Target shooting created a great deal of interest. Hilliard Dunford and Don Newberry were tied for first place. In the "shoot-off" Dunford won but he divided the prize with Newberry, the prize being a pair of paddles.

The ladies of the Legion served a bountiful supper in St. George's Parish Hall, which was enjoyed by an exceptionally large crowd.

In the evening a dance was held in the Legion Hall and Parish Hall with music supplied by Sid McCauley and his Rangers.

The Legion is a comparatively new organization formed in 1946 and it now has 85 members and the Women's Auxiliary was organized in 1948 with 15 members. Since organization, the Legion has purchased a large building which has been converted into a dance hall with club room on the second floor, and these rooms are furnished. They sponsored the junior boys softball team and girls' hockey team.

Bible Only Hope Says Minister

OMEMEE, July 28—(ENS)—Rev. H. E. Young, a field secretary of the Upper Canada Bible Society, delivered three addresses Sunday, in the morning at Bethel United Church and at Trinity United, Omemee, and in the evening at Christ Church, Omemee.

He spoke of the tendency of many people to keep the Bible on a shelf as a relic, while they depended on public opinion for moral guidance.

He stressed the importance of sending Bibles to the people in war-torn lands. Besides supplying their physical needs, it was the business of the church to fill the emptiness of their souls. No satisfying social structure could be built other than upon the foundation of God's word, for "man does not live by bread alone," he said.

"In many cases where we cannot send missionaries, we can send Bibles," said Mr. Young, "and a knowledge of and belief in the word of God is the only hope for world peace."

After the evening service, Mr. Young presented a film on India and its spiritual needs.

After the pictures, the annual meeting of the local branch of the Bible Society was held, Rev. F. W. Pooley presiding. A review of the work for several years back showed a low ebb in war years, but a gradual picking up since, last year's collections being almost back to normal. The sum of $77.20 was raised in 1947. The meeting showed evidence of increased interest in the work, and it was decided to mail envelopes to those not having the opportunity to contribute on Sunday.

The entire last year's slate of officers was returned to office. They are: President, David Weir; vice-president, J. Bent; secretary, H. Hill; treasurer, S. J. Mackey —all of Omemee.

Britain Plans To Increase Armed Forces

Churchill Pledges Party Support In German Crisis

LONDON, July 29 — (AP). — Foreign Secretary Bevin said today the British government is considering a halt in demobilization of its armed forces because of the tension between Russia and the west.

He told a hushed House of Commons a decision will be reached "in a few days."

He held out hope that current diplomatic manoeuvres of Britain, the United States and France with Russia might determine whether there is a chance of ending the cold war, hottest at Berlin which the Russians have blockaded for a month by land.

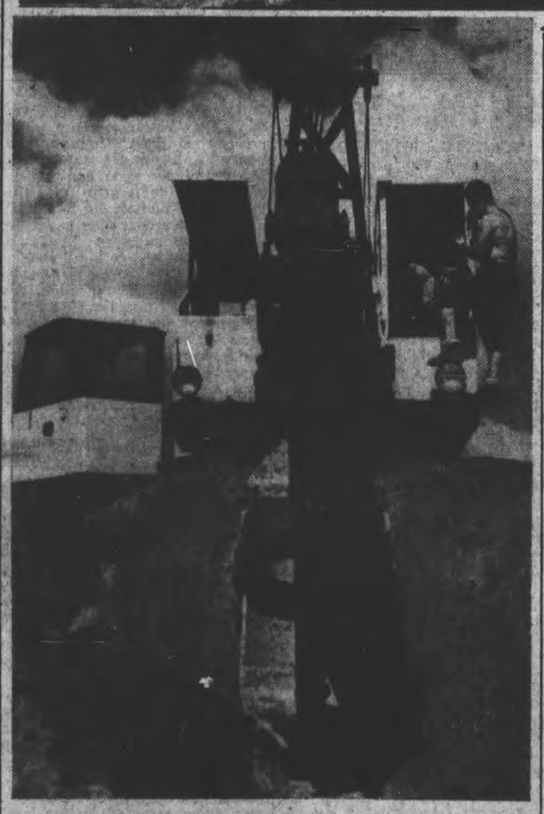
Bevin said the Labor government in allowing British armed forces to be reduced at the rate of 20,000 a month, had not assumed "that the policy of our wartime allies would lead to a situation which might involve the use of force."

"The situation that has now arisen, has, of course, compelled us to re-examine the whole position," he said. "I have not given up hope . . . "

Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister, pledged the Labor government the support of the Conservative opposition. He asked whether demobilization would be halted "until at least the Berlin situation is satisfactorily resolved.

Forces Pared

The British army, navy and air force have been steadily pared from a total strength of 940,000 men since March 31. No recent figures have been published. Reductions of 20,000 a month would mean the strength now is around 860,000 men. A white paper published in February said the plan was to cut the armed forces to 716,000 by March, 1949.



Bevin's statement was a substitute for a foreign affairs debate. The government requested a cancellation because of negotiations pending with Russia.

Churchill, pledging Conservative support, said "the matter is very serious and might easily become one of life and death."

Bevin said there are "substantial reserves of skilled men in Britain," but added:

"We hope the whole matter will be settled so that we might be allowed to carry on our policy of not having to recall any men . . ."

40 UK Policemen Halt Raid On Warehouse

LONDON, July 29 —(AP)—A vanload of men who attempted a raid on a warehouse at London airport were captured today after fighting a pitched battle with police.

Nine policemen were injured. Nine men were charged with breaking and entering a bonded warehouse.

The warehouse is used to store gold and other valuables. It was not learned what it contained at the time of the raid. Airport officials said they did not think any gold was there. In a similar raid at Arly airfield in Paris early in July, $327,000 in gold was taken.

(Press Association said it is understood the warehouse contained about $20,000,000 worth of diamonds and about $8,000,000 worth of gold.)

Tipped of fthat the raid was planned, 40 officers of the flying squad surrounded the building and were on guard when the lorry drove up. Passengers sitting in planes on runways watched the struggle. The combatants used bottle, wrenches and crowbars. London police do not carry arms.

Seeking Test Of Validity From Court

Senator Euler Claims Ban Unconstitutional May Go To Provinces

OTTAWA, July 29. (CP) — Cabinet has referred the question of the ban against oleomargarine to the Supreme Court for a test of its validity, it was announced today.

The justice department said the government had passed an order-in-council to that effect. It meets a request by the Senate which passed a resolution moved by Senator W. D. Euler (L.-Ontario), long-standing critic of the bar against the butter substitute.

Senator Euler contends the ban is not constitutional. The court will now have to decide.

The critics of the ban contend that it was originally based on the dangers of health that were inherent in the margarine of the Confederation era. However, they argue, since those dangers have been removed, it no longer is a federal responsibility and should revert to the provinces.

If the Supreme Court upholds that view, it will mean that the thorny problem of whether to allow the cheaper commodity in to challenge butter is thrown in the laps of the individual provinces. That is the situation in the United States.

The current ban prohibits the importation, manufacture or sale of margarine. It is based on the Dairy Industry Act, a federal statute. It goes well back into the 19th century and has only once been broken during a butter shortage after the First World War.

Senator Euler, for three successive sessions, has unsuccessfully campaigned for elimination of the ban. James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North) paralleled his campaign in the Commons during the last session, without any more success.

Senator Euler finally came up with the request for a court test some months ago.

Under the Geneva trade agreements, Canada would probably have pointed out, there is nothing to stop prohibitive tariffs from ruining any advantage this may give.

The order-in-council, dated Tuesday, refers at length to the Senate resolution and addresses to the Supreme Court this formal question:

"I section 5 (a) of the Dairy Industry Act, R.S.C. 1927, chapter 45, ultra vires of the parliament of Canada either in whole or in part and if so in what particular or particulars and to what extent?"

PREMIER DUPLESSIS' UNION National party swept the Quebec election by winning 82 of the 92 seats, Wednesday.

Duplessis Takes 82 Seats In Landslide

QUEBEC, July 29 — (CP). — Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale party held undisputed power today in Quebec with the unprecedented following of 82 members in the 92-seat House.

The 12-year-old party, first elected in Quebec in a 1936 landslide that cut 39 years of Liberal administration, far outdid that performance yesterday. The U.N.'s smashing victory shattered opposition ranks.

The standing was:

	1948	1944
Union Nationale	82	48
Liberal	8	37
Bloc Populaire	—	4
CCF	—	1
National	1	1
Totals x	92	91

(x—additional seat in 1948)

The Liberal Opposition which held 33 seats in the Legislature dissolved June 9 did not count Leader Adelard Godbout among its survivors. Mr. Godbout lost out in his own county of L'Islet.

The Union of Electors, Quebec third party, which contested all 92 provincial divisions also was swept aside with J. Ernest Gregoire, its leader, beaten.

Guy-Merrill Desaulniers, heading a seven-man CCF attempt for representation in the bilingual House, was toppled with his followers.

No Success

Gui L. Caron, 26-year-old Labor Progressive candidate and the only representative of his party among 310 candidates in the contest, met no success.

All this was Quebec's response to Premier Duplessis' cry that the affairs of the province have reached a grave point because its powers are the target of federal policy.

He stood on his party's four-year record in power; promised to defend Quebec rights to his last breath.

As the results started in shortly after 6:30 p.m. E.D.T. yesterday closing time for 9,417 polls through the vast expanse of Quebec, the trend of the vote became clear quickly. The Canadian Press announced a Union Nationale victory at 7.53 p.m.

Riddled Body Of Lauzon Canada's No. 1 Bad Man Found In Mississippi Ditch

Canadian Bludgeoned Before Shot To Death U.S. Police Discover; Identify Criminal By Fingerprint File

PASCAGOULA, Miss., July 29—(CP)—Ulysses Lauzon, Canada's Public Enemy No. 1 in the post-war underworld, was bludgeoned before being shot to death and dumped unceremoniously beside a busy highway, Sheriff Guy Krebs said today. The convicted bank robber and jail breaker was probably shot by criminal associates who "thought he double-crossed them in a divvy-up of spoils,' the sheriff speculated.

But he said he had no idea who those associates were. Until photographs of Lauzon arrive from Canada, he said, investigations cannot make much headway.

"Once we get pictures, we'll have something to work with. We'll take them around the Gulf Coast gangster hangouts. We'll find where he was staying and who he spent his time with.

"Then maybe we can make some yards.

"But right now we can only guess it was the usual thing—a fight over the division of some gang's money."

Krebs said identification was positive, and "accepted" by Toronto police in a telephone call Wednesday. It was made by fingerprints in the files of New Orleans city police where they had lain since Lauzon, 26, made his spectacular escape from Portsmouth penitentiary in Kingston, nearly a year ago.

Nicholas Minille, 36, of Ottawa, one of his partners in that break, now is in custody in Oakland, Calif., waiting extradition to Canada. His other partner, Donald (Mickey) McDonald, 41, of Toronto, is still at large.

The sheriff said he has "no information to indicate McDonald is anywhere in this area, but it's a line we'll follow up when we get those pictures."

Lauzon's body was found July 19 in weeds beside Highway 90, "one of the busiest highways in the United States," Krebs said. It had been lying there for some days.

Jumps To Death

LINDSAY, July 29. — (ENS).—A Haliburton man, taxi driver Ernie Roberts, has discovered a new way to "hunt" the jack rabbits of the county.

While driving along one of the Haliburton side roads on Wednesday afternoon a large jack rabbit jumped from the side of the road and struck the right side of the car.

When Roberts opened the door and looked—there was door handle! No damage was done to the car.

Ohio Youth, 19 Drowns In Rice Lake

COBOURG, July 29 (ENS). — Rice Lake's second drowning of the year occurred Wednesday evening at seven o'clock when 19-year-old Harold Lee O'Neal of Croton, Ohio, lost his life when an outboard motor boat upset near Robins Landing.

His companions, Robert Gooch, age 18, and his brother, John O'Neal, 17, were able to swim to the overturned boat until help came. The drowning victim could not swim. A Peterborough man, whose name had not been ascertained, picked up the two who were clinging to the boat and brought them ashore.

Dragging operations started Wednesday night without result. The three were camping alone in a tent on the Trent River about a half mile from Hastings. Around one p.m. Wednesday, they rented an outboard motorboat from Harry Chennell at Hastings and went up the Trent River into Rice Lake. In the early evening the lake grew choppy and their boat filld with water and upset about 100 yards from Robins Landing.

Parents of the dead youth are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O'Neal and they reside at Croton, Ohio.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg investigated.

MacKay Reports About Union

OTTAWA, July 29 —(CP)—A party of Canadian observers headed by R. A. MacKay of the Commonwealth section of the external affairs department returned to Ottawa from Newfoundland Wednesday night and will report to the cabinet today.

It was understood they will report a softening of anti-confederation feeling among responsible government supporters, bolstering a growing conviction here that Canada will proceed with negotiations to bring the island into the Dominion as a 10th province.

affairs department noted today that if Newfoundland's referendum had been counted on the basis of the island's previous electoral districts, confederation would have carried 18 out of 25 of them.

London Plans Big Conference

LONDON, July 29.—(Reuters). —The first post-war parliamentary conference of the commonwealth countries which Prime Minister [illegible] announced earlier this year would take place in the autumn, is likely to be the largest gathering of its kind ever to meet in London.

Eighty-seven members from the 37 branches of the Empire Parliamentary Association in overseas parliaments and legislatures have been invited to take part. Some leading statesmen have already accepted.

Subjects to be discussed include foreign affairs, economic co-operation, defence, imigration and the future of parliamentary government.

9 Farben Directors Convicted Of Looting

NUERNBERG, July 29.—(AP). —Nine directors of the giant I. G. Farben Chemical Trust today were convicted of looting industries in countries subjugated by Hitler's armies.

The judgment, by a United States military tribunal, acquitted all 24 leaders of Farben on charges of plotting and waging aggressive war. The court said the blame for this clearly lay with the politicians and militarists of the Third Reich.

Police Suspect Indian Girl Killed By Brother-In-Law

BLIND RIVER, July 29 (CP).— Richard Rivers, 21, face a charge of murder in the bludgeon-death of his sister-in-law, whose almost nude body was found in a hotel room here.

Rivers had been sought since the discovery last Friday of the blood-smeared body of Mrs. Leonard Rivers, the face battered and a belt drawn tightly about the throat. Police found him in the Mississagi forest area, northwest of here, where he and his brother recently helped fight the bush fires.

He appeared in court here late Wednesday and was remanded in custody until August 5.

Police earlier took Leonard Rivers, 18-year-old husband of the slain girl, into custody in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., but released him after questioning. They said he gave a satisfactory account of his actions from the Thursday night until his apprehension Saturday.

The slaying of the half-Ojibway girl who came here two years ago from the nearby Mississagi Indian Reserve, was the first crime of violence in many months in this Algoma district lumbering town 95 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Occupants of the hotel near the riverfront said they heard no disturbance the night the girl was slain. But police said the room bore marks of a struggle.

Inspector Leonard Neil of Toronto headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police took charge of the investigation.

Initial investigations revealed no trace of the weapon which could have been used to inflict the wounds on the side of the girl's face.

Blinded By Lights Man Killed By Car

TWEED, July 29. — A Denbigh man, Otto Klein, was killed instantly Wednesday night when he was struck by a car driven by Nelson Rose of Vennacher. Believed to have been blinded by the lights of the oncoming vehicle, the victim of the accident apparently became confused and stepped in front of the car. No inquest will be held.

He is survived by his widow, the former Anna John of Denbigh district, three daughters and three sons. A daughter, Miss Doris Klein, is a nurse in Kingston General Hospital, and the Misses Alma and Alice Klein are residents of the United States. Three sons, Morris, William and Fred Klein are at home.

King Opens Olympics Before 84,000

Canadians Draw Great Applause During Ceromonial March Past

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England, July 29 — (CP). — The XIV olympiad was opened by the King in the presence of 5,000 of the world's foremost athletes.

Dressed in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, the King said: "I proclaim open the Olympic Games of London celebrating the 14th Olympiad of the modern era."

Brilliant sun drenched the athletes and close to 80,000 spectators packed into the big satdium, into the stadium by John Mark.

The Olympic torch was borne an athlete from Cambridge University. It reached the stadium on the last lap of its journey from journey from Mt. Olympis, Mt. Olympis, Greece, at 10:52 a.m., 15 minutes ahead of schedule.

Royal Salute

After the formal words, the royal salute of 21 guns roared out, reverberating between the walls of the law stadium, filled nearly to its 84,000 capacity.

Even as the King spoke a French athlete collapsed from the heat—the temperature was 80—and a Boy Scout in the front ranks fell down.

Out of the tunnel to a great roar finally came the white-clad athlete carrying the flame.

Athletes broke ranks to run to the side of the track for a better glimpse of the bright, sparkling torch.

The torch bearer ran up a ramp, held the flame aloft, and then touched off the fire in the great white bowl. It will burn until the games end Aug. 14.

From 58 Lands

From 58 lands came the young men and women to participate in the solemn ceremonies.

For a solid hour the athletes paraded while the King stood stiffly at attention, saluting most of the time.

The big British and United States teams drew the loudest and most sustained applause.

The United States is counting on winning the dominant share of the glories. It's team of 347 Athletes—plus officials—was conspicuous in bright blue and white uniforms, with white hats.

There was a particularly loud cheer for the Canadian team. The Canadian girls looked most attractive with their saucy white sailor hats.

The King and Queen looked on as the solemn ceremonia was carried out. European royalty also was present. Military bands played brassy music. As the parade of athletes started the massed brass bands of the guard struck up "Entry of the Gladiators."

First to appear out of the tunnel beneath the still-unlighted white Olympic torch were the Greeks, a position of respect accorded the land where the Olympic ideal was born long before the Christian era.

Moonshine Emporium Does Big Business

ORANGEVILLE, July 29. — (CP).—The latest thing in bootleging, a self-service moonshine emporium, has been uncovered by police here.

They said they found a "drinketeria" in a hut on the outskirts of Orangeville where a thirsty man could walk in, pick up a glass, and help himself from a large wash tub filled with moonshine whisky at 10 cents a glass — three glasses for 25c. If the customer supplied his own jug, he could take home a pint for 25 cents.

Operation of the novel establishment is said to have netted the owner $300 a week. A large clientele of steady customers is reportedly "very disappointed." The operator has left for other parts.

Emily Farmer Badly Hurt As Horses Bolt

DOWNEYVILLE, July 29 — (ENS)—Thrown under the table of a binding machine Wednesday afternoon, and dragged along the ground, Joseph Lucas, Emily township farmer is in hospital in Peterborough receiving treatment for cuts and breaks. The man was badly hurt on his farm near Downeyville, about 20 miles north-west of Peterborough when three horses hitched to the binder bolted, throwing him from the seat.

After being dragged for some distance across the field, Mr. Lucas dropped from the machine as it jolted over some bushes. His two sons, Joseph and Paul, found him lying in the bushes. He was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Injuries include several broken ribs and a crushed lung. Seven stitches were required to close a gash in a leg.

Yugoslavs Re-elect Tito In Slap At Cominform

BELGRADE, July 29.—(AP).—Yugoslav Communists today repudiated the Cominform's attacks on their leaders by electing Premier Tito and his entire list of candidates to the party's 63-member central committee. Newspapers did not give the actual vote which took place at the close of the Yugoslav party's historic conference, and did not mention whether the voting was unanimous.

Tito's re-election as party general secretary, the role Stalin fills in the Russian party, was expected momentarily. The new central committee's first task will be to elect officers. Balloting on the committee list went on all night, last item of business for a week-long party congress in Belgrade.

The Cominform, international communist information bureau, had asked Yugoslav communists to throw out Tito and his principal lieutenants. The Russian-led organization accused the Yugoslav leader of deviating from the Marxist line and pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia.

False Accusations

Speakers at the party congress said these accusations were false and unjust. Delegates hailed Tito as their "glorious leader." They declared in every resolution that they intended to continue the policy line which the Cominform had vigorously censured.

Throughout the congress, careful observers were convinced that repetition of the desire to stay in the eastern block was sincere but that it applied only if the Cominform countries would drop completely their charges against Yugoslavia.

Some observers were positive that Yugoslav Partisans, who made up almost the entire congress, were glorifying Stalin, the Red Army and the Russian Communist party because they felt that way about it. But they praised the Russians for a more important reason: because they wanted to prove that the Cominform charge that the Yugoslavs are following anti-Russian policies was the most false of all.

While affirming that they want friendly relations with the "peoples democracies," the Yugoslavs admitted that these relations already had taken a critical turn with Bulgaria and Albania.

Yacht Hits Ship Believe 1 Drowns

QUEBEC, July 29. (CP)—Hubert Blouin was believed drowned after his sailboat was run down by an oil tanker during a violent storm on the St. Lawrence river last night.

Earlier reports were that three were missing but Blouin's two companions, not immediately identified, were picked up by another yacht as they were swimming towards shore.

The yacht, owned by the Quebec Yacht Club, was caught directly in the course of the tanker bound up-river. In the high wind the pleasure sailors were said to have been unable to lower their sail.

The mishap occurred at a point in the river between L'Anse Aux Foulon and Sillery. Search for the missing trio and their tiny craft continuel by dozens of small craft with searchlights long after dark.

the 58-year-old Union Nationale leader has been returned for 21 years, led the parade. Within three-quarters of an hour of poll closing Premier Duplessis' hometown win, with an ultimate majority of more than 12,000 was reported.

More Ballots

The premier's 20 cabinet ministers lined up behind him as returning officers counted ballots that were expected to outnumber 1944's record total of 1,330,059.

Yesterday approximately 2,000,000 men and women who were voting for the second time in a Quebec general election, were eligible electors. Two women among the array of candidates, many of whom sacrificed their $200 deposits, were left far behind in the race.

Blow At Liberals

The Union Nationale sweep at the close of a campaign that lasted nearly two months and deluged the electorate with a multi-barrelled publicity barrage struck hard at the innermost Liberal ramparts.

The votes that piled up on Premier Duplessis' traditionally lucky Wednesday which he chooses as election day for sentimental reasons, were cast with little fuss and rowdyism of the past. But they hit hard at Montreal and Quebec districts, Liberal strongholds in 1944, and reached up and down the shores of the St. Lawrence.

When the 58-year-old Liberal leader went down after a touch-and-go count in rural L'Islet to the Union National newcomer, Dr. Fernand Lizotte, there was only one of Godbout's former cabinet colleagues left.

He was Henri Groulx, Montreal druggist and former health minister, who held his seat of Montreal Outremont with surprising ease.

Get 26 From Liberals

The Union Nationale gain at the expense of the Liberals was an overpowering total of 26. The smoothly-organized party also picked up three seats abandoned by the Bloc Populaire which cut heavily into Union Nationale majorities four years ago.

The Government party also picked up the only seat the CCF had won in 1944 in Rouyn-Noranda.

The only Liberal gain was reported from far down the St. Lawrence in Gaspe North where former Union Nationale member Alphonse Pelletier entered the contest late.

The lone Independent who got in did so at Libral expense in Montreal St. Ann. He was Frank Hanley, city councillor who tossed campaign beer parties for his constituents.

The Legislature's Nationalist member, 47-year-old Rene Chalout with no opposition form the Union Nationale whose re-election he urged, won handily in Quebec (County). Chalout rode the crest of a wave of upset in old Quebec city district which overthrew every one of its five Liberal members.

Loses 4 Cows In Bad Storm

MARMORA, July 29 (ENS)—Four cows worth $600, belonging to Ford Chambers of Malone were killed on the road close to his home at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Chambers was driving eight cows from one of his fields to his barn yard for milk. Simultaneously as the half of the herd were passing under an elm tree, a limb of the tree was torn off in the storm which was raging at the time. This broke two wires of the hydro service line causing the electrocution of the animals.

Russell Fox who was helping Mr. Chambers with the cows endeavored to get over the wire fence on the opposite side of the road. He was held to the fence until extricated by his son George who was passing by on his way home from Deloro.

Although a little dazed that evening, Mr. Fox felt no after-effects the next morning.

area bounded by Sherbourne Ave., Montgomery and Morrow streets, where 26 basements have been already dug and footings laid. Two, known as the O'Connell-Rose section and bounded by Park St. S. and Monaghan Rd., is the site for 110 houses where 35 basemenets and 10 footings have been laid and three, ground set aside for 64 houses, not yet surveyed, which lies north of the McKellar sub-division.

With basements being excavated at the rate of six a day in the soft sandy soil, contractors say that this is the easiest part of the construction program. The builders are from Timmins where the nature of the country runs to heavy clays and who worked in Kirkland Lake where basements are laid on top of solid rock.

Manager K. Beattie said that there were 45 carpenters and 30 laborers on the overall project and personnel would be increased to a total of 150 in a very short time; they are anxious to employ local men if possible.

Work In Supply Yard

Aside from the piles of earth beside the excavations there is not a great deal to be seen for the work in progress so far but the core of the construction takes place in the supply yard where walls, forms and beams are laid out, run through the cutting mill and prefabricated. The general construction is divided into two classes of ubildings. All will have cement basements, 50 per cent will be sheathed with bevel wood siding and the balance with asbestos cedar grain shingles. Each house will have steel basement window sash and aluminum sash above ground; these too are being prefabricated as quickly as possible.

The yards are practically filled at the present time with 50 carloads of lumber, kegs of nails and some cement which is very scarce. The 200 homes were erected and occupied will make an important contribution to the relief in housing in Peterborough and in the opinion of City Clerk E. A. Outram, when the homes are filled, it will affect at least 500 families who will be able to move, some into new accomodation, others to premises that will be vacated. Still other families may be able to double up in the new 160 storey and one-half dwellings now under construction; the balance of 40 new homes will be single storey and will not lend themselves to accommodation for more than one family.

Base Metals, Golds Said Moving Forward

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP). — Base metals and golds moved forward on the Toronto stock exchange today despite sluggish trading. Industrials were easier.

Volume for the first three hours was about 315,000 shares, 79,000 shares more than for yesterday's similar period.

Gains and losses were for the most part restricted within a narrow fractional rangs in the industrial groupings. Bell Telephone took a sudden dip of ¾ down to 168¼ to lead the slightly easier tendency of the group as a whole.

Senior issues led a weaker trend in the golds, wtih Bralorne skidding 35 cents down to $7.00, Dome dropping ¼ to 16¼, and Teck Hughes falling 3 cents to $2.52. Acttive trading again centered around Eldona in the junior issues, and it slipped 5 cents to $1.26.

Base metals forged strongly ahead, observers giving credit for the stronger trend to yesterday's lead price increases. Base Metals, Hudson Bay, Labrador, Lake Dufault, MacDonald, Osisko, Silver Miller, Sherritt Gordon, and Quemont were all trading at higher levels, and Normetal advanced 2 cents up to $2.69 after touhcing a new high for the year at $2.74 in earlier trading.

Riddled Body

temple and breast," the sheriff said. "But he'd been bludgeoned before he was shot.

"His right eye was badly bruised. Probably he was shot somewhere else and his body dumped out of a speeding car. There wasn't any blood where he was found."

July 10 an apparent gangland shooting was reported at Moss Point, Miss., some 25 miles north of Pascagoula. Lauzon may have been the victim of that shooting, Krebs said.

The body was clad only in sports shirt and underwear shorts. Krebs said he noticed immediately that Lauzon's red hair had been dyed black.

"That's why I got really interested," said the sheriff.

Had Fingerprints

"I went to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at New Orleans. They didn't have the fingerprints on file, but the city police had them.

"They'd been sent down from Canada after the prison break because Lauzon could talk French and New Orleans has a big French-speaking population."

Krebs said the spot where the body was found is "a regular dumping-ground for gang-killing victims." Three or four bodies have been found within 200 yards of the spot during the last decade, he said.

The body was found by a cattleman on horseback in the weeds at the foot of an embankment at the Nine Mile Lake bridge on a heavily-travelled highway which runs to New Orleans, 70 miles west of Pascagoula. It had been there for some days when found, police said, perhaps since July 10 when an apparent gangland shooting was reported at Moss Point, Miss., some 25 miles north of here.

Lauzon, participant in the biggest bank robbery ever "pulled" in Canada, for which he was serving a 35-year sentence when he escaped from Kingston, had boasted on his arrest that he had $300,000 hidden away and that he would live in luxury on the money. Whether he did in almost a year of freedom may never be known. Bullets in the head and chest put an end to his dream.

Sheriff Guy Krebs yesterday announced the identification. He indicated that important information about the slaying could be expected within 36 hours and, for the time, declined to disclose further information. A coroner's jury returned a routine verdict of death "by a person or persons unknown."

Hear Shots

Authorities disclosed this:

On the night of July 10 Mrs. L. C. McKinnis of Moss Point said she heard a man near her home shout, "Don't do that." Then she heard shots.

Two Negro farmers in that area said they saw two white men shoot another white man before a night club near Moss Point the night of July 10. They said the killers shot the man twice, loaded the body into an automobile and drove away.

Police of both Canada and the United States freely admitted that the post-war crop of criminals produced few more hardened than Ulysse Lauzon. He was "really tough" and they had expected that he would meet death only when cornered by the law. His unceremonious end in a Mississippi ditch wasn't in the Lauzon pattern.

Deny Farben Making War Material

84 Bodies Recovered And 250 Missing; 18 Buildings Smashed

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Germany, July 29 (CP)—German investigators of the greatest European disaster since the war brushed aside today Communist charges that the exploded Farben chemical plant here was making war material.

Police in this French-zone Rhine city said 84 bodies were recovered and that about 250 persons were missing and presumed dead. To the apparent death toll of 334, they added 2,000 injured.

Mannheim police across the river estimated the dead at between 500 and 800. United States army officials there said 6,200 were injured, many in Mannheim and other nearby American-zone places by the terrific concussion.

The plant employed 22,000 workers. The explosion and swiftly-spreading fires demolished or damaged 18 buildings.

German investigators said preliminary findings indicated the disaster was touched off by ethyl chloride, an industrial chemical.

A chemist who worked at the plant said he was familiar with its production and that the works turned out only industrial products.

Flames still raged over an area half a mile square. American and French soldiers with German firemen and police plunged into the blazing inferno to save trapped workers. Some wore gas-masks, others operated bulldozers to nudge paths through the wreckage.

Special efforts were being made to prevent the flames from reaching underground storage tanks, reported to contain highly volatile chemicals.

Drag Out Victims

One by one rescue workers dragged out blood-smeared men and women from under beams or walls. Sometimes the person on the stretcher was still breathing. Sometimes the victim was dead, distorted by heat or discolored by chemicals.

Strong fumes from burning chemicals sent survivors reeling about the streets like blind men. Survivors were so shocked and dazed by concussion that few could realize what had happened. Even those wounded only slightly were unable to give clear accounts of their experiences.

A woman chemist said: "I had just started washing my hands to get ready to go home when a terrible blow smashed the windows and destroyed all our laboratory equipment. I rushed out as fast as I could and luckily enough, here I am."

Will Lay Murder Charge As Result of Bacon Brawl

PORT ARTHUR, July 29 (CP). — Charles Wynn, 34-year-old cook, has been charged with murder in connection with the stabbing of Leo Neveu, 21, a bushline with a regulation which said employees could have extra servings of eggs or any other foodstuffs except bacon.

Meanwhile, Phelix Neveu, Rock, Ont.

Wynn was charged late yesterday and remanded in custody until Aug. 5 at Fort William for hearing. Police said the slaying occurred after a dining-hall argument in which Wynn refused to give employees a second helping of bacon.

The argument ended with the fatal knifing Wednesday of 21-year-old Leo Neveu, formerly of Laverlochere, Que., and the arrest of the cook, 38-year-old Charles Wynn, a former Halifax resident.

Reports from Red Rock, a lumber centre 40 miles east of here, said that four men at the camp became annoyed when Wynn refused their request for a second helping of bacon.

The men were alleged to have knocked the cook against the table and punched him in the face. Lying prone on the table Wynn is said to have seized a knife and made a sweeping gesture.

Neveu, who came to the camp from Quebec a month ago, staggered to the dining room door, a broken knife sticking in his side. He reached some railway tracks 15 feet away, stumbled and fell. He was dead upon examination.

William O'Carroll, a camp official, said Wynn's refusal to serve a second helping of bacon was in what had happened in the dining room.

Jury Exonerates Driver In Death of Mrs. Mary Block

COBOURG, July 29 (ENS). — No blame was attached to the driver by a coroner's jury yesterday at Roseneath, investigating the death on July 18 of Mrs. Mary Ann Black, Indian resident of Alderville. Mrs. Black was struck by a car at 9.30 p.m. on July 18, dying shortly after midnight in Cobourg General Hospital. The jury found death to have been accidental. Driver of the car was Stanley Blodgett of Colborne.

Blodgett told the inquiry that he was driving around 35 miles an hour at the time and didn't see Mrs. Black until seconds before the impact. The pavement is a dark asphalt construction and the Indian woman was dressed in dark clothing. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blodgett, who were also in the car, testified that they did not see the woman before the impact.

The accident occurred near the Alderville war memorial and Mrs. Black was crossing from the south to the north side of the pavement and was only a short distance from her home.

Neal Crow, Vernon Marsden, and Willis Smoke, who were standing near Smoke's home, a short distance from the scene, said that Mrs. Black stepped in front of the car. Crow and Marsden estimated his speed at from 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Evidence as to measurements was given by Provincial Constable Don Nicol, Cobourg.

Loaded Beer Truck Overturns On Road

LINDSAY, July 29.—Beer bottles—full ones—were spilled over the highway a mile north of Coboconk Tuesday when a Brewers Warehouse truck from Lindsay overturned. The driver, Granton Thibadeau, miraculously escaped serious injuries.

The heavy truck, laden with four tons of cases and kegged beer upset on the highway when a light army truck driven by Fred Liscombe of Coboconk, allegedly made a left-hand turn unexpectedly as it moved along ahead of the beer wagon. Damage to the truck as extensive.

Thibadeau was treated by Dr. Jamieson of Coboconk and later returned to Lindsay.

Liscombe appeared to be alright except for a big bump on his head.

The re-united family spent a pleasant afternoon reminiscing and playing games. They were joined at the picnic supper held at Nicholl's Oval by a number of guests and other friends.

After the meal they attended a baseball game at Riverside Park.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, Miss Kate Freeman, Mrs. T. A. Box, and her son, Douglas Fox, Margaret Freeman, Ethel Johnston, June Freeman, Joan Jackson, Ted Etevens, Clinton Mowry of Toronto, Gordon Freeman, Tom Fox, and F. A. Prompt Action Saves Building

HASTINGS, July 29 —(ENS)— At 4.20 a.m. on Wednesday Mr. Reg. Scriver smelled smoke coming up to his apartment above the Co-Op Store and immediately called Chief Constable Leonard Potten who with Fire Chief Iden Bonds sped to the scene, chopping down the rear door of the store to gain entrance. They found a large electric motor had burned out and was sending smoke and fumes to the apartments above.

Mr. Art Lamey, manager of the Co-Op answered a call and arrived in time to help with the clearing of the fumes and smoke.

If the men had not acted so quickly in five more minutes the wires would have burst into flames and the whole block threatened.

Inflation

President Truman's summoning of a special session of Congress was not merely a political manoeuvre. This was shown by the Presidential Message delivered to Congress on Tuesday. It raised many urgent issues which cannot wait on political campaigns. His chief request was for measures to curb inflation. He said: "High prices are not taking 'time off' for the election. High prices are not waiting until the next session of Congress. High prices are getting worse every day".

* * *

In the week ending July 17th the index of wholesale prices in the U.S.A. advanced to 168.9, an all-time high beyond the 167.2 peak of inflation which accompanied and followed the First World War. Since 1938-39 American prices in the wholesale markets have doubled and the cost of living has increased by approximately two-thirds. Mr. Truman asserted that it was the people who were demanding relief from the high cost of living and the acute housing shortage (which continues because of high costs). The President linked his requests for curbs against inflation with the international situation. He believes that the Communists are counting on America's present prosperity turning into a depression. He believes that the world's great hope for lasting peace would vanish "if we should bring on another great depression in the United States by failing to control high prices".

* * *

Canadians are concerned not only with their own high cost of living (the highest ever by last June—154.3 was the index, a rise of 53.5 per cent. since August, 1939), but also with the American inflationary trend. It is impossible for us to keep our cost of living down for a long period if American prices are high. American inflation reacts strongly against us. Are President Truman's fears justified? Are the measures he proposes adequate or the right ones? The action Congress takes or does not take will be closely watched on this side of the border and may influence our own legislators.

* * *

The question for Canadians is whether we can afford to wait upon American action. We did not do so during the war. Is it sufficient merely to have a Royal Commission on prices? Even if the majority of Canadians would accept a reimposition of wage and price controls and of special war-time taxes on profits, which is what President Truman is asking for in the U.S., is that the wise course? Must our economic system be forever propped up by external controls and hampering regulations? Has there been sufficient time for the system to find its own equilibrium after the Professor F. C. Mills of Columbia University and of the National Bureau of Economic Research has made a study of the present inflationary trend in the U.S.A. His findings will shortly be published under the title "The Structure of Post-War Prices". His opinion is this:

"The post-1939 changes will not necessarily be reversed in the years immediately ahead. Some may have accompanied enduring alterations in underlying conditions, but others are due to passing shortages and temporary shifts. As transitory shortages are corrected . . . modifications of the elements of the system will occur. These modifications may be expected to bring agricultural and industrial prices somewhat nearer to the relations of the inter-war period; to reduce, relatively, the prices of soft consumer goods and of material costs to manufacturing producers; to reduce labor costs, and to raise overhead costs per unit of manufactured product".

This is not as alarming as President Truman's beliefs. Perhaps there are more politics in the Presidential Message than he admits. Nevertheless, inflation is potentially catastrophic.

D. W. Griffith and The Birth of Motion Pictures

David Wark Griffith, who died last Friday at the age of 73, was the man who made movies tell stories and tell them successfully. He was the begetter of movie drama, the father of the film art.

When Griffith began directing pictures the "flicks" were in nickelodeon days. Films were short (standardized at 1,000 feet), episodic, mere caricatures of action. He transformed them into pageantry and drama and introduced themes and techniques which engrossed millions of wide-eyed observers and grossed millions for pleased producers. He brought important historical and philosophic subjects to the screen as in The Birth of a Nation (1914). This grand-scale drama of the Civil War has thus far grossed 48 million dollars. With such films the screen gained breadth, imagery, and emotional appeal. His Intolerance (1916) was a stupendous recreation of the ancient world and an apocalypse of the Second Coming of Christ. In a single scene in this film he used 16,000 "extras". It still stands as an example of what can be done with masses of people and architecture on the screen. His technical innovations include the long shot, the vista, the cameo-profile, the close-up, the fade-out and fade-in, which gave films pictorial beauty as well as dramatic tension. With D. W. Griffith the camera began to tell film stories in a form of its own, rather than recording whatever occurred in its focal plane in a series of full-length shots.

Stylistically speaking, Griffith outlived his time. His mind and manner were Victorian and so were his films. Nevertheless, they had power and beauty (even had they had no Mary Pickford). He may fairly be considered one of the genuine artists of our times.

The Essay In Journalism

The Olympic Games open in London today. Therefore our reproduction in today's Third Column of a recent New York Times' Fourth Column, "Topics of the Times", on the history of Olympic Games is opportune. To be candid, we reprint the essay not chiefly because it is timely; it gives us the opportunity to pay tribute to the quality of writing which we have long admired in the Times' Fourth Column and in its editorials.

The great masters of the English Essay—the most difficult of prose forms because the freest, most individual — have been journalists. Steele, Addison, Lamb, Hazlitt, Leigh Hunt; the contemporary E. V. Lucas, Robert Lynd and James Agate, wrote their essays for newspapers or magazines. It is a tribute to journalism that the most exacting prose art has been practised by men writing for journals and fostered by newspapers. It is also a challenge to modern journalism. Has "journalese" replaced good writing? Do literary artists now renounce journalism, do newspaper proprietors spurn them, does the wider reading public no longer care for good writing?

Debased as much newspaper writing now is and as are the journals which print it, there is shining testimony that the great tradition of letters in the Fourth Estate has not perished. The New York Times is the splendid American example. Its editorials are models of good style and careful, informed thought. In its Fourth Column, "Topics of the Times", appear daily some of the better essays now being written in the language. The essay on the Olympic Games, in felicity of style, sensitive wit and easy erudition, is a specimen of what is achieved daily by the editorial writers who in rotation write the Fourth Column.

England has its great newspapers [illegible] to be literate and liter-

[illegible] the essay, either in editorials or in columns. There are lamentably few who are sufficiently informed and sensitive to the nuances of the language to wander easily from the present civil war in Greece to Plato—in an essay on Olympic Games.

A dietitian says that going without breakfast lengthens life. Bunk! That is an illusion caused by the apparent lengthening of the period before lunch.

A scientist foresees that the average life span will soon be expanded to 150 years. The Old Age pension really will be a problem!

Olympian Review

(NEW YORK TIMES)

As the August days set apart for the Olympic festival approached, heralds were sent to all the Greek states to proclaim a sacred truce. Any war going on among the restless Greeks—and there usually was one—was suspended during the festival. No soldier in arms was allowed to enter Elis, where the games were held. If any armed man did show up, even as a spectator, he was seized as a prisoner of war and released only on payment of a ransom by his state.

Wars ceased for the Olympic games of the Greeks but in the revised and modernized form adopted by the "Barbarians," the games three times in recent memory have been suspended on account of wars. This year they are being held while the world turns away anxiously from the spectacle to judge the chances of a conflict. There will be plenty of soldiers around the London stadium. Luckily for them, the Greek rule will not apply; they can enjoy the games without danger of becoming prisoners of war.

* * *

SINCE the games were revived in 1896, after a lapse of about fifteen centuries, much has been written about their Greek background, but in truth there is little connection between the modern international show open to all nations and embracing sports of every description and the Greek festival which dates back to 776 B.C. The Olympic festival, like the three other great festivals — the Pythian, the Nemean and the Isthmian—was an exclusive affair. Only Greeks could compete, the "Barbaroi" were strictly excluded. But Greeks might come from any place in Greece or from the colonies, and winners of the prizes often turned up from Sicily, Cyrenaica in Africa, from Asia Minor or the islands of the Aegean. The events were also strictly limited—footraces, pentathlum or competition in five events, wrestling, boxing, chariot races and a warriors' race in full armor to wind up the show. The victor's prize was a crown of wild olive and hero-worship surpassing the wildest acclaim of the modern athlete.

* * *

IN the great days of the Greek national festivals, say from about 490 to 460 B.C., when the Greeks were warding off a great Asiatic invasion from Europe and were consequently aroused to a high pitch of patriotic fervor, victors in the games could count on being celebrated in verse by Pindar. It was an honour that only the experts in Greek can appreciate today, for the celebrated odes, with their intricate verse forms, are extremely baffling to the amateur in Hellenic studies, while an English prose translation leaves the same amateur still confused. But Pindar managed to get off one quotable saying for Olympic athletes and others in the very first line of the first Olympic ode. "Ariston men hudor," he wrote, or as we should say, "Best of all things is water."

* * *

FORTUNATELY, we are not dependent upon Pindar for our knowledge of what the Greek games were really like. There has come down to us a wonderful description in Book XXIII of the Iliad of the funeral games arranged by Achilles for his friend Patroclus. For the Greek games were well established long before the first Olympic festival in 776 B.C. They were familiar to the Greeks who fought before Troy as a part of the funeral rites for heroes. It was only later that the contests were dedicated to Zeus, Apollo and Poseidon and took on the religious character which would call for a sacred truce among all the Greeks while the festivals were celebrated. The Greek spirit comes out in the pages of Homer—those qualities which are universal as well as those which were the peculiar possessions of the Greeks.

* * *

THE great-souled Achaeans admired skill combined with strength and they liked a touch of guile. The loser often had a perfect alibi—some god or goddess had interfered. Their greatest boxer was also a great braggart, and that was all right for a boxer. The wrestling match between Odysseus and Telemonian Aias was like to become a bore to the spectators—like some later wrestling matches we have heard about—and Referee Achilles called it a draw and stopped it. In the footrace Aias, son of Oileus, was leading Odysseus by inches when he slipped and fell—a little assist from the great protector of the Man of Many Wiles—flashing-eyed Athene. Aias "spake among the Argives, 'Out upon it, lo, the goddess hampered me in my running.' . . . So spake he, but they all laughed merrily at him."

Job For Parliament

While the cost of living continues to increase, none can blame the individual for seeking greater remuneration in an attempt to keep pace. And none can criticize breadwinners whose families are feeling the squeeze, remorseless as it is.

But, ironically, tragically, each concession so gained but speeds the spiral upward and onward.

The remedy, the effective counter, then, must come from another quarter. It must come from government. It must come from a government—and a parliament — willing and able to tackle the problem in co-operation with an informed public.—London Free Press.

Those "Big, Round, Bright Objects Going West"

Painters Of Indians

(THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

THE paintings of John Innes on settlement in the west, loaned to the gallery by the Hudson's Bay company, interested me for two reasons. First, the pictures themselves furnish vivid records of seventy years ago; second, one is struck by the number devoted either completely or partially to the Indians and their life. Whatever our misdeeds against the red man, he cannot accuse us of failure to depict and record his person and civilization for future ages.

Among the early French accounts of Canadian colonization, we find many sketches of Indian types. Indian figures also appear in the symbolic paintings of such artists as Frere Luc, the Red-skins usually represented receiving the blessings of civilization, particularly the Christian faith.

The frequent martyrdoms suffered by the missionaries at the hands of hostile tribes also inspired a considerable number of paintings, best represented in the works of the Abbe Hugues Pommier. Little evidence of English interest in the aborigines, from the artistic view-point, appears after the conquest, the notable exception being a fine portrait of the celebrated Mohawk chief, Joseph Brant, by the British portraitist, George Romney.

* * *

THE outstanding depictions of our Indians came in the nineteenth century, just in time to perpetuate types and customs shortly to disappear, as far as authentic examples are concerned. Two giants in this field appeared almost simultaneously.

The first, Krieghoff, we usually recall as a painter of the lusty colorful life of Quebec. We must also, however, pay tribute to his work as a recorder of picturesque native personalities and activities. Actually his work on these subjects greatly aided the development of his technique. His sketches of Caughnawaga braves show marked progress over his early static portraits. And his forest scenes showing the life of the Lorette tribe display a great advance in observation and lively reproduction, and most particularly in brightness and fidelity of color.

[illegible] illustrator of [illegible] travel with the fur brigades and exploring expeditions, enduring real hardship in order to sketch directly from life.

He was gifted with a genuine sense, not merely of the picturesque, but of the representative and significant in the life which he painted so profusely. His buffalo drives, war and ceremonial dances, native games, winter and summer travel, all breathe with life in spite of the unfortunately sombre browns which he regularly used in his works.

Nor did he neglect individual portraits, usually painting noted chiefs, and thus leaving us not only historical faces, but as well, distinguished types of the tribes concerned. His ambition, when embarking on his western journeys in 1846, was to paint "a series of pictures illustrative of the North American Indians and scenery", an ambition which he amply realized.

* * *

COMING considerably later, Innes portrayed the picturesque features of life in the west, strengthening his appeal by personalizing his treatment. Thus his representation of the great gold rushes became a picture of two men panning gold; the westward thrust of steel is presaged by the solitary engineer, a tiny figure threading his way among mountain, cloud, and torrent.

His approach to the Indians follows the same selective technique. The disaster of prairie fire is resumed in "The Trail of Ashes", in which a dejected little band urge their faltering ponies across a lifeless plain. "The Buffalo Scouts" shows two braves signalling to their comrades the discovery of their quarry. "Red Man's Revery", in which an old chief, meditating before his camp fire, sees his image in full war gear hovering in the smoke, suggests not only the nostalgia of age but also the encroachment of the white man. This same factor is more vividly displayed in a spirited canvas showing a troop of mounted Red skins careering away from an advancing locomotive. The title, "The Roaring Devil of the Paleface", assuredly speaks for the aborigine victims of progress.

Innes, was, like Kane, an artist of the second order, rather an interesting illustrator than a great painter. A critic justly re-

[illegible] of Western Canada's formative years".

Isaac Watts' Centenary

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IN many parts of the country arrangements are being made to celebrate the bicentenary of the death of Isaac Watts, who died on November 25, 1748. Southampton, his birthplace; Stoke Newington, where he was educated; the Free Churches in general, and the Congregational churches in particular — all these are arranging commemorations or exhibitions of various kinds. Watts was for long a minister in the City of London, and it is fitting that there should be a special service at St. Paul's on the day itself: there Watt's hymns will be sung, and addresses given by Canon Adam Fox, of Westminster, and a member of Watts's own denomination.

Only those who have contrasted the poverty of the Church's service of praise before Watts's day with that of half a century after his death can realize the transformation he wrought. The only possible rival to him as the Church's greatest writer of hymns is Charles Wesley, and their champions are almost constrained to bracket them equal, with any third a long, long way behind.

The main characteristic of Watts's hymns is that they deal with great themes and are invariably concerned with the worship of God. There are no pretty-pretty nature hymns, or songs about the robin on the topmost bough, where, I am told, no robin is ever seen. So universal are the hymns in their scope that they are used in all the Churches, and it is not without irony that one who was in prison for Nonconformity when his son was born gave in that son the writer of the generally accepted national hymn "O God, our help in ages past."

While Watts's contribution to the worship of the Church is now universally accepted, and while hymn-singing has an unassailable place in the churches, yet it may be doubted whether sufficient care has been used to ensure its right and proper use. Unless proper care is taken in the choice of hymns the result might be ludicrous—and worse. Often verses that may be eminently suitable for private devotion are just as unsuitable for public worship. I remember once gazing at a solid phalanx of forty theological students as they sang lustily.

For love I sigh,
For love I pine, and thinking there seemed something wrong about the whole business. Isaac Watts, it seems to me, greatly helps in avoiding such situations. There are at least fifty glorious hymns standing to his name which unite men in the worship of God and lift them on the wings of praise nearer to Heaven. They are concerned not so much with the individual, his follies and his foibles, or even his aspirations, as with God, the Creator and Redeemer of men. Adoration in these days seems a lost art and the like when not expended on sportsmen and film stars: Watts places it where alone it ought to be—before God himself.

Begin, my tongue, some heavenly theme,
And speak some boundless thing,
The mighty works, or mightier Name,
Of our eternal King.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars in sunder.

Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted. . . . Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saveth them out of their distresses.

He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions. (Ps. 107: 15-17, 19, 20.)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches. . . . And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years. . . .

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath.

The Jews therefore said unto him that was cured, It is the sabbath day: it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed. He answered them, He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk. . . .

Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole, sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. (John 5: 2, 5, 8-11, 14.)

They Know The Hiding Places

A summary of convictions and seizures under the Foreign Exchange Control Act shows that the ingenuity of those who try to smuggle currency out of Canada is being matched by the ingenuity of Canadian customs officers at border points.

A woman had U.S. travellers' cheques and currency concealed behind a cushion in her train compartment—it cost her $200 and the hidden funds. A Toronto man crossing at Niagara Falls was found to have 30 U.S. dollars concealed in his right sock and $98 in his left sock. An Alberta woman had $219.75 in U.S. currency in a small cloth sack pinned to her underclothing. A Detroit man was caught with $2,178 in U.S. currency and $108 in Canadian bills hidden in a bag of potatoes in his car—that cost him $500. Another Detroit man—who paid $1,250 for being found out—had $1,600 hidden in his clothes and another $845 in a newspaper on top of his car heater.

The moral is that the customs men know most of the hiding places—and that it pays to be honest.—Ottawa Journal.

Petrel's 8,000 Mile Flight

The letters "Fids" stands for Falklands Islands Dependencies Services and show that the bird was tagged by Colonial Office scientists working in the Falklands Islands region, 8,000 miles from Fremantle whichever

Students Toil For Love Digging Relics

In these days, when more and more demands are being heard from all sides for more pay and less work, it is refreshing to run across a group of young people who are toiling for sheer love of what they are doing, writes Herbert Cranston in the Midland Free Press Herald.

Out in an open field on the road between Wyevale and Perkins—field, some six young fellows, one a lecturer at the University of Toronto, and the others students in various stages of progress, are puting in several hours of hard work a day in the blazing sun. They are under the direction of Kenneth E. Kidd of the Royal Ontario Museum, and Mrs. Kidd. All are digging in what is believed to be the famous Ossossane bone pit, and uncovering the bones of several hundred men, women and children of the Huron Indian race who were buried there some three hundred years ago.

Pay Is Zero

Not a cent do they receive for their labor, nor for the pain of sunburned backs and arms. All they get is free board and lodging in the tents which have been erected in the field. Nothing luxurious about the beds either. Just common camp stretchers. The meals undoubtedly are good.

It is all being done for the fun of it. Not every day does an adventure like this come along. Just imagine, if you can, the thrills enjoyed by these amateur archaeologists who are every day finding new bones, beads, arrowheads, bits of beaver fur (which the Hurons wrapped around the bones of their dead), bits of copper and other metals, etc. One never knows when some object of great importance may be found. Skulls, shoulder blades, back bones, ribs, clavicles, pelvises, femurs, tibias, fibias, fingers, toes, ankle bones and the like soon lose their power to excite, even if one does possess a vivid imagination and tries to picture what the original owners of these various sections of the human anatomy looked like. Anyway, the bones are in a terrible mess. All mixed up indiscriminately, just as they were in the famous Biblical vision of the valley of dry bones, which Ezekiel had. No man on earth could be sure of putting one skeleton together correctly. some of the White Lily's bones would be almost sure to be mixed up with those of Wild Iris.

Expectancy Is There

But every minute of every hour there is a chance that some relic will be found which will speak authoritatively of the white man's contact with the Hurons. If this really is the famous Ossessane bone pit, which Father Jean Brebeuf described so graphically in his letter to his superior in Quebec, then there are two copper kettles yet to be found. One was uncovered last year badly smashed up.

Digging into the three hundred-year history of Huronia is sufficient reward for these enthusiastic yougsters. What do they care for money anyway? The best work is always done by men who seldom look at the clock, and care not for wealth.

Official Denies Plan To Call Deep Sea Strike

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP).—T. G. McManus, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) denied Wednesday the union plans a strike aboard deep sea vessels in November.

This charge was made Wednesday by Tranport Minister Chevrier, who criticized the conduct of the CSU and Canada Steamship Lines in the lake shipping strike which has entered its seventh week.

The CSU called out the seamen to support demands that four lake shipping companies sign working agreements with the union. The companies refuse. They say the CSU is led by Communists and they prefer to deal with J. A. (Pat) Sullivan's rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union.

"I wish categorically to deny that the Canadian Seamen's Union has any intention of declaring a deep sea strike in November or at any other time, provided the deep sea operators are prepared to abide by the law and negotiate in good faith with the bargaining representatives of the deep sea seamen," Mr. McManus said.

Excellent Relations

In reply to Mr. Chevrier's charges the union sought to "destroy" the shipping industry, Mr. McManus said: "Our relations with the deep sea operators have been excellent for a number of years and we hope they remain that way."

Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the CSU said at Cornwall Wednesday night Transport Minister Chevrier had "betrayed" the interests of seamen, workers and citizens who had placed him in his position of responsibility.

He countered the charge by the transport minister that his union is seeking to "destroy" the shipping industry and said:

"Perhaps the minister would explain what my motive would be in destroying the industry through which I and my fellow workers earn our daily bread."

Earlier Wednesday, Mr. McManus made public a letter to labor Minister Mitchell in which he denied the minister's charge that the CSU called the strike contrary to the advice of labor department officials.

Mr. McManus quoted from a telegram received from Mr. Mitchell last May 27 in which he said "It does not appear in view of court proceedings and other circumstances that further efforts to conciliate the dispute would have any hope of success."

The CSU had interpreted this message to mean "nothing more could be done by the government and it was up to us to take economic action in an attempt to bring about a settlement."

Coboconk Hen Lays Colored Egg

LINDSAY, July 29 — (ENS) — It took a hen on the farm of George Perdue, south of Coboconk, to produce the oddest egg, according to members of the staff of Silverwoods, Lindsay, that has ever been drawn to their attention.

Of normal size and shape, the egg arrived nicely decorated for Easter—a dark orange-brown three quarter way, then a normal strip for about half an inch, to be topped off with another colored section at the cap. Not only is the egg nicely colored but it contains many white markings that resemble an ancient form of Greek writing.

Mr. Perdue thinks it may be a prophetic egg, perhaps giving the answer to the Berlin question.

LINDSAY, July 29 — (ENS) — Work on Lindsay's first private enterprise housing sub-division project, Sylvan Crescent, off Albert St., is progressing, co-owners C. V. Sleep and James Maskey, report.

The 11 homes, will be situated on a "bulb-shaped" crescent in the residential section between Kent and Glenelg streets. Five of the basements have been completed and the excavation work on six others is underway. Five distinct designs are being used in the project which is to be completed this fall. T. Morrow of Woodville is the contractor.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

When we left the Cannington lawn bowling greens, long after midnight on Wednesday, they were still playing in the men's open doubles tournament, and it looks to us as if they would be playing for some time yet.

The entry was so large that the nine greens were filled for the third time before all bowlers played their first game. It was a "triple" draw and we have no recollection of ever having seen it done before. So late was the last game coming up that many of the boys defaulted their game and went home.

We don't know all who reached the prize department but we believe that R. Knox and R. Burns are in there somewhere, they having won their three games.

Tonight Group No. 1 and No. 2 play a postponed game.

Keep Friday night open, we expect many members of the Port Hope Club wil be our guests.

Kiwanis Jolts Cobourg With 11-6 Win

Kiwanis Juniors scored their fourth straight victory at Riverside Park Wednesday night defeating Cobourg 11-6, before the largest crowd of the season. This victory keeps the locals within half a game of the league-leading Oshawa team in the Lakeshore Loop the latter team having won over Bowmanville on Wednesday.

Brian Wade pitched steady ball to capture his third straight win and his mates gave him fine support in the field. The issue was never in doubt from the start as five walks and five solid hits including a homer by Estlick gave Kiwanis seven runs, a lead Cobourg could not overcome. Al Stewart has 18 put-outs at first, stole three bases, scored two runs and batted one home, to shine for Kiwanis with Estlick, who drove in three. For the visitors, Hogan with four hits, one a double, two runs scored and one driven in was best, while McMillan and the Jamieson boys each collected two hits with the former featuring afield.

A bonesetter said yesterday a hardened muscle was the answer to why Bobby Feller hasn't been able to flash his customary form for Cleveland Indians this year. A. L. Austin, credited by Feller with first helping him back in 1937, when he faltered at the beginning of his career, also warned at Cleveland that the hurler might be through unless the trouble is corrected. He said a muscle in the righthander's right shoulder had hardened, probably as the result of over-exertion. "Three or four treatments should put it back in shape again," he said.

D. Gamble of the Crescent Yacht Club, Watertown, N.Y., finished first Wednesday in the first set of lightning class races at the eastern yachting circuit regatta at Kingston, Ont. The international dinghy class craft skippered by Dr. Godfrey Bird of Gananoque Canoe and Motorboat Club, won its event with a time of two hours, 12 minutes and 34 seconds.

Westclox Girls Win Two From Ashby's

Westclox took both ends of a double-header from Ashby's last night in the Girls' Softball League, by scores of 7-1 and 12-4. M. Hawthorne topped the Westclox batters with two for four, and E. Despite the fact that Ashby's outhit Westclox in the first game by five to three, the winners bunched their hits and capitalized on an error to win their first of the evening.

In the second game, N. Kennedy struck out 15 Ashby batters in a fine show of pitching. Westclox got 14 hits off Ashby pitcher H. Waite, and used three Ashby errors to advantage. Westclox stars were Whetung and Vass, while Callan and Simmons shone for the losers.

Classy Girls' Teams To Play Ball Here

Games played by the Sunday Morning Class of Toronto, the greatest girls' softball team in Canada, are proving this summer to be headline sports attractions for fans. Thousands have been on hand to see the starry performers wherever they have played in the province. Several weeks ago they appeared before 7,000 fans in a game at Oshawa and before more than 5,000 at Bowmanville. Chiefly their appearances outside of Toronto have been sponsored by Rotary Clubs for charity benefits.

Sunday Morning Class's appearance here at Riverside Bowl under floodlights on Friday evening, August 6, has an international setting since their opponents are the Erin-Brews, one of the greatest clubs in the United States, of Cleveland, Ohio.

This game is sponsored by the Peterborough Rotary Club, and added to its interest for fans will be the appearance of a number of hockey stars of the National League as umpiring officials.

Sports Menu

All-Stars and Civic Softball League play a double-header in the Bowl tonight, and proceeds are for the Civic Arena fund.

Juvenile lacrosse practice is called for seven p.m. on Friday in the secondary box. The following players should attend: Hickson, J. Russell, Beavis, Payne, Vincent, Lavasseur, G. Robinson, Sedgwick, O'Donnell, Farley, B. Robinson, Bickford, Van Allen, Crowley.

Royal Pomp Marks Revival Of Olympic Competition

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England, July 29. (CP) — The Olympic games open today in a setting of royal pomp with the King speaking the solemn words that revive Olympic competition after a 12-year lapse.

80,000 Spectators

Some 80,000 spectators bought tickets for the opening ceremonies in this stadium.

Although austerity prevented the building of a new area, the bright red running track and sparkling green turf infield made a rich setting for the parade of athletes behind their national flags.

The track, made of pulverized red tile on a base of cinders, appears lightning fast. The chief disadvantage is the shortness of the straightaway—barely enough for the 110-metre hurdlers, in which the runner must ease off going around a curve.

Princess Elizabeth yesterday received the 1,400-year-old Greek lamp from which the Olympic torch was lighted in the Temple of Zeus on Mount Olympus. The lamp was presented by games commander F. W. Collins of the British organizing committee, on behalf of the Greek Olympic committee.

This afternoon the King will send 5,000 athletes from 59 countries into competition in 17 different sports with the words: "I proclaim open the Olympic games of 1948 celebrating the 14th Olympiad of the modern era."

A flame, lit on Mount Olympus in Greece and sped by runners across Europe and by warships over the seas, will be borne into the stadium to set ablaze the big white Olympic torch that will burn day and night until the games end Aug. 14.

The flame reached Dover last night. It went out, but relighted from a second torch carried from the sacred mountain.

Fifty thousand persons cheered as the light symbolizing international friendship in the field of sport was carried ashore from the Royal Navy destroyer Bicester.

Traffic Jam

A line of traffic five miles long followed it through the night and into the morning as runner after runner passed it onwards.

At the climactic moment in the great stadium there will be a fanfare of trumpets, a royal salute of 21 guns, the release of hundreds of pigeons and the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus by a mighty choir—all this destined to give an air of solemnity to the resumption of the greatest international competition of the age.

This is the biggest of all Olympic games. The previous record was 42 countries and 3,904 athletes at the Berlin games in 1936, the last held before the war.

However, today's figure was cut by Bulgaria's withdrawal, announced yesterday. In a cable, Bulgarian Olympic committee said "unforseen difficulties" delayed the departure of its team and they would not be able to take part. There was no word as to the status of the Romanian team, which also has been reported about to withdraw.

Brooks Whip Cards 12-4 As Giants Blank Reds 5-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Burt Shotton-Leo Durocher managerial shake-up in the National league is proving a tonic to both Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

Since kindly old Burt replaced Leo at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers have swept 11 of 15 starts. Under the fiery Durocher, the Giants have won nine of 14 games.

Even before the change, the Dodgers were rolling. Now the count is 20 won and six lost since July 2 when they were stretched on the cellar floor.

What's more, the customers are coming back. Wednesday the Brooks whipped the Cards 12-4 before 19,491, dropping St. Louis into a third-place tie with the hustling Giants. Brooklyn remains 3½ games behind the first-place Boston Braves.

Preacher Roe checked St. Louis until he tired in the eighth. It didn't matter then for the Dodgers clubbed rookie Ken Johnson, up from Rochester of the International league, and three others for 15 hits.

Second Shutout

The Giants, who are supposed to have no pitching, got their second straight shutout job against Cincinnati as Clint Hartung blanked the hapless Reds 5-0 with three hits.

Vern Bickford, now the league's percentage basis, weathered two top pitcher on a won-and-lost shaky innings to hurl the Braves to an 8-2 victory over Pittsburgh in Boston. For Bickford it was victory No. 7 against two defeats.

Eddie Sawyer's Philadelphia Phillies won their first game for their new manager, 9-4, over Chicago Cubs who spoiled Sawyer's debut Tuesday. Sawyer has just come down from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International league.

End Sox Streak

Boston's Red Sox' winning streak in the American league finally ended at 13 as Detroit's Dizzy Trout applied the brakes, 13-0. There was no doubt about this one after the first two innings when the Tigers ran up an 8-0 lead, knocking out Denny Galehouse.

Philadelphia Athletics topped Cleveland 4-3 on a fly ball that bounced off the head of the Indians' centrefielder, Larry Doby. Don White's fly was misjudged by Doby for a two-run error. That gave Toronto's Dick Fowler, nicked for 10 hits, his 10th triumph against two losses.

Frank Shea, a New York Yankee problem child, needed help from Allie Reynolds in the ninth to blank St. Louis Browns 4-0. George McQuinn hit a double to score three of the Yank runs.

Marino Pieretti, pint-sized Chicago hurler, beat his old Washington mates as the White Sox made it two in a row over the Senators by the same 2-1 score.

289 Oarsmen Entered In Henley Today

By JACK MITCHELL

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 29—(CP)—Canada's 66th annual Henley served up a hectic series of championship events today, with 289 oarsmen from Canada and the United States scheduled to compete on the second day of the four-day regatta.

The program was the reverse of yesterday's card, when only one final was run off, counting towards the aggregate-points championships being defended by Buffalo West Sides. That final was won by St. Catharines, one of their two victories, to give the host club an unofficial lead in the title hunt.

Seven point-scoring finals—mostly in the junior division—were on today's card. In addition, nine heats were scheduled as well as one high school final, which doesn't count towards the aggregate points.

St. Catharines took its unofficial lead into the second day by virtue of Roy Barrett's victory in the quarter-mile dash for 145 pounders. The win was worth 10 points, under the complex Henley system that allots 10 points for singles victories, 15 for doubles, 20 for fours and 30 for eights, along with percentages of these points for placings.

Surprise Entry

Barrett was a surprise entry in the event, his name not appearing on the official program. Officials of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, though standing by their no-post-entries ruling, said Barrett had been left off through an oversight.

The second St. Catharines victory came in a heat of the 155-pounds fours. The St. Kitts' foursome, though coming to a complete halt after being fouled by Detroit 100 yards from the finish, picked up again in time to defeat Detroit and Hamilton Leanders.

Officials said it was the first time in Henley annals that a team went on to victory after being completely fouled.

Detroit was disqualified for cutting across the bow of the St. Catharines shell so Leanders qualified for the final along with St. Kitts. In the other heat of the event, Ottawa and Buffalo ran one-two to gain berths in the final.

Syracuse Downs Montreal 7-1

By The Associated Press

Ed Erautt of Syracuse Chiefs is beginning to pitch the brand of ball that made him a headliner in the Pacific Coast league in 1946. He has won five out of his last six decisions in impressive fashion.

Erautt's latest success came last night as he pitched the Chiefs to a 7-1 three-hit triumph over the leading Montreal Royals. The Royals scored their lone run in the fourth on Mike Sanlock's double, an infield hit and Oscar Grimes' out. Clyde Vollmer led the Chief attack belting two homers and driving in five runs.

Despite the setback, the Royals remained seven games ahead of the runner-up Newark Bars as th Bears took a 5-2 beating from Toronto. Veteran Nick Strincevich scattered 10 Newark Hits while the Leafs collected 12, including three singles by Barney Lutz.

The third-place Rochester Red Wings pulled to within three games of the Bears by downing Jersey City Giants 8-4. Ed Kazak clouted a three-run homer and Russ Derry one with the sacks empty to lead the Rochester drive.

Home runs enabled Buffalo Bisons to beat the last-place Baltimore Orioles 7-5. Martin Tabacheck, Ed Mordarski and Coaker Triplett socke dhomers for the Bisons to give them their margin of victory.

Dinghy Sailing Revived At Stony Lake

Sailing on Stony Lake has returned with all its old vigour, as interested cottagers have met to discuss ways to revive the sport. Dinghy sailing, as the least expensive except for canoe sailing, is the most popular. Seven cups are available each year for the amateur yachtsmen of the Kawarthas.

Back of the revival is the Stony Lake Yacht Club, whose commodore is Harold Knapman of Picton, working with vice-commodore Jim Collins of Peterborough. Sailing officials of the club are chairman Bob Willoughby, Keith Russell, and Jack Ryder, all three of Toronto.

Of the seven cups available, four have already been awarded. Lyman Crawford-Brown captured both the Turner and Janson cups, raced for on July 11 and 18 respectively. In the latter race, seven dinghies upset due to high winds and choppy water, and Mr. Crawford-Brown was one of the few to finish.

The Chapman Trophy, a new award, was won by Kay McCormack of Toronto, the only one to finish the race held July 24 at Crowe's Landing regatta in rough weather. Winner of the Crowe's Landing Cup for open class craft, was Commodore Knapman.

Six races are held during the season for the President's Cup, and it is awarded on a point basis. Five points are given for first place, four for second, and so on down to fifth place, for which one point is awarded. High point winner over the season receives the cup. Final race for this cup will be held Saturday, August 21.

Sailing for the Gillespie Cup will be at 2.30 p.m. on Sunday, August 1, at Juniper. The Kawartha Cup will be sailed for on the following Sunday at Crowe's Landing. Winner of the latter cup can elect to sail for it on any one of the Kawartha lakes. George Cooke, last year's winner, took the trophy in an International class dinghy of his own design.

HAMILTON PARK WADING POOL, under sponsorship of the Peterborough Kiwanians, is shaping up well on west Bonnacord St., and is being put to constant use by grateful West End children. Future plans call for the installation of playground equipment on the graded portion to the left of the picture and beautification of the "Island" for the comfort of watchful mothers and their very young children.

LONDON, Eng. — A crowd of more than 500 persons watched Rev. Robert Hood burn a copy of the new volume of "Canon Law In the Church of England" outside St. Stephen's Church in South Lambeth. The two are: James Dailey of Cannington, 30 miles north of Oshawa, and Robert Harper of St. Catharines. Police at first believed them to be Raymond Smith, 20, and Ken McEary, 19, who escaped from the Ontario reformatory at Brampton Sunday night.

HULL, Yorkshire, England—Trawler owners here will send, for the time being, no more ships to the White Sea, off northwest Russia, because of the tense international situation. It was understood the trawler owners made the decision without consulting the government.

STUTTGART, Germany — Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of German's late ex-Kaiser, has been arrested at Crailsheim, in the United States zone, on a war-crimes charge. He is wanted by Russian authorities and it is expected they will request his extradition to the Soviet zone.

Unhappy Reporters Meet 5,000 Bats

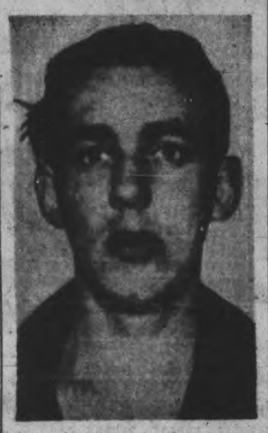
VANCOUVER, July 29 (CP)—Can you imagine sharing a room with 5,000 bats.

Two newspaper men tried it for a blood-curdling half-hour here, and they don't want any more, thank you.

With vermin exterminator Jimmy Anderson they went to work on a vampire colony in the attic of a bunkhouse near Port Coquitlam, B.C. On entering the room, a flashlight beam revealed the walls literally hung with clusters of the hideous little creatures.

Anderson and Bill Tayler, his helper, probed the bats with their fingers to make them fly. Clouds of them swarmed around the room, squeaking demonically. Wearing gas masks, the crew spread syarlide around the sealed room and left.

On their return 20 minutes later, the pests were all dead.



Toronto Makes Bid For Empire Games

TORONTO, July 29 — (CP). — Toronto board of control decided yesterday to bid for the British Empire games in 1950.

Alderman Alan Lamport, told the board "if we don't go after the games, Vancouver will."

He reminded the board that the city had "put a lot of money in the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand," and should get some use out of it.

A cable is to be sent to the necessary authorities in England immediately.

ULYSSE LAUZON, CANADA'S No. 1 criminal who escaped from the Kingston penitentiary a year ago with Mickey MacDonald, is reported dead. His bullet-riddled body was found by police in a ditch in Mississippi.

Seeded Players Knocked Out Of Title Hunt

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP).—Quarter-finalists in the Canadian tennis championship were decided yesterday as three seeded players were knocked out of the title hunt.

Two foreign invaders, Tony Vincent of the University of Miami and Sverre Lie of Norway, were knocked off by Jean Paul Turgeon of Quebec City and Rene Buser of Montreal, respectively.

Two Ontario players, Don McDiarmid of Ottawa and Jack Langmaid of Oshawa, entered the quarter-finals with fourth round victories over Toronto players. McDiarmid defeated J. Mitchell, 6-1, 6-4, while Langmaid won from A. McPherson, 7-5, 6-3.

Jim Macken of Montreal, Canadian Davis Cup player, was upset by a fellow townsman, Jean Jacques Desjardins, who surprised Mackey by playing at the net instead of his normal baseline position. Scores were 6-4, 6-2.

Top-seeded Henri Rochon of Montreal, swept D. Dyment of Toronto off the court 6-2, 6-0 to be the fourth Quebec player to enter the quarter-finals.

Tragedy marred the day's play as Ernie (Red) Legon, 45-year-old Ottawa teacher, collapsed during a veterans' singles match and died within 20 minutes.

Turgeon upset Vincent, 6-1, 6-3, with a steadier game. Playing from the baseline, he bore down harder shots and displayed a fast and accurate service.

Henley Tradition Cracked By Women

PORT DALHOUSIE, July 29 — (CP). — Two women's crews cracked the Canadian Henley's 66-year-old "men-only" tradition Wednesday and even veteran rowing officials conceded that the girls showed fine form.

The two St. Catharines eights, training all season for their "big chance," rose to the occasion. Defying sports writers' laments that rowing is blister-raising, muscle-bunching man's game, they got out there in their shells and rowed and rowed.

It was only billed as an exhibition — Henley officials would break with convention no further than that—but the girls showed enough in the half-mile event to cause officials to ask them for a repeat performance next Saturday.

End Shoe Rationing

LONDON, July 29 — (AP) — Britain will end shoe rationing next month and ease restrictions on the sale of wool clothing. Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, announced the good news in the House of Commons Wednesday. The Retail Distributors Association estimated that, under the relaxed rationing program United Kingdom residents will be able to buy 33 per cent more clothing than previously.

Caste Proves Headache

HALIFAX (CP).—India's caste system caused headaches at a Halifax shipyard recently when workmen converted a freighter for the Indian government. They settled at last on three mess halls —one for Moslems, one for Hindus and the other for Lascars.

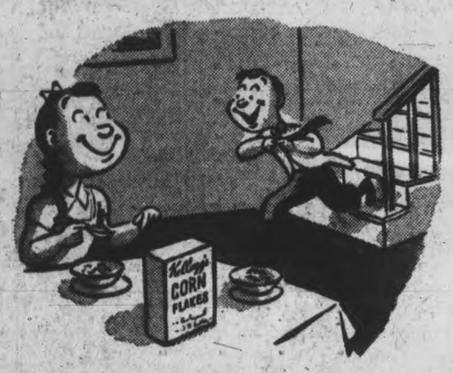
HON. T. L. KENNEDY, minister of agriculture, has estimated that the farmers' return on their unprecedented fall wheat crops in Ontario will be in excess of $50,000,000. Bumper crops mean that farmers will have more money to spend on farm improvements. Here Bea Brokenshire watches harvested wheat pour from a combine.

4,000 Farmers Attend Picnic

KITCHENER, July 29 — (CP). —More than 4,000 Ontario farmers attended a Federation of Agriculture picnic at the farm of W. J. Schneller, at Baden, near here Wednesday, and heard C. R. Graham, Ontario's Deputy Agriculture Minister, stress the values of conservation and proper land use.

"You are caretakers of the soil and you must pass it on to succeeding generations better than you found it," Mr. Graham stressed during the brief speaking program.

Commenting on his recent tour of the war-devastated countries of Europe and his observation of farming in Great Britain, he said overseas farmers are good caretakers of the soil.



He warned that Holland and other European countries will in a few years be back in the competitive field in agriculture and Canadian farmers would be well advised to follow the scientific methods being laid down for them by agricultural representatives of the Department.

Gift From Japan

LONDON, July 29. (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury received a gift from Japan Wednesday. He said he appreciated the beautiful present. He appeared, however, to regret the fact that customs officials also appreciated it so much that they assessed him duty of £200 ($800). The gift is a cope (vestment) and mitre, made by craftsmen of the brotherhood of St. Andrew, Japan.

Three Parties Outline Alberta Plans

EDMONTON, July 29. (CP)—The Independent Movement—official opposition in Alberta's last legislature—yesterday produced a capsule platform which it said would develop with the Aug. 17 provincial election campaign.

J. Percy Page, Independent leader and for 36 years principal of an Edmonton high school, said in a broadcast that the primary object of his party's platform is the welfare of the people—"it places your interests before those of any political group."

In other campaign speeches, a Liberal speaker accused the government of "going to expensive lengths to deceive the people," and CCF leader Elmer Roper assailed the Social Credit government's oil-development program.

Mr. Page, saying his platform would be detailed as the campaign progressed, added that platforms usually were "hurriedly thrown together just before an election." They were "promises that cannot possibly be implemented—as for instance the promise of greater services to the public at a decreased cost to the taxpayers."

"The Independents have consistently refused to be a party to any such type of vote catching and . . . it has at least retained for us the respect of the electorate."

Economic Nonsense

Owen R. Browne, public relations director for the Albetra Liberal Association, in a free-time speech over the CBC, said Alberta was "governed by a group of men who advocate an economic nonsense which has proven itself unacceptable to all thinking people."

They had resorted to "political expediency to explain away" failure to implement an original program of tax abolition and monthly dividends of $25 to citizens, Mr. Browne said.

"The people in this pioneer province are not prepared to accept Socialism, which is, after all, a malady which afflicts only those people who have lost faith in themselves," he said.

CCF leader Roper said in a speech at Delburne a CCF government would reserve for, or restore to public ownership, half of Alberta's oil lands, and would produce under the same auspices in every proven field.

DIVORCE IS NO SOLUTION

Divorce is NOT an open gateway to happiness, for "you can never be wholly free of someone you once loved," says Nina Wilcox Putnam, twice divorced herself. In August Reader's Digest, this famous writer (now happily married) discusses the causes of divorce and shows what tragic mistakes most divorces are. Read what she considers the real secret of a successful marriage . . . and how many a shaky marriage can be made to work—if you really want it to. (Condensed from MacLean's)

Also in Reader's Digest

The comics . . . very funny! 3 boys kill a 14-year-old "for revenge." A 13-year-old burglar uses a shotgun. A little boy, asked what he wants to be, replies, "A sex maniac." Here a noted psychiatrist claims that comic books represent systematic poisoning of the well of childhood spontaneity . . . argues that the case for comics is founded on misconceptions. (Condensed from Saturday Review of Literature)

Why we didn't take Berlin. The road was open—yet we halted a few short miles from the city and let the Russians slug it out till they'd captured the prize. John T. Flynn describes those last fateful days . . . reveals the secret deal Roosevelt made that is behind our predicament in Berlin today.

"Cold" women—and why. Frigidity in women (or what is assumed to be frigidity) is more widespread than realized, apparently on the increase—says Abram Scheinfeld, noted authority. He explains psychological causes of frigidity . . . tells how much of this personal tragedy may often be averted.

Jve in "day-tight compartments". Worrying about yesterday, anxious about tomorrow, too many of us put off really living for a day that never comes, says Dale Carnegie. He reveals one basic secret many great men have used to keep worry out of their lives . . . and to insure greater peace of mind. (From best-seller "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living")

Union Rejects Chrysler Offer

WINDSOR, July 29 — (CP) — George Burt, regional director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said Wednesday night that the Chrysler division membership of Local 195 has rejected a wage offer of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada.

The membership voted Wednesday night on a company offer of a 10-cent-an-hour increase and a year's wage freeze. Earlier Wednesday the union negotiating committee said it would recommend the offer be turned down.

Union members at both Windsor and Chatham, voted against the offer.

Burt said that negotiations between the union and company, which started several days ago, will be continued.

Higher Cost Of Living Hitting Movies

One of the casualties of the high cost-of-living in Canada is the line-up at the movie house. This "buyer resistance" to the favorite luxury lure of the movies is Canada-wide and is making itself felt at Peterborough box-offices, although not to the extent reported from other centres.

A spokesman for the movie industry in Canada said in Toronto this week that the nation-wide belief of managers of theatres placed the high cost-of-living tops for the drop in attendance. He was commenting on a statement by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, that theatre attendance had dropped in the United States.

The manager of the Peterborough theatre said that, from information received from other cities, the situation in this city is not nearly as influenced as the average show. For example, an official of the chain from Ottawa said that Peterborough was still comparatively a "boom town."

He pointed out that at this season of the year there is a normal drop in theatre attendance. Competition is keener with many outdoor activities keeping people away—swimming, golfing, baseball and just "loafing around" the lawn or cottages.

The local manager attributed the lesser drop in Peterborough to the fact that industrial conditions in the city, and the employment situation generally, are better than average.

"We're always among the first businesses to feel the pinch of economy, and layoffs, slowdowns and business declines always react sharply on our sales figures," he said.

Another manager said that he felt there was little chance that Canadian theatres might drop attendance rates, which are already much smaller than in the U.S. (Reports from Chicago indicate that the position is so bad that theatres have dropped prices. Even this has had little effect.)

Officials find it difficult to determine what factors play a part in the decline, because there are several major ones which cannot be accurately estimated. Unusual climatic disasters, such as the recent B.C. floods, have probably effected attendance.

Son of Millbrook Pioneers, W. H. Collins' Funeral Held

MILLBROOK, July 29—(ENS)—The death of Walter H. Collins took place suddenly at his home in Toronto on July 24. He had been in ill health for some time.

He was the eldest son of the late Thomas Baxter Collis, and his wife, Francis Armstrong. His father had been prominent in the banking and commercial life of Millbrook in its earlier years, and his mother's family was closely connected with the history of Cavan township from pioneer days.

Mr. Collins was born and brought up at Millbrook and in his young manhood entered the Bank of Commerce at Peterborough. He rose to be manager, and had served in that capacity at Kitchener, Brockville and other cities, remaining for 20 years in Montreal, until his retirement a few years ago. He was an Anglican and interested in the activities of his church. Fond of travel, Mr. Collins had spent some time abroad, with his wife was in England for the Coronation, and had visited many points in Canada and the United States.

Surviving are his widow, the former Mazo Mussen; onde daughter, Mrs. A. G. Manton (Barbara), of Manchester, Vermont, whose husband passed away suddenly at Montreal the Monday previous to her father's death; and one son, Robert, of Toronto; also two sisters, Mamie L., at home, and Mrs. William Lamprey (Helen), of Vancouver, B.C., and one brother, T. Howard, postmaster at Millbrook; there are three grandchildren; a younger sister, Kathleen, died in girlhood.

A brief service was held in the chapel of the Fred W. Matthews Funeral Home, Toronto, on Monday afternoon, and the public funeral service was at St. Thomas' Anglican church, Millbrook, at 2 p.m., on Tuesday. The rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, was in charge. Numerous beautiful floral tributes gave evidence of the esteem and affection in which Mr. Collins was held, and the pallbearers were family friends, A. J. Mulligan, W. H. Coombe, G. E. Burnham, H. A. Kerr, T. A. Campbell, and J. E. Allen. Burial was in the family burial plot at St. Paul's cemetery, Fourth Line, Cavan.

TORONTO, July 29 — (CP) — Sheldon Findlay, 35, and Tom Medforth 16, told today how they covered 2,500 miles of trans-Canada highway by foot and thumb at a cost of $20.

The pair arrived here from Vancouver Tuesday and started looking for a job. They said they rode modern automobiles, army jeeps, and the old-time horse and buggy. They stayed at the YMCA and in cabins and when money ran low they ate berries from roadside bushes.

Several times they had to discourage over-friendly bears by shining flash-lights in their eyes.

British Export Sales Soar To Canadians

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, July 29 — (CP) — Mention Canada to British traders and win a pleased smile.

It is agreed good progress is being made in the drive to increase exports to the Dominion. Sales in this vital dollar market are up substantially for the first half of the year.

Detailed Board of Trade figures for the first five months show a definite measure of improvement. In that period in 1947, United Kingdom purchases from Canada were £84,500,000 ($338,000,000) and sales to Canada £15,000,000. For the same period in 1948, imports rose to £94,500,000, exports to £26,000,000.

This is still far from the better trade balance Britain would like to see, but at least the export position is improved. The board reported the adverse balance with Canada and Newfoundland as £190,000,000 in 1947. In the first five months of 1948 the adverse balance is £68,500,000. But in the third quarter of 1947 the adverse balance ran at a monthly average of nearly £19,000,000 compared with £13,750,000 for the first quarter of 1948. In April and May the monthly rate was down to £13,333,000.

The objective of increasing cotton textile exports to Canada by 12½ times this year and making other gains almost as large has not yet been attained. But authorities say there's a natural delay in getting orders settled. Jittery raw-cotton prices had caused uncertainty and textile mills had to make changes to raise production.

Some gains in exports to Canada are spectacular. Automobiles shipped in the second quarter of 1948 numbered 3,173 against 554 in the last quarter of 1947. The quarterly average in 1938 was 943.

Drowning Scare Brings Hundreds To Wading Pool

Spectators in the vicinity of Lions - Riverside Park Wading Pool had a scare on Wednesday afternoon when two women reported to the lifeguard that they thought they saw a boy sink in the water just outside the outer boom of he supervised area. Jerry Armstrong, lifeguard, promptly dived into the water at the spot indicated, but found nobody there.

Police and firemen were called and they split up into four crews and carefully searched the area but found nothing. Meanwhile a check on the children in the playground showed that none of them were missing and it was concluded that the disturbance seen in the water was not caused by a child.

The two women were sitting on the shore facing the west bank of the river and both noticed the disturance. Before raising the alarm they consulted and decided that the lifeguard, who was sitting on the outer boom, should be informed.

He immediately swam to the spot, made a thorough search, and then called the police and the fire department for assistance.

One bystander remarked that it was a false alarm but that it is better to be wrong than sorry.

Council Debates New Site For Power Plant

Committee of the whole council will resume discussion of the location of the power plant and laundry of Civic Hospital Friday afternoon. The architects are attending this meeting, and Hugh Stewart has been invited.

Mr. Stewart's plea to the council is to have the power plant placed at some other part of the hospital grounds as a means of retaining for the immediate neighborhood of the institution projected residences costing all the way from $15,000 to $30,000. Property for these houses has been bought across the street from the hospital on its north side.

Mr. Stewart's argument is that the council and the architects should desire that type of residences for the immediate background of the new hospital, contributing appearance and value to the entire premises and neighborhood, and fitting into the architectural and landscaping features of the institution.

City Acqires 20 Acres For 90 Homes In Southend

Peterborough is acquiring more than 20 acres on the west side of Monaghan Road, south of the Peterborough Canoe Company's factory, as the location of more than 90 of the 200 houses that are being built by agreement between the city and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The new municipal investment in housing, glancing at the entire area to be occupied, extends across the former township area south of Lansdowne St. from the vicinity of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. on the east to Erskine Ave. on the west. For further identification of the westerly section of the new subdivision it may be explained that Erskine Ave. is the first street west of May's School, and ends on the north at No. 7 Highway, on Lansdowne St. where the CPR cros.ses

The general plan for this new Monaghan purchase includes a shopping centre on the Monaghan Road front, community playground immediately east of the C.N.R. which crosses the property, and an industrial site of some three acres lying west of the C.N.R. to Erskine Ave. Acceptance of recent options, as announced today by City Clerk E. A. Outram, completes the ground work of obtaining properties of sufficient acreage to accommodate the 200 house project. It is one of the biggest realty deals in the recent affairs of the municipality, and was undertaken by the council under the pressure of continuing demand for houses.

Details of the purchase west of Monaghan Road describe the area as comprising park lots 22, 23 and 24, Mr. Outram said.

Park lot 22 is being bought from Mr. and Mrs. John Little. Mr. Little for years has been engaged as a market gardener. Lot 23 is being bought from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee, and lot 24 from Mrs. Minnie Nevill, whose maiden surname was Hawley, formerly of Peterborough. Her husband is a retired minister. Their home is in Toronto.

This distribution of the 200 houses will be as follows: 28 houses on Morrow and Morphet streets, north of Brinton Carpet Co. plant; 100 houses on the John T. O'Connell, Scott and city owned properties, bounded by Park St. on the east, Monaghan Road on the west, Rose Ave. on the north and O'Connell St. on the south. St. Catharines St., running north and south, cuts through this long block.

Finally, some 90 lots are available on the west side of Monaghan Road, almost across the street, but slightly to the south of the central section of the concentrated subdivision.

The housing committee of the council of which Ald. Gordon Armstrong is chairman decided, for the advantage of economy in the cost of building, to try to obtain land in spacious blocks as a facility in mass production of the parts of the houses for their assembly on the various groups of lots. To that end, they agreed with the council's approval to expropriate the O'Connell and Scott land, between Park St. and Monaghan Road.

Three Properties

Instead of picking up stray lots here and there, the committee next looked across Monaghan Road and instructed City Clerk Outram to get options from the three owners. That was done three weeks ago. As a result of those decisions the bulk of the new housing area lies on either side of Monaghan Road, almost immediately south of the new factory of Nashua Paper Company, fronting on Braidwood Ave. at Monaghan Road.

"The property on the west side of Monaghan Road is actually north of McKellar St.," Mr. Outram said. "It wil lbe laid out in two new streets. One of them will be called Hawley St., as requested by Mrs. Nevill. There is ample room for 92 lots there, with a minimum frontage of 45 feet, most of them are 50 feet, and average depth of 100 feet, most of them are 50 feet, and average depth of 100 feet.

The present homes on the west side of Monaghan Road will not be disturbed, and part of that strip is being designated as a shopping block. These lots will cost approximately $205 each. That sum does not include the sewer and other services which will have to be provided. The committee is confident that the entire development in that new subdivision can be done at less than the $600 a lot, overall cost, allowed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The committee is convinced that this is the most concentrated housing subdivision that could be secured. It is all in the city, and lies within the present boundaries of expansion in that former suburban section of North Monaghan."

Present announcement relates to the acquisition of property. Mr. Outram said that details of cost will be determined later.

City council is inclined to consider a proposal from the Mascioli Construction Company of Timmins for the laying of the sewers in the new subdivisions. This company has a subcontract from Reynolds Construction Co. for taking out the cellars of the 200 houses.

"Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, in their agreement with the council, will pay up to $6600 a lot," Ald. Max Swanston, chairman of the finance committee, said. "That provides for buying the property and providing municipal services. The building committee and council feel that these items of cost will not exceed $600. The council is looking after the buying of the land and the putting in of sewers and so on, but we are not liable for any of this cost unless it amounts to more than $600 a lot. I think the public should understand that important part of the agreement with the housing corporation."

Three Bands To Take Part In Veterans' Parade Aug. 2

All Peterborough veterans are invited to take part in the Canadian Legion Veterans' Picnic Parade on August 2, the Civic Holiday. Gaily decorated floats are to be entered by most of the manufacturers in the city, and the Fraser Trophy, given by Gordon K. Fraser, MP, is to be awarded for the best industrial float in the parade.

Other features of the parade will be decorated bicycles and a special entry from Paddy Preston's Diamond P Ranch. Three bands are to take part: the Peterborough Citizens' Band, the Peterborough Pipe Band and the Senior Boy Scouts' Band.

The parade will assemble at 12.15 p.m. on Aylmer St., between Charlotte and Wolfe Streets. It will move off at 12.45 p.m. along Charlotte St. to George St., then up George to Parkhill Rd. and to Nicholls Oval.

Ray Thompson is again marshal of the parade. Gordon K. Fraser, MP, the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, Mayor W. G. Ovens and Harold Yelland, president of the Canadian Legion, will be the judges for the Fraser Trophy to be awarded personally by Mr. Fraser.

This year local talent is being sponsored for the entertainment in the evening, instead of having entertainers from Toronto as in previous years. During the afternoon at Nicholls Oval there will be a special display by the Fire Department of its new aerial ladder, a soccer game and races with cash prizes for the children.

Garfield Torrance is chairman of the committee organizing the parade.

Rogers is 12 years.

The Legon home is at 2 Roslyn Ave. The family attend Southminster Church, Bank and Aylmer streets where the members have been active in various organizations.

Dennis Traynor Top Athlete, Wins Two Cups

Law-enforcers of Peterborough and district, and their families, got a respite from traffic jams and tussles with crime at the annual Police Picnic at Nicholls Oval Wednesday afternoon and evening. The event was arranged by the Kawartha District Police Association. More than 300 police officers, families and guests attended.

The program was directed by Andre Dalton, chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the Association.

Those attending included members of the Peterborough Police Department, detachments of No. 8 District, Ontario Provincial Police and police officers from the district centres.

Among the guests at the picnic were Ontario Commissioner of Police W. H. Stringer and Mrs. Stringer, who were guests of Inspector E. V. McNeill, commanding officer of No. 8 District, OPP.

Highlight of the afternoon's athletics program was a seven-inning softball game between the city Police Department and members of No. 8 District of the Provincial Police for the E. H. Northey Trophy. On the mound for provincials was J. R. Pollard of the Orono detachment.

Heaviest hitter was provincial constable Bert Howden of Apsley who socked the apple for three homers and a triple. Eddy Niziol of the city force did two round trips on terrific hits, adding to those a triple and a single. Roy Feeley of provincials also hit a homer.

The teams were:

Few Farmers Applying For DP Help

More than 1,000 displaced persons have been located in agricultral employment in Ontario in recent weeks, W. H. Mellis, manager of National Employment Service said today. However, he added that not many of them have come to the Peterborough area since farmers in this district have not sent in orders for them.

"If farmers want them, they should send in their orders, and the sooner they get their orders in, the better chance they'll have of getting a DP," Mr. Mellis said.

Some recent DP arrivals who are married men have got the mistaken idea that they can send for their wives at once. This is not the case, said Mr. Mellis; a married DP can only bring out his family when he has obtained suitable employment, can maintain a family, and can provide them with a recent place to live.

When this is achieved, the DP can send an application to the department of mines and resources requesting that his family be sent out. Tie-ups in shipping and other forms of transportation have made it difficult to bring the DP's themselves over, and it is impossible for a DP's family to cross until at least five months after his arrival.

Liberal Leader Godbout Loses

QUEBEC, July 29. (CP)—Liberal leader Adelard Godbout, who suffered personal defeat in L'Islet riding, said Wednesday night he "accepted" the decision of the Quebec electorate which re-elected the Union Nationale government of Premier Duplessis with an increased majority.

"I must accept their decision and thank the electors who voted honestly and who personally chose their own roads for the future," he said in a statement. "I trust they will broaden and always will lead toward social justice and the greatness of my country."

Mr. Godbout said he hoped the people of Quebec still wanted the social security measures contained in the Liberal program. Such a program should "inspire" the government for the good of the province.

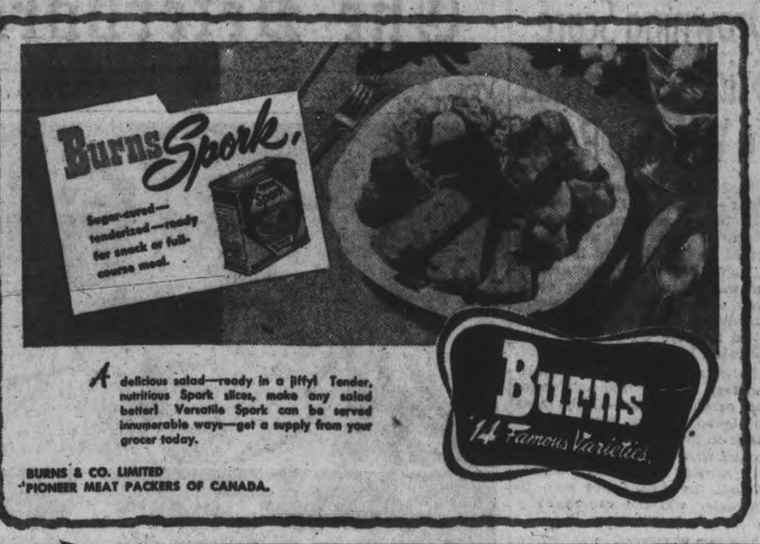
"I have given several years of my life for national unity and the understanding of problems which the nation has faced," he added. "For these ideals I am ready to give the rest of my days either in public life or otherwise."

BENEATH THE GLARE of a giant fiery cross, near Stone Mountain, Atlanta, Ga., the Ku Klux Klan holds its first public initiation ceremony in two years. Here many of the leaders gather near a cross and conduct the initiation ceremonies. Among them was Dr. Samuel Green, Grand Dragon of the Georgia Klan. More than 1,000 new members were given the "oath of allegiance." Spokesmen particularly emphasized the battle against proposed civil rights programs.

Premier Lauds Quebec Support

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 29—(CP)—Premier Duplessis Wednesday night told a cheering crowd cramming the streets of working-class Ste. Marguerite parish that his Union Nationale party's sweeping election victory was a triumph for the people of the province.

"It is the victory of those wishing Quebec to remain mistress of her destiny," said the 58-year-old Union Nationale leader who travelled the streets in an open car behind a mile-long victory parade.



The premier, given a thumping majority over his Liberal and Union of Electors opponents in Three Rivers division, told his listeners he was "particularly proud" of his home-town support.

"Three Rivers placed itself in the front rank in the claim for popular rights and in the triumph of the people over those who wanted to deprive them of their religious and national prerogatives," Premier Duplessis said.

"The province of Quebec," said the premier, "pronounced itself categorically, as shown by the brilliant victory of the Union Nationale across the province, against centralization and abandonment of its prerogatives . . ."

Border Racket

TORONTO, July 29. (CP)—Police said Wednesday they had arrested a 44-year-old man who accepted $400 from two displaced persons with the promise "to help them over the border" to the United States. Police say he received $300 from one man and $100 from another.

Decide Live Talent Used In Cocktail Bars

TORONTO, July 29 — (CP) — An Ontario Liquor License Board decision Wednesday will permit "live talent" in dining lounges and some cocktail lounges.

The Board announced the decision had been reached after several conferences between the Board and lawyers of the Musicians' Union. An earlier decision banned "live talent" in lounges.

Where seating capacity in either a dining lounge or a lounge is less than 100 persons, the Board has decided to allow only a piano, but where seating capacity is more than 100 a trio of musicians will be allowed.

The Board emphasized that no singing, juggling acts or ventriloquism will be permitted in either lounges or dining lounges.

Mr. King Follows Laurier's Ideas In Long Career, Duplicates Dates

By DON BROWN

OTTAWA. — When delegates arrive here next week to attend the Liberal convention, they will find it a convention steeped in tradition—tradition dating back from the 1919 party gathering which vaulted Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King to the throne-room of Canadian Liberalism.

Most of the sentimental connection with the previous Liberal rally lies with Mr. King, who has been an ardent adherent to tradition throughout his impressive, record-breaking span as prime minister.

The locale for next week's convention will be the Coliseum at Lansdowne Park, in Ottawa South. In 1919 the convention was held in Howick Hall, which burned down in the early 1920's. The Coliseum stands on exactly the same site, and the platform in the Coliseum is in exactly the same spot.

So, when Mr. King mounts the platform to announce his retirement as Liberal leader, he will be standing on the site of his nomination 29 years ago. That is one part of the tradition.

The coming convention is scheduled for August 5, 6, and 7, with Mr. King handing over the reins on August 7. The 1919 convention was held on August 5, 6 and 7 and on the last day the now-retiring party leader was given a clear majority on the fifth ballot.

Duplicates Laurier's Blueprint

By calling for these duplicate dates and situations Mr. King is copying his patron saint of Liberalism, the late and great Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whom Mr. King succeeded as leader following the 1919 convention. Actually, the Liberal Party of that day was without an elected leader from February, 1919, when Sir Wilfrid died, until the conclusion of the August gathering.

Throughout his political career Prime Minister King has patterned his public life from the mould of Laurier. A stickler for traditional things, he is following that blueprint right down to the last letter.

There also may be a parallel in the balloting at the two nominations.

Five Names in 1919

When Mr. King allowed his name to stand on the first ballot at the earlier convention he was opposed by four other staunch Liberals—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Senator George P. Graham, D. D. Mackenzie, then Liberal House leader in the Commons, and Alexander Smith.

The prospects here are that approximately five names will be seen on the first ballot next week. Those mentioned are Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, secretary of state for external affairs; Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture; Hon. Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare; Hon. Stuart Garson, premier of Manitoba; and Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, premier of Nova Scotia.

For comparative information next week it might be interesting to remember that in the 1919 voting Mr. Smith retired before the first ballot voting although his name stood right up to voting time. Senator Graham and Mr. Mackenzie withdrew after the second ballot.

Much confusion arose on the third ballot when delegates repeatedly invalidated their votes by marking their numbered ballot papers before the chair announced that the voting would properly commence. As a result, ballots No. 3 and 4 were destroyed and ballot No. 5 brought Mr. King a clear majority.

If a Liberal premier is elected in the Quebec provincial election this Wednesday, and Mr. Macdonald, the Nova Scotia premier, does not run for the leadership, another parallel might be seen In 1919, Sir Lomer Gouin, premier of Quebec, and Hon. G. H. Murray, premier of Nova Scotia, were elected joint convention chairmen. It could happen again.

St. Laurent's Power

There is more significance to the coming provincial election in Quebec — they vote there this Wednesday—than meets the eye at first glance. Primarily it is a fight between the Duplessis government and the Liberals.

Behind the scenes, however, the pre-election batile is on a federal plane with the popularity and strength of Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, secretary of state for external affairs, one of the issues in the balance.

Mr. St. Laurent, who is expected to allow his name to stand in the leadership fight at the coming Liberal convention, has been campaigning enthusiastically for the Liberal candidates in the Quebec provincial election. He has been stumping the province in the support of the Grit candidates and, simultaneously, encountering severe criticism from the Duplessis forces.

Should the Liberals suffer a resounding setback at the polls Wednesday the results may injure Mr. St. Laurent's stature in the federal leadership race.

The federal minister has teamed himself with the provincial candidates and party, and the results of the Wednesday voting could be regarded as an approval or denounciation of the minister.

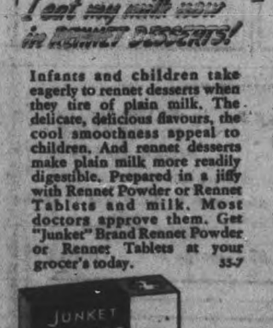
J. E. Gregoire Charges Election "Robbery"

MONTREAL, July 29.—(CP).—J. Ernest Gregoire, chief of the Union of Electors which failed to elect one candidate in its first Quebec election bid, said Wednesday night the Union Nationale victory was "a pure and simple robbery" of elections.

The former Quebec may himself suffered defeat when he lost out to Dr. Marc Trudel, a ministre without portfolio, in St. Maurice riding.

"Once more the voice of millions (of dollars) wins over the voice of the electorate," he said in a statement. "The Union Nationale knows what I mean. The more there are millions used for corruption the less the results represent the true popular sentiment.

"We reserve the right to comment later on the facts and gestures which constitute a pure and simple robbery of elections. In the measure there is electoral robbery, in the same measure there is usurpation of power and not legitimate power."



Compulsory Training

VANCOUVER, July 29. (CP)—A one-year compulsory military draft for Canadian men between 18 and 21 will be urged on the National Liberal Party convention at Ottawa next month by the British Columbia delegation, it was learned Wednesday night. Arthur Laing, provincial president of BC Liberals, said the resolution is aimed at introducing peacetime conscription into Canada in the same form as the recently-adopted United States' draft law.

NEW WASHING DISCOVERY WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION

washes everything

FASTER, CLEANER, EASIER

than any soap on earth!

FAB's Super-Wetting Action means that when you wash with FAB, the FAB-and-water solution instantly penetrates materials . . . soaks them more thoroughly. FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—gets inside materials; pushes dirt out!

FAB means faster, cleaner, easier washing of dirtiest overalls, towels, work and play clothes . . . FAB brings extra-dirt-removing power for extra-dirty wash! FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—does away with clinging soap scum! Brings you whiter shirts, towels, and sheets!

Don't miss *FAB*ulous FAB . . . the only thing you'll need for everything you wash!

WHAT IS SUPER-WETTING ACTION?

See for yourself! Take a length of cotton sewing thread. Roll it into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats; does not become completely wet for a long time.

Now drop another little ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks, becomes completely soaked at once. This simple test shows you how FAB makes water wetter . . . instantly penetrates all washable materials faster . . . pushes dirt out! That's FAB's FABulous Super-Wetting Action . . . something no soap on earth can give you!

FAB WASHES DIRTIEST CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP

FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls faster than soap! Makes tough dirt like the "line" on shirt collars disappear like magic! FAB leaves no soap scum to "gray" or "yellow" white wash . . . Wash is whiter, cleaner when washed with FAB!

FAB BRIGHTENS SOAP-DULLED COLORS!

Soap-dulled washables look *FAB*ulously brighter, fresher, and newer after being washed with FAB. That's because anything you've washed with soap is made duller and grayer looking by soap scum . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—removes that soap scum . . . leaves no film or scum of its own even in hardest water.

FAB WASHES CHEAPER . . . IN HARDEST WATER

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. This economy is another *FAB*ulous miracle. Yes . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—is up to twice as economical as soap in hard water. You'll notice that all of FAB washes . . . Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

Faster And Better for all family wash and Dishes

Say One-Third Of Candidates Lose Deposits

QUEBEC, July 29. (CP)—More than one-third of the candidates who contested Wednesday's provincial election lost their deposits in the landslide which swept Premner Duplessis back into power with 82 of the 92 seats in Quebec.

On the basis of incomplete overnight figures, approximately 133 of the 310 candidates were out the $200 with which they backed their hope of polling more than half of the winner's vote. In the 1944 Quebec election, 149 candidates lost their deposits.

This time, the union of electors, which contested every riding, was hardest hit with 79 losing out, including the party leader, J. Ernest Gregoire.

The CCF also fared badly with the small group of seven candidates all losing their deposits.

On the other hand, only four of the 91 official Union Nationale candidates were out their deposit money and 18 out of 92 Liberals were losers.

Six independent U.N. candidates—some of them running in constituencies won by the official party—lost out. Seven independent Liberals lost and eight straight independents. Four others, including Gui Caron, provincial leader and only candidate of the Labor Progressive Party, lost cut.

PREMIER ANDRE MARIE of France (centre, before microphones), a radical Socialist, announced to reporters in Paris, July 26, the composition of the cabinet he presented to President Vincent Auriol. The new cabinet, like its predecessor, contains no Communists and is made up of members of parties who favor the cause of the western allies.

Although there were a number of ridings in which no figures were given, it looked as if the provincial treasury would be richer by about $27,000 in lost deposits.

New Air Service Expanding Across Manitoba

YAC DU BONNET, Man., July 29.—(CP).—Delivering diapers or fighting forest fires, it's all in a day's work for the 27 employees of Manitoba's expanding provincial air service.

"Whatever the emergency we are ready for it," said director Jim Uhlman yesterday during a press tour of the service's main base at this Manitoba town 70 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

The Manitoba organization was described by Mr. Uhlman as a far-flung aerial chain serving eastern and northern Manitoba, its eight aircraft combing with a radio communications system to bring distant outposts within easy raech of major centres.

Its activities, gauged in terms of flight, has included 50,000 air miles within the 25-day period statring July 1, Mr. Uhlman said. In addition, an auxiliary wireless communications system has relayed hundreds of messages, some seeking advice in the handling of sickness, others announcing births, plans for fire prevention work or containing instructions to distant personnel.

Main function of the air service, Mr. McDiarmid said, is the supplying of transportation for the supervision, administration and conservation of the natural resources of the province. In this connection aircraft have been active during the last month ferrying supplies to fire fighters battling bush blazes—now on the ebb.

Other special flights have been made for such diverse purposes as searching for persons lost in the bush, flying serum to isolated fur farms to prevent spread of animal disease, searching for and reporting on safety of boats in the larger lakes after bad storms and checking on flooded areas in springtime.

Joseph Masterson, Archbishop of Birmingham. The rebuke was made public after Mayor H. E. Lane of Wolverhampton, a Roman Catholic, attended Protestant services held in connection with Wolverhampton's civic centenary.

Believe Quebec People Have Cast Record Vote

QUEBEC, July 29 (CP)—Quebec electors probably cast a record vote in Wednesday's general election. With 15 per cent of the polls still to report, the total was only 80,000 short of the record of 1,330,059 set in 1944 when Quebec women voted for the first time.

In its sweeping victory Union Nationale Party increased its percentage of the popular vote from 38.2 to 50.9 while the Liberals dropped from 40 to 36.4. The Union of Electors, with 91 candidates to 11 in 1944, polled 9.1 per cent against 1.2 and the C.C.F., with seven candidates compared to 24 in 1944, dropped from 2.8 to .7.

With more than 1,249,000 votes counted, the party vote percentages were as follows, compared to the last two elections:

Moving Beaver From Victoria

LINDSAY, July 29.—Inspector A. Hodgson reported today on the moving of beavers from Victoria waters to homes further north.

Special traps for the purpose of catching the beaver alive have been shipped to the district. These are set in holes in the dam about four feet under water and at the slighest touch has the beaver encased inside ready for his new home.

The reason for the removal, Mr. Hodgson said, was because of the damage done to trees and to pasture land near the rivers where the beavers work with their building.

The season for the pelts does not come in until November, the only alternative being to move them alive, he continued.

U.S. Experiments With Weather As A Weapon

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP).—The United States is exploring the possibility of using the weather as a military weapon.

Secrecy as deep as that surrounding the atom bomb and germ warfare development cloaks these studies of "meteorological warfare."

However, a recent paper published in London by the international committee for study of European questions mentioned military developments of various powers and had this to say of the United States:

"She . . . has got well ahead with her studies of bacteriological warfare and meteorological warfare: The latter is likely to become the most destructive of all."

What military scientists want is a method of controlling the weather and directing its effect on an enemy. Such control would offer various possibilities, not the least of which would be the ability to create droughts and thus destroy a country's food supply.

In recent months the military has shown keen interest in the laboratory-scale experiments of civilian scientists, notably those of Vincent J. Schafer and Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric Company.

Produce Rain

These men and others have succeeded in producing precipitation from clouds by suddenly chilling them with dry ice. Their experiments, however, have been small and not universally successful.

In these experiments some military scientists see the possibility that clouds drifting toward an enemy's wheatland could be forced to drop their load of moisture before reaching the crop area. Sustained "bombing" of clouds by a mass of planes, in the manner that sustained strategic bombing was conducted during the war, might result in prolonged drought over a selected area, it is suggested.

In an article by Langmuir, appearing in the current proceedings of the American Philosophical Society, mentions the use of silver iodide crystals which have much the same structure as natural ice and which, he notes, provide an excellent nucleus for setting off precipitation in a cloud.

Langmuir estimates that a few pounds of such crystals would be enough to effect air all over a country.

U.S. Steel Prices Rise 16 PC In Month

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP)—Recent steel price increases in the United States have brought the average price 16.2 per cent above a month ago, 32 per cent above a year ago and 63.2 per cent above 1939, the Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

Present sheet, strip and bar steel prices are the highest since the First World War, Iron Age reports. Prices are higher at Buffalo and in some other eastern areas than at Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Cleveland and Chicago.

The Iron Age finished steel composite this week showed an average advance of $10.53 a net town.

This scrap composite advanced $1.83 a gross ton in the week to an all-time high of $43.16. The increase was based by the strong rising market in Chicago for the last three weeks.

Name Pictures Stars Want To Be Forgotten

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 29 (AP). —What movie would you most like to forget?

You and I may have many pictures we consider prime candidates for oblivion, but it is different with film stars. Most of the glitterbugs will own up to a single picture which represented a low point in their careers.

Fred McMurray: "My worst one was 'Maid of Salem.' One critic observed that most of the time I looked as though I was going to take a saxophone out of my cloak."

Lucille Ball:: "'Roman Scandals,' or any of the early pictures in which I was a showgirl."

John Garfield: "My low point was 'Between Two Worlds,' a remake of 'Outward Bound.' It was stupid and mystic and bad."

Harpo Marx: "Our worst were the last two at MGM, 'Go West' and 'The Big Store.'"

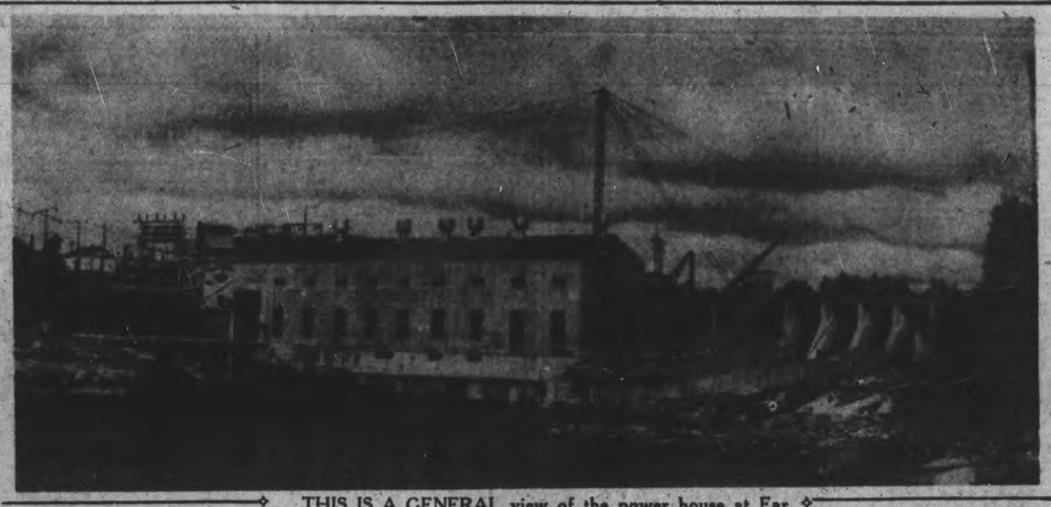
Wouldn't See It

Dan Duryea: "Something called 'Main Street After Dark.' It was so bad even I wouldn't go to see it."

Lloyd Nolan: "A daily called 'Steel Against the Sky.' After that one, Warners did not care if they didn't see me for a long time."

Bette Davis: "'In This Our Life.' (With Olivia DeHavilland.) It was just dull, and dullness is the unforgivable sin in movies."

Ruth Hussey: "'Pierre of the Plains' with John Carroll and Bruce Cabot. Even my relatives in Providence didn't like it, so it must have been bad."



Melvyn Douglas: "My second picture, 'Nagana,' in which I was incredibly heroic."

Charles Laughton:: "A production of 20 years ago called 'Down River.' As an Oriental opium runner I wore hazel nuts in my nose to give it a flat, Oriental look."

Betty Hutton: "I choose 'Cross My Heart' as my worst. It stunk from start to finish."

Nicknames Stick To MP's Careless Talk Boomerangs

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, July 29 — (CP). — "Song-in-the-Heart?" Dalton and "Bootless" Wilson have a new companion in the company of the company of nicknamed notables. He is "Vermin" Bevan.

Other veteran members are "Thinker's Cuss" Shinwell and "Bathless" Gaitskell.

The granting of unappreciated titles to public figures has been a British custom since Parliament began. In the Commons, references to boots, rats, tinkers, songs and baths are all invested with a special meaning every member remembers Dalton, when Chancellor of the Exchequer, spoke of facing Britain's financial future with a song in his heart. Soon afterwards, the economic crisis struck with full force, new austerity was imposed and overseas buying curtailed. The Chancellor's heartsong became a dirge in the alert memories of his political opponents.

Wilson, as President of the Board of Trade, in a moment of oratory spoke of difficult days before labor came to power and cited the tragedy of barefooted school children in his North of England school days, said children, now of man's estate, denied they were ever shoeless, and Wilson, in a published letter, indicated he was sorry about the whole thing.

It Wearies Him

Fuel Minister Gaitskell, appealing for economy in the use of fuel, said he had found he could get along with fewer baths and thus cut down coal consumption. He has since made plain in the Commons that the subject of baths wearies him excessively.

War Minister Shinwell, former Fuel Minister, was quoted saying before a Margate meeting:

"We know the organized workers of the country are our friends .... As for the rest, they don't matter a tinker's cuss."

Prime Minister Attlee later told the Commons Shinwell asked him to explain he did not want to leave the impression he would ignore the views and interests of others in the country. But one night "Tinker's Palace" was painted on the wall before Shinwell's house in letters 18 inches high.

Last to win a "title" was Health Minister Bevan who said in a recent speech, "So far as I am concerned the Tories are lower than vermin."

"The Conservatives now ask him whether he really wants the help of "vermin" in making a success of the national health and other programs in which universal cooperation is desirable.

Kicked To Death

RYCROFT, Alta., July 29. (CP) — Fifty-year-old Sam Harboruk of Rycroft, father of five children, was kicked to death Wednesday when he tried to break up a drunken brawl in front of a beverage room. One of three men believed involved in the slaying is under arrest and RCMP say they expect early capture of the other two.

Fashion Flashes

Highlighting for autumn is the satin blouse, for which, say the shops, customers are already asking. Satin, in black or white, is used for a novel blouse which brings back the high, tuckstitched collarband. Below the collarband is a frilly jabot of Alencon-type lace centred with tiny satin-covered buttons. The buttoned and tucked cuffs have lace edging.

✧ ✧ ✧

Handsome silk suits will appear at important late summer and early fall events. Black satin is used for a slim cocktail suit which has novel trimming. Greek key motifs with impregnated 24-karat gold mark the narrow turnback collar, the edge of the long-torso jacket and the slim skirt hem.

✧ ✧ ✧

Advocates of that old favorite, the beret, will find their pet hat available in many smart versions for early fall. As with so many other hats, the beret is going in for a forward-jutting line in front, with a close back to allow for big, upstanding coat collars.

✧ ✧ ✧

A good notation is that of the glove maker who has put out a lambskin shortie with patented buttonhole and button. When the button is removed, there are two buttonholes through which to slip a ribbon that hold a tiny flower posy, a pretty dress-up idea.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fall trends in the fashion world are toward a more natural look in shoulders—the square ones are out; suits with straight skirts will predominate, some skirts with narrow front and fullness at the back. Loose coats, with or without belts, will be shown; also fitted coats with very tight fitted waistlines. Suit shades will be popular in the following order: black, brown, green, wine and grey.

✧ ✧ ✧

Receiving favor is the bag and shoe matchmates, a style that has been somewhat in clipse the past few seasons. Lizard in delicate pastel shades and tones such as violet or yellow gold, is used for some handsome shoe and bag ensembles. Nice for midseason wear.

✧ ✧ ✧

Petticoats are slipping—and by autumn will be almost out of the picture, perhaps because they were overdone, the experts don't say, or maybe because the autumn and winter styles are featuring the slimmer silhouette.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sensible fashion includes the boxy topper detailed with a matching skirt to make a suit when required. Black faille is used for such a suit, the boxy jacket, 17 inches long, trimmed with a velvet tuxedo and deep turn-back cuffs of the velvet. The slim skirt is slit in front.

✧ ✧ ✧

Coming back to its former popularity is the sweater, the plain old, good old sweater, the real thing, without trimming or even a smidgin of gilt or fancy stitching. Sports wear is simpler too, and the emphasis will be on plain suits of tweed or corduroy or suede, all co-ordinated with the plain sweater. So, page the sweater girl once more!

Ray-Williamson Nuptials At Manitoulin Is.

A lovely wedding took place in the United Church at Little Current, Manitoulin Island, Tuesday afternoon, when Doris Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson, became the bride of Frederick Eugene, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ray Sr., Bridgenorth. The Rev. G. W. Barkwell performed the marriage rites.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of pale blue crepe fashioned on long torso lines with fish tail back and delicate hand-made lace edged the neck and sleeves. Her hat was of pale pink mohair in crownless style with shoulder length veiling embroidered with miniature bouquets of forget-me-nots attached. She carried a bouquet of red roses with baby's breath. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Mildred Williamson. The groomsman was Mr. Robert Williamson, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home where many telegrams from relatives and friends in Peterborough were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray will live at 376 Water St., Peterborough.

Dinner Party Held By Lady Pioneers

The Peterborough Lady Pioneers of the Bell Telephone Company on Tuesday evening took advantage of the holiday season for a dinner party and conference with Mrs. F. M. Hodges of St. Catharines, vice chairman of the Champlain Council who is at present holidaying at Rice Lake. The meeting was at the White House, Gore's Landing, where a chicken dinner was served in the quaint basement dining room of the lovely old hotel on the hill, built over a century ago for convenience of pioneer settlers.

Peterborough Pioneers attending were Mrs. Stella McCallum, Miss Florence Cooper, Miss Kathleen Martyn and Miss Anne Deyell. Also Mrs. H. Richardson, life member, and Miss Maxine Snowden, a guest.

Mrs. Stella McCallum, newly elected lady representative, presided at the dinner and conference. Many subjects of interest were discussed regarding the social and welfare activities of the Council. The advantage of a hobby for every member is recommended, and Mrs. Hodges gave an informal talk of the experience she is enjoying in her hobby—aviation. She tops off a busy week's work with a few flying hours, full of thrills.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Usurps Prerogatives Husband Grows Indifferent

One of the chief gripes of women is that their husbands take so little interest in their homes. Wherever a group of women are gathered together for a talkfast to discuss the shortcomings of husbands, you can hear the bitter wail of wives over being married to me who won't dry the dinner dishes, or walk the baby, or mow the grass, or paint the porch, or hang, pictures, unless they are badgered into doing it.

Dorothy Dix

Yes the explanation is simple enough. The average man is domestic-minded. He too, marries to get a home. From the time he is a hobbledehoy school boy he dreams of the kind of a house he is going to build; how he is going to furnish it; the food he is going to cook, and of the old friends he is going to have stay with him.

But the dream is seldom realized. practically all women are monopolists who believe that their homes belong exclusively to them. It is the bride, or the bride's mother, who decides on the house and the furniture, and it is rare that a husband has any say-so about building or adorning his home. Maybe men would take more interest in their homes if they could make a few suggestions about them.

Then consider how little men get out of the homes they pay so much for. Three hooks in a closet and a couple of drawers in a chiffonier are about all a husband rates, and if there are girls in the family Papa doesn't even get that much.

Share Personal Belongings

I once heard a man say that the ungratified desire of his life was to have a comb and brush that belonged exclusively to him and that didn't have women's hair in it. But he never got it, poor soul. And even when his wife was buying him his Christmas present with his own money, she never picked anything out for his personal benefit. It was always something that she and the girls could use.

Another reason why men are not more enthusiastic over their homes is because they have so little, if any, authority in them. The first move that almost every young wife makes is to separate her husband from his old friends and acquaintances. Cold shoulder is the standard dish she serves to her husband's old chums when they come to dinner. And one helping is enough If you will notice when Mrs. Jones entertains, the guests are nearly always her friends, rarely her husband's.

And it is only members of the wife's family who have the run of the house and who are welcome to pay interminable visits After he has tried it once and seen the result, the bravest man hesitates to show even his own mother any attention.

All of which may go to show why so many married men take so little interest in their homes. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

QUESTION: I thought I might make some pickled beets — our vegetables are coming along faster than I can use them up on the table. Is there a cabbage pickle? Please print a recipe for pickling little beets? Lorna.

Pickled Beets

Select beets of uniform size, preferably no larger than 1½ inches in diameter. Cut off tops to within 1 inch of beet root itself. Wash and cook until tender in enough water to cover,—about ½ hour for young new beets. When tender, plunge in cold water, slip off skins. If desired they may be sliced, but look nicer if left whole. Pack into sterile jars, and to each pint jar add ½ teaspoon salt. Cover with solution of 4 cups vinegar, 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water brought to boiling. Cover with sterile rubbers, tops and rings. Process 40 minutes in hot water bath, having water come to within 2 inches of tops of jars. When they can be handled tighten seal and invert jars.

Chow-chow calls for cabbage:

Chow-Chow

One gallon (4 quarts) finely chopped cabbage, 1 dozen chopped or ground medium sized onions, ½ dozen chopped green peppers; ½ dozen chopped sweet red peppers, 2 quarts chopped green tomatoes, 1 gallon vinegar, 2 lbs. sugar, ½ cup ground mustard, 6 tablespoons white mustard seeds, 3 tablespoons celery seed, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, salt for brining. Put the prepared cabbage, onions, green peppers, red sweet peppers, green tomatoes in alternate layers in an enamel or poreclain container. Sprinkle each layer with salt (using at least 1 cup) and top with complete covering of salt. Let stand 12 hours or overnight. Drain. Put vinegar, sugar, mustard, mustard seeds, and celery seeds in an enamel kettle. Tie the cloves in a little cheesecloth bag, and add to vinegar mixture. Bring to boiling point. Add mixture of drained vegetables and simmer slowly until all are tender—which requires about ½ hour to 40 minutes. Remove cloves. Pack into hot sterile pint jars and seal at once.

QUESTION: I keep hunting for a recipe for Baked Beans and never see it in your column. Don't you think your readers would find this interesting? I know I would. Nanny.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you have something here.

Baked Beans

Soak 2 cups dried white beans (or mixture of white and brown beans) in cold water to cover for 12 hours. Drain. Cover with salted boiling water. Simmer slowly 1½ hours. Drain. Put in greased baking dish or bean pot with 1 cup cubed salt pork (OR ½ cup cubed smoked bacon and 2 tablespoons butter) mixed through them. Mix together ¼ cup molasses, ¼ teaspoon mustard, ⅛ teaspoon black pepper; stir this in. (If desired one medium onion may be buried in centre of beans and removed after baking period.) Add 2 cups hot water. Cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until beans are soft and "deep brown" throughout. This requires at least 8 hours. Uncover for the last 30 minutes. If you have a large family it is wise to double this recipe, as they are good reheated for a second meal or even cold.. Some folks think baked beans are not good without tomato in some form—if you like tomato in them substitute 1 cup tomatoes for 1 cup of the water added just before final baking.

A FUR STOLE FOR ANY SEASON—Seven rows of handsome silver blue mink pelts made this luxurious stole, one to get you up elegently for summer night breezes and air-cooled dinner rooms, or to top your cool weather cloth coats for day or night doings. This strange and moonlit shade of mink, a natural color, not dyed, is wonderful with a tanned complexion, and is one gray fur which enhances rather than fades or discolors smartly coiffed gray hair, in combination. In this stole style it is a particularly good resort fur, north or south, too.

Say Woman Mayor May Try To Gain Seat in Parliament

BY REUBIN CIPIN
Canadian Press Staff Writers

Kentville, N.S. July 29 (CP)—The possibility that Mrs Muriel Gladys Porter, M. B. E. mayor of Kentville, may become Nova Scotia's first woman parliamentarian is being widely discussed in the Maritimes these days.

Well-groomed and attractive, Mrs. Porter at 55 is being mooted as a possible Liberal candidate for the King-Annapolis-Digby seat which will be left vacant if Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former justice minister, resigns.

Mr. Ilsley has resigned his cabinet seat to entire private law practice in Montreal. And there have been recurring rumors he will also relinquish his parliamentary seat.

If the woman mayor doesn't take the federal Liberal convention, it is reported she may try for one of the two openings in the newlycreated twin riding of Kings-Annapolis in the next Nova Scotia general election.

Mrs. Porter was re-elected mayor for the second time last February. Always active in community life, she served four years as town councillor before her election as mayor in February 1946. Although municipal politics have always been traditionally a man's world no one in Kentville has regretted the changes.

Wife of Kentville newspaper man Wyman Porter, she explains that her interest in municipal politics comes from her family. Her father, the late Wallace A. Richardson, became the first mayor of Sydney N.S. and was re-elected six times. Her mother was widely known as a community service worker and her uncle was an M. L. A. in the Nova Scotia House.

Kentville residents frequently boast of their mayor's cooking or dressmaking ability. Mayor Porter loves to cook and was chief cooking instructor at evening technical classes here. She does a lot of dressmaking with a typical feminine pride in her work.

When she attained office, Mrs. Porter expected no concession other than the usual courtesy shown a woman. Although she is the only woman on the council she has firm control of all meetings

Mayor Porter's administration has attempted to be constructive to meet the expanding needs of the town. Considerable housing and public service improvements have been caried on, but her proudest project has been the new $60,000 fire station.

She also had a town planning program in mind, including the building of a new town hall, but it had to be shelved when expansion ate up all available funds.

Besides being mayor, she is permanent secretary-treasurer of the Maritime Hospital Association member of the local hospital board and an active member of several other public service organizations. However, she still has time too keep house for her husband and 27-year-old daughter Phyllis, as well as engage in hobbies. She was married in 1915.

The silvery-haired mayor finds it easy to work with men, but at times she admits sadly that it would be an advantage to be a man at firemen's and service clubs' parades.

Minimum of Preparation Can Give You Results

By MARY MOORE

When I boasted to my Friend, Garny, when she was here, that I was saving to buy an electric ironer—she said, "Oh, don't do that, Em—mine just stands in the laundry room, never used." I said, "For goodness' sake, why?" "Oh, we send the laundry out!"

I am wondering if some of you have bought expensive pieces of cooking equipment—such as the large pressure cooker I have—and do not use them to capacity.

Quite a few of our readers have asked me to tell them how to get the most out of their Dutch ovens—and while I have been a long time coming to the point, that is my main idea today—a Dutch oven dinner.

Dutch Oven Dinner

(This may be baked if desired.)

This calls for 1½ lbs. spareribs, 1 20-oz. tin sauerkraut, and 5 medium sized potatoes (to serve 5 husky eaters); also ingredients for a sauce: 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ cup each chopped onion and celery, 1 clove garlic, ½ cup each water and catsup, 1 tablespoon each vinegar and lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and brown sugar, ½ teaspoon each salt and dry mustard, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the butter, add the onion and celery, cook until transparents, then add all remaining sauce ingredients; simmer 20 minutes. Sear the spareribs, which have been cut into portions for serving, in a little fat in Dutch oven, then add sauerkraut and sauce. Cover and cook until spareribs are tender. Turn over ribs, and add potatoes after first 40 minutes—then cook until potatoes are tender. Place ribs on hot platter, surround with border of sauerkraut which is steeped in the sauce, placing potatoes at ends of platter. Pour some of the sauce over ribs too.

Spanish Bun—1948 Style

(This is a cake our mother taught us how to make "when we were very young" because it could be frosted before baking—and the process was so simple.)

One-half cup good quality shortening or half butter and half lard, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 egg yolk, 1 1-3 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ cup sour or buttermilk. Cream shortening very well, and add sugar and beat again well. Add egg and egg yolk, beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients, alternately with the sour milk, beating after each addition. Pour into greased and paper-lined 8-inch square cake pan. Spread with this icing: Beat the leftover egg white stiffly, gradually beating into it ½ cup brown sugar, until stiff. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. If desired 5 minutes before cake is baked, it may be sprinkled with 1-3 cup finely chopped walnuts or almonds. (Sometimes called toasted almond spice cake.)

Speedy Muffins

Put in mixing bowl 3 tablespoons SOFT shortening, 2-3 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, ¼ cup milk, ⅞ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, mace, salt, ½ cup chopped dates, stoned. Beat this all together vigorously for 4 minutes. Turn into buttered and floured muffin tins and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 35 to 40 minutes. Frost if desired with

Fast Frosting

Sift 1 cup icing sugar into bowl. Add 2 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and 1 tablespoon soft butter. Beat with strong rotary or electric beater until mixed. Spread on cupcakes when they are cool.

The above Speedy muffins when baked in fluted paper cups and frosted when cool, are very convenient for taking in the car for a car lunch, or for a picnic.

LARGEST GAME BIRD

The turkey is the largest of the game birds.

BLIND GENIUS

Johan Sebastian Bach lost his eyesight three years before his death, but continued to write music and dictate his compositions.

COLORED RAIN

Blood-rain— or rain the color of blood—has fallen in Italy. The red color is caused by red dust from the North African deserts.

NOW BLOOMING IN THE DESERT—The pretty girl is Dorothy Malone and you see here here on the desert, dressed attractively and authentically enough in the great southwest tradition. And don't believe that the well-dressed tenderfoot in the desert fails to don local color clothes. She sure does, from blue jeans by day to Spanish skirts and blouses by night, with such dude pants and shirts as Dorothy's for in-between times. Fiesta and fashion ars synonymous for visiting dudes. The costume above combines a frontier shirt of rough white crepe with beige gabardine pants. Gilt nailheads stud shirt yoke and leather belt; boots are inlaid with beige.

For Friday, July 30

It is probable that very stubborn or crystallized situations, with limitations, frustrations and restrictions causing a perplexing and dubious state of affairs, may be conquered by steadfast and diligent adherence to sound routines. Such obstructions or stagnations may be definitely set aside by good work, born of ingenuity, brilliant ideas, faithfully put into execution and winning rewards.

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a period of industry, well-studied preparation, concerted attack of difficulties, delays, obstacles and congestions. The mentality may be adaptable and astute enough to tackle new techniques, ways and means of removing impediments, possibly with practical application of shrewd and novel ideas flashing into a forlon impasse. Keen vision, quick action and a flexible state of mind, may overcome and swerve matters to a place of free manipulation.

A child born on this day may be versatile, adaptable and shrewd.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

KILL HIS ENTRY FIRST

THAT BRIEF period of study during which you build your plan is more important than all the rest of the time spent on play for a contract. If your plan is right, you will regain the lost time by speed the rest of the way. Furthermore, you will profit by writing numbers on the "We" side of the score instead of the "They" side. It is during that first survey that you notice the events you should seek to cause and—often just as vital—the order in which they should be approached. Right then is the only time you can spot such facts as the necessity of knocking out a particular defender's side entry before you do anything else.

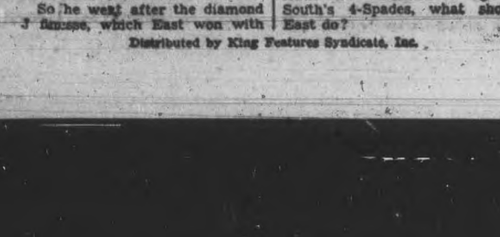
Mr. Lazyman did a quick job of trick counting upon winning the heart Q lead with the K. He saw that, if the diamond finesse would work, he could score five tricks in that suit. By taking four more with the A-K's of hearts and clubs, he would have his contract safely home without ever having to bother with the spade suit. Nine tricks only were involved in his game contract, and who cares about extra tricks at rubber bridge anyway?



So he went after the diamond J finesse, which East won with the K. The heart 9 was returned, removing South's last stopper in that suit. Now South took a second look at his assets. Seeing only eight tricks in sight before he would lose to the spade A, he realized he was sunk. When West eventually scored the spade A, he followed it with three heart tricks to set the contract.

"Tough luck!" he moaned as he contemplated the fact that loss of a simple little finesse was all that prevented him and his partner from having a nice two-game rubber in the bag.

But it was not tough luck at all. It was bad bridge. Knowing that the heart suit was the only real menace to his contract, he should have disarmed it by removing the only possible re-entry from West's hand. The most cursory reflection should have shown that this dangerous card could be only the spade A. If South, before doing anything else, had led the spade J, prepared to send it through if not covered, he would have made his contract absolutely safe as it developed. By that play he also would have built up extra tricks for himself, as he would then have lost nothing except one trick in spades and one in diamonds.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West, who had bid hearts, leads the diamond 9 against South's 4-Spades, what should East do?

Asks Congress To Roll Back Prices In U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 29. — (AP).—President Truman asked today that the United States Congress give him power to roll back prices on essential cost-of-living items to the level of prices in November 1947 or the nearest "appropriate period."

Truman sent Paul Porter, former administrator of the office of price administration, to the capitol with details of what he wants.

The President had asked generally for anti-inflation powers in his message to the special session of Congress.

Porter went before the House banking committee with the President's proposals, prepared in the form of a bill.

The bill proposes also limited powers between now and June 30, 1950, covering:

1. Authority to ration a few products in short supply.
2. Some authority over wages in the manufacture of items put under price control.
3. Restoration of war time controls over consumer credit, such as restraints on instalment buying.
4. Direct authority to regulate speculation on commodity exchanges.
5. Authority to regulate bank credit.
6. Strengthening of rent control with the administration to bring de-controlled housing units back under rent ceilings if it deems it necessary.
7. Inventory control of scarce commodities which basically effect the essential industrial production, or the cost of living, and the right to ration them to industries.

Douro Man Faces Serious Charge

Herbert Bernard Condon, Douro, was balled for trial by a higher court on a charge of attempted gross indecency with a 12-year-old boy. Preliminary hearing was held before Magistrate E. A. Gee in court today. Defence counsel W. J. A. Fair elected trial by a higher court. Bail was set at $1,000.

Another charge, of an act of gross indecency with another boy, was dismissed when acting crown attorney John Bradshaw called no further witnesses except the boy himself. The boy, partially crippled, was unable to answer questions satisfactorily or give an account of the alleged offence.

The 12-year-old boy complainant on the attempt charge described in the closed court case the alleged attempt, in the woods near his Douro home.

League Splits Over Protest On Confederaion

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 29 — (CP)—The Responsible Government League has split down the middle on the question of protesting Newfoundland's entry into Confederation on the "bare" majority of 6,500 votes, the Canadian Press learned authoritatively today.

Informed circles said the split began over the League's protest to top British and Canadian parliamentarians Monday. The protest said entry into Confederation should be made only through an elected government and not on the strength of last Thursday's referendum.

There was to be a follow-up to this protest which would state that Newfoundland could not go into Confederation via the referendum grounds.

The subsequent protest was to have leaned heavily on certain sections of the British North American Act and on the letters patent which put the commission government into power in 1933.

Main Cause of Split

The section of the letters patent the League would have referred to was that which said that responsible government would be returned to Newfoundland when the country again was self-supporting and if the people asked for it.

The last was one of the main causes of the split.

One group was reported adhering to the section that said responsible government would be restored while the other faction pointed out that the people had turned it down, alhough by a slim majority.

Several informed sources said the leader of the group wanting to accept Confederation was J. S. Currie, publisher of the Daily News, which supported responsible government throughout the campaign.

Leader of the other faction was said to be Peter Cashin, staunch antit-Confederate.

BLONDE JUNE BYERS and dark-haired Rose Evans, two buxom females from south of the border, put on 55 minute exciting wrestling in the rink at Verdun, near Montreal, and gave the audience their money's worth. Hair-pulling and eye-gouging were some of the tactics used by the girls in their wrestling. Here Rose winds up and second later June was flat on her back. City aldermen said they would immediately take steps to prevent another performance of female wrestling.

100 Volunteers To Test Value Of Food Tablets

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 29—(CP)—A brown tablet that costs threepence (five cents) and looks like a checker button will provide food and drink for 100 men in one of science's strangest endurance tests.

For five days and nights, starting July 30, the men will live under medical supervision in a 30-room castle near London. Their only nourishment will be six tablets daily in assorted flavors—orange, lemon, peppermint and caramel.

Volunteers from Britain's medical colleges, the men will play cricket, attend lectures and watch medical films. Their mental and physical reactions will be checked daily by a panel of leading doctors, surgeons and pathologists cooperating in the experiment under auspices of a joint medical board.

The doctors will live in another part of the castle, so remote that the appetizing aroma of their food won't upset the "guinea pigs."

Twelve to 15 per cent of the students, their names chosen by ballot, will try to fast entirely. Their condition will serve as a yardstick to judge the food value of the one-third-ounce tablets.

Hungarian-Born Chemist

Details of the experiment were outlined to The Canadian Press by Dr. Hellmuth Edhardt Heitz, 43-year-old research chemist who developed the wartime "Etagone" concentrates used by commandos, merchant seamen and ambulance units.

The new tablets are 33 per cent more cencentrated and Dr. Heitz says they "have everything." They are designed to preevnt thirst by halping the body make best use of its own water reserves.

"Preliminary tests indicate 100 per cent success," said Dr. Heitz at an interview in his Park Lane office. "But only a controlled scientific experiment will provide the final answer."

Hungarian-born Dr. Heitz got the idea for food concentrates while hunting in South America. Pemmican, traditonal meat-food of North American Indians, aided research. Ingredients are a problem, but he will visit Canada and the United States in October "to see about that."

The "got-exerything" tablet isn't intended as a cure-all for possible world food shortages. But, says Dr. Heitz, they might be useful now as an emergency measure in Berlin — or along the Yellow River in China, where for centuries 160,000,000 Chinese have lived in semi-starvation.

SPORT OF KINGS

Tennis was played by the kings and aristocracy of France and England before the 14th century.

THE SET OF THE JAW, angle of the cigar and firmness of stride all suggest that the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill in the above picture is on his way to do political battle. Instead however, he is merely on his way to attend the Kent Agricultural show, with enthusiastic crowds standing behind a barrier at Maidstone, Kent, to give him a cheer.

Holding Indian 21 For 'Questioning'

BLIND RIVER, July 28 (CP)—A 21-year-old Ojibway Indian is being held for questioning in connection with the murder of 21-year-old Mrs. Leonard Rivers.

The almost nude body of the part-Ojibway girl was found in a riverfront hotel room here last Friday. Her face had been battered and a belt was drawn tightly about her neck.

A post-mortem examination indicated she had been strangled.

Provincial Police picked up the 21-year-old Indian Tuesday after a five-day hunt. No charges have been laid.

Police said to-day they had learned the Indian and his brother arrived here Thursday after fighting forest fires. He was assigned the hotel room in which Mrs. Rivers was killed.

Police arrested three local men a few hours after the body was found and later questioned Mrs. Rivers' husband, but all four were released.

Kenneth Stewart Speaks At LOBA Dinner

LAKEFIELD, July 29—(ENS)—Over 100 members and friends of the Northern Light, LOBA, attended the twentieth anniversary dinner held in the basement of the United Church.

Guest speaker was Brother Kenneth Stewart, pastor of Wesley United Church, who gave a most inspiring address.

Worthy Mistress Sister Phoebe Nicholls presided and welcomed the guests. Charter Worthy Mistress Ruby Nicholls gave a most interesting review of the progress made by the lodge since it received its charter twenty years ago.

Mrs. Guy Peel sang a group of three songs. Brother E. Payne sang three humorous Irish songs. The toast to the King was proposed by Sister Mildred Nicholls.

Sister Alice Higgins moved a vote of thanks to the WA of Lakefield United Church who served the dinner, and all those who had helped make the banquet a success. The benediction was given by Bro. Kenneth Stewart.

Among noted guests were: Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Deputy Mistress Sister Freda Pilling of Peterborough, Bro. E. Payne (county master of Peterborough West), Bro. Roland Darliing (grand lecturer of Ontario).

Find Welch, Stolen Car In Toronto

Uses Clothesline To Swing Over Elgin Jail Walls

TORONTO, July 30.—(CP).—A crossed-hands tattoo on his arm was the clue that led to the arrest here today of 25-year-old Joseph Vernon Welch, who escaped Thursday from Elgin county jail at St. Thomas.

Welch was awaiting decision on an appeal against a 10-year term for manslaughter in connection with his wife's strychnine-poison death last August.

After less than 20 hours freedom, Welch was captured in downtown Toronto crouched in a stolen automobile from which he was trying to detach the radio.

Police said the automobile is owned by the Booth Construction Company at Stamford and was stolen by Welch at Stamford, Ont. It is believed he escaped jail with the help of an accomplice, in another stolen automobile which was later abandoned at Stamford. Police say he apparently stole the second car about 3 a.m. today and that it was reported missing to Toronto police at 8.50 a.m.

Patrol Sergeant Robert Robinson and Constable R. Taylor were cruising in the downtown area when they spotted the stolen automobile parked in the street.

Hidden In Car

"Nobody seemed to be in the car," said Robinson. "We went over to investigate and found Welch crouching in the front seat trying to detach the radio from the dash panel. I asked him whose car it was and he told me it was his father's."

At the time the officers didn't recognize the man as Welch. He said his name was Joseph Clark of Hamilton and had left his driver's license at home.

When they received a teletype description of Welch, they knew they had their man when they saw his tattoo.

"O.K. I'm Welch, but you can't blame a man for trying to get out of jail on these fine days," he admitted finally after several denials that he was Welch.

When discovered, Welch had changed his denim prison garb to a white shirt, blue overalls and a pair of prison army boots. He claimed he found them in the stolen automobile, but police believe they were given to him by a possible accomplice.

Another police theory is that

Hungarian Head Has Abdicated

BUDAPEST, July 30 (AP). — President Zoltan Tildy of Hungary abdicated to-day. The Communist-dominated governmente had accused his son-in-law, Minister to Egypt Victor Csornoky, of espionage and treason.

Tildy, a Methodist minister, belongs to the Smallholder Party, which had an elected majority before the Communist coup in May of last year. He was the first President of post-war Hungary and retained that office after the coup.

Csornoky is under arrest. He resigned as Minister to Egypt on Thursday.

Farben Chairman Gets Six Years

NUERNBERG, Germany, July 30.—(AP).—Karl Krauch, chairman of the board of the once-great I. G. Farben Chemical Trust, was sentenced today to serve six years for war crimes.

He was one of 13 directors of the giant firm convicted by an American court in judgments Thursday and today. The specific charge upon which he was convicted was the misuse of slave labor.

Hermann Schmitz, 67-year-old private counsellor to the Farben board of directors, got a four-year sentence for plundering occupied countries.

Ask Soldiers Be Sent To Control Strike

Police Break Up Street Fighting By Hurling Tear Gas Bombs

DAYTON, O., July 30—(AP)—Mayor Louis Lohrey today asked Governor Thomas J. Herbert to assign Ohio National Guardsmen militia to the scene of the mass-picketed Univis Lens Company plant after Police Chief Rudolph Wrustner reported the situation "out of hand."

The request for troops came after police apparently had restored order at the plant where several hundred employees for the fifth consecutive day attempted to retir to work.

Police broke up street fighting between pickets and non-strikers by exploding tear gas bombs. Heavy police squadrons again forced a path through the picket line and by 9 a.m., the company said 217 employees had entered the plant.

At least three pickets and another man who was not identified were taken to police station. No casualties were reported.

Defy Order

Violence broke out again today when some 3,000 persons gathered to form picket lines in defiance of a court order forbidding mass picketing. The skirmishing was short lived, but the situation remained tense after police broke up the street fighting.

Reinforcements were rushed to the scene. Fire department equipment also was called out. It was held in reserve around a corner from the plant, but fire department officers watched the scene from a nearby building. An ambulance also was on hand, but was not used.

Fist-fighting and pushing marked the street fighting.

A policeman, wielding a club, chased and subdued one picket after drawing a gun on him. There was no shooting except for the tear gas bombs.

Non-strikers massed at a company parking lot two blocks from the plant. Then a group of around 100 non-strikers marched down the street toward the plant with a police line on one side and a picket line on the other. There were no incidents then, except for shouts of "scab."

The mass meeting of the unionists followed a call by the CIO Industrial Union Council of Montgomery county which protested police clashes with members of the United Electrical Workers (CIO) involved in the dispute at the Lens Company.

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP)—The Federal government's new health grants to the province, from the $30,000,000 voted by Parliament at the last session, were announced today by Health Minister Paul Martin. The grants which Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in announcing the move are intended as a step towards a national health service, were worked out mainly on the basis of estimated 1947 populations.

They are headed by the $9,367,697 which Ontario will receive with Quebec next at $8,385,035. British Columbia will get $2,529,153; Saskatchewan $2,001,742; Alberta $1,968,738; Manitoba $1,805,965; Nova Scotia, 226,052, and Prince Edward Is- $1,531,779; New Brunswick, $1,- and, $293,857.

Can Apply now

Announcement of Dr. Jackson's appointment and the exact grants available to the provinces was a major step in organization of the program. It now is open to provincial authorities to apply for the grants on the basis of specific projects and it was expected the first applications would be made in about a month.

One grant—$100,000 for public health research—is not being allocated on a provincial or popu-

Widow Describes Lauzon As Modern Robin Hood

WINDSOR, July 30—(CP)—Ulysse Lauzon, slain Windsor desperado, was a modern Robin Hood and Jesse James, according to his bleached blonde widow, living in seclusion here.

In a copyright story today in the Windsor Daily Star, the attractive 23-year-old woman said her love for the man died shortly after the death of their only child.

The bandit's widow, Eileen Cornell, was 20 years old when she married the man whose body was found last July 19 in a Mississippi ditch. She reputedly married Lauzon to avoid testifying against him in a bank robbery charge.

Lived Together Two Months

She lived with him only two months until the pair was captured by two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers in Prince Edward Island. Lauzon was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for what was supposed to be a 35-year term. His wife was released after being held for a short time. Eileen believed leniency was shown because she was pregnant. The baby lived only five days after it was born.

The former redhead was found in a second-floor apartment building in downtown Windsor. A friend was with her at the time.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm not blaming him," she said, concerning her love for the man. "He was always a perfect gentleman to me."

She said she never saw the man following two visits to Lauzon at Kingston Penitentiary. She wrote to him, telling him she had met a friend, a man who had gone to school with her husband but had stayed on the right side of the law. She also wrote that if she waited until he was released, they would both be too old to start a new life.

Given Freedom

The man who never lived to reach his 26th birthday answered her letter within a week. In part, the letter said, "You don't owe me a thing. Live your own life with my blessing, I wish you all the best of luck."

As the interview proceeded, the woman's eyes blazed and her voice grew stronger.

"He (Lauzon) had his faults and I have mine. But he never went out of his way to hurt anybody. He was tough when he was cornered, but it was always a game of cops and robbers with him. I guess he never grew up. Perhaps he saw too many movies."

She denied a rumor that part of Lauzon's reported $300,000 loot in bank robberies had been trusted to her.

The report that Lauzon married another woman in New York after he made a prison escape had little effect on Eileen who said, "it was strictly his own business."

Held As Witness

QUEBEC, July 29—(CP)—Provincial Police said today they are holding 22-year-old Ovila Vallieres as a material witness following the death in hospital here of Hector Rochette, 47-year-old farmer severely beaten Wednesday night. Coroner Leopold Rochelle of Quebec County will conduct an inquest into Rochette's death after police conclude inquiries at nearby St. Gerard Majella, scene of a dispute in which the farmer was clubbed with a piece of wood.

Jail Seaman 2 Years For Boarding CSL Ship

MONTREAL, July 30 (CP) — Ronald Walsh, 25, Newfoundland seaman, was sentenced to two years in Penitentiary to-day on a charge of illegally boarding a vessel armed with an offensive weapon and causing property damage. Defence lawyers said they would appeal the verdict. Walsh with six other seamen was arrested the night of June 23-24 after allegedly boarding the Canadian Steamship Lines vessel Kinmount off Laurier Pier here, damaging the ship, and beating up some Kinmount crew members.

Boy 15, Czech War Hero Coming To Live In Canada

MONTREAL, July 30—(CP)—Chaskell Bernstein, a 15 year old war orphan who fought the Germans on the field of battle and taste of brutality in a Nazi torture chamber, is coming to Canada to live.

Decorated in the field for his military exploits, and acclaimed by the Czech government as a "national hero," the youthful Bernstein is scheduled to arrive Sunday at Halifax aboard the Aquitania. It is expected he will be carrying the accordion he captured from a German soldier.

Killed Parents

When Bernstein was 10, the Germans killed both his parents as they set fire to the Ghetto of Stanslawow, Poland. He fled with his 16 year old sister Natalia, and after two years in hiding, the pair was adopted by a Polish regiment. Chaskel was made a drummer, Natalia a nurse.

But the young drummer was captured by the Germans, and subjected to torture. He deliberately gave them misleading information.

Then when they used him as a guide to the Allied lines, he escaped and gave information which resulted in the capture of the German unit.

For that, he was promoted to an N.C.O. and given Czechoslovaki's highest decoration.

U.S. Will Forego Veto Powers

BELGRADE, July 30—(AP)—The United States disclosed today its decision to forego any attempt to obtain veto powers in the 11-power conference of control of Danube river shipping.

Ambassador Cavendish Cannon, chief United States delegate told a press conference that "we are going to be consistent" on that point, even though the western powers are outnumbered at this Belgrade conference. Most of the 11 conferring countries are in the Russian orbit.

The conference itself begins late today, the initial meeting being devoted to organization. Britain, the United States, Russia, France and the small countries through which the Danube flows are represented. Austria has no vote. The Communist countries thus have a two-thirds majority if they act as they have in other international meetings as a unit.

Canada Has Fulfilled 1948 Wheat Pact

OTTAWA, July 30. (CP)—Canada has fulfilled her obligation to deliver 160,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour to Britain in this second crop year of their four-year wheat agreement, Trade Minister Howe said today.

The crop year ends tomorrow Mr. Howe said the last transactions to complete the second year of the agreement were concluded Tuesday between the Canadian Wheat Board and the Imported Cereals Division of the British Food Ministry.

"I am very glad, indeed," said Mr. Howe in a statement, "that we in Canada were able to carry out our side of the contract during a year when wheat supplies were limited."

Hold Indian As Woman Found Dead

Beating Worst Seen Says Inspector; Victim Not Known

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP).—Less than two hours after the battered body of a young woman was found in a downtown rooming-house to-day, police held Peter Pawles, 60-year-old Indian, for questioning.

Inspector John Nimmo said he had never seen anyone so badly beaten as the woman, whose body was nude except for a small white blouse.

Her fact was battered beyond recognition and her body was black and blue. Inspector Nimmo said she must have been "hit, jumped on, punched, and throttled."

Returned Home

Pawles was apprehended as he returned to the boarding-house, where he was a roomer, during the police search. Police said they believed the woman, about 35, was murdered during the night.

Other roomers at the three-storey house said the woman came in with Pawles before midnight. They heard noise of a struggle during the early hours this morning, but did not investigate.

Pawles left the house about 7 o'clock this morning and police were notified of the murder about 10:45. While police were searching the house for clues Pawles returned and was told by Constable George Soe that nobody could be admitted.

"But I live here, my name is Pawles," said the roomer.

"Come right in; you are just the man we are looking for," replied the constable.

The victim was about 5 feet 2 inches, and had dark hair, turning grey. Police believed her body had been battered, even after death.

Mosquitoes Drive 5 Prisoners Back To Guards

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP). — Reform Institutions Minister Dunbar said today that five of the six prisoners who escaped from the Burwash industrial farm 18 miles south of Sudbury Thursday have been recaptured.

He said that Walter Atkinson, 26, and Sam Raspoli, 25, both of Toronto were captured on the railway line to Sudbury early today. Captured on the same line, a few hours later were: Robert William Dennis, 22, Douglas Miller, 21, and Harvey Frank Foreman, 22, all of Toronto. Albert Denardo, 24, of Sault Ste. Marie is still at large.

Atkinson and Raspoli broke away during an exercise period Thursday. The others disappeared while working on a construction gang.

"The mosquitoes are so bad in the bush now the men have to keep to the open. The five that were recaptured today were happy to be caught," he said.

Denardo was serving 18-21 months for theft at the time of his escape. Charges and sentences of the others were: Dennis, two years less one day for receiving stolen goods and a similar term for theft; Miller 12-18 months for assault with intent to rob; Foreman, two terms of two years less one day for breaking, entering and theft; Atkinson, 12 months for receiving stolen goods and Raspoli 10-12 months for automobile themt and three months for stealing license plates.

Reform Institutions Minister George Dunbar at Toronto last night attributed the escapes to carelessness on the part of the guards. The group of four who escaped had been working near a gang of displaced persons employed by the Public Works' Department on a building project. Late in the day, the DP's broke off work while they waited for their pay. In the resultant confusion, the four disappeared into the bush.

The other two prisoners were in a physical training class exercising in the open, Wednesday evening. When the class returned to the dormitory, the guards failed to make a count and their absence was not revealed until the next morning.

New Superintendent

Mr. Dunbar today announced appointment of Gerald Wright as superintendent of Burwash industrial farm near Sudbury. He succeeds Ralph Ayers who has been returned to the inspection staff 'at 'his own request."

Mr. Wright was formerly assistant superintendent of the Ontario reformatory at Mimico Alex Brown of Guelph reformatory has succeeded Mr. Wright at Mimico. No one has been appointed yet to fill Mr. Brown's job at Guelph.

Former Lindsay Doctor Aiding Indians

Finds Change To Modern Diet Ruining Red Man's Dental Health

MOOSONEE, Ont., July 30—(CP)—White Man's food and modern eating habits are ruining the teeth of Canada's northern Indians. That's the opinion of a government dentist and a toothpulling bishop.

The dentist is the department of Indians affairs' Dr. J. A. Ross, formerly of Lindsay. The prelate who practises amateur dentistry in an emergency, is bearded Most Rev. Henri Belleau, Roman Catholic Missionary bishop of James Bay. Both know a lot about the Red man's dental health problems.

Dr. Ross is completing a dental survey among several thousand Cree Indians living on the sub-Arctic shores of James Bay and Hudson's Bay.

Diet Change Bad

I've found the Indians' change from a primitive to modern diet has caused a decided breakdown in their teeth," said Dr. Ross. "I hope to make some decommendations to remedy the situation."

The doctor hopes to finish his survey in a month or so. Then he'll submit his report and recommendations to the federal government.

Dr. Ross said once his report has been reviewed, another dentist likely will be sent to lonely outposts scattered along some 1,500 miles of coastline, from this tiny Ontario northland railway terminal to where Hudson's Bay joins the Arctic Ocean. This dentist would repair teeth of patients Dr. Ross has examined.

White-haired and tanned, Dr. Ross travels by plane and boat on his survey, which he started after the spring break-up in early May. His headquarters are at Moose factory, historic Island settlement three miles from here in the wide Moose river.

His Stand

When Dr. Ross is away, Bishop Belleau pulls teeth if he's asked to by any of Moosonee's estimated 700 natives and few whites.

"Professional dentistry services are scarce here," he said, "so when the poor Indians come to me with bad teeth I cannot let them suffer."

He said he acquired most of his molar-yanking skill in missionary training. Most priests, nuns and monks at isolated mission posts north of here do dental work regularly.

Bishop Belleau has modern dental equipment at the three-storey hospital here, operated by the Grey nuns of Ottawa. Dr. Ross has given him some instructions on the latest technique.

Expect Subsidy To Curb Rise In Bread Price; In Operation At Weekend

May Also Announce Withdrawal of Grants On All Oils and Fats; Hint Relaxation of Cattle Export Controls

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP).—Government action in the form of a flour subsidy likely will be instituted this week-end to curb a possible rise in the price of bread when wheat goes up to $2 a bushel Aug. 1. At the same time it was believed possible the Government soon will announce its withdrawal of $15,000,000-a-year subsidies on oils and fats, required in the manufacture of soap and shortening.

The Prices Board stepped up its activity Thursday and began preparing a series of orders affecting wheat, flax and other grains.

The new price of wheat which is an increase from $1.55 a bushel results from the Canadian contract with the United Kingdom. It is applicable to sales to Canadian millers as well.

Government sources indicated a month ago that bread probably would be the first commodity upon which subsidies would be made to prevent a price increase.

May Be Refund

The subsidy, it was learned, may take the form of a refund to the millers from the federal treasury.

Action on other grains may be in the form of new floor prices for oats and barley.

Removal of the $5 ceiling on Flax Aug. 1 was announced by Trade Minister Howe last March. He said this grain could be sold on the open market with the government giving it support should its price fall to $4 a bushel.

There were also indications that the week-end's announcements may bring about some relaxation of Canada's controls on the export of cattle to the United States, rent restricions, limied imports of vegetables and fruits from the US and the prohobition or limit of imports of much industrial and commercial equipment.

However, there was no government comment on a report that it will soon launch a progrssive removal of the 25-per-cent excise taxes imposed on a wide range of goods last November.

Germans Ignore Russ Offer To Feed Berlin

BERLIN, July 30. (AP)—A Soviet offer to feed all Berlin drew little response from Germans in western sectors of the blockaded city today and the Russians loosed new attacks on the anti-Communist city government.

Informants in Moscow, meanwhile, said the chances are good that a session of the big four to thresh out the Berlin crisis may take place in Paris in September if prospective talks between envoys of the Western Allies and Foreign Minister Molotov go of satisfactorily.

Russians in Berlin charged that the city administration was "sabotaging" Soviet feeding efforts scheduled to begin Sunday, by preventing unloading of imported grains in Berlin's barge harbors

12 Cities Want Toronto Pair For Auto Thefts

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP). — Auto theft charges in 12 Ontario cities await two Toronto men arrested here following a two-week investigation by city detectives.

The men—Anthony Aquanno, 26, and David Curley, 28—are being held on 15 charges of fraud, two of theft, one of breaking and entering and one of receiving. They were remanded a week when they appeared in court today.

Police say the pair obtained more than $8,000 by buying automobiles with worthless cheques and reselling the vehicles at bargain prices. The men are charged with breaking into a motor license bureau and stealing several hundred motor vehicle permits which they used in reselling the cars.

Charges against the pair are perferred by police of London, Hamilton, Kitchener, Brantford, Peterborough, Niagara Falls, Stratford, Belleville, Kingston, Oshawa, Ottawa and Toronto.

He was Canada's only qualifier in today's preliminary track events.

Haggis, a veteran of the Royal Canadian Navy who competes in Canada for the London (Ont.) West Track Club, was second in the heat behind G. S. Lewis of Trinidad.

Only a yard separated the pair at the finish. Lewis' time was 10.6 seconds.

Bill LaRochelle of Chatham, stumbled at the eighth and 10th hurdles in the 400-metre preliminary and finished last.

Tanker, Barge Lost On Way To Belleville

OSWEGO, N.Y., July 30.—(AP). —United States coast guardsmen today were searching Eastern Lake Ontario for a tanker and barge reported missing.

The missing vessels, the tanker Alecia Ann Connors and the barge Arthur Herman, left here Wednesday afternoon for Belleville with 2,370 tons of molasses and 50 tons of furnace parts as cargo. Both ships are owned by the Connors Marine Company of New York.

Persons along the shore and crew members of the coal freighter Fontana reported seeing what they thought were flares on the lake late Wednesday night. However, the coast guard said the flashes of light may have come from Point Peter, Ont., where Canadian artillerymen are in training.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 30 (AP)—Two miners were reported killed and at least 13 injured today in a blast at the Tennessee Coal, and Railroad Company's big Edgewater Coal Mine. A source at the company's main offices said unverified reports from the scene placed the death toll at two.

Israel Asks New Areas In Palestine

Insists on Changing Old Boundaries After More Victories

TEL AVIV, July 30 —(AP)— Israel has demanded new territories in Palestine, perhaps including Jerusalem, as a result of Jewish victories over Arab armies.

Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok served notice of the Jewish demands Thursday in an address before the Israeli state council. He said:

"The Arabs are responsible that the boundaries fixed by the United Nations no longer are practical and we must insist on changing them by adding territories and not by diminishing them.

Shertok said that Israel planned immediate steps to place Jerusalem under Jewish sovereignty. Israel, he added, has rejected Count Folke Bernadotte's plan to demilitarize the Holy City because it provided for eventual Arab rule.

Hold Refugees

Shertok also told the 37-member council that:

1. Israeli authorities will refuse to permit the return of any of the 300,000 Arab refugees to their Palestinian homes until their status can be considered as part of a minority question, including the status of Jews in Arab states.

2. Israel will demand "heavy indemnities" from the Arabs in peace negotiations for what he called "hundreds of millions of dollars lost by direct war expenses.

He reiterated previous appeals to the Arabs to negotiate directly Jewish-Arab differences as "co-partners of equal rights and sovereignty."

The U.N. partition plan, bitterly opposed by the Arab states, divided Palestine into two separate states, one Jewish and one Arab. Jewish authorities accepted the plan.

Further fighting ruptured the current Palestine truce Thursday. The Israeli army reported that "Egyptian attacks assumed the character of a general attack on Israeli positions" in southern Palestine.

Make Peterborough Homes "Red Seal" Wired

Electric Wiring In All New Homes Should Be Checked And Certified To The "Red Seal" Standard Of Adequacy

The use of electricity is a daily part of family life. Probably half of family household tasks depend on it. And electric service depends on the wiring — on its capacity, on the number and convenience out outlets, switches, and the general layout. The "Red Seal" standard of adequate wiring provides these features.

If you are building a house or apartments, specify a "Red Seal" wiring installation. Ask your local Hydro to check the adequacy of your wiring and to provide a "Red Seal" certificate. There is a large seal for display in front of the house during construction, and a smaller transfer seal for permanent cerification on the switchbox. This service is FREE.

36,000 householders in over 100 Ontario cities, towns, villages and townships already enjoy the benefits of "Red Seal" wired homes. Their housing investment is protected by provision for electrical convenience in every part of the home. The best builders and contractors insist that wiring in the homes they build should meet or exceed the "Red Seal" standard of adequacy.

Local Hydros and progressive contractors throughout the province are co-operating with us to point out the long-term need of adequate wiring. Ask your electrical contractor or the Red Seal representative at your local Hydro for literature and further information on the "Red Seal" standard of adequate wiring.

Add Extra Buses To Handle Crowd

It is expected that there will be a last-minute rush for buses and trains tonight when the workday is over and Peterborough citizens start on the long Civic Holiday week-end. There has been only a small advance sale of railway tickets and practically none for buses.

The CPR reported that the advance sale was not as large as last year, but added the qualification that this was of little significance. It is still impossible to tell how many persons will take part in the usual last-minute scramble for accommodation. Much the same story is told by the CNR. It was pointed out that the special week-end rate is good from Friday night to Monday night.

Colonial Coach Lines said it was the usual practice for people not to buy tickets for buses until immediately before departure, and they were prepared for a large passenger list. "All services will be operating. Every bus that can run will be on the road," the Examiner was told.

They reported that the Toronto to Ottawa passenger list was heavy this morning, but the short-distance lines will probably be affected by tonight.

Ferguson Bus Lines also said they were ready with extra buses, particularly for the Peterborough-Toronto run. "We don't know how big the crowd will be. We might need one or two extra buses, perhaps three or four, or even more—it all depends on the crowd that turns up."

lation grant. It and the others actually total $20,120,360, slightly more than the provision made by Parlaiment.

The largest single grant is for hospital construction. Divided on a population basis, it makes $4,336,439 available to Ontario.

This is a "matching grant," available if the provinces put up at least as much money as the Federal government.

The hospital grant will be paid on the basis of $1,000 for each new bed for acute cases and $1,500 for new beds for chronic cases. The amount paid from Federal funds is not to exceed one-third of the total cost.

Second Largest

The second largest grant is for mental health—$4,000,000 rising to $7,000,000 a year over a period of years. There will be a flat $25,000 grant to each province and the rest will be divided on the basis of population.

The Government has allocated $3,500,000 for cancer control, again to be distributed for specific projects to be advanced by the provinces.

The grant will be divided on a straight population basis and Ontario will have available $1,167,503.

The tuberculosis control grant totals $3,000,000 this year and risees over a period of years to $4,000,000. It will be divided on a slightly different basis from the others. Each province will get a flat $25,000. Half of the remainder will then be divided on a population basis. The other half will be split up on the basis of the number of tuberculosis deaths, including those of Indians, in each province during the five-year 1942-46 record.

Aid Crippled Children

The government allocated $500,000 each for programs to aid crippled children and to further professional training of public health workers. Both grants will be divided on the basis of a flat $4,000 to each province with the rest broken up by populations. To strengthen general public health services, such as the control of communicable diseases and the development of child and maternal health programs, $4,395,000 will be divided between the provinces on the basis of a straight 35 cents per capita. The amount will rise by five cents per capita until it reaches 50 cents a person.

This arrangement entitles Ontario to $1,466,150.

Under the new program the Federal expenditure on venereal disease control rises from $225,000 to $500,000 and will be divided on a population basis.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Abib, or Nisan according to the present day reckoning is the seventh Jewish month, during which is celebrated the feast, of the passover.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS (centre), representing Great Britain, is shown flanked by two aides at the meeting recently held in Paris, France, at which economic co-operation administrator, Paul G. Hoffman, met with the representatives of the sixteen countries participating in the European recovery program. Hoffman told the meeting what he thought was wrong with the way they are carrying out the ERP and stressed the need for greater economic co-operation on the program.

Industrials Retreat In Light Trading

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP) — Industrials moved strongly downwards in very light trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Base metals and western oils also followed a downward pattern, but golds were slightly stronger.

Industrials suffered badly after trading steady during early action. Leading the downward trend were Brown Pfd., which dropped 1, and Aluminum New, which slipped 1½.

Golds eased slowly upwards throughout the morning's trading. In senior, Teck Hughes and Lakeshore were stronger, and Hollinger eased, Giant Yellow Knife, Sylvanite and North Inca gained in juniors.

Base metals showed a sharp reversal of from from Thursday's strong upward movement. Base metals, Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, Lake Dufault, MacDonald, Normetal, Step Rock, Silanco, and Sherritt Gordon were all off, but Labrador held the fort and advanced 30 cents.

Western oils traded slowly throughout and action was again centred about Anglo Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton and Home Oil, which showed losses ranging from 10 to 35 cents.

Aid Home Builders

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP). — The Government Thursday night moved to aid Canadian builders of residential homes stalled by a critical shortage in the supply of steel wire nails. Find Welch

Welch escaped from jail without the help of another person. If this was the case they think he used one of the simplest possible methods. For some time Welch had been allowed to exercise in the women's yard and putter in a small garden. Welch might have tied the end of a clothes line to the heavy doorknob of the open door separating the women's from the men's section.

Drops 12 Feet

He could have tossed the free end of the line from the men's yard over the wall to the women's yard. From the women's yard he could have used the line to boost himself to the top of the partition and walked from there to the outside prison wall. From there he could have lowered himself to the top of an abutting pillar and dropped 12 feet to freedom.

His arrest here climaxed a province-wide search. He had been awaiting a decision on his appeal for manslaughter, reduced from murder at his trial last March in St. Thomas. Police originally charged that the poison found in his home had been for his wife. He testified that he had been depressed by an affair with a Toronto woman and had purchased the poison to take his own life. He claimed that his wife took the medicine by mistake, thinking it was medicine.

What Peterborough Needs ... Adequately Wired Homes

Grandfather's wiring system served him well. His electrical needs were simple.

Have you ever figured how much of the electrical equipment you want in your home was not available ten years ago — twenty years ago? The Red Seal Plan will take care of the new electrical appliances you use now, and those you will want in the future during the many, many years the house is occupied.

Up to 1923, a home owner or builder had no means of knowing what amount of wiring was needed in a home, consequently, when Electric Ranges, Refrigerators, etc. were purchased, rewiring was usually required.

The Electric Service League developed the Red Seal Plan whereby a certain, definite standard was set up, and a Red Seal placed on the house so that the builder and owner could immediately identify those houses that conform.

Advantages Of RED SEAL WIRING To Home Owners

1. The house will be wired according to our accepted minimum standard while under construction so that expensive additions will not be required.
2. The service will be of sufficient capacity so that present and foreseeable future electrical appliances may be used at 100% efficiency.
3. The range wiring will provide speedy and efficient operation and satisfaction for which it was intended.
4. Convenience outlets, switches and lights will be placed as required, and that each switch will be of its correct type.
5. Red Seal wiring increases the present and future resale value of all homes. Buyers want adequate wiring for up-to-date electrical living.

This Is What Post-War "RED SEAL" Standard Requires In Ontario

MAIN SERVICE

When the rough wiring is completed we will inspect it to see that the required number of outlets are in place. On completion, it will be inspected again and if the wiring meets the requirements a "Red Seal" of approval will be placed on the service box. This service is FREE.
If you home is wired according to the above specifications be sure a "Red Seal" is displayed on the service box. We will be glad to make an inspection for you if the "Red Seal" is not already there.

Ample Wiring is the Essential Base for an Electric Home

If you want an electric home, as nearly everyone does, look first at the wiring — the capacity of the main service, the number of circuits, the number of outlets and switches. Better still, insist on having a "Red Seal" certified wiring job carrying the approval of the electrical industry.

FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1948

Duplessis Victory

Wednesday's general election in Quebec resulted in as great a victory for Duplessis' Union Nationale Government as any party has ever had in a Quebec provincial election. It shows that the electors approve the Duplessis business record, are satisfied with entrusting the province's present prosperity again to the Union Nationale Government and endorse Duplessis' strongly nationalistic attitude.

* * *

After 39 years of Liberal administration to 1936 and another term from 1939 to 1944, the provincial Liberal party is completely routed. It has gone down from 59 seats in 1939 to 37 in 1944 to 8. The Union Nationale has gained at its expense, from 17 in 1939 to 48 in 1944 to 82 now. Even the Liberal leader and former premier, Adelard Godbout, has been defeated in his own riding. The debacle of the Liberals came about partly because the Union Nationale have riden the crest of prosperity and the hobby-horse of French-Canadian self-sufficiency. It has come about chiefly because M. Duplessis is a shrewd administrator and a better politician than M. Godbout. The creation of the Union Nationale party and Wednesday's victory are M. Duplessis' personal achievement.

* * *

Does the Duplessis victory spell defeat for the federal Liberal party in Quebec? We think that the answer is No. Who is there to defeat it? The provincial Liberals were defeated by Duplessis, not by Conservatives. The Union Nationale is completely a provincial party in its principles, its leaders and its tactics. If it organized itself for federal elections it would have to ally itself with the Conservatives. Conservative policies, records and identification with Ontario are anathema in Quebec. M. Duplessis was a Conservative until 1936 and sat as Conservative member for Three Rivers (his present constituency) from 1927 to 1935. In 1933 he was appointed leader of the Quebec Conservative party. He was surrounded by a mere handful of colleagues. He never achieved even leadership of the Opposition as a Conservative. In 1936 he formed the Union Nationale party and won the elections. M. Duplessis is unlikely to compromise his position now by making his party a Quebec wing of the weak Conservative party.

* * *

Has the Liberal defeat killed Mr. St. Laurent's chances of being elected Liberal leader at the convention next week? Far from it. Mr. St. Laurent did not take as active a part in the Quebec campaign as the screeching of the Duplessis supporters would indicate. Duplessis' victory was not a defeat for Mr. St. Laurent. Mr. Duplessis has a one-sided feud with Mr. St. Laurent because Mr. St. Laurent is likely to become what M. Duplessis can never become—Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada. If federal Liberal votes are to be wooed and won in Quebec, Mr. St. Laurent is even more essential as Liberal party leader than he was before the Quebec elections.

The French Mixture As Before

The new French Government that has been formed under the premiership of M. Andre Marie is new in name, but the mixture is virtually as before. It is formed on the same basis as that of M. Schuman's, which was defeated by the Socialists, who did not like its economic policies. It is a coalition of all parties excepting the Communists and De Gaulle's. It includes four former premiers of France—M. Leon Blum (Socialist), M. Paul Reynaud (Independent Republican), M. Paul Ramadier (Socialist) and M. Robert Schuman (M.R.P.—Popular Republican). There are two notable differences—the new premier is a Radical Socialist, and not M.R.P., and the skilled foreign minister since the war, M. Georges Bidault, has been dropped.

The dropping of M. Bidault does not indicate a change in foreign policy. All the new cabinet ministers are known to favour continued collaboration with Britain and the U.S. M. Bidault was dropped because he was personally unpopular with the Assembly, as was M. Teitgen, former minister of the armed forces, who was also dropped. The new foreign minister is the ex-premier, Robert Schuman, who like Bidault, is M.R.P. M. Schuman has emerged from his eight months as premier with an enhanced reputation and no personal enemies.

The new Government seems strong; certainly its principal ministers are seasoned and well-known. It is the best cabinet that could have been assembled under the circumstances. If Communists (who hold 184 votes in the Assembly) were to be excluded, and the 60-70 adherents of General de Gaulle were likewise to be excluded, any Government would have to rely on both the M.R.P. and the Socialists for an absolute majority of 311 votes. Under the new constitution this absolute majority is necessary before the Assembly can invest a premier-designate with power to form a government. It was the Socialist opposition to M.R.P. economic policies which defeated the Schuman Government.

Though the Government seems strong, it is likely to suffer from the same cracks that afflicted the Schuman Government, for it is a plastered-up job. It stands divided on all the old questions which made the former Government unstable. The Socialists are no more ready to throw France into unrestricted "free enterprise" than they were before; the M.R.P. and right-wing Radical Socialists are not prepared to accept a controlled economy. Meanwhile, France has again a Government and a foreign minister empowered to take part with Britain and the U.S. in the Berlin crisis.

Candidates For Liberal Leadership: Hon. Paul Martin

The name of Hon. Paul Joseph James Martin, K.C., M.A., L.L.M., is seventh on the alphabetical list of candidates mentioned as possible successors to Mr. Mackenzie King as leader of the national Liberal party. Mr. Martin is member of Parliament for the Ontario riding of Essex East and is minister of health and welfare in the Dominion cabinet.

Paul Martin's career in public life began when he was defeated in a by-election for the Ontario Legislature in 1928. He was elected to the House of Commons at the general election of 1935, and he was re-elected in 1940 and 1945. One of the ablest of a group of younger parliamentarians on the Government side of the House of Commons, he was early marked for promotion, and in 1938 he was delegate of the Government of Canada at the Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva. In 1943 he was appointed parliamentary assistant to the minister of labour, and he attained cabinet rank in 1945 when he was appointed secretary of state. He was appointed to the post he now holds in December, 1946.

In the field of international affairs, and particularly that of international labour, Paul Martin has gained an enviable reputation. He has represented the Canadian Government at International Labour Office conferences and at the League of Nations. He was the first Canadian delegate to the Social and Economic Council of the United Nations; he has represented Canada before that council and its parent body on other occasions, and he was chairman of the Canadian delegation to the council last year. He has served as chairman of several important international committees.

Paul Martin is the youngest candidate in the field. He was born in Ottawa in 1903, of French-Canadian parents; he is married, is the father of two children. He is a member of the Roman Catholic Church. A lawyer by profession, he has a brilliant record as a scholar, having won the Wilder Fellowship in 1928 and the Alfred Zimmern Scholarship in 1930.

According to reports from Windsor, Mr. Martin is in a rather awkward position regarding the matter of letting his name go before the Liberal convention. He has, it is said, pledged himself to support Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, despite the fact that he is being strongly urged to enter his own name by a group which favours his candidacy. Mr. Martin's problem, then, as described by the Windsor Star, is to get his name on the ballot without injuring the prospects of Mr. St. Laurent. That problem should not be too difficut to solve by a first ballot appearance, but Mr. Martin, although he is a man of high ambition, may decline to allow his name to go before the convention.

SIR: Does the Town Clock tick?

ANSWER: Your question was a bit of a poser. Local watchmakers whom I consulted assured me that all clocks, except electric ones must tick. (Apparently a mechanical impulse has sound, an electric one has not.) Therefore, the Town Clock must tick, whether it does or not. Could anybody in town prove the theory—had anybody ever heard it tick? Finally I found Mr. W. A. Davern, jeweller and watchmaker, who for twenty-five years, when Schneider's jewellery shop had the contract for attending to the needs of the Town Clock, was its physician-in-ordinary and had probed its inner mysteries. He has heard it tick. He says that a person has really to be inside the clock before hearing that it does not suffer the sights of George and Charlotte Streets in silence. Mr. Herb. Martin has also heard it tick. He is now the city's official Caretaker of the Clock, and winds it up each week.

QUESTION: Is it true that the Duke of Kent, while in Canada, ordered a soldier to be given 999 lashes for a trivial offence?

ANSWER: Yes. The soldier died as a result. You are not, of course, referring to the present Duke, the 12-year-old son of Princess Marina and the late Prince George, nor to the late Duke (Prince George) who died in an aeroplane accident during the war. The Duke of Kent to whom you refer was the father of Queen Victoria. He lived in Quebec for a number of years as commander of the Seventh Fusiliers, and was later in command of the Halifax garrison for five years (to 1798). He died in a rented house in Sidmouth, Devon, where he had gone to escape his debtors, on 22nd January, 1820.

He was a benevolent man, according to his lights. He supported the Lying-in-Charity for Delivering Poor Women at their own Habitations, the Literary Fund for Distressed Authors, and other charitable institutions. His most famous disciplinary action was taken at Quebec when he sentenced a Private Draper to execution for desertion and mutiny. A funeral procession was arranged for the two-mile march to the spot outside Quebec where the execution was to take place. At the head of the column was the Duke of Kent. Private Draper marched upright behind the soldiers and his coffin, dressed in his grave-clothes, whilst the military band played funeral dirges behind him. When the procession had arrived at the gallows, the Duke stepped forward and, after informing Private Draper that he was now at a very awful moment and within a few minutes of being judged by his Maker, he made a lengthy peroration and informed Private Draper that he was pardoned. I do not know the subsequent fate of Private Draper—the odds are that he went mad. As for the Duke of Kent, "This was an expensive lesson, as the coffin and the grave-clothes were presumably a slightly gruesome addition to the Prince's debts". (Roger Fulford, "The Royal Dukes".)

This Duke, Queen Victoria's father, was the last to bear the title until it was revived for the late brother of the present King; the only legitimate child of the old Duke was Queen Victoria. It seems to me that the best Duke of Kent of them all was the faithful liege-lord of King Lear in Shakespeare's play of that name.

QUESTION: From time to time I read an item like this in The Examiner: "The amount of money which passed through the Peterborough Clearing House was $2,358,636 during the past week, July 15 to July 22". Is there really such a thing as a "Peterborough Clearing House", or is that just a way of financial speaking, like talking about having money in the bank?

ANSWER: Yes, there really is a Clearing House. It is a room over the Bank of Montreal. A very ordinary room, it is true—nothing gorgeous like the main lobby of the Bank of Commerce in Toronto, even if two million dollars (on paper) are handed in it each week. A table, a few chairs, a minimum of equipment. Most of the time it is deserted, for there is no permanent staff. Responsibility for operating it is assumed for one year by each bank in rotation. This year it is the Royal Bank's pidgeon. (The word is used with full knowledge of the birds roosting above the room.) Each morning at 9:15 the local banks send an emissary to the Clearing House with the preceding day's cheques. Then the cheques are "cleared". This means that cheques come home to roost—i.e. are distributed like playing cards to whatever bank they are drawn on. A game of poker with all cards up, and little risk in an honest community like ours.

ARE blueberries and huckleberries different berries, or different names for the same thing?

ANSWER: Being more concerned with eating than nomenclature I have always assumed that huckleberries were huckleberries and blueberries were blue raspberries, distinct from red raspberries, blackberries and thimbleberries, which is confusing enough. But I see in fruit shops tickets over pint baskets of huckleberries with the sign "Blueberries—24c". Your question is one for an expert, and here is an expert's answer, from Dr. A. J. Madill, retired master of the Peterborough Normal School. There are blueberries and there are huckleberries. They are closely related, have several species each and are hard to distinguish. Blueberries are botanically classed under the genus Vaccinium, huckleberries under the genus Guylussacia. Both have calyx tubes adherent to the ovary and the fruit is crowned with calyx teeth. In general huckleberries are black and shiny, blueberries powder-blue and dull. But Dr. Madill warns that "there are species of blueberry which have black berries with or without bloom".

Both types grow wild in this district on rocky land or in bogs north of the Kawarthas—as at Apsley, Buckhorn, Burleigh Falls, Haliburton. An interesting point is that though they grow widely throughout the continent, they are not found in limestone districts. They grow in granite areas and acid soils, chiefly of igneous origin (i.e. sand). There are none in Fenelon Falls district because that is a limestone area, south of the granite intrusions. No granite, no huckleberries—or blueberries.

FOR THE RECORD: There are now 5½ movie houses to give Peterborovians' eyes the flicks. The half is the new Famous Players house now half completed on the site of the old Grand Opera House next to Turner's. The Regent and the Capitol Theatres are also Famous Players outlets. The new Odeon is a J. Arthur Rank cinema. The Centre is owned by Niagara Centre Theatres Limited. The fifth purveyor of movies is the new Drive-In theatre (and not properly a movie "house") to be opened soon on the Lakefield road.

Mr. Bracken's Resignation and the Conservative Party

(By W. R. GIVENS in KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE resignation of John Bracken from the leadership of the so-called Progressive Conservative Party will be generally acclaimed by the rank and file of the party who have seen the once great organization floundering helplessly and impotently for several years, not only making no headway but, instead, sinking deeper into a slough of despond, with no inspirational leading or light save that given, for the most part, by a number of its younger members.

It will be idle and hypocritical to pretend that Mr. Bracken's departure will be mourned, for it will not be; though it is to be regretted that it has been compelled by ill health; and the hope will everywhere be expressed that a complete rest will soon restore him to good health. Having said this, however, it must as frankly be stated that there may now be some hope for the Party, under new leadership, to regain at least some of its former vigour and ascendancy and thus take the place that it formerly occupied, whether in power or in opposition, as a potent influence in the development of good government. Then, too, given new life and leadership it can be a valuable force in helping Canada maintain the proud position to which under Liberal leadership it has come in recent years, to wit, a great nation recognized everywhere as powerful, dependable and a force for good in the world.

❖ ❖ ❖

Most of us of the old school who fought for years for the success of the Conservative Party—and fought not in vain—have deplored the dry rot from which the party has suffered in the Dominion these past few years. Those Conservatives who in those years have been in charge of the party's affairs seem to have been of the opinion that the introduction of the magic word "Progressive" was of itself sufficient to lift the party out of the depths and up to the peaks again. Thus, Mr. Bracken's early Pilgrim's Progress, journeying to and fro, and his failure to take his seat in the House of Commons, in his early leadership were tolerated with an amazing resignation, in the hope or belief that the thunder and lightning would soon follow. Whereas, what followed, as we have seen, was a leader that failed to lead; an Opposition that neglected to oppose, a party that brought forth no new or aggressive policies and that—again except for the work of some younger members—did little but pin prick and certainly gave no constructive leadership, the while it steadily lost strength and the confidence of many of its one-time followers.

And now what? Well, we are to have a convention and a new leader is to be named. But let there be no mistake; that of itself will not remove the blight now upon the party. What is needed, in the opinion of many Conservatives, is a complete reorganization of the party—not a mere change of leadership. Not alone the so-called Progressive Conservative Party needs revamping, but also the Conservative Association which has shockingly failed in the last few by-elections in perfecting its organization and in mending its fences. And, worse still, after each reverse, actually expressing satisfaction with the results, "considering"!

It is not pleasant to say these things, and those of us who have said them have been damned to our eyebrows. It was so when R. B. Bennett was Prime Minister and turned his government into a Bennett, one-man government. Who dared to criticize was frowned upon as a traitor to the party. And yet if the truth had ever come out, it would have been disclosed that at least half a dozen members of Bennett's own Cabinet—few of the Cabinet ever being taken into Mr. Bennett's confidence—would gladly have resigned save for the fact that their resignations would have precipitated a general election. That, I may say, is not fiction but fact. I know!

❖ ❖ ❖

Now the party faces a new start—a new opportunity to prove itself. It is only to be hoped that there will be open and free discussion of the Conservative position before the Convention assembles. The party has some sound, vigorous timber and some aggressive brains, and fighters despite that it has been seriously weakened in recent years by its leaderless drifting. And, let it be proclaimed, its restoration to life and vigour would be a real source of strength to Canada, especially in these days of travail, unrest and Communistic outbursts. Nothing would be more welcome or helpful than the return of the two-party system in our country, since under that system real progress can best be made and sound government assured.

And we can very well get on without the "Progressive" in front on the Conservative Party name, for the reason that the only progress latterly has been backward!

Bad Writing An Art In Itself

(V. S. PRITCHETT IN NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, LONDON)

THE art of writing bad English does not come naturally. It has to be acquired like any other art and begins, as also many first novels do, with the earliest assertion of adult personality.

Sir Ernest Gowers, in a brilliant pamphlet "Plain Words", which is written for the guidance of the Civil Service, says bad writing starts when we put on airs.

Any professional writer can remember the time when he sat at his desk and was able to put down only the plainest words, the simplest sentences; he hankered after a style, for he had the impression that his wretched string of words was like an exiguous and sordid towel he was frantically pulling this way and that to cover his nakedness.

And there (he will recall) how he hit upon the solution: journalese, commercialese, officialese, the chief clerk's name, the Old Boys' prose came toward him, rolling its experienced hips.

At once he was saved; presently he was begging to state, inclining to think, definitely rehabilitating, wallowing in his alternatively, comparatively, and unduly; and soon he was advancing towards those refinements of administrative utterance where a Minister promises "to explore an avenue", or refuses to do so because "it would open a very serious door" or "enlarge afar-reaching bottleneck". The only bother for the professional writer was that if he went on like this, he would lose his job.

❖ ❖ ❖

The pursuit of formula is the impulse within bad writing. To those who fail in this pursuit and who go their own free-thinking way there is the poor comfort of those lines in Macbeth which, according to Sir Ernest Gowers, have provided a private joke well-known among civil servants:

"Bloody instructions which being sent return to plague th'inventor."

That is the best I can do in defence of bad writing in the business of life. It is, one notices, mainly the work of the educated, the most nervous of the social groups; it indicates their vested interest; and has looked, to the outsider, like a religious imposition similar to the repetition of the Koran. It saves time, ensures authority and conceals meaning.

The conscious abuse of words and the use of jargon in ordinary affairs is, no doubt, less cynical than it is in politics; there may be a desire to hoodwink the great public in it, but it looks far more like a symptom of breakdown: the administrator is administering other administrators and is operating in a void.

What is really behind this pamphlet is a revolution in language which is following the social revolutions of our times. The new fact is that the traditional mysteries of State language break down when all need to understand them. In the past, as Sir Edward Gowers says, the official was warned against interpreting the law; the courts were there for that; the obscurity of the official phrase was, in a sense, an indication of the rights of the individual, and the official felt very much as the scientist still does about the popularization of science.

The official can afford that defence no longer. If the new planner cannot master the two essentials of writing: to state a meaning simply and to affect the reader precisely as he wishes—his plans will break down, consume each other or arouse the resentment of a bored and angry public. Such a sentence (quoted by Sir Ernest) as:

Sub-contractors may need reauthorization not only of subauthorizations already given for period II and beyond, but also for subauthorizations for earlier periods, so as to revalidate orders or parts of orders as in (1), makes us turn eagerly to the brisk, practical talk of the black market, and

The proposals made in response to this request show differences of approach to the problem which relate to the differing recommendations of the committee's report and include some modifications of those recommendations, creates laughter and cynicism. It is hard to persuade us that the author of those lines is not a parasite filling up his office hours by stuffing a mattress and getting ready for a lifetime's sleep in an unnecessary job at the public expense.

Compared with him the official who wrote, in another example, "this does not mean, of course, that anyone can get coupons if his boots fall to pieces through ordinary wear or if he just gets a tear in his trousers", is a ray of sunshine; he could, as Sir Ernest says, have grasped the formula and said: "If his garments suffer comparatively minor damage and are capable of effective reconditioning."

"Jealousy, I suppose!?"

"Well, not exactly. It couldn't stand the competition."

Work Backlog Growing Utilities Needs More Men

New work is accumulating in the water department of the Utilities Commission faster than they can get it done.

"We appear to be worse off than we were a year ago," the chairman, Gordon S. Matthews, remarked at the Commission's long meeting Thursday afternoon. The two other members are George A. Macdonald and Fred Hills.

"We'll take on any man who comes along," said Ross Dobbin, manager.

Mr. Dobbin informed the Commission that he was ready to shift the construction crew from completed watermains in the new south end to the Sands and Bateman Brookdale subdivision west of Chemong Road at the north end of the city. This work will likely be begun Tuesday.

Pending jobs were listed by Mr. Dobbin as follows: 18,000 feet of 6-inch main and 4,200 feet of 8-in. main, with 406 water services. "The total cost is estimated at $100,534, and the total revenue $8,568.

Going Behind

The situation is not improving very much, and we seem to be getting further behind all the time."

It was mentioned that 200 new houses are being constructed in the south end by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Many of them will require new mains and connections.

In spite of the work that has been done, the Dobbin report provided the following index of accumulation, if not of progress: 8-inch main June 1947—5,465 ft. (to be laid); Oct. 1947, 6,265 feet. April 1948, 5,420 ft.; and July 1948, 4,200 ft.

6-inch main, June 1947, 13,180 ft.; Oct. 1947, 17,774 ft.; April 1948, 12,878 ft.; July 1948 (present), 18,000 ft.

Services to be laid: June 1947—188; Oct. 1947—303; April 1948—221; July 1948—406.

"In addition to the above we are laying about 20 services a month for private building.

"We have laid, with the excavation done by machine, 600 ft. of 6-in. pipe in one day where conditions were ideal. But, where the ground is not so good and we encounter water, we can only lay perhaps 200 ft. a day.

"We are hiring all the good men that are available, but have only enough to lay pipe behind one machine.

"Later in the fall we expect that we will be able to get more pipe, and in that case will do our best to increase the number of feet laid per month.

"We are also held back by shortage of service pipe material, and this will affect the number of water services we can lay. However, up to now we have been able to put in the service connections when the main is completed.

"We tried to use the machine on the excavation for services, but have found that it did not pay. If we could get another 20 laborers we would place them on services along, and thus make greater progress than at present."

Mr. Dobbin included cost estimates for four teen jobs headed by the Brookdale subdivision of Sands and Bateman. It calls for 2,950 feet of 6-inch main to be laid on Downie St., Chesterfield Ave., Aberdeen Ave., Mason Ave. and Brookdale Crescent.

Estimated cost is $14,384.14; required revenue, 10 per cent, is $1,438.41; revenue from 53 services at $15 a year, $795; revenue from fire protection, $359.60. Total annual revenue, $1,154.60.

That revenue item will be somewhat increased by the decision of the Commission to apply the 25 per cent water service cost to the present $15 charge for each service.

Rate Goes Up

The motion adopted by the Commission was that this rate be increased from $15 to $18.75 for each service connection off new mains laid after this date (Aug. 1). This conforms with a previous resolution Thursday raising the water arte 25 per cent.

For the 53 houses in the Brookdale subdivision the total charge for new services will be $1,093.75 instead of $795. This amount covers the cost of the work that is to be done and also annual consumption of water.

Mr. Dobbin told the Commission the Brookdale mains would be completed probably by the end of August. The next switch of operations will be decided before the end of next month.

Down the list of work to be done is the Caddy and Beverley Streets subdivision of 47 new houses being built by Arnold Steel and Don Ephgrave. The location is on the east side of the city, near the canal and off the old Norwood Road, McFarlane Ave.

These houses will require 1,550 ft. of 6-in. main at an estimated cost of $8,925.37. The revenue required by the Commission to assume this extension is 10 per cent or $892.54.

Revenue estimated by Mr. Dobbin: 47 services at $18.75 amount to $881.25, and fire protection $223.13; total $1,104.38.

Keeping up in estimates with the prospective work entailed by the latest housing program in the south end, Mr. Dobbin reported that 2,700 feet of 6-inch main on Rose Ave. and Wilson Ave. will cost approximately $20,755.77 with sufficient revenue in sight from the houses.

For the additional houses, included in that program, on the west side of Monaghan Road at McKellar St., the estimated cost is $12,933.86 with ample revenue assured.

Kiwanis Given Three Awards By Governor

Three awards were made to the Peterborough Kiwanis Club when Lieutenant-Governor Bruce Lattimer paid his official visit on Thursday noon. Past President Dennis Fitzgerald was presented with an Achievement Award; Richard (Dick) Raine with a club sponsorship banner; and the president, Edward Pridham, the Governor's Award for the second quarter of 1948.

Mr. Lattimer pointed out that the Peterborough club had come third among approximately 500 clubs throughout the United States and Canada in the Silver Division during 1947. He congratulated the local Kiwanians for their many activities which won the award and paid particular tribute to (Denny) Fitzgerald who was president at the time.

(Dick) Raine was the recipient of the club sponsorship banner. While he was president in 1943 the Peterborough Kiwanians sponsored the now-thriving Cobourg Club.

Club activities during the second quarter of 1948 have won the Peterborough club the Governor's Award. Mr. Lattimer congratulated the members on their success and asked them to keep it up for the remainder of the year.

Mr. Lattimer's main address was a report on the recent visit to Kiwanis International Convention which was held in Los Angeles. Approximately 12,000 delegates from clubs in the United States and Canada were present and heard the various speakers re-affirm the theme of the convention: "Citizenship, Responsibility—Our Nation's Safety."

In keeping with this theme, speakers ranged from urging participation in public affairs by the Kiwanians to active combat against Communism.

Highlight of the convention was said to be the address by Canada's Lester B. Pearson who spoke on the United Nations and American-Canadian relations. Mr. Lattimer said many Americans later told hi mthat it was the finest address they had ever heard.

The speaker was introduced by Jack Allan and he was thanked by Vincent McCabe.

Mayor William Ovens officially welcomed visitors to the luncheon meeting on behalf of both the Kiwanis Club and the people of Peterborough.

Those from out of town were: F. W. Merris, Cuyahoga Falls, O.; John Quinlan, Stratford; Wilfred Brown and Keith Johnston, Owen Sound; Kenneth Thompson, Sarnia; Mark Vanner, Charles Carter and Kenneth Graham from Belleville.

Robson Hurdles First Round In Millar Race

Kawartha pro Lex Robson is matched against Stan Horne of Montreal today in the championship draw for the Miller Trophy. Eight pairs teed off this morning, with early leaders Gordie Brydson, Mississauga, and Lou Cumming, Toronto, already out of the running. Robson, a six-time winner of the tropthy, made the qualifying round Thursday morning with a 36-38—74, six strokes behind Brydson and Cumming. In the afternoon's play, Robson defeated Bill Lamb, Lambton, four and three.

Today's battle will be a tough one for the veteran Robson. Horne is one of the cagiest tournament players in the country, and though his qualifying round of 38-39—77 is not impressive, came back to defeat L. Tucker of Kitchener, who stood second in the qualifying round with a 70.

Scarboro's Bob Gray, an early favorite, put together 35 and 37 for a 72 qualifying round, and defeated Claire Chinery, Cedar Brae, three and two in the afternoon's play. Gray comes up against R. Dean, Toronto, today in the championship draw.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Criticism by sports writers of the number of officials who accompanied the Canadian Olympic team to London is unjustified, George C. Macum, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, said Thursday at Montreal.

"As one who was supposed to go but had to forego the pleasure, may I ask that the people of this country begin to recognize the outstanding contribution to the life of the nation these same officials have made over the years," he said.

"I guarantee there is nobody over there (England) now who is not needed to ensure our team is well looked after and our athletes will have the chance to make their greatest possible effort in their bid for athletic fame."

Vancouver lacks the facilities and money to stage the British Empire Games in 1950. Ald. Sam Cromie said today city council would discuss the question again Aug. 9 but he believed the council "will throw it out." Vancouver and Hamilton both put tentative bids in for the games last month when it was learned they could not be held in Toronto.

Feminine American initiative finally overcame masculine ignorance—and that's why the United States girls carried smart blue shoulder bags in the Olympic parade Thursday. They almost had to march without any bags for powder puffs and other tools women lug around. "We men forgot women needed such things," confessed H. Jamisen Swarts, U.S. equipment chairman. But he remembered soon enough to get the bags.

Undefeated in 13 straight games, rookie Joe Tufteland had his eye on the Brooklyn pitching staff today. The class D Kansas-Oklahoma-Texas league freshman, playing his first season of professional ball, hasn't lost a game this year. Tufteland, from Lethbridge, Alta., is the loop's leading pitcher.

E. H. Banks, manager of the Ontario Golf Association, announced Thursday at Toronto, the association's annual 18-hole medal play district tournament will be held at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club, Kingston, Aug. 2. Players will be divided into three classes: those with 1-9, 10-20 and 21-32 handicaps. Each class will play for two gross and two low net prizes. Post entries will be allowed.

A ninth-round game between Abe Yanofsky, young Winnipeg chess master, and Alexander Kotov of Russia, was adjourned Thursday as the international chess tournament continued at Stockholm. Yanofsky now stands 12th among the 20 players competing in the 19-round tournament. He has a score of 3½-4½ with one adjourned game.

British Columbia will meet Alberta and Manitoba will play Ontario Monday in opening games of the second annual Canadian cricket championship tournament which is being staged at Vancouver all next week. Six Ball Players Bearers At Funeral of Herb Ralph

By PETE McGILLEN

Baseball players, young and old, together with many men prominent in organized sports in the city attended the requiem mass Thursday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception for Herbert Ralph, who died Monday night.

Pall-bearers were six men who had played on the Rotary Junior baseball team back in 1937, and managed by Ralph, which reached the Ontario finals, Mike O'Leary, Eddie Starr, Les. Burton, Bun Kingdon, Al Clark and Grant Clark.

Herbert Ralph made an outstanding contribution to the cause of minor baseball over a ten year period. In the late 20's he played as outfielder with the Peterborough Seniors in the COBL. Then he took over the managing assignment with the Rotary bantams. Once his bantams reached the Ontario finals, and a year later a juvenile team managed by him went to the semi-finals. For three years in a row Ralph turtored junior teams that reached the Ontario-finals, but the championship eluded him. In 1937 Oshawa took the crowd by one run.

Herb Ralph was a quiet, almost shy person whose interest in young ball players was a by-word during that period between 1930 and 1937. Outside of his work he gave liberally of his time, money and energy coaching, and practising his boys, and his popularity ran high. It is known that expenses paid from his personal resources ran into the hundreds of dollars, and he received little support outside of that given by the Rotary club, and a few merchants.

In recent years he was a member of the Peterborough Curling club, a member of the Lawn Bowling club, and an active hockey player, tending goal for the Quaker Oats shop team. He was a quarter century club member at the Quaker Oats, and active in the Quaker Fellowship Association.

Those who knew Herb Ralph regarded him as one of those fine citizens who give more than they take, making a substantial contribution to the good of the community in that realm of junior sport promotion where the bouquets are few and the obstacles great.

May Loses Match To Turkish Grappler

EARLS COURT STADIUM, London, July 30.—(CP).— Norm May of Toronto lost his match at the opening of the Olympic wrestling competition today to the Turkish grappler N. Akar.

It was a one-fall affair, N. Akar winning in two minutes, 50 seconds.

May, who held the city of Toronto and Ontario bantamweight titles several times before he won the Dominion title at the Canadian Olympic trials, weighed about 125 pounds for today's match.

Giant Pitchers Hit Stride Blank Cincinnati Reds 5-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

What has happened to New York Giants pitching staff?

Seven complete games in eight pitching starts have lifted the club past St. Louis Cardinals into third place in the National league. The hurlers throw shutouts like honest-to-goodness pitchers and not the humpty-dumpty throwers they are supposed to be.

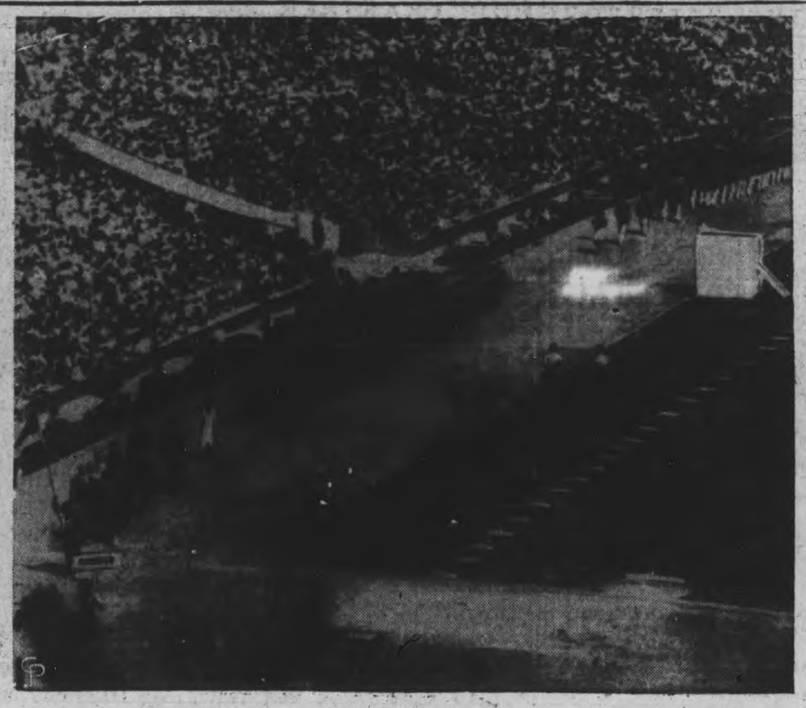
Koslo, particularly, has come into his own in recent days. Two straight no-run jobs, including Thursday's 5-0 effort against Cincinnati, stamp him as a most important factor in the club's pennant hopes. For the team itself it was their third straight shut-out. Walker Cooper Thursday eased Koslo's task with a bases-loaded homer in the first after the Giants already had scored one off Ken Raffensberger. It turned out to be more than enough, despite four straight singles by the Reds' Danny Litwhiler.

Brooklyn clubbed the Cardinals 9-6, permitting New York to take over third place. Neither club gained on the leading Boston Braves, who edged Pittsburgh 2-1. The Braves' lead remains intact at 5½ games.

Clout Cards

The Dodgers used the home run to cudgel the Cards' Murry Dickson into his 10th loss. Roy Campanella clouted his fifth of the year with two on in the first inning. After St. Louis tied the score, Gil Hodges slammed his eighth homer with one on in the fourth to regain the lead.

Bill Voiselle, who flopped with the Giants after a brilliant freshman season, collected decision No. 11 for Boston. He managed to weather several dangerous situations and drove home the decisive run with one of his rare hits.



The Phillies made it two out of three under manager Eddie Sawyer, who moved up from the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International league, subduing Chicago, 7-4.

Pitcher Jack Kramer and rookie Bill Goodman got into the home-run act for the first time this season as Boston Red Sox swamped Detroit 8-1 in the only American league game. As a result the Red Sox opened up a half-game lead over the idel Philadelphia A's on the strength of Kramer's 10th straight pitching success.

Kramer hit his homer in the third and Bobby Doerr banged his 19th with a man on in the sixth. Goodman blasted his with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Down in the Miller Bowl tonight the Petes meet Orillia in a scheduled OLA match. Orillia defeated Oshawa the other night, and will probably give the Petes a run for their money.

Here's the timetable for the rest of the men's softball games: August 3, Knights vs. BA and Comstock's vs. Legion; on August 5, Legion vs. BA and Comstock's vs. Knights. Semi-finals will start August 7, and there should be plenty of action. Right now BA is on top with 12 wins and 10 losses, trailed closely by Legion and Comstock's both with 11 wins and 11 losses. Knights are in the basement, having 10 wins and 12 losses.

Great Britain administered the first whitewashing to the United States in 24 years of Davis Cup play, 13 years ago today, at Wimbledon. In the final day's play Fred Perry defeated Wilmer Allison and Bunny Austin upset Donald Budge. That made it 5-0 for the defending nation.

Montreal Bows To Last-Place Orioles 6-5

By The Associated Press

Lou Novikoff, the mad Russian of the Chicago Cubs in pre-war days, is up to his old tricks in Newark.

A collision between Novikoff and Joe Collins in left centre field Thursday night ultimately cost Newark's Bob Porterfield his sixth loss of the season.

There was one out in the ninth inning and a man on second when Bob Young lifted a fly between Novikoff and Collins. After they collided, the ball rolled away for a triple, permitting the tying run to score. Haf Rice then singled home the clincher, 7-6.

The league-leading Montreal Royals bowed 6-5 to last-place Baltimore Orioles. Ernie Groth went the route for the Orioles, yielding nine hits including homers by John Simmons and Bob Morgan.

Toronto climbed into fourth place, dropping Jersey City to seventh, by handing the Little Giants their sixth straight beating 9-6. Vince Plumbo's three-run homer paced the Toronto attack on four Jersey pitchers. Jack Harshman and Buddy Blattner hit home runs off Jock Thompson.

Clem Hausmann chalked up his 13th victory with a neat three-hit shutout for Buffalo over Syracuse 7-0. Hausmann helped his own cause with a two-run double in the sixth. Johnny Groth, sure to be a Detroit Tiger next year, led the Bisons with a single and a three-run homer.

Buffalo West Leading Field

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 30 — (CP). — The pen is mightier than the oar at the Canadian Henley, where it seems almost any brawny youth can propel a racing shell but it takes a mathematical wizard to tote up their winning points.

Going into today's events, for instance — third day of the four-day regatta—the defending champion Buffalo West Sides lead with 56 points. Close behind was St. Catharines, host club, with 47 while Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Leanders were deadlocked for third with 36 apiece.

From there down, the remainder of the 10 United States and six Canadian clubs represented in the historic regatta were strung out, ranging from Detroit with 26 points to a couple with goose-eggs.

Philippines Trounce Iraq

LONDON, July 30.—(AP). — A speedy squad from the Philippines, opened the Olympic games basketball tournament today with a lopsided 102-30 victory over an inexperienced Iraq team.

The Filipinos, along with coach Bob Osborne's Canadians and Mexico, are counted on to give the United States the stiffest opposition for the Olympic title being contested by teams from 23 nations.

Canada's team, a combined aggregation from the University of British Columbia and Montreal YMHA, was drawn against Italy in the opening round.

Only 17 spectators and a charwoman were in 10,000 seats at Harringay arena when the first game began. By half-time a couple of hundred were scattered around the indoor bowl.

A team gets two points for victory, one for losing, and none if it defaults.

Competitors are split into four groups for the round robin in which each team plays every other team in its group. Groups are:

A—Canada, Brazil, Britain, Hungary, Italy, Uruguay.

B—Philippines, Belgium, Chile, China, Iraq, Korea.

C—United States, Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, Peru, Switzerland.

D—Mexico, Cuba, Eire, France, Iran.

Believe Canada May Retain Dominion Title

TORONTO, July 30.—(CP).—With two Canadians among the four players in the semi-finals, the Dominion today has a 50-50 chance of seeing a native son capture her men's singles tennis title.

Henri Rochon of Montreal, eliminated the last foreign invader from the top half of the draw Thursday when he trounced Lin Baldwin of Yale University, 6-0, 6-1, 6-0, in a quarter-final match.

The Canadian Davis Cup player today meets Jean Paul Turgeon of Quebec City in a semi-final tilt that guarantees the presence of a Canadian in the finals.

Turgeon upset Canada's seventh ranking player, Jean Jacques Desjardins of Montreal 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, in a game featured by excellent back and forehand shots.

Both men complained that a referee was not on hand when they played. Desjardins said referees always judged the close ones in Canadian championship quarter-final matches.

Tournament officials declined comment.

Buser continued his giant-killing role by upsetting third-seeded Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, 6-4, 8-6, 26, 7-5. In a fourth-round match Wednesday he defeated Sverre Lie, of Norway, seeded sixth.

Allow Protest

OLYPIC STADIUM, Wembley, July 30 — (AP). — Egypt filed the first official protest of the Olympic games today—and its claim was allowed. The Egyptians protested against the officiating in Thursday night's water polo game in which Hungary defeated Egypt, 4-2. Officials upheld the protest. The game will be replayed tonight with new officials.

REGINA, July 30.—(CP). — City officials Thursday rejected a private request that a Russian flag be removed from a group being used in street decorations during the current exhibition. The flag is in front of the federal building in downtown Regina.

Lucille Ball Turns Down Broadway Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 30 (AP)—Lucille Ball turned down an offer to star in a Broadway musical in the Fall — and for an interesting reason.

"I left Broadway when I was a show girl," she says, "and I don't want to return in the same type of role. Besides, I don't have a musical comedy voice; one or two songs I can handle, no more. I'd like to return to the stage, but it would have to be a show like 'Dream Girl' or 'Born Yesterday'."

Betty Hutton was visiting "The Heiress" set before leaving for her appearance at London's Palladium. She spied Sir Ralph Richardson and ran up to him and asked: "What's a fortnight?" It seems she is to appear for that length of time. (I wouldn't believe this either if I hadn't heard it first-hand.)

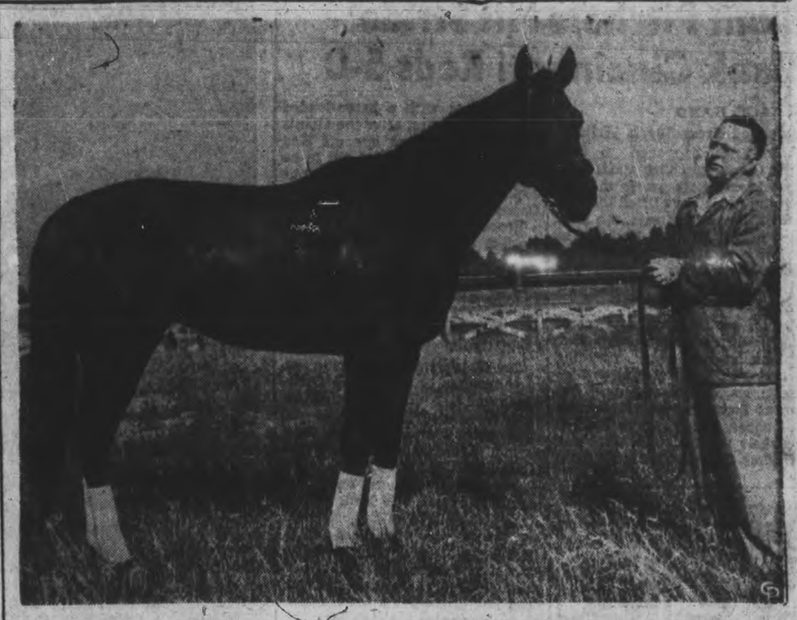
Ricardo Montalban appears destined to pursue his professional career beside the undraped frame of Esther Williams (not bad work). He'll have to wait until Fall for his next film — either "Duchess of Idaho" or "Neptune's Daughter." Either picture will mark his fourth with Esther.

Artistic Athletes

Director Jacques Tourneur, now directing the Los Angeles Rams pro football team in "Interference," says the gridders are easier to direct than many actors. His reasoning: "Football players are used to remembering 60 or more intricate plays; it's a cinch for them to remember how to make a few steps and say a line."

Chico Marx enthuses about a "great entertainer" named Red Moore, whom Chico is importing from Australia. He is the first person ever placed under personal contract by Chico, who discovered the singer-actor-comic during a Down-Under tour.

Peter Lawford may go abroad for the Communist spy yarn, "The Conspirators," announced for Errol Flynn and Deborah Kerr . . . Still smarting from the New York critics' barbs at "Homecoming," Director Mervyn Leroy comments: "I still say a good review can't help a bad picture and a bad review can't hurt a good one." He needn't worry; "Homecoming" is going great guns.



Miriam Hopkins was asked why there aren't more women in the production end of show business. "Men won't let them," she retorted. . . .

Want POW's Back

ST. THOMAS, July 30.—(CP). —Elgin County farmers want former German prisoners-of-war to come back to Canada and work for them again. W. Dufty, who supervised the prisoners at a nearby Fingal camp, said Southwestern Ontario farmers prefer the Germans to former Polish soldiers and displaced persons from camps in Germany.

Israel Buys Food

HUBBARDS, N.S., July 30. — (CP). — The Israeli Government has completed purchase of $100,000 worth of foodstuffs in the Maritime Provinces and Quebec, it was learned here Thursday. The products, consisting of canned fish, baked beans and powdered milk, has been shipped to Palestine through the port of Saint John, N.B.

Charge Chaos Wrecks Olympic Wrestling

LONDON, July 30. — (Reuters).—Olmpic wrestling officials today complained of "chaos" in the organization of wrestling matches.

It was impossible to start the preliminary events on time. Officials had not been proivded with copies of the draw for the first round some time after the bouts were due to start.

Withdrawals and failures to make the weight confined the number of competitors for the opening series of flyweight free-style bouts to 11.

Pakistan's six-man Olympic wrestling team was not allowed to compete. George McKenzie of the British Amateur Wrestling Association said th decision had been taken because Pakistan had not nominated its entries properly and the team had arrived an hour late for the weigh-in.

tl was believed, however, that Pakistan's team will still take part in the Greco-Roman wrestling which begins next week.

ANIMAL RADAR

Bats find their way in the dark by sensing the echoes of their own shrill, super-sonic screams —a system akin to radar.

Bob Dean Steals Golf Limelight

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP). — Red-haired Bob Dean, 19-year-old assistant pro from Toronto Golf Club stole the show from his more seasoned competitors in first-day play for the Millar Trophy, emblematic of professional match play championship, at Islington Club, near Toronto.

Dean defeated ex-sailor Joe Noble of Thornhill, 2 and 1, in spectacular fashion before a record opening-day gallery Thursday.

Shooting a hole-in-one on the 15th, Dean went one up on his match with Noble. He birdied the next and the match ended on the 17th.

The ace actually was scored on the 165-yard sixth hole as the twosome were in the half of the first-round field thtat started its matches on the 10th tee owing to a delay in completing the qualifying round.

Gord Harrison, assistant at Mississauga, had more luck than his boss, Gordon Bryson, Harrison defeated Ed Rennick of Scarboro, 4 and 3, while Brydson bowed out at the 18th hole in a tight match with Diamond Gauthier of Montreal.

Brydson, however, shared medal honors in the qualifying round with Lou Cummings of Toronto club as the two slashed five strokes from Islington's long-layout 73.

No Red Menace In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, July 30—(CP). — A completely false impression of the alleged Communist menace to Australan security measures has been given to authorities overseas by "exaggerated press reports," Defence Minister John J. Dedman declared to-day.

Dedman was referring to reports that the United States refuses to share top-secret defence information with Britain unless there is a guarantee that Australia will not have access to them.

"Our security organization is quite efficient," Dedman said. "No proof has yet been advanced nor has any indication been given that any secrets — defence or otherwise — have leaked out of Australia either through the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research or any other department."

The government was fully aware of the menace of Communism in Australia and was taking all constitutional steps to protect the interests of the country from a security angle, against Communist infiltrations.

Blast On Freighter

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 30—(AP).— An engine-room explosion, caused by overheatnig turbo-electric motors and alternators, blasted the oil-burning British freighter Empire Marshall last night shortly after its arrival from Vancouver. The harbor port warden estimated damage at $150,000. No one was injured.

Truck, Car Collide

LINDSAY, July 30—(ENS)—Damage was light anr one driver was shaken up when a car and a truck collided on Lindsay Street South at 7:30 to-day. Ernest Ferren, 22, of Cross Street, Peterborough, driving a truck, is said by police to have crashed into the rear of a car driven by R. E. Nugent of Reaboro, in attempting to pass. Damage to the grille of the truck was estimated at $10, and the rear of the Nugen car $40. Special Constable Gordon Eberts investigated.

Says St. Laurent Should Resign

MONTREAL, July 30—(CP)—Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal said in a radio address Wednesday night that External Affairs Minister St. Laurent should resign because of the Union Nationale victory in the Quebec elections.

The mayor, who made a late appearance in the election campaign in support of Premier Duplessis, went on the air shortly after Canadian Press returns indicated the government's return to power.

"This victory by Mr. Duplessis and his ideas is your defeat," he said, addressing himself directly to the federal minister.

"This is a cruel lesson, Mr. St. Laurent, but betrayals among us are not punished otherwise. It is your duty, Mr. St. Laurent to admit from now on that you are not the leader of the race and to resign after this defeat, which is both that of Mr. Godbout and yourself."

Remembers Explosion

KITCHENER, July 30 (CP)—A former German citizen said Wednesday he remembered an explosion in the Farben plant at Ludwigshafen in 1921 that resembled the current disaster. William Habich, who came to Canada from Auerbach, near Mannheim said a blast in July or August of 1921 killed about 400, and was heard 70 miles away.

21 Old People Given Outing By Rotarians

Twenty-one elderly people forgot their ages, cares, and special diets on Wednesday afternoon when they were guests of the Rotary Club at a picnic held at Nicholls Oval.

James Dutton who supervised proceedings, pointed out that the Rotary Club had always been interested in underprivileged children and other community problems but it was now felt that not sufficient attention had been paid to brightening the lives of elderly people.

There was no racing, shot-putting or high jumping; the elderly folk enjoyed themselves in their own way chatting and reminiscing In the early part of the afternoon they were taken on a car ride along the River Road to Lakefield and then back to Nicholls Oval. They were called for individually; five cars picking them up for the afternoon's outing.

Warm sunny weather favored the success of the picnic. Volunteer waiters helped them to large portions of sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

Oldest man present was Lachlan Mackay, 97, who still retains the accents of his native Scotland. "Lachlan Mackay, what else could I be but a Scot," he banters. Mrs. Clara E. Barnes, 85, was the oldest woman.

Arrangements for the outing were made by Max Comstock, acting chairman of the Rotary Social Service Committee, and James Dutton. Refreshments were prepared by Mrs. Ian McRae, Mrs. Harley Keefer, Mrs. E. Braund, Mrs. G. Gillespie, Mrs. Frank Paterson, Mrs. Herbert Bradburn, Mrs. Charles Cummer, Mrs. R. Allen, Mrs. E. L. Sackville, and Mrs. Hubert Eastwood.

One of the guests was a man well known to Peterborough sportsmen with long memories. He was Bert "Buck" Asselstine, 73, who was a star rugby player about 40 years ago. He played on a team that included the late Dr. MacPherson, the late Jack Dainard, and two men still active—William Meagher and William Grady. He was a member of the first Toronto Argonaut rugby team and came to Peterborough from Kingston.

Those present were: Mrs. Edna Sexsmith, Olive St.; Mrs. M. Thompson, Louis St.; Mrs. T. Castle, George St.; Mrs. Mary Gilbank, Bethune St.; Mrs. Margaret Scobell, McGill St.; Mrs. Alice Carr, Brock St.; Mrs. Mary Delarme, Louis St.; Mrs. Minnie Lister, Euclid Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodwin, Mark St.; Mrs. Clara E. Barnes, Monaghan Rd.; Mrs. Annie Sararas, New Chamberlain St.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Howarth, Chamberlain St.; Alfred J. Cole, McGill St.; Mr. and Mrs. P. Houren, Lake St.; Harry Illingworth, Rubidge St.; Lachlan Mackay, Sherbrooke St. Walter Whitehead, King St., and Herbert Asselstine, Charlotte St.

Those who volunteered their services and the use of their cars for the sight-seeing tour to Lakefield were James Juby, Jack Mark, Harley Keefer, Max Comstock and N. J. L. Nesbitt, Jr.

At the conclusion of the picnic Mr. Goodwin thanked the Rotary Club for their thoughtfulness on behalf of the other guests.

Found Guilty Of Assaulting Police Officer

Found guilty on the evidence, despite absolute denials by himself and his wife, Clifford Henry of Burleigh Falls will be sentenced on August 3 for assaulting Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis and for creating a disturbance in Lakefield. The case was heard before Magistrate Gee today.

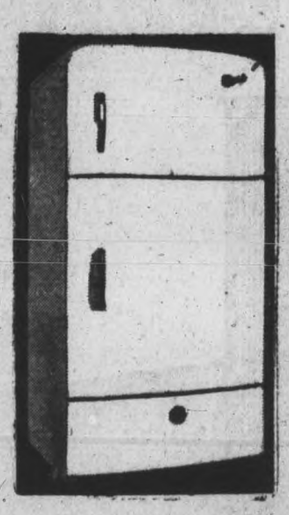
On July 24, evidence showed, accused had been in Lakefield waiting beside a house near the centre of the village. When asked what he was doing there, witnesses said his language became very abusive and loud curses could be heard for considerable distance.

Brothers, Fred and Warney Northey of Mt. Julian, testified that they had asked the question of the accused when they drove their truck into a nearby creamery yard. Graham, a Lakefield storekeeper, also said that he heard the abusive language of the accused from his store, 100 feet away.

The accused, in his own behalf, said that the two men in the truck had sworn at him and that the driver had jumped out and gestured as if to strike him. He said both sides had been swearing.

Wife of the accused also said she heard the truckers call the accused a foul name. She admitted that both she and her husband had been drinking in a Peterborough beverage room that afternoon.

Chief Samis described the assault on him, which had been painful and required being sent to bed, but which, he reported, would not result in permanent injury. He said that he accompanied the Northey brothers, on their complaint, and overtook the Henry couple walking out of the village.



He said that he showed Henry his identification as a police officer and placed him under arrest. The accused refused to accompany him and struck him on the face and shoulder. There was a struggle, said the Chief, in which he threw the accused to the sidewalk and attempted to handcuff him. He said he did not strike Henry until after Henry had delivered two severely crippling kicks. Then he slapped his face, he said.

The kicks that injured Chief Samis, said both Northey witnesses, as the officer had gone white from the blows. At this stage, they had assisted in helping to hold the accused until another police officer arrived.

As under the first charge, both accused and his wife emphatically denied the story of the Crown witnesses. Mrs. Henry said her husband did not do any of the hitting, but mentioned that "the three all piled on him and the Chief threw him down and pounded his face."

The accused's denial of striking any blows or kicks was also vigorous.

Magistrate Gee commented that Henry must have been "either just a bit too lit up—or he's got a wicked temper."

Find Cattle Run Higher Than Year Ago

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP).— The cattle run of 7,881 head on the Toronto Livestock Market this week was some 850 more than the previous week and about 2,250 more than for the same week last year. Prices remained steady for the comparatively small number of good quality butcher and weighty steers, but good quality heifers were fully 50 cents lower for the week.

Good to choice veal opened steady, but by mid-week only fancy grades commanded top prices. Hogs gained 25 cents and lambs were steady on a strong market.

The bulk of the cattle were common to plain. Trade was dull and prices were unevenly lower from 50 cents to $1.50 for the week. At the close good butcher cows sold from $14-$14.25. Bulls remained fairly steady, with few good offering after Monday and sold at $15-$15.50, with an odd top of $16, with the commoner kinds downward to $11.

Sommon to medium cows sold downward to $11.50, with canners and cutters downward to $6. Fed yearlings continued steady and in good demand at $20-$24. Good quality stockers met broad demand with short keep feeders selling up to $18.50 and stockers up to $17.50. Common to medium stockers sold slow and downward to $12.

Butcher steers sold from $18-$23;;; butcher steers from $16-$21, although later in the week the bulk of good offerings sold from $20-$20.50. Good butcher cows closed at $14-$14.25, with an odd one at $14.50.

Republican Strategy Threatens To Bog Down U.S. Senate Action

WASHINGTON, July 30 — (CP).— Republican strategy today threatened to bog down the United States senate at once in a filibuster against civil rights legislation.

This would virtually end hopes of any progress on anti-inflation, housing or any of the other measures for which President Truman called Congress back from the pre-election recess.

The Republicans, who control Congress, planned to call as the first item of business the anti-poll tax bill, probably the least important of all the domestic measures recommended in the President's message Tuesday.

In seven southern states a tax must be paid by all persons before they are allowed to vote. This, it is cllaimed, cuts off many negroes, the low-income brackets, from the franchise. Anti-poll tax legislation is opposed by the southern states as a violation of states' rights.

The anti-poll tax measure is the one most certain to start a filibuster that could go on for weeks or months. There are 19 leather-lunged southern senators ready to talk from now until Christmas to prevent a vote.

They can start on the motion to consider the bill and on that motion there can be no application of closure, the parliamentary procedure by which a debate can be ended by the support of two-thirds of those present and voting.

Use Democrats

Thus the Republicans could say that they are prevented from doing anything the President recommended because of the blocking tactics of the southern Democrats.

Democrats are proposing that the bill be amended to offer anti-poll tax legislation as a constitutional amendment. That would take a long time because it would not be effective until approved by the legislatures of 36 of the 48 states.

Southern Democrats would not oppose that procedure and have said so. Anything else, they have declared, will be fought to the fullest extent by their speaking and technical resources.

Against this announced Republican plan Senator Robert Taft, Ohio Republican, Wednesdaay night told a radio audience that Congress might remain in session two or three weeks and try to pass some anti-inflation measures.

DIDN'T I TELL YOU? You get 50% MORE Jam or Jelly with CERTO

AND RESULTS ARE SURE!

Sounds almost unbelievable — until you know the reasons why. Certo is nothing but "fruit pectin" — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell." It's extracted from fruits in which it is most plentiful for better, quicker, easier jam and jelly making.

1. Short boil — That's why, when you use Certo, you don't have to "boil down" your fruit to make it set. A one-to-two-minute full, rolling boil is enough for jams .... a half-minute-to-a-minute for jellies.

2. Extra yield — The short Cert boil saves all the precious fruit juice which, in long boiling, goes off in steam. You get an extra yield of 50% more jam or jelly.

3. Saves time, work — What a lot of time and work it saves, too! The old long-boil way you'd have to boil and stir many times as long.

4. Fresh fruit flavour — colour — With Certo you use fruit at its peak of flavor and colour and not the under-ripe fruit used in long-boil recipes. The Certo boil is too short to spoil this lovely taste and colour. They stay right in your jam or jelly.

5. No failures — You'll have no failures if you follow exactly the recipes provided with Certo. Different fruits need different handling, so there's a separate tested recipe for each one.

TAKE THE GUESSWORK OUT OF JAM AND JELLY-MAKING GET CERTO AT YOUR GROCER'S

A Product of General Foods

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

Rambling Reporter

A LION IN THE STREETS

One rambunctious, dust-raising, otherwise normal cat caused a minor furore on George St. today. It all started when the feline was discovered in a wall partition in a fur store, where her presence was not appreciated. To dislodge her, a stream of fur disinfectant was squirted at the belligerent pussy. That brought results—and how! Eye-witnesses describe the scene as "a whirlwind." The malignant cat yowled, howled, screeched, clawed, pushed, scratched and bullied her way through the store, with such an air of bristling lionish savagery that had the clerks rushing out of her way. Tearing out the door and down George St., the cat repeated the performance in a hat shop in the same building, which it scooted into at sixty-plus. Humane society officials finally managed to subdue the miniature wildcat and lead it away to sympathetic attention.—RB.

Beauty of Kawartha Lakes Delights California Pair

Both complaints and high praise were heard on Tuesday afternoon when several American visitors were asked what they thought of the Kawartha country, its fishing, accommoration, and shopping areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Kidd, Glendale, California, who are staying at Crowe's Landing on Stony Lake, said they were thoroughly enjoying their holiday. One of the things that made a deep impression on them was the freshness of the countryside. In their home state, which itself caters to a large tourist trade, the almost constant sunshine and very little rainfall during the summer months are not conducive to a green countryside.

Mr. Kidd said he had caught plenty of good-sized pickerel, but the Kawartha's prize game fish, the muskie, still eludes him.

"Your prices are cheap generally," said Mrs. Kidd. Her husband pointed out, however, that he had found a lightmeter for his camera very expensive.

Two New York couples, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Jackson from New York City and Mr. and Mrs. H. Urban, Buffalo, both of whom have owned cottages on Jack's Lake for many years were less satisfied.

They said tourists from new summer resorts on Jack's Lake were noisy and ran motorboats up and down the lake during the night.

Pickerel Criticised

When asked about the fishing they said that the recent restocking of the lake with pickerel and muskies had resulted in a rapidly decreasing number of lake trout and bass. They said they were convinced that the recent arrivals were eating the young lake trout and bass.

Food prices they thought quite fair, but they said many other articles were costly. "The price of your yard woollens is too high," said Mrs. Urban, "and the variety and quality is not as good as we can obtain in the States."

"You have a beautiful country here; you probably don't realize it," said one American man from Emporia, Illinois.

He is staying at Clear Lake for two weeks and said he was having a first-class holiday. A confirmed bass fisherman, he said that this present season "is the best in several years."

The anonymous American who was born in Canada and left Peterborough about 30 years ago, said he was amazed at the industrial growth of the city. He was particularly impressed by the the shops on George St.

He had travelled through many parts of the United States but still likes the Kawartha region. Referring to the bush on either side of the highway he said "that's just the way nature intended it, and I like to see it that way."

Apart from Florida he thought the region in this holiday district on a par with any comparable area in the United States that he had seen.

Some Americans visiting Peterborough are more interested in fishing that bargain hunting. None of the half a dozen tourists interviewed on George St. today wanted to be able to take back more than the permitted $400 worth of goods duty free. Two or three said that the former limit was sufficient as far as they were concerned.

Want Woollens

Allen Bestwick, of Grove City, Penn., pointed out that nine out of 10 Americans visiting Canada were working people on vacation for a rest and relaxation, and that they did not come here to buy Canadian goods. He was interested, however, in the woollen goods, such as blankets and shirts, which are difficult to buy in the States.

According to A. Cronick, of Akron, Ohio, prices for most goods are just as high here as across the border and he thought that there was little bargain buying to be done, with the exception of shoes which he said were quite a bit cheaper. He had not visited Canada since before the war and said he had not found the difference in prices that he had expected.

Most stores report less indiscriminate buying by touristh this year, and any increase in business is probably due to the fact that more goods are for sale. There is at least twice the amount of English chinaware for sale, for example, and it is extremely popular as it costs about twice as much in the States.

CONDITION "IMPROVED"

Condition of Joseph Lucas, 62-year-old Downeyville farmer who was injured Wednesday afternoon when his team of horses bolted, is reported to be improved now. Dr. W. H. Earle of Omemee, who is handling the case, said the injuries of a crushed chest and punctured lung were coming along satisfactorily.

Local TB Contributions Reach New Low Record

Peterborough's average contribution to the 1947 Christmas seals campaign was only slightly more than half the province's average stated E. J. O'Brien, executive secretary of the Ontario Tuberculosis Association, at a meeting on Thursday at Hooper's Restaurant. The meeting was called to discuss the reorganization of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association.

James Dutton, chairman of the Board of Health, explained that for the past three years, certain members of the Local Council of Women had served as members of the County Association. Under their sponsorship, various programs have been carried out in the field of tuberculosis prevention. These include mass chest X-ray surveys of various municipalities throughout the county, X-ray survey of all secondary school pupils and food handlers in the city and more recently a bi-monthly referred X-ray clinic for suspects and contacts at the Civic and St. John's Hospitals. These servicese have been given without charge to the individual and were financed by the sale of Christmas seals.

"In view of the fact that the Local Council of Women find that they are unable to carry on this work," said Mr. Dutton, "we feel that it would be best for a voluntary organization to continue their work." As only five people were present of the fourteen invited to attend, he said he thought it very unwise to form such an organization until a later date.

Mr. O'Brien gave a brief survey of the provincial tuberculosis program and suggested several ways of augmenting the work of the local organization. He paid tribute to the work of the Local Council of Women, but pointed out that Peterborough's average contribution to the Christmas seals campaign, the only source of funds, was 8½ cents compared to Ontario's average of slight more than 15 cents. He suggested that this average could be improved.

Added Cost $7,000

He proposed that the referred X-ray clinic work should be augmented to include, among others, all general hospital admissions. This would necessitate the purchase of special equipment at a cost of about $7,000. Local voluntary groups have already supplied such equipment to 14 Ontario hospitals.

Mr. O'Brien also said he would like to see a mass survey extended to the whole community and not merely to factories in the city. The expense would be that of organization, which is approximately an average of 7 cents per person and that of the clinic. He explained the pre-school and public school children were not wanted, which eliminates about 25 per cent of the population. Another 15 per cent would not attend for various reasons. That would mean a survey in Peterborough of about 20,000 people at an organization cost of slightly more than $1,000. The Government's charge for use of a mobile clinic is 30 cents per person, which would mean a total cost of about $7,000 for the entire survey.

He finally suggested that a nucleus of a new organization be formed, but this did not meet with the approval of those present, who agreed with Mr. Dutton that the meeting was in no way representative of the city or county. A further meeting to set up a new organization is to be held in about a month's time.

As well as Mr. O'Brien and Mr Dutton, Alderman Richard Raine, Charles Elliott, W. E. Foley and Charles Ray were present at the meeting.

4 Gas Station Operators Face Charges

The contentious garage-closing bylaw, passed by City Council July 12, is going to be the subject of a thorough court battle. Arrangements were made in court for the trial of four operators. The cases were adjourned to Aug. 9, with the possibility that the defence may ask further time to prepare.

Alex Elliott, K.C., counsel for the Peterborough Garage Owners, will be special prosecutor under the Bylaw 4701.

The four charged, who are represented by J. Arthur Fair, are Leo Burke, John Russelle, John and Arthur Thompson and Albert Bianco. The charges are that the accused sold gasoline during hours which the bylaw requires them to be closed.

Mr. Fair told the court that he expected a day-long case.

"There is a great deal of law to come into this case, and there are a number of recent court decisions which must be studied. In a matter o fthis kind, the defence is much more difficult to prepare than the prosecution."

Mr. Elliott said that "there will probably be further informations laid which concern offences after these dates charged." It is unstood that the city police department is keeping a check on the open and closed hours of garages and that charges are being laid.

(Bylaw 4701, passed July 12 and effective July 21, provides for a penalty of not more than $50 for each offence.)

Taking No Chances

WASHINGTON, July 30. — (AP).—Secret Service guards of President Roosevelt were so suspicious of Gen. STILL SERIOUS

Latest reports from St. Joseph Hospital indicate that "Bud" Collins, Munroe St., is still serious. He was hurt in an automobile accident near Indian River, on the boundary road, on Saturday. Hospital officials say there has been little change in his condition, but perhaps a slight improvement.

Buy New Torches For Dentists? Not A Chance Tsk, Tsk, Commissioners May Get Toothache

Consumer reports of the new propane gas have all been favorable, with one group exception, the dentists of the city. Presumably they like the gas, too, but its higher content of BTU's or some gremlin put their torches out of use. One morning when the propane had completely displaced the old carbureted water gas that has been flowing through the pipes for years, the burners on the dentist trays of gadgets quit burning. Bright members of the profession blamed the gas switch. New burners cost them $8, so it was said yesterlay, and Ross Dobbin set the question before the Utilities Commission: should we pa for their new ones?

"No-o-o," Gordon Matthews, chairman, replied immediately, then looked at his two associates for assent.

"No-o-o," said Fred Hills.

"Eight dollars a torch, No-o-o," said George Macdonald. The Commission was never more unanimous, as they went into their trio of negation.

"Why should we have to buy new torches for them?" Mr. Macdonald asked. "They are now getting better gas than ever."

Just then Mr. Dobbin got a hearing. "That's all I wanted to know. I hope none of the members has a toothache at this time."

As to the quality of the gas, consumers are getting 720 as compared with 450 BTU's (British Thermal Units.) The increase in the gas efficiency is 60 p.c., Mr Dobbin said. The group of adjusters who were brought here from Hamilton to examine every heating appliance in action with the new gas and to set the valves for the exact inflow of oxygen, have not yet completed their work.

They have made the rounds of 14 industries and more than 200 commercial consumers, but they have done only 1,800 of the domestic total, between 3,100 and 3,200. "We are getting a few recalls," R. L. Dobbinh said.

"I don't think we ought to talk about any change of rates until the whole conversion is completed," Mr. Matthews suggested, and the other commissioners agreed.

"The reports I have had were very favorable," the chairman said.

City Water Rates Increased 25 Per Cent By Utilities

Peterborough's water rates will be increased 25 per cent. beginning with the first billing in September.

This change, authorized by the Utilities Commission Thursday, is equivalent to better than 25 cents a month to the average consumer, sketchily identified as the occupant of a six-room dwelling with three-piece bathroom and lawn service.

The increase was a reluctant decision in the face of a deficit of $10,159 in the waterworks department for the six months ending June 30. The commission was unanimous. Its necessity was indicated at the end of the first quarter, March 31, but the commission held to hope of some improvement.

Expected a Loss of $18,000.

Cost of labor and materials and several items which might have been properly included in capital expenditure, one of them for the purchase of stoplogs, providing a supply that will meet requirements at the dam for the year, were reflected in the widening spread between expenditure and revenue. Repairs to the wooden grill on the face of the dam was another of the included items, apart from the overhead of labor and higher prices of materials. At the present charges it was estimated by R. L. Dobbin, manager, that the operating loss for the year might be close to $18,000.

His figures for all this year were:

Revenue—Sale of water, $146,000; fire protection, $25,000; miscellaneous, $4,500. Total $175,000.

Expenditure—Operation, $125,000; debenture charges, $52,625; depreciation charges, $16,000. Total, $193,625.

On the basis of the current rates the prospective loss for 1949 was $30,000.

It was suggested in discussion that the accounting might forego an item for depreciation, but sentiment of the Commissioners was that it might not be wise in the longer run of financing.

Profit of $4,171

Mr. Dobbin's statement showed in the water department last year a profit of $4,171. "Revenues increased during the period for the half year by $5,200, but expenses were up $20,000. The increase in expense was due to higher prices for material and labor, and also because some deferred maintenance had to be undertaken. There was also an increase of $5,000 in carrying charges for debentures.

This year $200,000 of debentures were sold. The annual charges for these will amount to $14,000, but for the balance of 1948 only $3,250 will be required for interest alone."

Estimates indicated that the 25% increase in September would permit the department to break even for 1948 with the prospect of $7,000 profit in 1949.

FOR LATE BLIGHT

Even the small gardeners with a crop of potatoes promising a stock for winter are advised by the Ontario Agricultural College to spray for late blight which is reported to have broken out in Dufferin and the Niagara district. "Bordeau mixture or one of the fixed coppers may be used on potatoes, but fixed coppers only should be used on tomatoes. All above ground parts of the plants should be thoroughly covered for protection against late blight. If the weather is wet, repeat applications every week."

3 Weeks Holiday For Employees On Job 20 Years

Employees of the Utilities Commission of continuous service of 20 years are going to get three weeks holidays beginning next year.

That prospect of vacation has not been definitely decided, but it was mentioned in the course of a discussion Thursday by the Commission of plans for the formation of a Quarter Century Club. Present arrangements are only an outline program of a eligible for the proposed club by meeting of the employees who are continuous service for 25 years.

The Commission intends to sponsor the Club, provide the occasion for its inception and then leave its organization and future to the members themselves.

Mr. G. S. Matthews, chairman, suggested that apart from the provisions for the Club members, the three weeks vacation term should be extended to all employees of 20 years continuous service.

For the Quarter Century Club 28 employees of the Commission qualify now for membership. To foster its formation the Commission intends to arrange for a dinner at the Empress Hotel some time in September with the eligible members and their wives as guests. Long service will be recognized by gifts from the Commission, "and we'll provide the entertainment," Mr. Matthews proposed. The Commission as a whole heartily approved the idea.

"And entertainment means no speaker," Mr. Matthews said.

"What, you don't consider a guest speaker as entertainment?" Mr. Macdonald humorously remarked.

"I do not," the chairman said. "I don't think our employees want to hear any speeches."

These intimations signify a date for the Utilities employees in September.

Accessory Trims In Holiday Wear

Rather stiffer lines in holiday millinery are seen in wickerwork straw hats trimmed with foulards and matching up with wickerwork handbags, or "basket bags". Pretty little summer hats in checked gingham and shaped like shell bonnets with handkerchief ends on either side to tie under the chin or over the bonnet brim on less windy days.

Other accessories leaving their mark upon holiday styles this season are the many dark sunglasses tied over the eyes with scarves or with scraps of material to match individual dresses, instead of owning to the customary bars looping them over the ears. Often a peaked brim or visor to protect the eyes when playing golf or tennis is fastened in position in the same way, thus adding a touch of color to a summer outfit.

Broad-brimmed, sun-stopping hats, some with brims so wide that they fall back upon the shoulders at the back, protecting them better than any parasol, are pretty for holiday wear. Supple straws which can be draped into huge pleats and folds are used for such models, often enhanced by a large bow of polka-dotted cotton or a striped scarf.

Elsie I. Chappell To Live In Toronto

A double ring wedding ceremony performed in St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, by the Rev. M. R. Hunt, united in marriage Elsie Irma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chappell, and James Edward Smyth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smyth of Toronto.

White gladioli and pink snapdragon decorated the altar, flanked by baskets of summer flowers. Mrs. John Twist played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Douglas Landry of Peterborough who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered, and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown was of blush satin with a bertha collar effect, caught up with clusters of pearls, and the skirt fell into a long train. A lace yoke was inset at the neckline and the sleeves were long, coming to points over the hands. She wore a full-length veil, caught to a headdress of pearls and carried a cascade of pink roses with bouvardia. Mr. Chappell gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Wm. Ackison, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Joan Magee of Peterborough and Miss Jean Orr were bridesmaids. They were frocked in twilight blue faille taffeta with long mittens to match and wore halos of matching blue. Each carried a cascade of pink gladioli.

Mr. Albert Clark of Toronto was the groomsman and ushers were Allan Edwards, Toronto, brother-in-law of the groom, and George A. Chappell, brother of the bride.

After the reception in St. John's Parish Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Smyth left for Cleveland, Ohio. The bride was wearing a dress of pale blue moire with black accessories and carried a fuschia topcoat. They will reside in Toronto.

Austin Killingbeck Wed in London

Against a background of red roses at her home in London on Saturday, Marion Catherine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dodd, became the bride of Austin Stanley Killingbeck of Peterborough son of Mrs. George Wavell, Otterville. The Rev. Roy Connor officiated, and traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. F. Manning.

Given in mariage by her father, the bride was gowned in embroidered white nylon over blue taffeta. An orange blossom coronet held her fingertip veil and she wore an heirloom diamond cross. She carried white gladiol and stephanotis.

Miss Margaret Dodd attended her sister wearing yellow organza over white taffeta with matching floral headdress. She carried white daisies and blue cornflowers. Reginald Wavel, Otterville, was groomsman.

For travelling the bride donned a two-piece ensemble of apple green with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Killingbeck will reside at 523 Sherbrooke St. Peterborough on return from a wedding trip to the Haliburton district.

For Cooler Days At the Lake

Wool jersey fabrics, always in plain stockinet type, are ideal for beach wear on cooler days. Such materials handle well and can be made into little tailored jackets or used for the many colored pullovers essential to holiday wear.

Featured in sportswear for this summer is the ankle-length skirt which can also be worn round the shoulders as a cape or cloak. The complete beach ensemble comprises a swim suit, a cotton skirt and a loose coat or wrap of some kind. Brief bathing suits are designed for those with beautiful figures, so if you would attract favorable comment on the beach, disguise figure faults wtih smart accessories.

Stability Reappears In Fashion's Wake As Autumn Styles Keep Even Keel

By BARBARA E. SCOTT FISHER
Fashion Editor of The Christian Science Monitor

Relax, now, and settle back. Fall collections shown in the 28 houses comprising the New York Dress Institute give ample evidence that for the time being, at least, nobody is going off the deep end in fashion. Clothes are back in the traces, content with having kicked them over last year and run away with the bit in their teeth.

If any hint of straying from the established mode lifts its head at the moment, it is the pointed trend towards the long slim line harking back to the Empire period. This finds expression in a number of different collections, and in both coats and dresses. It announces a return to the high waistline, often princess in design, the narrow skirt, narrow shoulders, beltless waistline, and the high collar—all of which accent the long look.

Back Fullness Emphasized

It also plays down and banishes the prominence of hips which are gradually receding as a fashion accent, and plays up the importance of back fullness in skirts, which is considered highly fashionable. Back fullness is subtly introduced, often with a deep godet or by "rudder" folds, and by pleats. In the Empire styles, it often falls in a straight line between the shoulder blades from a high yoke, and is very much controlled, particularly in coats.

Sleeves are important because of the way they are set. This line often accounts for the only ornamentation in a costume. Necklines are generally high, giving a muffled effect. Ascots, holding up high pointed collars, are used, also "frivolities" made of taffeta in highly-keyed colors which wrap the neck with a snug, smart air and do well by wearers who have long necks, let me add. These show the trend toward the high collar.

At the other extreme you will find necklines wide open and accented by striking fichus or duchess collars which set off the face like a frame.

Following the middle course is the versatile "Jack-in-the-box" neckline which Hattie Carnegie designs to wear tightly and primly tied under the chin, or flung back as a surprise to quickchange into a more formal mood.

Trigere designs collars which, though generous, are the essence of femininity. Her petal collar, which has the regal look of a calla lily, is finished with tiny buttons which are only satisfied when they have buttoned it clear up under the chin.

Collars Show Variety

Not all collars stand high. Tina Leser uses one to contribute to the basic design of a dress made of pink and green checked wool. Here the points of the collar drop from the round neckline in back to form a pleasing yoke. Collars bright with the blaze of rhinestones embroidered on white or pastel satin or velvet key black damask or satin theatre suits to the mood of pleasurable excitement such occasions demand.

The Foxbrownie collection brings back the beauty of shoulders set off for formal occasions with deeply shirred bands of satin. Following her mood for variety, this designer uses the same deep bands of shirring on hemlines, sometimes on daytime woollen dresses, again for evening taffeta ball gowns. She also makes excellent use of a new shawl collar, and when she dispenses with a collar a graceful shirred taffeta stole is introduced.

Trotteur Dress Featured

Featured in many of the collections as an important item in the fashion picture is the trotteur dress. Tina Leser brings several of these to the fore, one a "triangle" design done in John Walther's chocolate brown and white hound's-tooth checks with coral oversquares. This accents a snug bodice with inward pointing triangles inset at the waist to give a slim line, and at the same time stress the back fullness of the skirt. It is buttoned to the waist in front from a high round neck and is finished by a small round collar.

Another designer who predicts the return of both the trotteur and the redingote is Trigere. She designs a redingote of black striped satin with an Empire collar and a flared skirt and uses it over a black crepe dress. A trotteur suit in taupe wool is double-breasted with low revers. The back is finished with a small rippled peplum which curves in a low line at the back. A black velveteen weskit and a high stock neckline finish the costume.

Adele Simpson gives importance to the trotteur dress by fashioning it of a luscious new chiffon broadcloth, and showing it with a fur stole or tippet. "Mirella" is the name given this new lightweight broadcloth by Forstmann, which may be worn with furs in the early autumn, and later under them.

Suits begin with daytime and go on, increasing in richness and attractiveness, into the small hours. Practical features come to light with such ideas as the wide-belted "swashbuckler" suit, ready for double duty. The suit has a jacket with fluid back fullness achieved by rear box pleats which may be worn either belted or loose. This is worn over a one-piece wool dress of a bright color, also over a skirt of a different material.

Use of Jacquard Damasks

In theatre suits the feeling is for fine tapestry Jacquard damasks; black stiff satins, as where an off-shoulder satin ankle-length dinner dress will have its stiff little satin jacket; or black velvet where one sees a snug little Victorian jacket coming to the fore for restaurant and even formal evening wear. Black velvet pipings, black intricately wrought braid, also in the Victorian manner, a touch of glittering jet on navy suits, and satin waistcoats give suits new meaning and new interest. So does the dress with the smart, snug-fitting little waistline jacket, many of which are shown.

Everything tends to the covered-up look this season, in contrast to the bare look of last year. Skirts and their varying lengths no longer constitute the fashion world's conversation pieces. They are pretty well stabilized at 11 to 12 inches from the floor for daytime, 10 inches to eight inches for after five and informal dinner dresses. Several collections show only ankle - length evening dresses.

If the winter turns out a cold one, Adele Simpson's fanciful little "Blue Boy" breeches made of wool jersey, or in some cases of striped damask to match the suit blouse, and fastened at the knee with jet buttons, may turn out to be the most practical of fashions.

QUICK-DRYING SWIM SUIT—Two man-made textile materials combine to make the taffeta from which this softly styled taffeta maillot is made. Nylon and lastex combine to make it form-fitting, quick-drying (and not weakened by salt water), while the designer has chosen such unusual colors as mauve, rosy beige, pistachio, light turquoise and crimson, besides black and royal blue, in which to make the suit.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, July 31

Judging by a dynamic congeries of major planets this may be a day on which "anything can happen." The unpredictable and unprecedented, the amazing and astonishing, is likely to befall—particularly in personal, romantic or unconventional relations. At the same time there is stimulus for ambitious projects of a bold and novel initiative, with much vigor and enterprise going far toward concrete reality Attacked with well-executed plans and techniques it may as well prove profitable if promoted with discretion, tact and wise consideration for influential associates, who may be of intriguing character.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are advised to be prepared for almost any sort of development, spectacular and dramatic, largely operating in private relations of social, professional and romantic interest. There may be unorthodox or irregular phases with curious reactions on more practical affairs. The latter are under excellent stimulus for forthright and intensive management, with assured assistance of those whose influence and capital may be needful. However, these should be approached with tact and finesse, and not by attempts crudely to force issues. Be alert to surprising factors.

A child born on this day although being energetic, constructive and ambitious, may win the friendly aid of influential persons. Its personal relatons may develop peculiar and unforeseen angles.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Haunted By Mistake Should Move to New City

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young woman living in a small town. Because I stumbled off of the straight and narrow road in my early youth, I have never been anything but an outcast and I am utterly miserable. My brother gives me a home but that is all.

Dorothy Dix

Many times the thought of suicide as a way out of it all has come to me. Can you offer me any help?

WRETCHED

ANSWER: First put all thoughts of suicide out of your mind. Don't add cowardice to your other weaknesses. You have made a are not going to let one wrong have plenty of time to retrieve your error and to find life worth living again.

Keep this thought in your mind all the time: That you are not going to let Fate let you down. You are not going to quit. You are not going to let one wrong thing wreck your whole existence. You are going to make good in spite of everything.

Learn Trade

Then fit yourself to do someting by which you can make a good living. Ask your brother to send you to any school where you can learn a trade. Study hard. Then when you are in a position to strike out for yourself move away from the little town in which you live. As long as you stay there you will have your disgrace thrown in your face and you will never be allowed to forget it. Go away where people don't know you. Get a fresh start and never, under any circumstances, tell anyone your story.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 24 years old and have been secretly married for three years. Love my wife, but I am also deeply in love with another girl who returns my affections. My wife knows nothing of this other girl.

I know that in continuing this relationship with the girl trouble is headed my way. But I honestly can't make up my mind which of the two girls I love the most. I hate to hurt either one of them, but I just don't know what to do. Help, please.

EDWARD H. T.

ANSWER: It is my opinion that you do not love either one of the girls, or else there would be no doubt in your mind. I think that in common honesty you should tell the girl you are married to of your fickleness and let her get out of her secret and ill-advised marriage to you before there are any children to complicate matters.

But when your wife frees you, let me urge you never to marry again. Just keep yourself free to love 'em all, for I don't believe it is in you to be faitful to any one woman.

DEAR MISS DIX: My daughter, who has been brought up with every comfort and luxury, has fallen in love with a man, who, in the entire year that he has been engaged to her, has given her a single thing. He has never given her a box of candy. He has never sent her a flower.

This man spends much of his time at our house and I can't count the meals he has had with us. He never takes my daughter anywhere, not even to the movies. Sometimes he suggests a stroll in the park but that is all. He contends that an engagement ring is an extravagance and says that a wedding ring is all that is necessary. Yet he makes a good living.

I can't understand how my daughter can love such a tightwad, bue she does. What do you think of such a man?

A MOTHER

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: I think he is a poor bet for a husband. A stingy man makes the meanest husband on earth and I pity any girl who trusts her marriage in his hands. He will begrudge her the very food she eats and will make her life a torment to her.

Working Parties Search Ruins

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Germany, July 30. (AP)—Weeping German women waited today as working parties gouged into the I. G. Farben chemical plant wreckage for bodies of men missing since Wednesday's disastrous explosion.

The latest official French and German count of casualties in Europe's biggest postwar catastrophe showed:

Known dead 138, 200 to 250 missing and possibly dead, more than 2,300 injured.

During the night five more injured workers died at Mannheim hospital, raising the known death toll to 138. American chaplains worked throughout the night administering to the dying. The chaplains and German clergymen planned a memorial service today in Mannheim for victims of the explosion.

American troops who had risked their lives in rescue and fire-fighting work had returned to their zone. The blood-stained Americans withdrew when French soldiers said their "gallant" services" no longer were needed.

Plough Path

Before pulling out, the American troops ploughed a path to a deathtrap building. A German policeman said scores of bodies could be seen floating in several feet of water and ammonia in the basement.

Germans investigating the disaster brushed aside charges by Communist newspapers in Berlin that the factory was making war materials illegally. The Germans said preliminary findings indicated the blast was touched off by ethyl chloride, an industrial chemical.

German officials at the factory made the surprising announcement Thursday that the sprawling plant still was operating at 50 per cent of capacity. First reports were that it was 80 per cent destroyed.

Reject Russian Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 30. —(CP).—Russia's attempt Thursday to revive the United Nations plan to give Jerusalem an international status was rejected by the Trusteeship Council. By a vote of 8 to 1 with three abstentions, the Trusteeship Council decided to postpone indefinitely discussion of the statute for Jerusalem referred to the Council under the plan adopted last Nov. 29 to divide Palestine into Jewish and Arab states.

Canada Experienced New Building Boom

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP) — Canada experienced a building boom in the first half of 1948.

The Canadian Construction Association Thursday night announced that the value of construction contracts awarded up to the end of June hit an all-time high for a six-month period of $483,000,000. That compared with $379,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1947.

Home building was away out in front with $176,400,000. Hydro projects in Ontario and Quebec swelled the engineering total of $130,300,000.

Macdonald Clan Meets

ST. ANN'S N.S., July 30. — (CP). — The Macdonalds, oldest and one of the most famous Scottish clans, gathered in this Highland community Thursday to honor their chieftain, Lord Macdonald of Macdonald. It was the second day of the 10th annual Gaelic mod and upwards of 3,500 persons sat in a blazing sun to hear clan dignitaries call for preservation of Scottish customs in Canada.

2,000 Liberal Delegates To Be Welcomed

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King will welcome the 2,000-odd delegates attending the National Liberal convention here next week, J. Gordon Fogo, president of the National Liberal Federation said Thursday night.

Mr. Fogo, in a free-time political address over the national network of the CBC, said the gathering of Liberals to choose a new leader will spend a crowded three days in Ottawa and will make every minute of their time count.

Following Mr. King's welcome Thursday morning, delegates will devote some time to convention organizational matters and to the appointment of committees.

All committees, said Mr. Fogo, will be representative and the delegates will meet in provincial groups in their separate caucus rooms to select their members.

Friday the party's leadership race will get under way when early reports from the resolutions committee will be presented for consideration. Mr. King will make another address Friday afternoon and the business of the convention will be concluded Saturday. Final event of the program will be announcement of the leadership choice.

A new feature of the convention, said Mr. Fogo, will be the number of women delegates. "Old timers who attended the 1919 convention will find a few things changed," he said. "The feminine influence will be greater."

At the 1919 convention there were only 12 women delegates; this time there will be over 200.

Police Recover Stolen Car

John Maloney, 20, 148 Park St., pleaded guilty in court Thursday to theft of the car of William Thompson, Kemptville, which was stolen from the front of a Charlotte St. restaurant Wednesday about one o'clock in the morning. He was remanded by Magistrate E. A. Gee until Aug. 3 for sentence.

The car was recovered Wednesday night north of Water St. on the highway to Lakefield.

Thomas Monteith, 612 Union St., charged with vagrancy, was remanded until the same date, on $100 bail. This was done at the request of Acting Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, who said Monteith had been in the car with Maloney and further investigation was going on.

Skip Sunday School Refused Confirmation

MARKET HARBOROUGH, Leicester, England, July 30 (CP)— Two sisters who skipped Sunday School and church services to go to the beach were told by Rev. George A. Finch he could not accept them as candidates for confirmation.

He told June Pollard, 13, and Audrey, 11, they had broken the fourth commandment—"Remember that you keep holy the Sabbath day."

"I would be failing in my duty if I prepared for confirmation any child who is not ready to take religion seriously and keep the commandments," said Mr. Finch, vicar of St. Hugh's Anglican Church.

The children's parents have removed them from the church.

Plan To Hold Inquest Into 1929 Murder

CALGARY, July 30 — (CP). — The 1929 murder of Thomas Charles Hall, 66-year-old broker-teamster, will be probed at an inquest into his death next Friday.

The slain man was found under the floor of a "spook-ridden" ramshackle cottage here July 10.

Flt. Lt. John Hall, youngest son of the murdered man is expected to be a witness. The 34 year-old permanent officer in the RCAF was released from hospital earlier this week after suffering serious head injuries in a plane crash less than 48 hours after his father's body was discovered.

3 Die From Heat

LONDON, July 30.—(CP). — Three more persons died Thursday, bringing the toll to eight since Wednesday in London's heat wave. About 500 persons collapsed from the heat, 300 of them in the vast crowd at the Wembley Olympic Stadium.

Kill Baby Sister

MOORHEAD, Minn., July 30.—(AP) — Two young brothers Thursday told police they had beaten their baby sister, two-year-old Joyce Halvorson, with a hoe because she wouldn't stop crying. The little girl was found dead Wednesday.

Press Search For McDonald; Last Of Trio

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP). — RCMP today prepared to close the much-thumbed file on Ulysse Lauzon and begin an intensified search for Donald (Mickey) McDonald, only member of a trio of Portsmouth prison breakers still at large.

They believe the 41-year-old bank robber will be found somewhere in the eastern part of the United States and look to his capture to end the greatest continental manhunt for criminals in this country.

For Lauzon's body RCMP say there will be a pauper's grave in the New Orleans district unless it is claimed by the convict's family in Windsor.

Meanwhile, Nicholas (Nick) Minille, 24-year-old Ottawa kidnapper nabbed by police in Oakland, Calif., drug store holdup, will be returned to Kingston early next week when deportation proceedings will be completed.

Minille, serving 17 years, will face a charge of breaking prison last August when he accompanied McDonald and Lauzon in a successful but short-lived bid for freedom over the walls of the Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston.

RCMP said they knew Lauzon had been in the United States for some time but were surprised that his body had been located as far south as Mississippi State. They said he was almost in the hands of police in a New York State raid a few months ago.

Executives Left Paper

WASHINGTON, July 30. — (AP).—The will of Mrs. Eleanor Medill Patterson, filed in probate court Thursday, bequeathed the Washington Times-Herald to seven of its veteran executives. Mrs. Patterson, owner, editor and publisher of the Times-Herald, died Saturday.

UAW Continues Fight To Win Insurance

WINDSOR, July 30 — (CP).— Local 195 United Automobile Workers (CIO) union officials today are continuing their fight with Ottawa officials of the unemployment insurance commission to obtain unemployment benefits totalling approximately $20,000 for 1,500 Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited workers.

The men involved are those with five years or more seniority with the company who have been denied a week of insurance benefits during a recent seven-day layoff in the Windsor plants because of a material shortage.

In a decision this week by Ottawa official of the UIC, the group of men are entitled to receive two days' unemployment insurance. These payments are scheduled to be made Saturday.

Charge Chevrier Incites Owners

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP). — Harry Davis, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union, today charged Transport Minister Chevrier with inciting ship owners "to violate their contracts and their obligations under the law," and denied the CSU is planning to call a strike of deep-seam members in November.

In a statement, he attacked a statement issued by the minister yesterday in which Mr. Chevrier said he had learned the CSU is preparing for a strike of deep-sea vessels.

"Mr. Chevrier's unprincipled attack on the CSU," said Mr. Davis, "openly reveals that the Liberal Government has allied itself with and has become the spokesman for the most anti-labor section of the ship owners. His statement that the union is planning to call a deep-sea strike in November is political irresponsibility of the worst kind and is an unmitigated lie.

"Coming at a time when the Labor movement is convening a conference in Ottawa to discuss ways and means of settling the present strike on the Great Lakes, it can only be interpreted as an attempt to provoke another strike and further encourage disregard for the labor laws of the country."

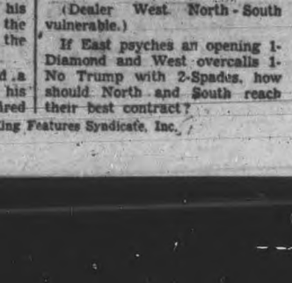
ALL TRICKS NOT ALIKE

IF YOU THINK one trick is just as good as another you are wrong. In many deals the deciding factor is which of two tricks you win. If you take one of them, you may find no helpful move instantly available to you. If, however, you let that trick go by and take a different trick later on, you may by then be in position to make a move which will wreck the enemy, or—which is just as good—one which will prevent him from wrecking you.

(Dealer South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♥	Pass	2♦
2♠	Pass	3♦	Pass
4♠



That is sound aggressive bidding by both North and South, justified by the fact that they were not up against the best defenders in the world. West was sound enough in restraining himself from doubling, which would locate his two adverse honors for the declarer, and equally sound in selecting the diamond 9 for his opening lead, since East did the suit. But then East fumbled the ball.

Hoping that West had led a singleton, East came in with his A on the opening trick and fired back the 5, which South won with the J. Now you follow through the rest of the play and see if you can find any way for South to lose any more tricks except two in spades to the A and Q. South had been right in estimating his opposition as none too formidable.

A better defensive player in the East would not have staked the entire fate of the pair's effort on the contingency that West had only one diamond. If he had treated the lead as if it was the more probable top of a doubleton, he would have smeared South. Desiring to be in the lead after the second diamond trick, instead of the first, he should have put his Q on the dummy's 10 and kept his A. Then, when West won a trump trick and led his second diamond, East could have won with the A and returned a third diamond for West to ruff. That trick, with the insignificant 6 of spades, would have been the destroyer.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer West. North-South vulnerable.)

If East psyches an opening 1-Diamond and West overcalls 1-No Trump with 2-Spades, how should North and South reach their best contract?

5-Point Plan To Improve Coal Industry

SYDNEY, July 30 (Reuters)—While a coal shortage has curtailed Australian industry and caused the rationing of electricity and gas in several states, a long-range five-point plan for the coal-mining industry has been drawn up by I. Williams, federal president of the Miners' Federation.

Outlining his plan to the Australian Council of Trade Unions, Williams said adoption of the program would stabilize the industry and enable it to meet national requirements.

The program provides for:

1. Reorganization of existing mines and equipment; installation of modern machinery such as power borers; provision of modern transport for miners living more than half a mile from the pits.

2. Amalgamation of groups of small mines to use manpower efficiently and prevent destruction of coal resources.

3. Improved conditions including long-service leave and a 35-hour week to check the manpower drift and attract additional labor; provision of dining rooms above and below ground, tea service and bathrooms.

4. New homes in mining areas; children's playgrounds, working men's clubs, community centres and swimming pools in coal-field towns.

The joint coal board announced recently it would spend £250,000 ($1,000,000) on working men's clubs, swimming pools, sports fields, night tennis courts, children's playgrounds, baby health centres, community halls and other sporting and recreational facilities.

5. Intensification of water fusion to allay dust hazard; more research into prevention of spontaneous heating on the Maitland field.

Seek Bone-Pit Near Midland

MIDLAND, July 30.—(CP).—A party of archeologists from the Royal Ontario Museum at Toronto is attempting to prove that a farm field in Tiny Township is the site of the ossossane bone-pit, described in "Jesuit Relations" by Father Jean De Brebeuf.

The bones of what are believed to be 17th century Indians are being removed from the field by workers under the direction of Prof. Kenneth E. Kidd of the Ontario Museum.

Two copper kettles, sought for a long time, which Father Brebeuf said were in the pit, have not as yet been discovered. If the kettles are found, they probably will be under a closely-packed pile of bones three feet deep.

The bones are sorted and packed for shipment to the museum. Visitors are greeted by three skulls on a table in the tent office. The skulls are flanked by a number of jawbones with decayed teeth.

Cripps Soothes British Pride Over Production

LONDON, July 30.— (CP). — Sir Stafford Cripps talked fast Thursday in the House of Commons to soothe British pride wounded by announcement of a proposed Anglo-American committee to seek increased industrial production.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer hastily reassured critical members the committee of industrialists and trade unions will not mean that Americans will be inspecting British factories or telling old hands what they should do.

It would discuss whether there could be a possible exchange of information and of technicians which would benefit particular industries.

"This is not a cure-all to evils but it is one which should be helpful towards attaining that end," Sir Stafford said.

Oliver Lyttelton, former president of the Board of Trade, said that Sir Stafford himself was to blame for "the very hostile" reception given the proposal.

The country did not know what was proposed in detail and this time Sir Stafford must explain "a muddle of his own" instead of covering up for his colleagues, Lyttelton told the Commons.

Sir Stafford interjected that Lyttelton was trying "to make mischief in America."

Stole Ladders Goes To Jail

An accused who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods was given suspended sentence and another, pleading not guilty to the same offence, was sentenced to 15 days in jail before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in court today. William C. Thomas, Toronto, received the one year's suspension and Max Hunter, 619 Union St., got the jail term.

The charge involved the removal Thursday night of two ladders belonging to painters working on a Simcoe St. hotel. Police found the ladders on the truck of Thomas, parked behind another building near the hotel.

Thomas told the magistrate that he had been drinking all day and did not know what had happened. But he pleaded guilty, he said, because he said 'I'm responsible for what happened. If I hadn't come to Peterborough and visited Hunter, he wouldn't be in this trouble now. I know that neither of us would take any ladders if we were normal. I'd been drinking quite a bit. I'm a member of Alcoholics Anonymous," he added ruefully, "—but not a very good member this morning, I guess."

Hunter said that he had parked the truck. When he returned to drive away about 11.30, he said he did not even notice the ladders on it and did not know how they got there. He said that Thomas was "pretty drunk" and was at a city home, not with him."

The magistrate told Hunter "I believe you're lying. I think you know how those ladders got there. I also think you figured to have the suspicion point to Thomas if you were caught."

Acting crown attorney John Bradshaw suggested the suspended sentence for Thomas.

"It seems obvious from the evidence, that it was practically impossible for him to have moved the ladders, because of his condition. And because of his whole attitude during the case—his frankness and willingness to take the blame, even though he didn't know—I feel that suspended sentence would be sufficient."

Arrest 4 Men For Taking Gas

PICTON, July 30 — Charged with stealing a quantity of gasoline and a car battery from a Bloomfield service station, four Belleville men were arrested on Thursday morning. It is alleged the men were taking gas from a wrecked car, owned by Jake Buder, and parked on the station lot. This car was the one in which William Lovelace lost his life in an accident on Tuesday night.

Three of the men, Robert Orr, 20, Donald Fraser 25, and Sam Simmons 20, were arrested about 3 o'clock and as they were being handcuffed a fourth man appeared, but fled when he saw the police. He failed to halt when County Constable Earl Marvin of Wellington fired four shots in the air.

About 8 o'clock Lara Guzzwell 21, was arrested by Constable Marvin who investigated a report that a strange man was sleeping in a lunch room at Quinte Dairy near Wellington. The constable said he recognized Guzzwell as the man who had earlier fled and had one handcuff on him before he awoke.

Constable Marvin and County Constable James Lovelace were originally called to Brummell's Service Station and discovered three men apparently in the act of taking gasoline from the wrecked car. Another car was backed up to the Buder car. About 10 feet of the station's air hose had been torn off the air line. A battery was missing from William Brummell's truck.

Pike Jumps Into Boat At Bradley's Bay

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — (ENS).—A nineteen inch green bass weighing four and a quarter pounds was the catch that Stan Lalonde made at Lock 10 about 11 o'clock on Thursday morning. The fish had a girth of 14 inches and was caught on a small plug in fast water. Stan is visiting with his father, Joe Lalonde, lockmaster at Lock 10.

Johnny Salnina of Youngstown, O., is probably responsible for the season's best fish story so far, according to the story being told around the Hendrick's summer resort.

Johnny was trolling last Sunday in a boat with an outboard motor at Bradley Bay, and after awhile, during which there were no strikes, he decided to pull in his line.

Unknown to him, however, there was a large pike following the bait, and as he gradually brought in the line, the pike got up more steam and came after the bait. As Johnny pulled the lure into the boat, the pike made a last desperate jump to grab it, and landed in the boat, at the feet of the surprsed fisherman.

Neither the pike or Johnny were available for an interview, but Mr. Hendricks swears that the yarn is true.

3 Cars Damaged At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — (ENS). — Two persons were slightly injured and damage was sustained by three cars in an early morning crash which woke residents of the Raglan St.-Grand Road corner on Thursday morning.

A car driven by Charles Ingram, 18, in which Garnet Sleeper, 17, was a passenger, was proceeding south on Grand Rd at about 6 a.m., when the driver apparently lost contorl of the vehicle and crashed into a car owned by Leonard Reynolds, which was parked outside of the home of J. E. Dooher, forcing it forward into the rear of another parked car owned by Everett Steel.

Both occupants of the Ingram car received slight injuries, Sleeper sustaining the most severe injury to his left eye, while Ingram was treated for bruises.

The corner where the crash occurred is in the middle of a very bad "S" curve leading from the bridge and has been the scene of many a near miss in the past few months.

Chief of Police George Hardy is continuing an investigation into the mishap.

FRAGMENTS OF THE CRUDE "bomb" which was dropped from a low-flying plane over the United Nations at Lake Success, N.Y., are examined by Nassau county detectives William Kempen (left) and Edward C. Horning. The missile was packed in cotton, they said.

WASHINGTON — The Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday granted long-term freight rate increases to the railroads and water carriers at approximately the present temporary rate levels. The Commission's action makes the temporary 25 per cent "emergency" increases, granted since last October, a regular rate order.

SASKATOON— Saskatchewan Liberal leader Walter Tucker said he intends to "support Agricultural Minister Gardiner for nomination as national leader of the Liberal party and I believe he can count on almost unanimous support from this province."

WASHINGTON— Philip Murray, president of the CIO, called on the special session of Congress to roll back prices "to reasonable levels."

TORONTO—Ninety-five of the 150 tenants at emergency housing units in suburban Scarboro have refused to pay rent increases of 10 to 25 per cent and so may find thetmselves out on the street. The increases became effective July 1 and Property Commissioner Graham Bland has given tenants until Aug. 1 to pay up.

TORONTO — A sneak thief went to St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church. He followed Mrs. J. Loughlin down an isle and slipped into a pew behind her as she prayed. He stole her purse, containing about $10 and fled.

SARNIA— Canadian Seamen's Union picket lines on the Sarnia and Point Edward waterfront will be augmented by members of other Sarnia unions, it was decided at a meeting of the Sarnia United Labor Council. United picket action is expected to begin with the arrival early today of the Canada Steamship Lines passengesr ship, Noronic.

Warden Retires

KINGSTON, July 30—(CP)—Lieut. W. H. Craig, warden of Collins Bay penitentiary here, has announced his retirement and will go on leave of absence Aug. 1. A former mayor of Kingston, he was appointed warden July 1, 1935. H. C. Cleeton, deputy warden, has been appointed acting warden.

Quebec Cabinet Still Uncertain

QUEBEC, July 30.—(CP). — Speculation over the make-up of Premier Duplessis' new provincial cabinet and leadership of the Liberal Opposition in the Legislature today followed the Union Nationale Party's victory in Wednesday's elections.

The government won 82 of the Legislature's 92 seats, taking 26 from the Liberals whose leader, Adelard Godbout, went down to personal defeat in L'Islet riding.

Intentions of the premier, who has claimed that his cabinet of 21 was the most representative Quebec had ever had, were not known.

Following the strenuous campagin, during which he was accompanied by his psysician, Mr. Duplessis was expected to take a month's rest, delaying any announcement on the cabinet until September.

Changes Uncertain

It was not even known whether there would be any changes in the cabinet, made up of manufacturers, lawyers, doctors, farmers, merchants and business men. All were re-elected.

While the U.N. administration was allowed to free wheel until September, Liberals were reported to be considering the question of leadership in the House. Mr. Godbout had not indicated whether he will retire or lead his party from outside the Legislative Assembly Chamber.

Speculation in Quebec centred on the possibility of Lionel Ross, elected in Montreal Verdun, taking over as Opposition leader. George C. Marler, Liberal victor in Westmount St. George, was also mentioned.

Late returns indicated no change in the results which included election of one Independent and a Nationalist as well as the 82 U.N. members and eight Liberals.

Gets $25,200 From Doctor

LONDON, July 30 — (AP) — J. F. Whiteford, an American consulting engineer, was awarded £6,300 ($25,200) Thursday from a well-known London surgeon who told him in 1942 he had only a few more months to live.

Whiteford's claim for damages complained that John Bowman Hunter, the surgeon, and a physician incorrectly diagnosed a bladder ailment, removed his prostrate gland and told him he had inoperable cancer. As a result, Whiteford said, he suffered financial loss by giving up his business here and returning to the United States to die.

An American doctor, Whiteford said, told him he had nothing but a bladder complain and had no reason to fear an early death.

The judge, Sir Norman Birkett, held that the mistaken diagnosis was due to a lack of reasonable care by Hunter. He ruled that the other doctor, a general practitioner who summoned Hunter, shared none of the responsibility.

Gazel And Kerschner Entering CNE Swim

TORONTO, July 30 (CP)—Ben Gazel of Toronto, 1947 winner of the men's 10-mile swim at the Canadian National Exhibition and Jerry Kerschner, of Columbus, O., runner-up, have both entered for this year's swim.

Entries have also been received for the women's five-mile event slated for Sept. 1. The men's race will be held Sept. 3.

Kerschner moved to Lake Simcoe, 45 miles north of here, in May and has been swimming four or five miles a day. Bob Pirie, holder of many Canadian records and now swimming coach at the Young Men's Hebrew Association here has decided to take the plunge into professional ranks.

Bernice Looney of Warren, O., winner of last year's women's swim, will defend her laurels. Winnie Roach, 1947 runner-up is also entered.

Cool Passer Wanted By Police In Sydney N.S. Nabbed At Cobourg On Fingerprint Tip-off

COBOURG, July 30 (ENS). — Perhaps it could be called "the case of the second fingerprint set." Ronald Thompson, 27-year-old transient, is under arrest here awaiting arrival of police from Sydney, Nova Scotia, where he is wanted on a charge of robbery with violence. It is the second time within a week that he has been in custody in Cobourg — and chiefly because police authorities weren't satisfied with the first set of impressions they took from his fingertips.

Thompson was first arrested with two companions on Saturday. The three were remanded on charges of vagrancy, their prints taken and sent to Ottawa to check with the master file of wanted men. The reports came back: the two men with Thompson were not wanted for anything, but the officials wanted another set of Thompson's prints.

The first set, they reported, was not too clear. This was because Thompson had been working on the Cobourg car ferry as a coal-passer. The coal dust accumulated in this job clogs the skin pores and tends to act as a temporary "disguise" for fingerprints.

The second time the prints were taken, the suspect's hands were first carefully washed with special solution to dissolve the dust and give a firm, clear impression.

The trio appeared on Monday and were sentenced to one day in jail on the vagrancy charges. The report on the second set had not been received when the day's sentence was served and Thompson was released.

Then, Tuesday night, came word from the Ottawa headquarters of the RCMP about Thompson's charge in the Maritimes. In the meantime, the three had disappeared.

The re-arrest was made Wednesday afternoon by provincial constable Don Nicol of Cobourg. He found the man had started work on the car ferry again.

He will be held pending the arrival of Sydney police. In the meantime, he is probably thinking nostalgically of the wonderful free day he had in which he could have made his escape.

Ask Mr. King To Hear Views

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 30—(CP)—Apparently having pulled its ranks together, the Responsible Government League Thursday asked Prime Minister Mackenzie King to receive a delegation from the league and hear its views.

It was reliably reported Wednesday that the league had split over the form of protest to be made shortly to top British and Canadian parliamentarians.

Peter Cashin, one of the top leaders of the league, denied there had been any split. Other denials came from secretary Wilfrid Collins and Malcolm Hollett, another member of the league.

The request to Mr. King was in the form of a telegram, drafted after a joint meeting of the Responsible Government League and the party standing for economic union with the United States.

In a protest Monday the league held that the small referendum majority for confederation with Canada—some 6,500—votes was not decisive enough to take the country in union.

Wheat Reported Five Feet Tall

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30 — (ENS)—Tom O'Rourke, Campbellford farmer is proud of his stand of wheat this year, and believes that he has one of the most luxuriant yields seen around these parts for many a year.

The hundred acres of golden grain stands five feet high, with large, well-developed ears that by actual count have averaged 160 kernels to the head.

The count was made to offset the feeling of local experts, who heard about the stand of wheat and felt that it might run mostly to straw. Heads were counted in various parts of the fields and the average taken on these.

At today's market prices, Mr. O'Rourke may make himself a pretty penny, providing the weather and all other factors remain in present state.

STURGEON LAKE TORNADO KILLS 1 MAN

DEATH RODE THE wings of a short-lived tornado at Sturgeon lake Friday night. The twister ripped Holiday Inn, a large lodge from its foundation, and left the building a wreck of tangled wood and furniture. V. C. Davis, Toronto, was instantly killed when crushed in the falling building, and two others were badly hurt. Trees were uprooted, barns, boathouses and cottages levelled and debris scattered over a wide area. AT TOP, Bob Stennett, co-owner stands beside the window in the kitchen of the lodge, all that was left standing of the building. AT BOTTOM, the roof of the lodge straddles a heap of debris and broken furniture, the walls were reduced to matchwood. —Photos Fulton Stewart.

King Ready To Work Out Union Plan

Will Be 10th Province In Few Months, Before July 1, 1949

OTTAWA, July 31.—(CP). — Union of Newfoundland with Canada, first discussed more than 80 years ago, likely will become a reality in a matter of months.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, noting the Newfoundland people's recent vote in favor of Confederation, announced Friday night his government is ready to work out union details with authorized representatives of the 450-year-old colony.

The government will be glad, he said, to receive "with the least possible delay authorized representatives of Newfoundland to negotiate the terms of union."

The terms will be subject to ratification by parliament but it is believed all the constitutional procedure can be completed in time to have the island join Canada on July 1—the 82nd anniversary of the Confederation pact.

In Agreement

Mr. King said that the United Kingdom, now responsible for administration of the island, is in agreement with the entry of Newfoundland into Confederation. The United Kingdom and Newfoundland governments now are being consulted on the appropriate constitutional procedure to be followed.

The Prime Minister recalled he had stated last October Canada would accept Newfoundland into Confederation of the people indicated clearly and beyond all possibility of misunderstanding their desire for union with the Dominion.

In the July 22 referendum 77,-869 had voted for Confederation and 71,464 for a return to the responsible government which the island lost in 1933 when it ran into serious financial difficulties. About 85 per cent of the eligible voters exercised their right to vote, said Mr. King.

With his announcement, Mr. King released the text of a letter to W. L. Collins, secretary of the Responsible Government League in St. John's, Nfld., who had asked that the Canadian government receive a delegation from the league.

Mr. King said the government felt it should continue its policy of receiving only delegations authorized by the Newfoundland government.

"The union of Newfoundland and Canada, two North American democracies in the British Commonwealth of Nations, will add strength to both. Together, as partners, we may look forward to the future with more confidence than if we had remained separate political communities," Mr. King said.

British Envoy Has Talk With Deputy

LONDON, July 31—(AP)—The Foreign Office announced today that British envoy Frank Roberts conferred Friday night in Moscow with a Soviet deputy foreign minister, Valerian A. Zorin, presumably on the Berlin crisis.

No details of the conference were available.

Roberts is private secretary to Foreign Secretary Bevin. He flew to Moscow Thursday with United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith following high-level strategy conferences here among British, American and French diplomats on the new approach to be made to Moscow over the Berlin crisis.

Zorin was described here as the third ranking foreign office official after Foreign Minister Molotov and his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky.

Charge Run-around

BERLIN, July 31—(AP)— German non-Communists charged today Moscsow is giving the western powers a run-around in their attempts to settle the Berlin crisis.

The Social Demokrat, official organ of Berlin's Socialist party, expressed skepticism over reports Foreign Minister Molotov is absent from Moscow on vacation while western diplomats are seeking to approach him about the Berlin deadlock.

"It is a delaying action by the Kremlin," the newspaper said. "Moscow is talking in riddles about Molotov's absence. It looks like an intended affront to the western powers."

The United States, meanwhile, made plans to step up its Berlin air lift amid rumors the Russians may try to close one or more of the three lanes British and American planes use to fly supplies to the blockaded city.

Military Air Transport Command headquarters in Washington said Friday night it is suspending its regular trans-continental service over two routes in the United States to make 28 large transports available for the air lift.

Resort Lodge Lifted 15 Feet Off Foundations; Crashes Down On Guests

Toronto Man Struck By a Falling Beam But Body Shields Woman; Six Other Cottages Partly Damaged

LINDSAY, July 31.—(CP).—A 90-mile an hour twister left a man dead and a woman injured, and today residents of the summer resort area of Daytonia on Sturgeon Lake near here were still clearing up the wreckage.

The windstorm lifted the 30-room Holiday Inn 15 feet off its foundations and brought it crashing down on its occupants.

A beam struck Vincent C. Davis a director of Loblaw's Groceterias, Toronto, on the neck and killed him outright. He fell on Mrs. Clayton Fowler of Leaside, who suffered shock and bruises, but was shielded from the falling wreckage.

"Mr. Davis rushed to close a door and was struck by a beam and died about an hour later," said Bob Stennett, co-owner with Fred Rews, both of Toronto. Mrs. Hilda Fowler of 18 Donegal drive, Leaside, Ont., was pinned right next to Davis. She was rushed to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, where Dr. W. C. Blackwell stated she was badly bruised and suffering from shock. Patricia Paderquina, 12, a visitor from Ohio, was also pinned in the wreckage of the inn and suffered from shock.

Said Stennett, "I was in the kitchen at the time. It grew very dark about 5.30 p.m. I went to close the windows and within one minute the whole place began to rock. I shouted at Fred Rew to get out of the kitchen but it started to crack. Then next thing I knew there was a big puff and I saw the whole centre of the building go. In two minutes it was all over."

The building was 140 feet by 30 feet with the kitchen adjoining. Owners Stennett and Rew were in the only part of the building which remained upright — the kitchen. Just opened this year, the inn was booked solid for the season and had 30 people in it at the time of the mishap.

Six cottages in the vicinity of Holiday Inn were also partly damaged. In one, a 2-months-old baby was left alone in a room, but was later rescued uninjured

Russian Trade Headache For Austrians

By HUBERT HARRISON

VIENNA, July 31 (Reuters). — One of the most heated controversies in Austria is focussed on the question of trade with the Russian bloc countries.

While some maintain trade with eastern European countries is almost impossible, the Communists say there are great surplusses there of those goods which Austria needs most.

The government parties claim only the Marshall aid plan and trade with the west can save Austria from bankruptcy and famine.

The Communists, on the other hand, contend the Marshall plan will enslave Austria, destroy her industry and deprive her of the possibility of trading with her normal markets.

One important point was raised during a press conference in Vienna given by William Draper assistant secretary of state for the United States. Asked if there was not a danger dollars provided to help Austria would find their way through various trade transactions into the hands of eastern states he refiied this was highly probable.

Want Healthy Trade

Draper added the United States did not mind this happening as re-establishment of a healthy economy in Europe was impos-

Thousands Of Bees Evacuated From Lawn

TORONTO, July 31. (CP)—A swarm of wild bees was evacuated this morning from the lawn of Mrs. Ethel Watson.

Mrs. Watson called the fire department Friday night for advice on how to rid herself of the "thousands" of insects who camped on her lawn. Firemen suggested she turn a hose on them but Mrs. Watson thought better of that. A man from the Humane Society arrived this morning, lured the insects into a hive and whisked them away.

Only a handful of bees remained this morning, buzzing about tree-tops.

Knocked From Bike

LINDSAY, July 31—(ENS)—Roderick Taylor, RR 2, Bobcaygeon, was injured when he was struck by a car while riding a bicycle on Highway 36, four miles south of Bobcaygeon Friday night. The car, driven by Bert Wright, Bobcaygeon, sent Taylor flying from his wheel. He was found to have lacerated right hip. Ont. Provincial Police Constable W. M. Milton of Lindsay investigated.

Expect Russia To Get Own Way

BELGRADE, July 31. (AP)—Delegates to the Danube River conference expressed belief today that Russia will get the kind of Danube navigation convention she wants.

One thing was certain at the opening session:

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, Andrei Vishinsky, was leading the eastern bloc and delegates from all the "peoples democracies' including Yugoslavia were following his line without hesitation.

This is the first important international conference in which Russia and her Communist neighbors have controlled a majority of the vote. The eastern bloc is represented by Russia, the Soviet Ukraine, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Britain, the United States and France therefore stand to be heavily outvoted.

Beer Transport Crashes Bank

KITCHENER, July 31.—(CP). —A former member of the Toronto fire department, Albert "Hap" Wheble of Toronto, was killed early today when the beer transport truck he was driving went out of control and crashed over a steep embankment three miles east of here.

Two passengers, riding in the fully loaded tractor and trailer transport, escaped with minor injuries. They are Alfred Martin, and Thomas Strong, both of Toronto.

The three men were pinned in the cab of the truck which crashed over the south emvankment of No. 7 highway. It was returning to Toronto.

Provincial Constables John Munro and Edward Petty investigated. They report the truck went out of control going down a sharp grade which forms the approach to the Feeport bridge.

It crashed through guard rails and turned over in mid-air, sliding down the embankment on its roof. It took three-quarters of an hour to release the three men pinned in the cab. Wheble was dead on admittance to hospital.

It was necessary to drive a wrecking truck down the embankment on the opposite side of the highway, through the shallow water of the Grand river under the Freport bridge to reach the accident so the trapped men could be freed.

Germ Warfare Over-Rated

OTTAWA, July 31.—(CP).—Canada's leading military scientist said today he thought "most of the current pictures of the results of bacteriological warfare are greatly over-rated." Dr. O. M. Solandt admitted it would be quite possible—if the people would line up quietly and be inoculated with them—to destroy entire cities such as Toronto or Montreal with the germs now available.

The head of the Defence Research Board in an interview said present circumstances—and it is a morbid fact there is obviously a race to eliminate them—hold two huge stumbling blocks to effective use of B.W.

One is the problem of distribution; the other is man's ignorance of the true nature of the background, scope and habits of epidemics.

Between them they made B. W. a feasible weapon—and one that should be anticipated—but not a decisive one. It remained a field with "tremendous possibilities."

Two Large Bulwarks

Dr. Solandt, an encouraging appraisal of Canada's abilities to meet such an attack under present circumstances, said her public health system and her body of medical knowledge gave her two large bulwarks.

Every Canadian city was under constant bacterial attack whether there was war or not. The war of man-against-bugs never ended. Typhoid germans, for instance, were always present. But there were defences against them, and they would automatically be-

11 Decorations Announced For Arctic Rescue Work

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—The defence department Friday night announced 11 awards for an epic Arctic adventure—the seven-weeks-long plane and paratroop rescue of wounded Canon John T. Turner.

Linked with simultaneous announcement of three Air Force Crosses for northern RCAF missions, they represented the first gallantry awards for deeds since the end of hostilities in Euope.

Defence Minister Claxton said the George Medal would go to Capt. Lionel Guy D'Artois, DSO, of Rivers, Man., and Montreal, and to FO Robert Carson Race of Hilliers, B.C., and Winnipeg.

They were the chief figures in a rescue which got Canon Turner, seriously wounded when a rifle suddenly discharged, out to Winnipeg where he later died.

Capt. D'Artois led the party of army paratroopers who landed in Northern Baffin Island last October to care for the Anglican missionary and to prepare a landing strip for the plane to take him out. FO Race piloted the RCAF Dakota that bucked severe weather to drop the soldiers and supplies and later brought them out. He made four return trips, each longer than 1,000 miles.

Describes Drug Ring Network

VANCOUVER, July 31 (CP)—A narcotics network involving disposal here of $400,000 worth of heroin from Toronto was described Friday in a statement allegedly made to police by a 24-year-old Toronto man.

Ronald R. Dean, charged with Vancouver mechanic Jack Kushnick on possession counts, was quoted by police as saying he came to Vancouver to "handle the stuff" for a salary of $150 weekly.

In joint raids earlier this month city police and the R.C.M.P. narcotics detail seized the heroin in a package mailed from Oshawa.

Dean was quoted in his statement Friday as sayin ghe was introduced to the narcotics trade through a meeting with an unnamed man at Burwash Industrial Farm in Ontario.

The statement said Dean was invited to take a shipment of narcotics to British Columbia and act as "plant man."

Convict Krupp Directors Of Plundering During War

NUERNBERG, July 31.—(AP). Alfred Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach and five other directors of the Krupp munitions firm today were convicted by a United States Court of war crimes in plundering Nazi-occupied countries and exploitation of slave labor.

The judgment was reached by a three-man tribunal headed by Judge H. C. Anderson.

Defendants found guilty with the 41-year-old Krupp were Ewald O. Yoeser, Eduard Houdremont, Erich Mueller, Friedrich Janssen and Karl Eberhardt, leading figures in the gun-making business for the last quarter of a century.

Even though the younger Krupp did not take over control from his ailing father, Gustav, until 1943, the tribunal noted he was interested factually as far back at 1940.

"We are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt," the court said, "that defendants Krupp, Loeser, Houdremont, Mueller and Janssen participated actively in the spoilation of France and Holland and that Eberhardt participated in the spoilation of France."

The judgment saaid Krupp employed almost 12,000 foreign slaves and 2,500 prisoners-of-war in 100 factories in the Ruhr. It said many died from the conditions and the hard work.

Conditions were so bad, the court noted, that even the German Army High Command complained to the Krupps. Workers were given no protection from bombing raids, were fed starvation diets and were made to live in 'ash-bins, dog-kennels, old baking ovens and self-made huts," the court declared.

The court said that by 1944 children as young as six were being used as laborers. It added that the Krupps were powerful enough to balk at any Nazi orders on the subject of slave labor.

Honor Is Maintained Olympic Flame Burns

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England, July 31—(AP)—The Olympic flames didn't go out after all Friday night, officials now report, but just was dimmed a little.

The flame, which is supposed to burn continuously throughout the games, was reported to have gone out because of a leak in the canister.

But British officials announced today:

"What happened was the eight-inch flame of the pilot 'lit back' onto the small jet and so was reduced to a tiny flame which was quiet even to anyone looking into the bowl itself."

'Indian Chief' Charged With Murder

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP). — A Pennsylvania woman who came to Canada to be with her husband after he enlisted in the army Friday met her death allegedly under a rain of blows in a Toronto rooming-house and today a self-styled Indian Chief from Wisconsin stood accused of murdering her.

The battered body of Mrs. Gwendolyn Pine, 41, clad only in a blouse, was found Friday amid empty wine bottles in a shabby attic-room police said was occupied by Peter Powless, 60.

Police arrested Powless, who claims the title of Big Chief Eagle of an Indian tribe in Wisconsin, when he returned to the rooming-house two hours after the body was found.

Several hours later they arrested Elsie West, 35, and held her as a material witness.

Drinking Bout

They said they learned that Mrs. Pine and Powless staged a five-day wine-drinking bout that ended late Thursday night in a jealous quarrel. They said they believed Mrs. Pine objected when Powless started to leave with Miss West who had joined the party Thursday after being released from jail and that Powless knocked her down and went out with the other woman.

They alleged that he returned alone a few hours later, had another argument with Mrs. Pine and again struck her and went out. It is believed he came back later, spent the night in the room and left early Friday morning, thinking her asleep.

Cecil Pine, husband of the slain woman, said he hadn't seen his wife since they separated two weeks ago after a quarrel.

He said Mrs. Pine, a member of a moderately-wealthy Pennsylvania family who owned hotels and restaurants, spent her early life in Genesee, Pa., and attended St. Bonaventure College—"one of the best girls' schools in the United States."

He met and married her in Buffalo, N.Y., while he was driving a bus there in February, 1930. Early in the second world war, Pine came to Canada to enlist in the army and Mrs. Pine accompanied him to this country.

An official summary showed Friday that 1,759,261 of 2,626,816 eligible voters used their ballots this year. In 1945 1,765,793 of a possible 2,469,960 votes were cast.

The Progressive Conservatives, who elected 53 members in the 90-seat legislature, polled 727,412 votes. The Liberals, with 13 seats, had a total of 515,846 votes, while the CCF with 21 had 465,834.

VICTORIA, July 31.—(CP).—Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, B.C., said Friday compulsory peacetime military training in Canada would be fruitless because training facilities are "archaic." The Progressive-Conservative member of Parliament for Nanaimo was commenting on a report that the British Columbia delegation at the Liberal convention in Ottawa next week will urge peacetime conscription for young Canadians.

Moved Fast

"It came up so fast I didn't know what hit us," said Adeline Menzies of 869 Bloor West, who was in the cottage directly north of the shattered inn, with four persons. "Our chimney was blown off and everything well around the cottage, trees toppled over, and the boat at the wharf was wrecked."

"The next cottage, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nightingale, Emerson Avenue, Toronto, was completely wrecked. The whole two-storey building was moved off the foundation and the roof blown off. The Nightingales were uninjuerd but shaken up. It sounded just like a freight train," said Mrs. Bert Brown of Lansing, whose cottage was untouched. "We all ran out and laid on the ground when we saw it coming", she said. Trees were all down and the shed next to the Brown cottage was lifted cleanly down to the lake. Trees toppled all around the cottage of Dr. M. J. Quigley of Toronto, and the boathouses next door were completely smashed.

The twister cut a swath of 100 yards wide across an open field and hit the lakeshore, snapping and toppling trees, tossing wood, bricks, and debris through the air. Hydro and telephone lines were downed.

H. Lymburner of St. Catharines was staying at the Shady Nook Inn, 300 yards down the lake from Holiday Inn. He said that he heard a terrific roar just after 5 p.m. He opened the doors and 'it sounded like a dozen trains speeding along."

Lymburner retreated to the cellar. When the tornado passed, he went to Holiday Inn and found survivors trying to dig out Davis and Mrs. Fowler.

For hours later occupants of the resort searched for their belongings among the wreckage. Luggage, refrigerators and clothing were strewn along the beach.

None of the occupants of the cottages near the inn were reported injured, but with telphone wires down and provincial police still investigationg, it was impossible tonight to determine the damage.

"It was hard to believe this was the same camp we had seen just a little while before," said Mrs. Robert Kirk of Oshawa. She is staying with her husband at Felpark Lodge, about two miles from Holiday Inn.

"The main lodge was three-quarters off its foundations and the roof had caved in," said Mrs. Kirk. "Half a dozen cottages were completely wrecked. They were nothing more than kindling wood. Big trees were uprooted and lying in all directions. The plumbing in the main lodge was torn out.

It was a dreadful scene, said Mrs. Kirk. "I went into the camp just a short time before to have a look around. Then I went to Fenelon Falls about five miles away. When I started back for Felpark Lodge, the road was blocked with fallen trees and telephone lines. We took another and longer road back to our lodge. A short time later there was a call for help from the inn and all the men went to see what they could do. I went with them.

"The main lodge is, or was, a place with about 20 rooms," continued Mrs. Kirk. "The tornado had lifted most of it completely off the foundations, smashed in the roof, and turned the building on its side. Trees falling across the lodge must have done plenty of damake. I don't think it can be repaired."

"I saw a woman lying on the ground with her husband attending her. It was a horrible scene of destruction and it was hard to believe thtat a storm could do that much havoc. Hardly anything remained on its foundations. The cabins were utterly flattened."

Cameron Hit

The storm also hit Bob Hewie's farm at Cameron, just north of here.

"It came so fast there wasn't age," Hewie said. "When the thing was gone, I found my barn roof tossed 100 yards away into a field and the hay left standing where it had been."

H. A. Brittain of Toronto had his automobile reconditioned in Lindsay and drove to Daytonia to show his wife there what a good job the garagemen had done.

"Then the tornado really hit," he said. "A tree fell on my car and smashed it."

Another storm, with 50-mile-an-hour winds, struck Wallaceburg in Kent County. It splintered and uprooted trees and tore down telephone and telegraph wires. Hydro power was off more than four hours.

It was the third twister to hit the Lindsay district this year. In April the first one struck near Bobcaygeon, and 10 days ago another slashed through the Pleasant Point area. Both did considerable damage.

Last Labor Day, the most disastrous wind storm in the district's history swept across the southern portion of Haliburton county ranging into Peterborough and Hastings counties, and did tremendous damage to forests and farm buildings. One child was killed and a dozen people injured in the Coe Hill area.

2 Girl Sprinters Win Their Heats

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, July 31 — (CP). — Pat Jones of New Westminster, BC, won her preliminary heat in to-day's 100-metre dash at the Olympic Games, giving Canada two girl sprinters who advance into one of the highlights of the track and field games.

A short time before the British Columbia girl romped home first, blonde Viola Myers of Toronto placed second in her heat and qualified.

Millie Cheater of Vancouver, third of Canada's sprinters in to-day's preliminaries, ran fourth in her heat and was eliminated.

When the brunette girl from the West Coast broke the tape it was the first time in the 1948 Games a Canadian competitor has finished in front in heats or otherwise.

Dellarthe Captures 1st Semi-Final Heat

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, July 31.—(AP). — Harfison Dillarthe, great United States hurdler who is competing in the Olympics only as a sprinter, won the first semi-final heat of the 100-metre dash today in the second day of track and field competition.

Braney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., was second and Alan McCorquodale of Great Britain, finished third behind Dillar, who stepped the distance in 10.5 seconds in perfect weather.

Mel Patton of Southern California, captured the second semi-final heat in a close finish.

Patton was clocked in 10.4 seconds, with Lloyd Labeach of Panama second and E. MacDonald Bailey of Great Britain third. The first three men in each semi-final qualified for the finals.

Plan More Meetings

As the new chairman of the council's Civic Hospital building committee, Ald. Dick Raine said at the meeting with the Board of Governors Friday that it wished to renew its activities and its usefulness as a link between the council and the Board.

"It is my intention to call a meeting of the committee at least once a month, if that is necessary, so we'll know what is going on," Ald. Raine said.

In the original Confederation Pact of 1867, there were Ontaorio, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick. Honest Motorist Damaged fenders of cars while left on parking lots or on streets is the worry of practically every motorist and it is seldom they ever find out who caused the damage. However, one motorist tells the following story about an honest car driver.

He reports that while parked in Cobourg recently he had one of the fenders of his car damaged apparently by another car. Several days later he received a letter postmarked Quebec City in which he was asked to send the bill for repairs to the fender to A. L. Jones, a resident of Arizona. Mr. Jones had been unable to find the owner of the car, which he had damaged in Cobourg, and in a hurry to get on his way took the number. He then had the Ontario Motor License Bureau give him the name of the owner and this then resulted in his letter asking for the account.

Pro-Communist To Head Hungary

BUDAPEST, July 31 (AP). — Parliament is expected to name a pro-Communist socialist as president of Hungary when it convenes Monday to name a successor to Zoltan Tildy.

Tildy resigned Friday a few hours after the interior ministry announced that his son-in-law, Dr. Victor Csornoky, had been arrested on unspecified charges of spying and treason.

His resignation paved the way for the Communists to tighten their grip on Hungary. Tildy was the first president of the Hungarian republic which was proclaimed in 1946.

Cost Of Living Drops For Newfoundland

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP). — Joseph Smallwood, leader of Newfoundland's pro-confederation forces, said here Friday that if and when Newfoundland becomes Canada's 10th province, the first effect will be a drop in Newfoundland's cost of living.

Mr. Smallwood said the island's living costs will be brought to the level of Canada's—"which, despite all increases, is considerably below ours."

He favored Newfoundland starting its career as a Canadian province July 1, he said. But he added that that might be inconvenient because Newfoundland's fiscal year, like Canada's ends March 31.

Announce Rules Governing Tavern Licenses

HALIFAX, July 31 (CP)—Following the July 19th plebiscite when citizens of this old port city voted in favor of beer and wine sales by the glass, the Nova Scotia cabinet Friday announced regulations governing the operation of taverns. So far 31 applications had been received for tavern licenses.

The taverns will be restricted to beer sales only while hotels will be allowed to serve beer and wine with meals. Women will be lowed to serve beer and wine with banned from taverns. Only men 21 years old or more will be allowed to enter the pubs. Hours are set from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily except Sunday, election days, Christmas and Good Friday.

The recently formed tavern committee has not announced a price list for wine and beer, but it is expected that an eight ounce glass of beer will sell for 10 cents.

Taking no chances from religious and temperance groups finding fault with the repealed liquor law, government officials have prescribed in the act that taverns "must be located so as to cause no inconvenience to schools, hospitals, or churches."

All establishments dispensing beer must be located on ground floors or basements.

Sliding Scale

Previously Hon. George Stevens, minister in charge of the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission, announced that the government had no intention of making "beer barons" out of tavern operators. He said that legislation would be passed whereby taverns would be taxed on a sliding scale, depending on their sales.

The three types of licenses issued by the tavern commission are:

1. A hotel dining room license, authorizing the sale of beer and wine with meals during meal hours.

2. A hotel tavern license, authorizing the sale of beer only in a specified part of the hotel.

3. A tavern license, authorizing the sale of beer only in ordinary taverns.

Newfoundlanders Prepare To Negotiate Final Terms

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 31. — (CP).—With mixed feelings and for better or for worse, Newfoundland is destined to join nine other provinces in the Dominion of Canada.

Some staunch responsible government supporters, who had lost the fight in a bitter issue, cried openly as the historic announcement came over the radio Friday night that Canada had accepted Newfoundland into Confederation.

Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald's statement was read over a country-wide hook-up by William Galgay, manager of the Broadcasting Corporation of Newfoundland.

There was no fanfare. Galgay led of simply with: "We have received the following announcements from Government House."

In his statement Governor Macdonald announced that a seven-man delegation, headed by A. J. Walsh, vice-chairman of Commission oGvernment, would go to Ottawa to negotiate the final terms of union.

Names of the six others, including leaders of the defeated responsible government forces, would be announced as soon as possible, he said. Walsh would be the only member from the retiring commission government, which will run the country until Confedertaion settles in — some time next year.

The news was taken quietly in the capital, where rumors of imminent disorders have been prevalent for days, as well as in the outports.

In places like Spyglass Cove, Oarbladet Point, Shipwreck Harbor and Little Harts Ease, fishermen and their wives gathered around radios to hear the Governor's announcement as well as the preceding communiques from the Canadian and British governments.

Seven Miners Killed By Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 31—(AP)—Seven coal miners were killed and 12 injured as a result of a gas explosion that rocked a section of the big Edgewater Mine near here early Friday. Two of the injured were listed today as in critical condition.

The explosion ripped through a remote area of the mine and rescue crews formed immediately to descend to the scene of the disaster, about four miles from the shaft's entrance. The mine, nine miles west of here, is the largest of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, and employs about 1,000 men.

Grim-faced miners and rescue workers still searched the shattered shaft today for a missing man believed to be the only miner unaccounted for.

A company spokesman said the blast centred near a spot where construction workers were putting through a ventilation shaft.

About 50 miners were located in the immediate section of the explosion. Some of these escaped injury by crawling out through a ventilator. Others, trapped for a while, waited for rescue workers and were brought to safety.

Ethiopia Threatens To Arm Against Italy

LONDON, July 31 — (AP). — Ethiopia threatens to close her borders and arm to the limit if Italy is given a United Nations trusteeship over neighboring Eritrea.

A spokesman for Emperor Haile Selassie told the big-four deputy foreign ministers Friday Eritrea should be "returned" immediately to Ethiopia. Italian occupation of Eritrea was officially recognized in 1882 but Ethiopia long has disputed Italian claims to the land.

Italian ambassador Tomaso Gallarati-Scotti told the ministers that Italy wants a U.N. trusteeship over her former colonies of Eritrea, Somaliland and Libya, all in Africa.

A VETERAN RAILROADER, Herrick W. Roche of Havelock, will retire from the CPR as station agent on Saturday after 44 years of continuous service. He is shown checking his ticket stock before turning it over to his successor. —Examiner Staff Photo

For 40 Years CPR Agent At Havelock
H. R. Roche Retires, Railroaded 48 Years

By NICK NICKELS

There is something unique about the village of Havelock in that it holds some sort of record for people who have found it a splendid place to live and work for many continuous years. There are doctors, merchants and railroaders and in the latter group, station agent Herick William Roche has probably put in more faithful working hours for his company, the CPR, than any man in town.

We swung down off eastbound 36 on to the hot station platform to find him the other afternoon. Conductor Jim Brown, himself a veteran of 44 years' service, was taking his train orders from an alert neat man who was busy between ticket wicket and telegraph table. A few minutes after 36 slid away down the track we were still looking for some elderly gentleman whom we understood was soon to be pensioned off.

"Mr. Roche around?"

"That's me," said the neat man, "be with you in a minute."

Came First In 1914

We found him as pleasant to talk to as different members of train crews that stuck their heads through the wicket and passed the time of day. Mr. Roche's 65 years sit very lightly on his erect shoulders and for one who has spent 48 years in railroading, we wondered how such an energetic man could suddenly stop work, as he is supposed to do today, and take it easy for the balance of his life. He does not intend to sit around however, and says he will find something to keep him occupied.

How long had he been in Havelock; well, he came there first in '04 as temporary operator and boomed around the district for the next four years in such places as Peterborough, Sharbot Lake, Tweed, and west of Toronto. In 1908 he was appointed agent and has been in the same position ever since. But that was not the start of his railroading experience, by any means, and we found it necessary to delve into the vital statistics of the man to find out how he had got the lure of railroading in the first place.

His father, the late W. G. G. Roche was a mining man, chiefly working at various iron mines in the district north of Kingston. Young Herrick was born in Robertsville but was raised in Wilbur, 20 miles south of Renfrew. With an Irish father, whose parents came from Cork and a mother with a good Scot's name of Jessie MacDougall, any lad was pretty well assured of a good start in life.

Telegraph Operator

He attended continuation school as far as the second form but was bent on becoming a telegraph operator. By some conniving of his father's, an operator in Lavant was induced to allow him to study telegraphy, for a certain sum of money passed under the counter. Sixteen-year-old Herrick mastered the trade in six months and became agent at the tender age of 17. This was in the employ of the old Kingston-Pembroke Railway, and he stayed with them for four years as agent, operator, freight clerk before joining the CPR in 1904 and being posted to Havelock.

50 Trains A Day

The old station where he worked for many years was on Havelock's main street west of the Armstrong Hotel and he moved into the neat new station in 1929 where he has been ever since. Havelock was a railroad town of no small proportions back in the days before 1912, where 75 families made their living on the Road and 40 to 50 trains a day halted at the little divisional point. Then another line was built from Agincourt to Trenton which drew at least 100 families from the village to various new points. To take up the slack of traffic o nthe new line, all the grain trains from Nort McNicholl to Montreal were rounted through Havelock until this service was discontinued in the early 30's.

Two years after Mr. Roche settled in Havelock to stay, in 1910 to be exact, he married Eva Bryans, a local girl whose father was pioneer merchant, reeve of Havelock and its first clerk; he is still hail and hearty and living in his own home at the age of 89. They have one daughter, Mrs. Charles Couch of Leaside and one grandson. Mrs. Couch, a teacher before her marriage, taught in the Havelock school for four years.

Even though Mr. Roche has worked continuously for the CPR for 44 years and four years on top of that for another line, he has always found time for an interest in village affairs. He was chairman of the School Board for one year and a member of it for 19 more. He has belonged to the Masons for more years that he can account for and for one year was District Deputy Grand Master. He is also on Odd Fellow and at various time has been appointed warden of his church, St. John the Evangelist, Anglican, which he has attended for 38 years. He has sung in the choir for a great deal of the time an dhas also been a lay reader.

Like Gardening

Judging from the neatness of the station and its grounds, there point out to us that he was keenly was little need for Mr. Roche to inerested in gardening; Havelock station is probably one of the neatest on the line, certainly in the division.

Before we took leave of him, we were interested in the number of men who went out of their way to stop and bid him a pleasant time of day. There was a nice atmosphere about the station that ordinarily are cold impersonal places. There was very little doubt that the boys think a lot of "Harry" Roche, and he thinks a lot of them and no matter who his successor will be after today there will be a twist in the hearts of Havelock railroaders when Herrick Roche closed his telegraph key for the last time.

Eire Coalition Keeps Eye On De Valera

DUBLIN, July 31 (CP).—Eire's coalition government is united in a determination to keep Eamon De Valera's Fail party from returning to office.

Five parties and a group of independents give the Government party a membership of 76 in the Dail, compared with 67 for Fianna Fail, which also has the uncertain support of three independents.

So far, members of the coalition have been content to sink their difference in a union which put an end to De Valera's 16-year premiership. Their new policies seem to be finding favor with the public and unless a cabinet rift develops they may be able to hold office for a full five-year term.

And signs of internal disagreement are closely watched and considerable excitement was created by the expulsion recently of Capt. Peadar Cowan from the Clanna Na Poblachta (The New Republican party).

Charge Disloyalty

Cowan, a lawyer formerly associated with the Labor party, was ejected on the motion of the party leader, Foreign Minister Sean MacBride, by 35 votes to 5. MacBride complained Cowan had been disloyal to his party by voting in the Dail against Eire's participation in the Marshall Plan, although he had not previously expressed opposition.

As far as the electorate is concerned, the inter-party government has made a good start by its trade pact with Britain, which has pleased the farmers. Retrenchments, like cancellation of plans for an Atlantic air service, have been welcomed, and labor generally is well pleased by social service and health plans.

The following table of party strength in the Dail shows the precarious position of the inter-party group:

Inter-Party Government
Fine Gael	31
Labor	14
Clanna Na Poblachta	10
Independents	9
Farmers	7
National Labor	5
Total	76
Opposition
Fianna Fail	67
Independents	3
Total	70

Speaker Frank Fahy is a member of the Fianna Fail.

CIO ORGANIZER FORREST Payne (above) is not handled too gently by arresting officers outside the Univis Lens Company plant in Dayton, Ohio. Payne was booked on a technical charge of "suspicion." One picket was injured and in all, seven others were arrested in scuffling that occurred outside the plant when 317 of 753 workers went back to their jobs under police protection. Approximately 90 police were on hand to maintain order at the plant. The plant had been closed since May 5 by a strike of the CIO union workers. Toward the tag end of the strike the workers voted, 302 to 272, not to retain the union as their bargaining agent.
